THE NEW YEAR BEGINS

There exists a very beautiful custom in Germany, which might prove profitable if practiced everywhere. On the first day of the New Year, whatever may have been the quarrels or misunderstandings between friends and relatives, mutual visits are interchanged, kindly greetings given, and received .. all is forgotten and forgiven.

'OFF WITH THE OLD'

It's Off with the Old and On with the New on Main this week and it is amazing how quickly all evidences of the recent Window Displays filled with suggestions for "His" and "Her" Christmas presents, have been supplanted with new Spring items, and after Christmas Clearance Sales. This is as it should be .. No one thing more drab looking than a withered Christmas Tree, even the tinsel and baubles, we watched with so much pleasure during the gay season, seem dimmed by the radiance of the New Year's dawn bringing 366 new days, new opportunities, and a "get going forward" attitude toward the bright out look now visible on the new Horizon.

The year 1952, with all its hopes for Peace, and Progress affords each of us an inspiration for renewed activity in all fields of endeavor. We are glad to be alive and a part of it all. Aren't you?

SHELBY COUNTY'S MAN OR WOMAN OF THE YEAR

Attention all clubs in the county! If you know of a man or woman in Shelby County who has done some outstanding job worthy of recognition and deserves the honor of being Shelby County's Man or Woamn of the Year, please send us in their names. We will turn them over to a Committee who will dtermine which ones most deserves this recognition for 1951. For the past several years this paper has presented such a person and we are proud of the" celebrities" heretofore named who include: Dr. James Crawford, The Rev. T. K. Roberts, Miss Mary Peters, Senator J. T. Phillips, A. A. Lauderdale and W. L. Christian ... each a splendid representative of his or her chosen field for service.

Kiwanis, Civitan, Exchange, Rotary, American Legion, Culture Club, Vignettes, P. T. A. and Home Demonstration Clubs, let us hear from you. We know of many people in this county worthy of this penpoint recognition, it is just a matter of finding the person who has performed the greatest service to the greatest number in a truly unselfish manner. We solicit your help in selecting this person. Send us in your nominations.

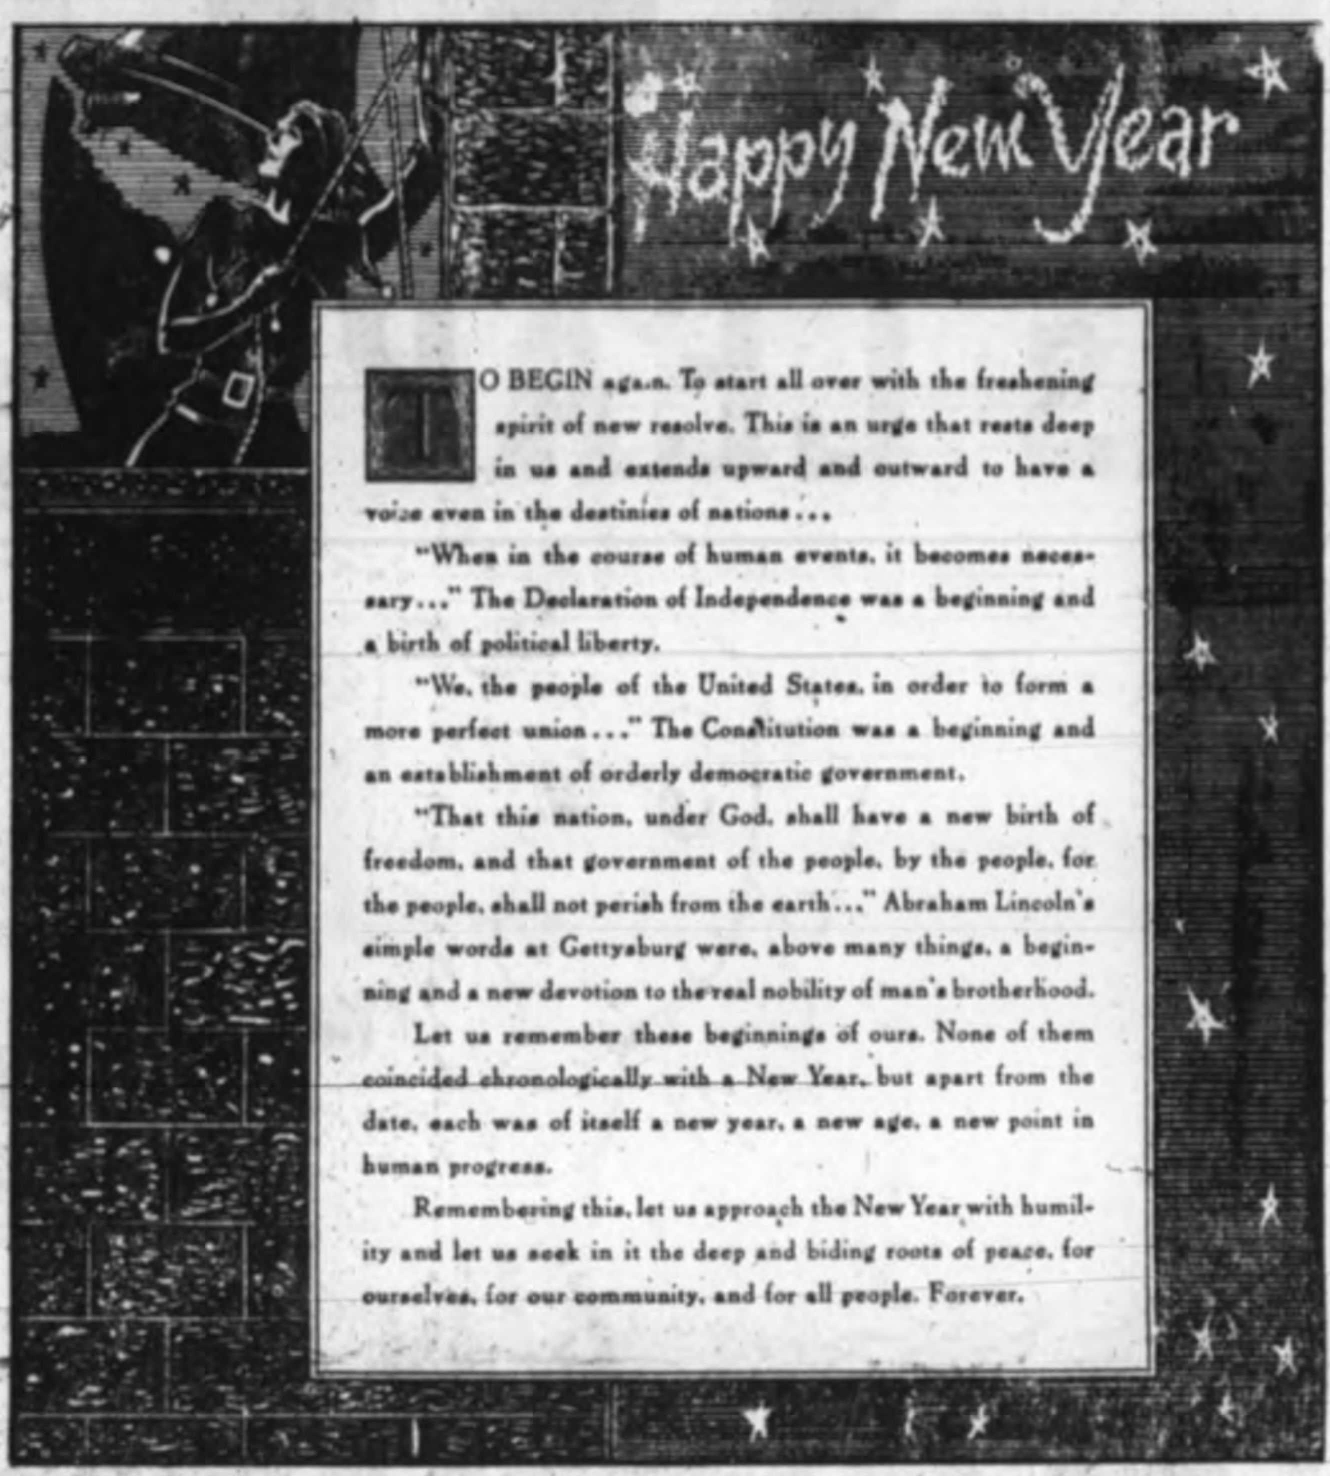
NEW P. O. BOXES

Have you seen the new post office boxes recently installed in Dick Ozley's emporium. Their bright and shiny newness made all of us who have had one or two of these "cubby holes" forever and a day, want to swap with those who have stood in line at the window, waiting for this much needed improvement to arrive. The drop letter department has been moved over a notch or two, to make room for the new conveniences.

W. B. (Bun) WHITE APPOINTED JAILOR

W. B. (Bun) White, former Sheriff of Shelby County and widely known law enforcement officer, more recently superintendent of School Transportation for Shelby County, has been appointed by Sheriff A. E. Norwood as Jailor, succeeding Harry Young who has received an appointment with the State Law Enforcement Officials.

Friends of Mr. White's are extending congratulations and best wishes. A host of friends Harry Young made during his term as Jailor sent congratulations to him when they learned of his promotion to wider field for service with the State law enforcement officers. Mr. Young's record merits this recognition.



TO BEGIN again. To start all over with the freshening spirit of new resolve. This is an urge that rests deep in us and extends upward and outward to have a voice even in the destinies of nations . . .

"When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary . . ." The Declaration of Independence was a beginning and a birth of political liberty.

"We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union . . ." The Constitution was a beginning and an establishment of orderly democratic government.

"That this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth . . ." Abraham Lincoln's simple words at Gettysburg were, above many things, a beginning and a new devotion to the real nobility of man's brotherhood.

Let us remember these beginnings of ours. None of them coincided chronologically with a New Year, but apart from the date, each was of itself a new year, a new age, a new point in human progress.

Remembering this, let us approach the New Year with humility and let us seek in it the deep and biding roots of peace, for ourselves, for our community, and for all people. Forever.

REV. J. E. FRANKS

REV. J. E. FRANKS RESIGNS AS PASTOR OF BAPTIST CHURCH

The Rev. J. E. Franks, pastor of the Columbiana Baptist Church for the past five years resigned Sunday morning, December 23, to accept the position as Chaplain of Kilby Prison. He assumed the responsibilities of this new assignment January 2 and he and his family will reside in Montgomery.

Friends of Mr. Franks extended their best wishes for his future success in this new field of endeavor, and the members of the Baptist Church, in accepting his resignation, tendered him a two months salary check in appreciation for his work in Columbiana, and invited him to use the Pastorium as long as he saw fit for his family's use until they join him in the Capitol City.

Mr. Franks is a brilliant Bible Student and adequately qualified to fill this highly responsible position with the State of Alabama.

10,757 NEW APPLICATIONS FOR LOCAL EMPLOYMENT

During the month of November, 10,727 persons filed new applications for work at local employment offices, and at the end of the month, these offices reported 34,678 active job seekers in the state.

Coleman said unsettled labor conditions in the state, plus a general lull in hiring brought the number of November job placements to 9,869.

License Examiner Here Day And Half Weekly

Beginning this week, the Drivers License Examiner will be in Columbiana all day Friday and until noon on Saturday of each week, instead of Thursday.

From The Files of The Reporter

COUNTY AGENT LAUDERDALE BEGINS 4TH YEAR SERVICE IN SHELBY COUNTY

County Agent A. A. Lauderdale has finished three years of service to the people of Shelby County having come to his work as County Agent in January 1924.

Those who have observed Mr. Lauderdale at his work are agreed that there is not in all the county probably a man who works at his task more conscientiously than he does. They are convinced also that the county agent knows: that when he offers a suggestion it is to the farmer's best interest to give that suggestion most careful consideration.

(The above paragraphs are taken from the files of the Reporter, January 1927, and the verbal tribute to Mr. Lauderdale at this time, is even more deserved as we reprint it 25 years later.)

FRED WALLACE

Fred Wallace died at the home of his father T. L. Wallace in Helena, Wednesday of last week after an illness of about a year. He was 18 years old.

NEW LEGISLATURE SUPPORTS GOVERNOR GRAVES

The new Legislature will not hinder the plans of Governor-elect Bibb Graves to bring to an end the convict lease system in Alabama. Both houses having passed a bill levying a two cent tax on gasoline which also contains a provision that a part of the tax may be used in equipping and preparing convicts for work on the roads.

LOCAL MARINE GUARDING MAILS

Among the U. S. Marines who were first selected to guard the mails against possible attack is Bennett Franklin Davis of Harpersville, who, prior to his assignment was stationed at Quantico, Virginia. He is the son of Mrs. Edna Davis and is 22 years old.

COMMUNITY NEWS

Rev. J. H. Longerier, a former pastor of the Columbiana Baptist Church died Friday at his home in Eldridge, Alabama, from a heart attack.

Churches of Shelby County have been asked to set apart Sunday, January 16, for observing the 7th anniversary of the adoption of the prohibition amendment.

J. L. Bryan of Hamilton, who for some years taught in the Shelby County High School has resigned his place in the agriculture school at Hamilton and has moved to Amory, Mississippi, to open a modern laundry.

Mrs. J .H. Fulton and son, Frank Fulton, of Siluria are visiting friends in Columbiana this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Merrell and baby of Shelby spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Merrell in Columbiana.

Joe Stone of Columbiana attended Bethel B. Y. P. U. Sunday night.

Bro. Tom Roberts invites all members of his Class Number One to be present next Sunday. "Following Christ" is the theme chosen for the first quarter of the New Year.

ATTENTION! Candidates And Politicians

Mildred White Wallace

Lest there be any misunderstandin regarding advertising rules and regulations as far as the Reporter-Democrat is concerned among the candidates seeking official positions we print the following:

All political announcements running each week until the May Primary will be $15.00, paid in advance.

All political advertisements must carry a signature and address.

We further desire to give all candidates a fair deal. Naturally, we shall reserve the privilege of voting for our preference among the candidates, but as far as the paper goes they will be treated impartially and fairly. Almost all the rumored candidates are well and widely known in this county, so, it only remains our privilege to present them to you, rather than introduce them.

The year holds much of political importance. Here's hoping the right man in the right place and the best qualified man possibly available will be chosen to fill the offices which will be up for a choice by the electorate in the May Primary election.

New State Liability Law Now Effective

Motorists who can't afford to pay hospital, funeral or garage bills had better watch their driving in Alabama now.

New Year's Day was the time the state's rigid new automobile financial responsibility law went into effect. It's aimed at drivers who get involved in accidents and then can't or won't pay for the damage that results.

If anyone is injured or killed or property damage of $50 or more results, every driver involved in an accident must make a written report to the State Public Safety Department.

Then if he can't show financial responsibility, his driver's license until a year has gone by.

Three courses are open to establish financial responsibility:

1. Adequate liability insurance.
2. A surety bond to cover potential damages up to $11,000.
3. A cash bond.

will be revoked and the tags taken off his car until he clears himself or

If the driver has been acquitted of any liability before the time comes to show the ability to pay, however, he can get by without it.

New Postal Rates Now In Effect

Mildred White Wallace

Did you see the number of letters bearing a one cent stamp being tossed back into the boxes Wednesday morning. Here is the reason, Uncle Sam wants two cents instead of one for each drop letter, and what's more he wants two cents paid for each postal card So it was not Dick's mistake, nor Bill White's mistake, nor Milton Bird's error, it is just another "order from Unk" and who would dare go against that bewhiskered gentleman? We hastily borrowed some coppers and licked the stamps and went on our way — without argument.

UNEMPLOYMENT CHECKS ISSUED 11,600 ALABAMIANS

State Industrial Relations Director Joe L. Coleman said that 11,600 Alabamians in November received unemployment checks which averaged $16.47.

Coleman said the total November payments was $619,517, and that checks climbed from $15.98 in October, to $16.47.

He explained that the increase in average payments was due to a larger proportion of payments made under a revised schedule.

HARRISON MAKES STATEMENT ON ROAD BOND ISSUE

"The year 1951 will go down as the start of a new era in Alabama progress. The approval of Alabama voters this month of the $25,000,000 Road Bond Issue set the stage for this new era.

"As chairman of the Alabama Good Roads Committee, I wish to thank every person in your county who voted for, supported and helped to pass the bond issue. The newspapers of this state specifically are to be commended for thir vigorous support.

"Each person who contributed his or her time and effort will in months to come feel even prouder of this progressive step taken by the people of Alabama.

"The money from the bond issue will be spent to give us a safer and more progressive system of highways.

"It will insure that the $58,000,000 each four years now going to build mail box and farm-to-market roads can continue to be used for that fine and necessary road program.

"We people of Alabama can now have a well balanced system of roads and highways leading all the way from the farm right up to and into the towns and cities."

GOV. PERSONS EXPRESSES APPRECIATION TO ALABAMIANS

Governor Gordon Persons expressed his appreciation for the great majority which Alabama voters gave Amendment No. 1, the $25,000,000 Road Bond Isuue.

"Alabama citizens may rest assured," Persons said, "that the $50,000,000 for road improvement now to be available will be spent wisely." He added, "I want especially to thank those who worked so hard for passage of the amendment. They, as well as those who voted, have contributed to the progress of our state.

"Each county will be given a fair and square share of the fund," he said. "Not only will this added money help with modernization of our highways, but these improved roads will go toward cutting down on our terrible highway accident record."

Four Injured In Wreck New Year's Eve

Charles Shaw, Jimmy Morris; Ann Lee Shaw and Mary Ann Dorough narrowly escaped death New Year's Eve night when the car in which they were riding over turned, breaking a telephone post, and tearing down wires etc., near Cates Dairy. Ann Lee Shaw suffered a broken collar bone and was hospitalized. Mary Ann Dorough is recuperating from wounds and shock at her home in Columbiana. The boys escaped without injury, but the car, belonging to P. B. Shaw, we hear is a total wreck.

Alabama once had a Decatur county. It was created in the northeastern section of the state December 7, 1821 but was abolished three years later when its territory was given to Madison and Jackson counties. During Decatur county's existence, its seat of government was located at Woodville.

The Big Hunt

Circus Animals Escape

MOUNT IDA, Ark.—The small community of Mount Ida was in an uproar recently when a circus van wrecked a short distance from the town and two leopards, several bears and a number of monkeys escaped.

A big hunt was launched immediately, with several hundred hunters participating. The two leopards were killed shortly afterwards, one within 100 yards of the wreck scene.

The people of the region, however, have not relaxed because the bears and several monkeys remain at large.

The scene of the escape is in the rugged Ouachita National Forest. The area is inhabited by native panthers, bears, and other wild animals.

Grandview Expects A Big Boom When The President Retires

GRANDVIEW, Mo. — At the moment the community of Grandview has only 1,600 persons, but at the rate it is growing the population could be several thousand within a few years. The reason: it is near there that President Truman grew up, his farm is just a mile from town, and rumors circulate that he will settle there when he retires. In addition, a large Air Force base is planned just south of the town.

The Truman farm, a mile north of the town, is to be the site of a million-dollar Truman library where the tons of official and personal papers, all the gifts and curios that the President accumulates while in office, will be stored.

Kansas City has been edging toward Grandview for years. Many new homes can be seen along Highway 71, Grandview, a separate community with its own mayor and council, is growing. From little more than 500 people in 1940, it jumped to 1,500 in 1950 and more than 1,600 now.

The knowledge that the President is thinking of settling down in the neighborhood has caused some speculation in real estate. This activity has been urged on by the prospect of the major air base near the community.

Once the Truman library is built, Grandview residents believe that the community's business will increase, and population and property values grow by leaps and bounds.

The air-base project involves transferring the Continental Air Command from Mitchel Field, Long Island, to Grandview. Central Air Defense headquarters would be shifted from Kansas City. An air group would be brought in to protect Kansas City rail and industrial centers.

If all this comes about, and it seems very likely, thousands of newcomers, military and civilian, will be stationed at the base. The town's housing, street, and sewage problems will become one of the most critical of any community in the nation.

Bard College Receives Gift of $330,000 Estate

ANNANDALE-ON-HUDSON, N.Y.—This community, the home of Bard College, expects a mild degree of expansion in the next few years with the announcement recently that the institution has been given a well-known 825-acre estate.

Known as Blithelwood, the estate adjoins the college property and increases the institution's campus almost twenty-fold. Estimated to be worth "more than a third of a million dollars," the estate is the largest single gift in the history of the small coeducational liberal arts college which was founded in 1860 by John Bard.

The estate includes a manor house, seven other houses, three barns and two garages, a swimming pool and a dock site.

James H. Case, Jr., president of the college, said in acknowledging the gift: "Mr. Zabriskie's magnificent action in deeding his estate to Bard marks the turning point in the development of the college. We now have one of the most beautiful campuses in the country with a wide frontage on the Hudson river and a commanding view of the Catskill mountains. We also have the opportunity to enlarge our student body, to provide adequate faculty housing, and to develop and expand our instructional facilities."

He had previously given the institution valuable manuscripts and important first editions of such English authors as Sir Walter Scott, Charles Dickens, and Thomas Hardy.

10,000 Attend Carmi's Annual Fall Festival

CARMI, Ill. — With perfect weather, an excellent program and hundreds of cash prizes for various entries, a record crowd attended Carmi's annual Corn Day. An estimated 10,000 people were on hand for the festival.

Carl Apple of Enfield was crowned Corn King with the best five acres that averaged 119.72 bushels per acre on the selected tract. Runner-up in the contest had 119.12 bushels.

SELECTING GOOD NESTING MATERIAL

Poultry-raisers who frequently complain of broken eggs may find the cause to be poor nesting material —or material which does not permit birds to "nest down" properly. By changing the nesting material and making layers more comfortable, poultrymen can often eliminate this problem.

What are good nesting materials? The answer to that question is "any material that is free of stains, odorless, absorbent, and also has a tendency to stay in place." Nevertheless, some nesting materials are better than others and some are better adapted to certain types of nests.

TUNNEL NEST

For example, the large tunnel nest is a good type of nest for such litter as straw, prairie hay, or almost any fibrous material. These materials can be used satisfactorily because the birds do not have the opportunity to scratch it out like they do in some of the shallower individual nests.

As for materials best used in individuals nests, cut straw, ground corn cobbs, excelsior, dry sawdust, chopped straw or chaff from the mow are perhaps the most suitable. But regardless of the material used, it should be kept clean. Droppings should be removed often and nest litter should be well stirred. Also, avoid any nesting material that will stain the moist eggs it contacts. This complaint is sometimes made against straw.

CLEAN, DRY NESTS

In most cases, the poultry-raiser must select a nesting material that is easily obtained, relatively economical in his area, and readily adaptable to the type of nests he uses. This, of course, is the practical thing to do. But selecting nesting material is important. Poultrymen should make an effort to give layers a satisfactory nest—a good nest, one that is clean, comfortable, and dry!

By providing your birds with clean nesting material, you help keep eggs clean. This saves you the trouble of cleaning the eggs before they go to market. And clean eggs always bring the best prices.

Another point that may be advisable to consider is the position of the landing perches in front of the nests. In order to protect birds which are nesting, avoid fighting, and give better distribution of eggs in all the nests, the landing perch should be placed about 12 to 18 inches from the front.

NEW MOTOR LAW

State Public Safety Director L. B. Sullivan said Alabama gasoline stations had been requested to distribute leaflets explaining the new motor vehicle safety act which became effective January 1, 1952.

Distribution of the leaflets is a first step in "a broad educational program" to acquaint the public with the new law, Sullivan said.

He said the leaflet explains what the law is, what its effects, what a motorist must do after an accident, and how quickly a motorist can lose his motoring privilege, and what he can do to avoid that misfortune.

Although it is estimated that 800 Creeks perished in the battle of Horseshoe Bend, March 29, 1814, General Andrew Jackson had only 26 militiamen killed and 107 wounded. Among the wounded was none other than the man who later to shape the early destinies of the Lone Star State—Sam Houston. Houston was wounded while leading an attack on a Red Stick fortification during the heat of the battle.

Opelika is derived from the Creek word, Opilako, which means "large swamp".

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT NOTICE

The State of Alabama, Shelby County, Probate Court, December 29, 1951.

This day came Samuel A. Lokey cum testamento annexo, Administrator of the estate of Guy W. Ray, deceased and files his accounts, vouchers, evidence and statement for final settlement of his said Administration.

It is ordered that the 19th day of January, 1952, be, and the same hereby is, appointed as the day on which to make such settlement, at which time all persons interested can appear and contest the said settlement if they think proper.

To French Canadians 'Jour de L'An' Is A Great Occasion

The exchanging of gifts and general family reunions are important to the French-Canadian celebration of "Jour de L'An"—New Year's Day.

The conclusion of Christmas Day is the signal for a frenzied period of cooking and baking and making ready for an overflow of relatives and visitors that marks the celebration of the first day of the year. In most Canadian cities, midnight Mass is celebrated just as it is at Christmas time.

The "Patriarch," or father, is an important man on New Year's Day. As each member of a French-Canadian family arise on the first day of each new year, he speaks not a word to anyone until he has been to the father of the house to ask for his blessing. Individually, all members of the house come on bended knee to ask, "Father, give me your blessing," and the father extends a hand and says, "May God bless you, my child; I bless you with all my heart."

Just as at Christmas, everyone in the family goes to church, after which the family reunion gets underway. Married sons and daughters begin to arrive, and they, too, go first to the head of the house for his blessing.

The dinner for the day is almost a feast. The menu usually consists of soup, turkey, meat balls, tarts, rolls, creams, nuts and fruits.

After-dinner hours are spent in conversation among the older family members, while the children play.

Sometime during the first month of the year, all the married members of the family take a turn at inviting the family over for a "fricot," or get-together, the idea being that it will start a custom which will continue the course of the year.

January 1 Date Fairly Modern

The custom of welcoming in the New Year on January 1 is a relatively modern one. Down through history the holiday was a movable one, many people and nations celebrating at different times of the year.

The vernal equinox, March 22, was celebrated as the start of the new year by the Jews. The Greeks celebrated on December 21, the time of the winter solstice. The autumnal equinox, September 22, marked the beginning of a new year for ancient Egypt.

It was not until the coming of the Gregorian calendar, instituted by Pope Gregory in 1582, that the groundwork was laid for a universal celebration. The continent of Europe, having celebrated New Year's on March 25 since medieval time, was the first to adopt the calendar popularly.

Yet it was not a complete adoption. Great Britain provided the weight that finally tipped the scales in favor of Gregory's calendar in 1752, when the British parliament officially established New Year's day as January 1.

Bible Foretold Future On New Year for Scots

The early Scots believed that it was possible to foretell the events of a coming year by turning to the Bible on New Year's Day.

It was long a custom to place the sacred book upon a table and open it at random, placing one finger on the printed page. The entire chapter then was read carefully, with the belief that the message it carried described in some way the happiness or misery in store for the person adhering to the practice.

YOUTH WILL BE SERVED . . . And this one apparently is calling for service right away, which, after all, is in keeping with the spirit of the season. In other words, do right by the New Year and it will do right by you.

Information Given On Social Security

Are you in business for yourself? In a special message to the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker, and all others who are self-employed, M. C. Folmar, manager of the Birmingham field office of the Social Security Administration offers these important reminders:

"You are now covered by the Social Security Act and have the same protection against the hazards of old age or death as are afforded employees. But, you have certain responsibilities, to yourself as well as to your Government, in order to safeguard this protection.

"You do not yet have to report your earnings and pay your social security tax until you file your income tax return for 1951 on or before March 15, 1952. Your report to the Social Security Administration at that time will be a part of your income tax return. Your social security tax of 2¼% will be payable in full at the time you file your return. Your first step is to get your account number card from the social security office nearest your home. This card may be obtained now, by applying for it in person or requesting an application by mail or telephone.

"Your next step is to read the interesting, informative booklet entitled 'Do You Work For Yourself?' This can be obtained when you get your account number card, and will give you valuable information about your benefits."

Mr. Folmar stressed that the self-employed person cannot choose whether to be covered or not. Reporting your earnings and paying a social security tax is compulsory, if you earn $400 or more in 1951. You will pay a tax of 2¼% of all net earnings from your business, up to $3,600 for the year. The earnings exceeding $3,600 are not taxable.

As a result of these taxable earnings, you may be entitled to an old-age insurance benefit. This will depend upon when you reach your 65th birthday and the length of time you have been reporting your earnings.

Not Too Late To Pay For Your Christmas Seals

Greeting cards bearing good wishes and holiday cheer by the thousands passed through the Post Office recently. Everybody tried hard to remember all their friends.

But many Shelby County people forgot to mail another very important letter. That letter could mean the difference between life and death to someone in our county.

It's not too late. That letter is the one you meant to return with a contribution for Christmas Seals.

It's never too late to pay for Christmas Seals. Funds contributed now will be stretched out through 1952 ... maybe to help hospitalize someone you know who has TB ... or maybe to pay for a chest X-ray of a loved one who discovered the disease early because of the X-ray.

You will not be called upon again this year to aid in the voluntary right to wipe out tuberculosis. You might hear and read a lot about the disease ... you might hear about the death of several local people who caught the germ, and you're sure to hear a lot about how it can be prevented and can be cured when found in time.

But you will not be asked to contribute again this year. That's why it's so important to send in that contribution now. The annual Christmas Seal Sale is the only fund-raising campaign conducted by volunteer TB leaders.

These leaders express sincere thanks and appreciation to the numerous citizens who already have paid for their Seals, but at the same time they stress the importance of receiving a contribution from others.

Remember that important letter and send your Seal Sale contribution as soon as possible. It's badly needed.

The only bird in existence which can fly backwards is a species of humming bird which lives in Alabama.

SALES TAX BOOSTS REVENUE

State Revenue Commissioner Joe M. Edwards said that Alabama tax collections last month were one-third more than for November, 1950, mostly because of the sales tax increase.

Revenue Department collections during November totalled $9,804,030 during November. This compared with $7,392,601 for the same month in 1950. Edwards said the sales tax netted $4,418,579 as against $2,878,751, in November, 1951.

Revenue from the gasoline tax last month was $3,510,661, compared with $2,989,548 for the same month a year ago.

DUNN DONE IT

North Carolina Town Is Called Model of OPS

DUNN, N. C.—The small North Carolina community of Dunn will be known henceforth as the OPS model town. The community is the first one in the country to voluntarily get 100 per cent in line with filing requirements of the stabilization agency.

The average man on the street was not impressed. "Isn't everyone supposed to get straight with the OPS anyway?" one farmer asked.

But Michael DiSalle, price stabilizer thought otherwise of the cooperative spirit of the town's Main Street merchants. He said Dunn's record was "a challenge to the cities of the United States."

The community is a typical farming town on north-south U.S. Highway 301. Town and country meet in its stores, tobacco auction, markets, movie theaters and churches.

100 Per Cent Record

Mayor Ralph Hanna describes the community as a "typical agricultural town." The only industries are a fertilizer factory, a farm implements manufacturer and a company that makes candy.

Hanna conducted the campaign when he learned the community had a chance to get on the map as the OPS model town. A preliminary survey showed the town already had a high compliance record. The OPS district office in Raleigh, N.C., suggested the town try for a 100 per cent.

The Chamber of Commerce rounded up its forces for a voluntary campaign and within 48 hours a business census was completed listing 288 firms, their type of business and location. The mayor then named an OPS volunteer committee which worked with price officials and local businesses to get everyone steered to the right kind of regulation.

In less than a week the job was completed. Every business—from fruit stand dealers to a sugar-cured ham packing house—had its OPS requirements in order.

No Objections

Earl Westbrook who headed the mayor's committee reported businessmen put up no strenuous objections to "red tape" and recognized the need to get the job done.

For their efforts, Dunn received a telegram from DiSalle that said in part: ". . . The People of Dunn have demonstrated that OPS at work is fundamentally a matter of local action in the American way."

The community was pleased and surprised. It seemed unusual that a community should receive such recognition for just fulfilling the letter of the law. But in the future the town will be known as "OPS Model Town, U.S.A."

Bible Classes Conducted In 'Mobile Classroom'

PLYMOUTH, Ind.—The Protestant churchs of Plymouth have started an unusual method of religious instruction for pupils in the three elementary schools. It is a "mobile classroom," a custom-built trailer seating 37 students.

Miss Ruth Graham, a graduate teacher from Manchester College, North Manchester, has been engaged to conduct the classes. The Gideons have furnished the Bibles.

Three years ago Plymouth discontinued Bible classes in schools because of a Supreme Court ruling on the legality of the program. However, the local school board, with the approval of the state attorney-general, decided that Bible classes could be conducted on a "dismissed time" basis during school hours, if they were not held on tax-supported property.

Any child, with the approval of parents, may volunteer for enrollment in the classes.

Florida Town Installs New Garbage Disposers

MOUNT DORA, Fla. — Mount Dora is one of the communities that has decided to install electric garbage disposers on a town-wide scale, following the examples of Jasper, Ind., and Herrin, Ill.

"Our aim is to make Mount Dora a better and more attractive place to live in and to visit," says Mayor D. Fletcher Frane. "We believe that by eliminating garbage cans, we can make the town both cleaner and healthier."

The town is buying its disposers and will sell them direct to home towners who can pay cash or finance the purchase through a local bank.

Although the town has a sewage system, 90 per cent of its houses are connected to septic tanks. Food wastes are ground into such small particles by the disposer that they are quickly assimilated in the tanks.

Vermont Town Gets First Fluorescent Lighting

LYNDONVILLE, Vt.—The village of Lyndonville, population 1,500, is the first community in the county to have a fluorescent-lighted Main Street.

These bright lights only recently have come to the forefront of the street-lighting field. They are reported to give better illumination and are cheaper to operate.

By tradition freshman officers are not elected until late in the first semester. This plan gives freshmen a chance to become better acquainted and to make more careful decisions in electing student leaders.

ANTE BELLUM MANSIONS OF ALABAMA OFF PRESS

Ralph Hammond, 32-year-old Valley Head native, has opened to the world the doors of 51 of Alabama's finest old homes.

Hammond, son of the Mayor of Hammondville, Alabama, and former newspaperman, has prepared a new volume, "Ante-Bellum Mansions of Alabama", which although just released, already is being hailed by reviewers and architectural experts as one of the finest offerings of its kind.

It is the second book by the author, an army veteran who studied at Snead College, Boaz, Berea College, Kentucky, and the University of Alabama. The first, "My GI Aching Back," described some of his experiences as a correspondent in wartime and post-war Europe. Attached to the army press staff of General Dwight D. Eisenhower, he was a roving reporter. At present, Hammond is connected with the American Red Cross, in Monroe, La. From 1947-51, Hammond was director of the Alabama Division of Records and Reports.

Some 55,000 words make up the text, along with 110 photographs, both exterior and interior shots, and as the name implies, it represents the finest in Alabama ante-bellum structure. All but eight are of the Greek Revival style. These eight are Gothic, Creole and Italianate.

"In the long first chapter there is an attempt to show the rich culture that went into the making of these homes... and the wonderful originality that the masters themselves used in making their materials meet the demands of the wilderness," Hammond explains. "The South gave new grace, and expansion to the Greek design, and came up with mansions built for comfort and convenience."

THIS RESOLUTION IF KEPT— MIGHT SAVE MANY LIVES

More than 500 men, women and children died in highway accidents in Alabama in 1951. More emphasis on careful driving and less attention to frivolous promises might have saved them.

Thus a renewed appeal from State Public Safety Director L. B. Sullivan for "safe, sound and sensible" handling of your auto in 1952. There's no "Happy New Year" in a cemetery.

Encouraging progress already has been made, Sullivan said, largely because of the new highway speed limit of 60 miles an hour in the daytime and 50 at night.

The long Christmas holiday weekend is an example. Eight persons perished in traffice accidents during the 102-hour period compared with exactly three times that number during the 78-hour celebration in 1950.

Other highways will be put under the speed limit during 1952, Sullivan cautioned, and the restrictions will be "enforced to the letter".

JUDGES NOW UNDER SOCIAL SECURITY

State Secretary Agnes Baggett said this week that Alabama judges from the circuit bench to the supreme court had decided to take advantage of Social Security benefits.

Mrs. Baggett also said that court reporters and state department heads appointed by the governor also had voted to come under the security law. They, like other employes, will contribute 1-1/2 per cent of their salaries up to $3,600 a year and the state will match it.

She said state employes and officials not already protected by the retirement system are eligible for the federal benefits.

Both laboratory and actual use tests show cotton has the highest resistance to wear and abrasion of all textile fibers in common use.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF NEWSMEN

President Clarence B. Hanson, Jr., of the Alabama Press Association, has announced the annual convention of state newspapermen in Montgomery, January 17-19.

Hanson said the three-day meeting would feature a discussion by political leaders on "Political Courses For Alabama".

Members of the Association planning committee are Hanson, of the Birmingham News, R. F. Hudson, Jr., the Montgomery Advertiser; Charles Dobbins, the Montgomery Examiner; Cecil Hornady, the Talladega News; Neil O. Davis, Lee County Bulletin, and Billy Golson, the Wetumpka Herald.

Old Sparta was, in the days before the Civil War, the county seat of Conecuh County. Located on the banks of the Conecuh River, Old Sparta became quite prosperous for awhile. It boasted its own town square, numerous general stores, bars, law offices, and two first-rate hotels. An academy was built and teachers were imported from the North. Then the dreaded yellow fever scourge struck the little community. The plague was soon followed by the devastation inflicted upon the town by invading Federal troopers. Today, a pile of bricks here and there are all that remain of Old Sparta, a once proud frontier city.

Embezzlement

Town's Fifth Banker Nabbed

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa. — The people of the small industrial town of New Kensington are wondering who will be next. The F. B. I. has arrested a fifth banker on embezzlement charges within the last few weeks. The total funds involved amount to more than a million dollars.

One resident expressed this reaction:

"This town's sort of used to it by now. Every time somebody is arrested, people seem to act surprised and shocked at first. But then they start wondering if there'll be a next one — and who."

There is no connection between the cases. Three of them involve the same bank, and although not connected, each arrest led to another.

Kentucky Mining Town Is Host to Dutch Girl

PIKEVILLE, Ky. — The small town of Pikeville has taken it upon itself to teach a young Dutch girl the American way of life.

Under sponsorship of the town's Kiwanis Club, Else Maryk Schade, 17-years-old, from the town of Wassenaar, the Netherlands, is now living in the Kentucky mining community.

Each month she will live with a different family.

The Kiwanis club is paying Else's expenses during her year's stay in the community. But the way things are starting out there won't be much to pay. Many business firms in the community have donated dresses and other articles for the tall, blonde and athletic Else.

She is reported to like the community and the friendly people of eastern Kentucky. She is enjoying her school work, a sort of post graduate course, in American history, American literature, and sociology at the Pikeville high school.

The Pikeville Kiwanis club describes its project of sponsoring Else's year in America as its contribution toward better international relations.

Center of Population Near Illinois Village

DUNDAS, Ill. — The small town of Dundas has become the center of the United States as far as population is concerned.

The census bureau has announced the nation's center of population, based on the 1950 census, is located in a corn field on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Snider, a short distance from Dundas.

The westward movement of the nation's population center has totaled 644 miles in the last 160 years. Since 1790 this movement has been at the rate of 4.025 miles a year.

In 1790 the center was 23 miles east of Baltimore. That's the farthest north it ever got. The new center is farthest south.

Only 30 miles lay between the north and south extremes. The center has remained within a few miles of the 39th parallel in its westward movement.

Census bureau officials said the new westward movement reflects the trend of migration after World War II due to the establishment of industries in the west and south.

Did Washington Start Custom of Open House?

American historians credit George Washington with starting the custom of receiving friends, or holding "open house" on New Year's day.

In the year 1790 New York was the seat of the government and President Washington made a practice of opening the doors of the presidential mansion for a reception on each New Year's day. Home and foreign diplomats, and ordinary citizens as well, visited.

Washington was said to have expressed the hope that the observance might continue through the years. His wish was granted, for it is still a custom at the White House.

Old Irish Celebration Was 'Baking the Cake'

Old Erin had one of the most unusual New Year's day celebrations to be found anywhere. Called "baking the cake", it was a favorite with Irish peasants.

Proud husbands would invite all their friends over to participate in the ceremony and partake of the "gude woman's baking."

When the cake was fully prepared, the eldest son took it and hurled it with all his force against the door. Everyone scrambled to pick up the pieces, for, according to the superstition, he who picked up the first fragment to touch the floor would have a home and a New Year's cake to share the next year.

WELCOME

AS THE OLD YEAR FADES THE NEW YEAR DAWNS

Goodbye 1951—You have been a good old year and in your going Tuesday, you left enough happy days and Christmas "con-overs" to last thru the 366 days yet to come... We recount just a few "unforgettables"... Cards! Cards! Cards! Each one full of good wishes individually expressed and read and re-read... long will they be cherished in this grateful heart of mine! We recall that first merry tinkle from our telephone on Christmas morning when a well modulated voice across the miles sincerely spoke "Merry Christmas... I wish for you and yours all thats happy for the Yuletide season"... We know it was a message straight from a loyal heart which has stood the test of time and tide... The pleasure and delight we captured when we opened a package containing a lovely volume of poems topped by a beautiful corsage of the first Spring Violets, sent from a friend in Melodyland, who has never failed to remember... The "SONG" may be ended... but its "melody" lingers on deep in the soul of me!

The visit of friends who came to share our fireside, and the glowing lights from our Christmas Tree... The joy we found in motoring thru Columbiana under a "canopy of lights" to greet Main Streeters... The lovely Christmas trees decorating the homes and lawns of civic minded Columbianians. The Christmas carols sung as only free children in a free land can sing them... The "time-out" we took to spend the Christmas tide with our loved ones... and friends who came to add their "good wishes". A visit from our little friends who were trying out new bicycles, tricycles, cow-boy regalia, foot ball suits, and the countless Bonnie Braid dolls we were introduced to... The yummy-yummy goodness of Myra Chandler's home made candies, and Virginia Fowler's beautifully decorated cakes. Dodging around thru the raindrops in a last minute rush to get to the post office. The momentous occasion of "Old Scrooge" coming across the street to greet us with outstretched hand, saying "All right, you win, Santa Claus has really come to town"!

The Goodfellows who made the joys of Christmas a reality for hundreds of tiny ones, who would have had nothing had not the Goodfellows remembered... Much credit is due these "Goodfellows". We congratulate them for a splendid job well done! Community Night... when approximately 450 Main Streeters gathered in the Courtroom to enjoy the program prepared by the Park and Recreation Board. The Choral groups, under the direction of hard-working and popular Clarence Cook, and the High School chorus' rendition of "Jingle Bells led by Mary Mims, Supervisor of Music in Columbiana Schools. The impressive Christmas Program at the Methodist Church in which the children of the Church School were featured with Jane Carter at the Organ playing a beautiful musical background for the reading of the immortal story of the Birth of Christ. The Baptist Choristers presenting the Cantata... The "Dawn of Christmas", and the generous praise accorded them for their annual offering... Yes, Christmas is a wonderful occasion with which to close the Old Year, and as we move forward to greet the Little Pink New Year, now three days old, may we wish for each of you the Gladness of Christmas which is Hope... The Wonder of Christmas, which is Peace... and the Spirit of Christmas which is Love. May these three blessings linger with you all thru 1952—

. . . Miss Minnie Edwards and Mrs. Roxie Sasser are being greeted this week by former friends and associates during their visit with Mrs. Myra Chandler.

. . . It is good to welcome back into our reading circle Thomas Minor who says... "I can't do without the Home Paper any longer. I am anxious to keep up with the political situation." (Well, the "political pot" is beginning to simmer and its temperature will be measured by the ingredients now being tossed into it. We shall do our best to keep you informed as Time goes on... It looks as if we will not lack interesting news items down "Political Row".)

. . . Our good friend Ex-Congressman George Huddleston wants "more news from the Courthouse". (We have done our best to corral news items from various offices, but, sometimes it is difficult to obtain this information. However, we have not given up, and shall try and procure same for you. Thanks for the suggestion.)

. . . It was a pleasure to welcome Mrs. Pierson West and daughter Harriet West in our office Wednesday. The Wests now reside in Rome, Georgia, and were guests of Mrs. West's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Spivey during the Christmas season.

. . . Bob Shrader, formerly of Shelby, now a "big shot" up East residing in Philadelphia, came "home for Christmas" and we had the pleasure of a few minutes chat with this personable young fellow. With Mr. Shrader was his young daughter who is as pretty as a picture. It is good to realize all over again that "Time" and "Distance" mean exactly zero, when old friends meet again. Especially true of Shelby County friends, who have the faculty always of just picking up the tread of the story from "old times" cherished thru the years and going on as if years had never intervened and paths divided.

. . . Alvin Tenen of Ft. Oglethorpe, Georgia, spent a few days in Columbiana this week with his sister Mrs. Sam Shafferman and Dr. Shafferman. Alvin is now in the Jewelry business and a "travelling salesman" who likes his job and the chance he gets in travelling around to run into friends, formerly of Columbiana, now in the Army camps. Alvin and Warren Duke, with several other Shelby County folk met in South Carolina recently and enjoyed an old fashioned get-to-gether. Naturally, the topic for discussion was, Shelby County folks and things.

CHORISTERS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. N. A. Jones and Mrs. W. W. Wallace were joint hostesses on the evening of December 22, when they entertained the Baptist Choristers at the N. A. Jones home following the final Cantata rehearsal. Favors featuring the Yuletide season were presented each guest and following the refreshments, a beautiful plate glass mirror was presented the Jones' a leather bag was given the director, and a box of cosmetics for Myra Holcombe, Librarian. Woodrow Elliott, on behalf of the Choristers presented the mirrow, after which carols were sung and this congenial group of musicians completed plans for 1952 which include an Easter Cantata and other programs scheduled for the Spring Season.

. . . George Beard of Columbiana Route 2, says he wants to start the New Year off "just right"... so presto, he pulls two dollars from his bill fold, we write it down on a slip, and up comes his favorite chair in our ever widening circle of weekly readers.

. . . Crowds thronged the Courthouse Saturday in a last minute rush to pay taxes before a penalty plus interest charge is imposed.

Captain Vertnor N. Barnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Barnett, of RFD No. 1 Columbiana, Alabama, was recently transferred to the 6th Bomb Wing, SAC, Walker Air Force Base, New Mexico from an air base in Japan.

Captain Barnett served in the Far East with the 56th Strategic Reconnaissance Squadron Medium, Weather as a Radar Operator. He was part of the organization which flies daily weather reconnaissance missions over Korea in support of the United Nations effort there.

Mrs. Barnett, the former Kathryn E. Loper of Warrington, Florida, and three children, Wayne S., Susan R. an Dennis N. accompanied Captain Barnett on his transfer to the United States.

WALTON-CRUMP

Rev. and Mrs. Gaston Walton of Columbiana, announce the marriage of their daughter, Amye, to Carl Crump, of Birmingham, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Crump of Anniston.

Mr. and Mrs. Crump were married at Trenton, Georgia, December 23. The bride wore a grey suit with black accessories for her wedding trip

The couple were married by Rev. J. M. Carroll, and will make their future home in Birmingham.

Previous to her marriage, Mrs. Crump was a secretary in the office of the Home Demonstration Agent in Columbiana.

. . . Lt. and Mrs. Joe Young are guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Young.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Green of Kentucky, spent the Yuletide holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Green in Columbiana.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Luther Curlee have returned from an extended visit in Florida with their daughter, Mrs. Mary Barrow and Dr. Barrow and children.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Cull Curry, Rosemary, Nan, and Sam Curry, of Mobile, spent the week end with Mr. Curry's sister, Mrs. T. B. Miller and Mr. Miller.

. . . Recent guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Johnson included Mrs. Annie Atkinson and Mrs. Clyde Wyatt of Vincent; Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson and Mrs. A. C. Cameron of Birmingham; Mrs. George Walker and Mrs. Billy Coburn of Siluria.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. John Martin of Bessemer spent Monday in Columbiana and were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Luck. Mr. Martin is the Science Instructor in Bessemer High School and is enjoying his work under Dr. J. W. Letson, former resident of Columbiana, who is Superintendent of Bessemer Schools.

. . . Joe L. Williams, airman USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Williams of Route 1, Siluria, recently graduated from Aviation Machinist's Mate School, at U. S. Naval Air Technical Training Center, Memphis, Tenn. He is a former graduate of Thompson High School.

HOWARD WHITAKER IS PROMOTED TO CASHIER

(Childersburg Times)

Robert M. Cleckler, President of the First National Bank of Childersburg announces the promotion of Howard Whitaker from assistant cashier to cashier.

Howard came to Childersburg about three years ago as teller of the bank, with no previous banking experience. He had previously worked for a druggist in Columbiana as a clerk for the past fifteen years.

Mr. Cleckler stated that Howard has accomplished a record for advancment as cashier in a period of three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitaker and son, Bill, moved to their new home in Indian Hills about six months ago. Both Mr. and Mrs. Whitaker take an active part in the First Methodist Church. Howard is president of the Brotherhood Class and is a member of the Exchange Club.

. . . Mr. J. R. McMillin is spending two weeks with his children in Tampa, Florida.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Yates of Sylacauga, spent the Yuletide with their parents, Judge and Mrs. W. W. Wallace, leaving Wednesday for a vacation trip in Florida.

. . . The Christmas Dance, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary was a gigantic success. Culminating the evening's program of rhythmic melodies, the announcement of the engagement of two of our favorite people was made. Wedding bells will chime for Warren Duke and Patsy Brown, and this week finds a host of friends offering congratulations and best wishes for their future happiness together. They richly deserve the best this old world has to give them.

. . . The best New Year's present that has come the Noland Barnett's way, is the return home from Japan of their son, Captain Vertnor Barnett and his family from Japan. The young Captain tells me this morning, that he swung his car in the old home town at ten minutes to twelve New Year's Eve, and what a reception this was for a "happy New Year Greeting". Captain Barnett and his family will be stationed in Roswell, New Mexico, following a vacation with "home folks and friends in Columbiana".

WHERE IS MRS. ANN BRAGG?

It seems impossible that a woman of 75 years of age could just disappear within 500 yards of her home, and after an intensive search by hundreds of Alabamians, not be found, dead or alive right here in Shelby County. Mrs. Ann Bragg left her home on Double Oak Mountain December 2, to spend the day with relatives. She has not been heard or seen since this time although many rumors have been thoroughly investigated by the State and County law enforcement officers.

A PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE CONFEDERACY

Among my treasured remembrances Christmas is a priceless volume called "A Pictorial History of the Confederacy" (Buckhannon). This volume, rich in historic lore, should be in every home in the South, and certainly in every School and Town Library. We strongly recomend that each school in the county procure one for its library, and, after procuring it, teach this generation the facts surrounding the lives of these "immortals" to whom we owe so much today.

We doubt that many students of history could, if questioned, tell you today which generals fought with the North, and which with the South, or name the battles, or even one step further, we doubt if they could tell you where the conflict started, and why. The important thing is to get the book and study its pages, and be grateful that the author of this book has compiled this great volume so that this generation may realize all over again how much we are indebted to these matchless leaders, and be grateful, for the information now available, written and pictured in such an interesting style, that once having read it, you will immediately want to review it. I would not take anything for my volume!

DEPOT ROAD

If no other improvement on the Road Program in Columbiana is voted more important, we would certainly urge a permanent base of some kind and black top or chert for the road to Southern Depot from Columbiana. We have often wondered what a transient guest would think of us if he traversed this approach into Main. A number of vehicles travel this road and quite a few of our substantial colored citizens live on this road. There is no sidewalk. The road is terrible! We hope something can and will be done about it.

"HOW DO THEY DO IT"?

Following the presentation of the Christmas Cantata, we were asked the following question? "How is such precision and one-ness ever attained in a musical organization with so much talent..."? I can only answer you by changing a little poem I once read somewhere, sometime ago, but which, I think truly applies to this wonderfully fine group of "Choristers" with whom it has been my privilege to work for the past three years:

It aint the time they give it,
Nor the funds that they can pay—
But the close cooperation
That makes them sing that way.
It aint the individual,
Nor the choir as a whole—
But the everlasting team-work
Of every single soul.

Thanks to everyone who has so generously praised their efforts. We have passed on to them your generous comments.

CONGRATULATIONS ACROSS THE MILES TO THE BANNISTERS

Congratulations to Captain and Mrs. "Benny" Bannister of East Gallie, Florida, who have announced the arrival of a son, "Steve" Bannister, born at Patrick Air Force Base Hospital, Cocoa, Florida, on the evening of December 24, at nine-thirty o'clock.

The Bannisters formerly resided in Columbiana and friends of this popular young couple will be delighted to hear this "good news".

THANKS TO CHARLES L. McDANIEL

Now that our good friend Charles McDaniel of the Lion Oil Company Chemical Division, ElDorado, Arkansas, has thoughtfully remembered to send us a Year Book for 1952, and a pretty leather one, too... there will be no excuse for "forgetting to remember" important items I shall take pleasure in jotting down daily.

(Thanks Charlie. The red one you gave me last year has been my constant companion, even on my trips away from town. I sincerely appreciate this remembrance.)

WHO WILL THE NEW YEAR BABY BE?

We are eagerly awaiting a report from Dr. Stork and the Shelby County physicians to announce the arrival of the Reporter-Democrat's Mascot for 1952. Please phone 2751, when he or she arrives so we may have the pleasure of announcing the name of Shelby County's newest citizen.

How to Find Christ

Lesson for January 6, 1952

NOT every one finds Christ in just the same way. This was true at the beginning and it is still true. A very interesting recent book is, "These Found the Way," edited by David W. Soper. (Westminster Press, Philadelphia, $2.50.) It contains the stories of a dozen modern persons who have become Christians. No two of them have the same story to tell, yet there is something in common among all of them.

Dr. Foreman

Each of them in some way has "found" Christ. It is a mistake to think that all Christians must be cast in the same mold, or that each of us must plant his feet exactly in the footprints (for example) of St. Paul.

Sensational Conversions

AT the beginning of John's gospel we find the story of one person after another who followed Christ. There is only one of these who believed in Jesus on the basis of what could be called a "supernatural" experience. This was John the Baptist. He testified that he had "seen the Spirit" (that is, God's Spirit) coming upon Jesus.

Now you cannot "see" the Spirit in the same way you can see a fence-post. Even if you take the story in the most literal way, and take it to mean that the Spirit had taken the visible form of a dove, the question still is there: How would John know that this particular dove was not a dove, but the Holy Spirit?

Whatever you make of it, John was an exception. All the others in the story became followers of Jesus through some one's word, suggestion, invitation; some one introduced them to Christ. That still is true.

Very few people who are Christians today started out with some vision in the sky, some vision of a dove or an angel or of Christ himself (like Paul, later on).

Simpler Cases

JUST as likely, it was not spectacular at all. (Most of the conversions recorded in the New Testament were not in the least spectacular.)

It was someone saying, "Let's go to church," or it was a Sunday school teacher saying, "Bill, isn't it time you accepted Christ for yourself?" or a girl saying, "How can I marry a fellow that isn't even a Christian?" It may be reading a tract or it may be listening to someone's testimony in a prayer meeting, it might be reading that book about how some in our time have "found the way",—or it might even be reading this column.

However it comes about, two things are always true. First, someone introduces you to Jesus. Then, you make the decision for yourself. You are not likely to come to Christ unless someone else suggests it and helps you; but no other person however good, and no church however great and true, can do for you what you alone can do for yourself: make up your own mind to say "Yes" to Jesus Christ.

Nowadays much is said about "Fellowship Evangelism". There is nothing mysterious about it. For instance, a man who has never thought about becoming a Christian and perhaps no intention of being one, joins (say) a men's club at some church . . . and one thing leads to another, and he gets acquainted in this way with the minister or with someone else who has had a real and happy experience with Christ . . . and presently his heart is stirred and he too becomes a Christian—because he has made Christian friends.

Saying a Good Word

YET it is a strange thing: many people will talk about anything else they believe in, before they will talk about Jesus Christ.

Suppose that from the beginning every one had been as close-mouthed about Him as most church members are? Simon Peter, for one, would never have become a Christian, if it had not been for his brother Andrew, who knows what would have become of Simon Peter?

In commercial lingo, Jesus "sells" himself. First-rate things, ideas or persons always sell themselves. But even the finest articles in the world need to have their story told, they have to be introduced, people have to know about them. Every church, every Christian, ought to be (in the best sense) advertising Christ. Is yours? Are you?

NEW YEAR AROUND THE WORLD

Long before history was recorded the Persians discovered sugar cane and made sweetmeats an important part of their New Year celebration. These pagan Persians also made human sacrifices on the eve of the New Year in the belief that their barren fields would be fertilized by the gods.

In ancient China it was a custom to make visits shortly after the New Year had begun. Hilarity reigned supreme in old India and Babylon where celebration of the first day of a New Year was a very wild affair.

The superstitious people believe that during their frolicsome celebrations the pagan gods were asleep else conveniently away from home.

The Japanese always used holly for decorations at New Year's. It is an old belief that "the prick of the thorns on the leaves would scare away devils." The emperor's first bath, Hatsumizy, taken early New Year morning, was called a "religious rite of cleansing and purification performed by the ruler to bring peace and prosperity to Japan and his people."

Smart children in Belgium gather keys to every room in the house on New Year's eve, and then lock the elders in their rooms on New Year's morning, refusing to release them until promised a portion of sweets.

YOU'RE ALL DONE, DAD . . . The old man, having served his time and done his duty during 1951, is ready for rest and retirement. Young 1952, however, eager and ready for the fray, is reaching out to take the cake—or is it pie? Happy New Year, anyway.

New Year Banquet Shows Variations All Around World

Feasting has always been an important part of the celebration of New Year's and menus differ around the world.

The New Year's Day banquet in England and Western Europe is similar to our American feast, chief difference being in the choice of side dishes. Turkey, duck or goose makes the popular roast in England, with plum pudding topping off the meal.

Turkey is again found in France, although capon and pheasant are as popular. The holiday fowls of the Latin countries are bedecked with truffles, chestnuts and olives and one might find snails on a menu in France.

An important dish among the Spaniards is sopa, rice cooked with olive oil, tomatoes, vegetables and meat particles. Africans partake of cous-cous, which is composed of wheat grains, lamb and vegetables.

Pickled greens, raw fish, roast bird and shrimp fritters are headliners among the Japanese, with pickled chrysanthemum petals considered a delicacy. The Swedes temper their feast with a special drink called glogg, which is a claret wine sweetened with sugar and flavored with almonds, raisins, dried orange peel, cinnamon, cloves and cardamon. It is usually set afire before serving.

Old Romans Offered Gifts to God Janus

The word January comes from the Latin word "Janus". Janus was a god to whom the Romans offered sacrifices at the start of a new year to insure prosperity and good health for the days ahead. Strenia, goddess of strength, was also honored on the first day.

As early as 747 B.C., the Romans gathered gifts of bay and palm for New Year presents. As the years passed and Rome prospered, the gifts became more elaborate yearly, and, in time, it became the custom to bestow them upon the emperor, a habit that contributed greatly to the wealth of the Caesars. Claudius, recognizing the fact that the giving had graduated through the years from a voluntary tribute to a regarded duty, issued a decree limiting the amount which might be given.

Rome continued to celebrate the New Year under the Christian emperors. The idolatrous rites of the people, however, caused the church to ban Christians from participating in the celebrations, and it was not until December 25 was legally fixed as the date of the Nativity that the church made January 1 a religious festival, in commemoration of the circumcision of Jesus.

Physical Examination

Immediately after discharge, every veteran who has served in the Korean conflict should obtain a Complete Medical Examination. Even though the armed services makes examination at separation centers, governments clinical records, hospital records and various other service records are often in error or misplaced.

The record of a reliable institution or physician may be a big help in proving a claim for benefits in later years. These examinations should be complete, with full E-rays. You parents should pass this on to your sons, because there are some diseases which may not have any effect on a peron until some time after he has contracted it. Later on, it may be very tough to prove to the Veterans Administration that a certain disability, was incerred in service and that you had it when you were discharged. If you should file a claim for a service-incerred disability, and your records were not correct, or had been lost, the VA is going to use the records of your FINAL examination, and if that doesn't show anything to back up your contentions, you are beaten before you start. So, have your sons and your friends to get a good physical examination immediately after discharge.

It is said that the great-grandmother of Will Rogers was among the Cherokee Indians which General Winfield Scott was ordered to move from the area around Guntersville to the Indian Territory in 1837. The beloved comedian was always proud of his Cherokee blood and had made plans to visit Guntersville just before his fatal air crash with Wiley Post in 1935.

CEILING PRICES ON USED CARS REDUCED

Ceiling prices for used automobiles were reduced two percent from those listed in Ceiling Price Regulation 94 on New Year's Day, according to Dr. A. R. Meadows, District Director of the North Alabama Office of Price Stabilization. Further two per cent reductions will take effect quarterly thereafter. The regulation also requires dealers to tag or label each car offered for sale with the make, model, line or series, any extra, special or optional equipment thereon and the ceiling price. Dealers must allow a reasonable price for trade-ins, but may not require a trade-in as part of the transaction. Dealers are also required to furnish the customer with an invoice within 7 days after the sale on which certain legal charges are itemized. Such charges and other requirements are listed in the regulation. Further information about this regulation is available upon request at the North Alabama Office of Price Stbailization. Write, telephone or go in person to 1706 Second Avenue North, Birmingham, Alabama.

GOAT'S MILK, prepared for fluid consumption and medicinal purposes, is now exempt at the producer level, and processors and distributors are allowed to add no more to their ceiling prices than the exact amount of any increase in prices paid to producers. The exemption and pass-through authority are granted by Amendment 27 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, issued recently by the Office of Price Stabilization.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

Our Calendar, Relatively New, Unified Time

The Gregorian calendar has been in popular usage only since the late 18th century, and was the first calendar to bring about such a world unity on the time front.

Yet, it has not satisfied everyone. In fact, someone is always trying to introduce a new one.

One of these, concocted by a schoolboy about the time of the first World War, was considered seriously for many years. It was even brought to the attention of congress in 1945 and the countries of China and Great Britain showed interest.

Entitled the Edwards Perpetual Calendar, the plan offers striking revisions from the present Gregorian. To start, New Year's Day is not attached to any month of the year, but precedes Monday, January 1. Monday, incidentally, always starts the week, with Saturday and Sunday at the end of the week, where, it would seem, a week-end belongs.

There are 91 days in each quarter, with 30 days in each of the first two months of a quarter; 31 in the third, sixth, ninth and twelfth months of the year. Christmas, birthdays and all other holidays would always fall on the same day each year, and, feature appealing to the superstitious, there would never again be a Friday, the 13th.

And, lest we forget, something for the gals, leap year day would be a distinct 24-hour period between June and July—one more chance.

The calendar was worked out by Willard E. Edwards, A lieutenant in the navy during World War II, Edwards presented his calendar to the delegates to the San Francisco conference in 1945, where it met with much approval. He was soon swamped with letters from all parts of the world acclaiming the proposed calendar. Time, however, passes on and the pages of the Gregorian calendar still replace themselves, year after year.

Chatham Islanders Are First in World To See New Year In

Shepherds watching their flocks on the Chatham islands, New Zealand, will welcome the New Year while milkmen in America are making their rounds on the last day of the old year.

When the bells of the little church on one of the islands, a British colony of about 200 persons, rings at midnight to welcome a new year, it is high noon according to Big Ben of London and is but 7 a.m. in sleepy New York.

Chatham islands always celebrate the New Year first because they are located nearest to the starting point of time—the admiralty's date line. It is made to curve east and west of the 180th meridian in such a way that it lies always in the ocean. The islands are just east of the line.

The incoming year leaves the islands and races westward along the equator at a speed of 1,000 miles per hour. Chatham islanders will be preparing to sit down for their New Year's dinner when howling mobs are warming up to greet 1952 on Times Square.

The Chinese long held a New Year's tradition worthy of note. No doubt made popular by early money-lenders, there was an old belief that if one did not pay all debts before midnight on New Year's Day, he lost "face."

For centuries China celebrated New Year's during the time of the first moon, usually about the first of February—but this was before adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1912.

In earlier times, celebration began a week prior to the Eve, when homage was paid to the Kitchen God and climaxed on the "fifteenth day of the First Moon" by the Feast of Lanterns, or "Teng Chieh." It was a custom to exchange greeting cards and presents through the entire season.

FARM NEWS

Shelby County Farm Family Builds Home

The American farm woman of colonial days who made all of her family's clothes and even helped to build the log cabin home didn't have a thing on Mrs. C. T. McGuire of of Shelby County.

Like most women, Mrs. McGuire wanted a home that she and her family could call their own. But the high cost of building materials and labor was just too much for the McGuire's modest budget.

But this didn't stop Mrs. McGuire. She reasoned that if she did all of the work herself and bought building materials carefully she could still build the house she wanted. So that's exactly what she did.

Mrs. McGuire didn't even consider the fact that she had never built a thing in her life. And she probably didn't forsee all of the hard work for a woman—heavy, back-breaking labor that goes into a simple frame house. So two years ago Mrs. McGuire started in to build the house she wanted.

She dug footings, poured foundations, and put up foundation timbers. 'At first my husband had to help to put up the heavy timbers," she says, "but I soon learned how to put them up alone." And besides, the job was going too slowly when she waited for Mr. McGuire to help. He works in a nearby mine and had little spare time in which to help with the building.

During the day Mrs. McGuire would build a section of the framework, and at night Mr. McGuire would help put the section in place. But Mrs. McGuire did all of the lighter tasks such as building and putting in window casings, putting on the roof, and laying flooring.

She even put up the Celotex for the walls and ceilings, built in cabinets in the kitchen, and installed plumbing for the bathroom.

The McGuire family moved in about one year ago... when the house was merely a shell... and Mrs. McGuire kept working. The six-room bungalow is almost finished now; there are only a few minor jobs, such as pouring the front porch floor, weather-boarding the eaves, and finishing some of the floors.

And by this time Mrs. McGuire has become quite handy with a hammer, saw, and square. In a very short time now, the house will be entirely completed, and at a very reasonable expense. Mrs. McGuire made many bargain-hunting trips for building materials and most of the time she got what she wanted.

For example, she bought bundles of culled oak flooring at a small fraction of the regular price. A careful sanding and finishing job turned out almost unbelievably good looking floors.

Mrs. McGuire didn't develop her talents for getting a job done overnight though. She has been an outstanding leader in Shelby County home demonstration work for 20 years. When the organization of the Little Cahaba Club lagged, Mrs. McGuire pitched in and soon got the club firmly established.

"She is still a very active member of the Little Cahaba Club", says Home Agent Marian Cotney, "and up until recently she served as the club president." Under her leadership the club marked up many notable achievements and with her help it is continuing as one of the outstanding clubs of the state.

For when Mrs. C. T. McGuire, of Helena Route 1, puts all of her energy behind a job, it's bound to be completed.

IT PAYS TO CONTROL SCALE INSECT DAMAGE

Fruit trees in many home orchards do not do well and often die because of scale insects.

John Bagby, A. P. I. Extension Service horticulturist, says that oil sprays give the best control of these pests. The usual dilution is one part oil emulsion with 19 parts of water. Stir mixture for a few minutes to insure thorough mixing. If, after stirring, oil comes to the top the spray should not be used.

ORDERING CHICKS

Orders should be placed well in advance of the time chicks are actually needed because a high quality laying strain of chicks may be hard to get later on in the season.

FIG AND GRAPE CUTTINGS

Use fig cuttings that are six or eight inches long and from 1951 growth. Set them with the upper bud just above the ground. Fig cuttings in Central and North Alabama should be covered with three or more inches of straw during the cold months. Set grape cuttings that have three leaf buds. Set the cuttings with two of the leaves under the ground and one just above.

GLASS 'FREEZER JARS' FOR THE HOME FREEZER

Here are some of the advantages and disadvantages of the comparatively new "Freezer jars".

According to Lavada Curtis, A. P. I. Extension Service food preservation specialist, the jars are moisture-vapor-proof; can be re-used; need no heat-sealing as paper containers do; and, though food must be thawed somewhat for removal, there is no leakage from the container in thawing.

Now here are the disabvantages of glass jars; they are breakable, and they become frosty on the surface when removed from the freezer which makes them slippery to handle without tongs.

The "freezer jars" are more convenient than ordinary glass jars because the sides are straight so that food slips out easily after slight defrosting.

USE RIGHT SEASONING TO ACCENT THE FLAVOR

"Remember that the seasoning can over-power or enhance a food," warns Mary Hulsey, A. P. I. Extension Service nutritionist.

She says that the easiest way to season a root vegetable is to add salt and pepper to taste and a little meat drippings or melted fat.

To give root vegetables a "lift" now and then, use a little chopped onion, green pepper, parsley, or chives. For variety, add left over bits of meat, fish, hard-cooked egg, or grated cheese to the white sauce prepared for root vegetables.

Near Mt. Vernon is Ellicott's Stone. The stone marks the 31st degree North latitude which was designed as the boundary between Spanish-held territory and that of the United States in 1799. The marker was placed there by a Quaker surveyor named Andrew Ellicott. Ellicott was the first man to ever measure Niagara Falls.

CLUB NEWS

NEW HOPE ENJOYS HOLIDAY EVENTS

The Community Party which was held at the School recently was a delightful affair sponsored jointly by the Home Demonstration and Community Clubs. The program included Carol Singing which was followed by several interesting discussions on the Significiance of Christmas.

Mrs. J. C. Greathouse was the recreation leader of the evening, with a well rounded and unique program of fun. Mr. Earl Morgan and Mr. James Nevin were leaders of their respective groups in a treasure hunt, with the former winning a big bag of sweets. Swap Bingo was another exciting game, with several prizes going to contestants.

The gifts were exchanged by the group making a circle and passing the parcels to the tune from the piano; the music ended and each person kept the gift in his possession.

In the lunchroom, tables of cookies and a variety of cakes with tea and coffee were served cafeteria style. Approximately fifty people enjoyed this social.

Two weeks ago, the children of the Christian Endeavor Society held their Christmas party at the home of Mrs. J. M. Denson, on Saturday afternoon. These youngsters played games of "Snowball", "Carol Sing", "Pinning on Santa's cap and boot", and a Package Wrap Relay.

From a tiny tree in the living room; the youthful visitors received horns, spinners and other souveniers. The children were served ice cream, cookies, candy and orange punch.

The Young Adults Sunday School Class held their Christmas Social at the School on last Saturday Evening which marked the close of a very exciting contest, sponsored by their teacher, Mrs. Dudley McGuire. This class is one of the largest in the Presbyterian Church here, with approximately twenty-five on roll.

EBENEZER H. D. C. NEWS

Mrs. Herman Pauly entertained the Ebenezer Home Demonstration Club at her home. The occasion was the annual Christmas party and gift exchange. Mrs. George Howell gave the devotional. Roll Call was answered by "Life in Germany Today."

IF YOU HAVE COLD, THINK OF OTHERS

If you get a cold, think of the other person.

That admonition came today from the State Department of Health as Alabamians found themselves well beyond the beginning of the "cold season."

"The fact that you have a cold means that somebody else who had one before you failed to do anything or at least enough, to protect you and others against his infection," Dr. D. G. Gill, State Health Officer, said. "Every victim of a cold is a veritable cold-virus factory. The virus that is produced inside his body is discharged out into the atmosphere whenever he coughs or sneezes, unless he does something to prevent it. There it may be breathed by someone else who happens to be nearby. The thoughtful thing to do, as well as the courteous thing to do, is to cover you nose and mouth whenever you cough or sneeze in the presence of others. That would seem to be a small thing. But it can keep many people from having colds."

Reader Challenges Editor To Public Boxing Match

DELAVAN, Wis.—The town of Delavan (population 3,500) is watching with interest the feud developing between S. Robert Andersen, editor of the Delavan Enterprise, and H. C. Knilans, one of Mr. Andersen's readers.

Reader Knilans, irritated by editorials in the Enterprise and particularly by Andersen's offer to buy him a ticket to Russia, challenged the editor to a boxing match. When Andersen accepted, the town's interest soared.

Then, in a recent issue, Andersen wrote "as further proof of the editor's good faith and to satisfy the frustrated political ambitions of Mr. Knilans, I offer him the right to write a newspaper column each week for eight weeks as a series of political articles. The editor will take equal space on the same subject."

The editor's acceptance of the fight challenge included the conditions:

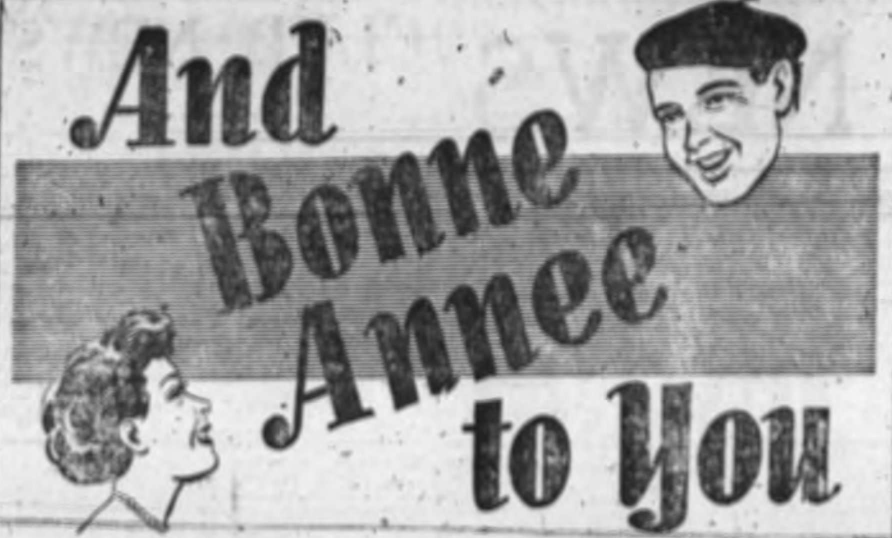
That state approval be given to the fight.

That the marquis of Queensberry rules be followed.

That Knilans pay all expenses involved.

That the match be held at public exhibition with an advance ticket sale.

That the proceeds from the match be donated to the junior chamber of commerce to be used at their discretion in a civic betterment project.



HAPPY NEW YEAR!

These words will soon ring around the world, but it won't sound the same everywhere.

For instance, should you be in gay Paree, this is the greeting: "Bonne Annee!" Across the water in Spain, natives say, "Feliz Ano Neuvo!" In sunny Italy, it's "Buon Capo d'Anne!"

Most of the above greetings we can almost decipher. It is the salute of countries like Germany, Norway and Sweden that are sharp tongue-twisters. For example, Germans wish a happy new year with, "Ein Glueckliches Neues Jahr." Sweden and Norway are a litte simpler, but still ticklish. The Swedes say, "Got Nytt Ar," and the Norse "Godt Nytt Aar."

None-the-less, it still means, "Happy New Year."

EAGER PROMISES

Is There an Easy Resolution?

New Year resolutions have long been a common practice of humanity—and the brunt of a million jokes.

Neither fact is too surprising. Man always has been eager enough to make promises to himself and to others, just as he has been quick to criticize his own weakness when he fails to follow through.

Yet there are always reasons why resolutions fail. True, they might have been made with all seriousness, but still be lacking in strength of perseverance. The fallen resolutions are always those that were impracticable, and not easily adapted to the general pattern of living.

There is a parable: "No man putteth new wine into old wine skins."

A fermenting wine would easily burst the seams of an old wine skin, just as a non-practicable resolution falls along the wayside of daily living. If one is to make new and strong resolutions, there must be a new and stronger person to uphold them.

The easiest resolution of all to make and follow is one to work for a world of peace and harmony.

CATTLEMEN TO HEAR OUTSTANDING SPEAKER

One of the nation's most outstanding speakers, Charles T. Evans, will make the principal address at the Annual Meeting of the Alabama Cattlemen's Association in Mobile January 11 and 12, J. Ernest Lambert, Darlington, President, said yesterday.

Evans, Executive Consultant, Arkansas Power & Light Company, Little Rock, will speak at the annual dinner the night of January 11 in the Admiral Semmes Hotel. He has made two other speaking engagements in Alabama in recent months, appearing before the annual meeting of the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce in Birmingham in November, 1950, and at the Montgomery Chamber of Commerce annual dinner early this year.

In addition to Evans, the Cattlemen will hear: R. T. Clark of the U. S. Department of Agriculture; F. E. Mollin, executive secretary, the American National Cattlemen's Association, and see a meat cutting demonstration by the National Live Stock and Meat Board during the afternoon session January 11.

Registration will begin the morning of January 11 in the Admiral Semmes and all meetings will be held there.

January 12, the Cattlemen will hear J. H. Knox of the New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, and a panel discussion will be held on: "Financing of Pasture Development". Appearing on the panel will be: W. M. Drennen, First National Bank of Memphis, Tenn.; Rex Morthland, Peoples. Bank & Trust Co., of Selma; Harry Gilmore, First National Bank of Montgomery; T. J. Cottingham, State National Bank of Decatur; and Will Howard Smith, Prattville, a member of the Board of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, Georgia.

The membership of the Cattlemen's Association has nearly doubled in 1951, Lambert said, and the membership now totals 2500. There are forty Alabama county associations affiliated with the State gropu this year, he added.

More than a thousand Cattlemen are expected in Mobile for the meeting which will include boat trips and a tour of Bellingrath Gardens, Lambert concluded.

GOVERNOR PERSONS COMMUTES DEATH SENTENCE

Governor Gordon Persons has commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence of John T. Townsell, 64 year-old Dothan farmer, who had been convicted of the 1950 slaying of his wife.

Townsell, in November 1950, had been convicted of the shotgun slaying of his wife. His clemency hearing came a few hours before he was to have died in the Kilby Prison electric chair. He contended that his wife was accidently shot as they struggled over a gun. The struggle allegedly followed an argument because the dead woman had refused to fix her husband's breakfast.

Queen Mary's handmade carpet has earned $119,651.86 scarce dollars for Britain.

A check for this amount was sent to Prime Minister Winston Churchill to be turned into the British treasury. Mr. Churchill wrote Queen Mary expressing thanks.

The money was earned by exhibiting the carpet in the United States and Canada and by its sale to the daughters of the Empire i nCanada, who gave it the the National Museum at Ottawa. Its formal presentation to the museum was made by Princess Elizabeth on her recent Canadian tour.

PFC. GORDON T. HAWK IN KOREA

Pfc. Gordon T. Hawk of Siluria, Alabama, is serving on the central Korean front with the 213th Armored Field Artillery Battalion, a part of IX Corps.

The 213th, a Utah National Guard unit, on occasion has performed as an infantry unit. In one engagement, when Communists had infiltrated UN positions, the artillerymen were responsible for the capture of over 850 Reds and the death of hundreds more.

Prior to entering the Army, Hawk attended Siluria High School and was later employed as a textile worker in Siluria.

THE BALLOT BOX

A weapon that comes down as still
As snowflakes fall upon the sod;
But executes a free man's will,
As lightening does the will of God;
And from its force, nor doors nor locks
Can shield you; 'tis the ballot box.
(Pierpont)

Keen interest will center around the "ballot box" this decisive year of 1952, and potential candidates for various responsible positions are already limbering up for the long run. Following the convening of the State Democratic Executive Committee in Montgomery the latter part of January, the Shelby County Executive Committee will meet, and after this time, official announcements will be forth coming. Watch this paper for further information regarding the race for Circuit Judge, Probate Judge, Members of Board of Education, Members of Board of Control, Circuit Clerk, and, of State wide importance.... U. S. Senate, Supreme Court Jugdes, Congressman, etc. We shall endeavor thru these columns each week to keep you informed regarding these ambitious politicos.

CIRCUIT COURT CALLED TO BEGIN FEBRUARY 4

Judge W. W. Wallace has called a term of the Shelby County Circuit Court to begin in Columbiana on February 4, and continue for two weeks. The two weeks term of court will be devoted to the trial by Jury of Civil Cases. No Grand Jury will convene at this time as there are only three cases on this docket for investigation and they are minor offenses. Shelby County is to be congratulated upon this fact, as it is definite evidence of fewer violations of criminal laws.

BOARD OF REGISTRARS CONVENE

The Shelby County Board of Registrars is convening this week and will be in session thru January 12, as required by law.

The purpose of this session is to purge the poll list of all non-residents, the mentally incompetent, those who have been convicted of a felony involving moral turpefitude and those who have died.

The public is urged to report to Chairman J. A. King, Ross Bob Mullins and S. M. Mahan, any persons they believe should be stricken from the list.

The Board Members will be open for new registration, Monday, January 14 thru January 31.

The second Monday in February hearings will be held and corrections if any, will be made.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT FROM SHERIFF'S OFFICE

Due to the fact that no tax records are available after five o'clock each week day, and court house offices are closed all day Sunday, no bonds will be approved by the Sheriff after five o'clock each week day and no bond will receive approval on Sunday.

This announcement is signed by A. E. Norwood, Sheriff of Shelby County.

THE EISENHOWER JACKET Vs. THE COONSKIN CAP

The next Presidential election bids fair to be a colorful event, especially since General Ike Eisenhower has made known his party preference, and announced he would accept the nomination for President of the United States, if he should be "drafted by the Republicans". General Eisenhower is a great American .... an American who holds the confidence of all the people. However, "down South", party lines are irrevocably drawn and the Democratic Donkey when he hears this news flash is likely to don a "Coonskin Cap" and accompany Tennessee's favorite son, Senator Kefauver. Then, it will be up to the people to decide which they prefer.... An, Elephant in an "Eisenhower Jacket" or a Donkey in a "Coonskin Cap". Who knows, before this fracas is over the General and the Senator may get together and in perfect step dance right up Capitol Hill to the melody of the Tennessee Waltz. A fantastic dream we admit, but, something equally as spectacular will have to take place to pull us out of the muddle in which we find ourselves revolving today.

Infantile Paralysis Drive Now On

Mildred White Wallace

"This Figh Is Yours" .. says a poignantly appealing Poster you have doubtless noticed in the windows on Main Street this week. A weary soldier stands behind a victim of the dread malady, Infantile Paralysis, with outstretched hand asking for help from every individual in the State of Alabama. I know of no State which has benefited more from this fund than Alabama where over 1,000,000 was spent last year. Far more than has ever been invested by Alabama citizens.

Now, from records, we find the National Organization in debt $5,000,000 which will have to be repaid, before any sum in the Treasury can be said to be available. The fight is truly yodrs and mine. So, when the alert Vignettes come to you, led by Chairman Virginia Fowler, dig down deep in your pockets and give as generously as is possible. We know of no cause more worthy. Infantile Paralysis usually strikes at the heart of the home, a little child. It might be yours. Think about this when asked to do your part toward raising Shelby County's goal.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS IN ALABAMA

The State Department of Public Health said that 35 poliomeyelitis deaths were recorded in Alabama during the first nine months of the year.

Good Citizenship Girl Is Chosen

Mrs. Ellen Arnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Jones of 2813 Crescent Avenue, Homewood, was selected to represent Shelby County schools as Good Citizenship Girl, an honor given each year by the D. A. R. Ellen is a senior at Thompson High School, a member of the Beta Club, Assistant of the school annual, Reporter for F. B. L. A. Club, member of the F. H. A., 4-H Club. Her husband, Aubrey Arnett, is with the Marine Corps at Cherry Point, N. C.

On February 8 and 9 the girls representing all the counties in Alabama will be entertained at Huntingdon College, Montgomery and during that session one girl will be chosen to represent the State at the national meeting later this year.

U. S. TAX ON FARMERS EXPLAINED BY EXPERT

An Auburn economist advised Alabama farmers today that they may have to file income tax returns even though they owe no income taxes.

The economist, Foy Helms, said, "any farmer whose gross income was $600 or more in 1951 is required to file a federal income tax return".

The farmer may send in his return in one of two ways. He can either file a return and pay the tax on or before January 31, 1952, or he can file a declaration of estimated tax due and pay this amount by January 15, 1952, and then file a complete return and pay any balance due on or before March 15, 1952.

If the farmer's business year does not start January 1, he may file a return and pay the tax during the first month of the succeeding taxable year, or he may file an estimate within 15 days and the complete return within two and one-half months after the end of his business year.

REV. A. D. WILSON

REV. A. D. WILSON TO ATTEND EVANGELISTIC CONFERENCE

The Rev. A. D. Wilson has been selected by the General Board of Evangelism of the Methodist Church with official quarters in Nashville, Tennessee, as one of fifty Guest Pastors who have been invited to attend the United Evangelistic Mission, involving all of the churches of the Chattanooga District, Holston Conference, which will be held in Chattanooga, beginning February 15 and continuing thru the 24th, 1952.

This recognition of Mr. Wilson's ministerial ability is a distinct honor to the popular pastor of the Methodist Church in Columbiana, and the local Board of Stewards has voted him the privilege of accepting the invitation.

Mr. Wilson will leave Columbiana for Chattanooga February 14, in time to attend the conference of Evangelistic leaders from the South who will be guests of the Chattanooga District Conference during this convention.

Dr. E. D. Worley, District Superintendent and his Evangelistic leaders, are laying the groundwork carefully for a significant Evangelistic harvest and the program of visiting pastors will feature some of the greatest leaders in the South.

Mr. Wilson is to be congratulated upon receiving this merited honor.

Beef Cattle Sale Set For January 16 At Fair Grounds

The biggest sale of fine beef cattle ever held in Alabama is scheduled to be held Wednesday of next week, January 16, at the Fair Grounds in Birmingham. A pre-sale show will be held, beginning at 8:30. The sale will follow at 12:30. Col. Tom McCord and Bill Pace of Montgomery will be the auctioneers.

The sale is being sponsored by the Alabama Polled Hereford Association which is in its third year and is made up of sixty members.

Eighty eight head of fine Alabama-grown cattle will be consigned to the sale by 20 different breeders. Shelby County will be represented in the sale by Newt's Polled Hereford Farm, near Siluria, operated by L. I. Newton. Other breeders of fine cattle, many of them with years of experience, interested in the sale are: R. E. Larbert and Sons, Darlington; Virgil Hurst, Ohatchee; Lowe Hereford Farm, Huntsville; E. E. Ponder and Dr. E. G. Plunkett, Cullman; Sumter Farm and Stock Company, Geiger, who operate the Yellow Front Stores in Columbiana and Alabaster.

The first consignment sale of fine cattle by the Alabama Polled Hereford Association was held in Birmingham a year ago, at which time 51 head sold for an average of $842 per head.

Everyone who is interested in the progress of the beef cattle industry in Alabama is urged to attend this show.

BOARD OF REGISTRARS NOW IN SESSION

Members of the Shelby County Board of Registrars which include, J. A. King, of Pelham, Ross Bob Mullins of Columbiana, and Stanley Mahan of Montevallo, are in executive session this week purging the Poll List of Shelby County. The new list will be published in this paper during the month of April. Better pay up your poll tax before February 1st, if you want to have a voice in selecting the men who will be chosen to fill many responsible positions in the State and County offices.

Judge L. B. Riddle Named Equalization Board Chairman

JUDGE L. B. RIDDLE

Judge L. B. Riddle of Columbiana has been named to serve as Chairman of the Shelby County Board of Equalization, according to announcement by Joe M. Edwards, Alabama Commissioner of Revenue.

Other members of the board who will serve with Judge Riddle are, E. M. Young, Columbiana and R. L. Roy, Siluria.

The board is instructed to begin its work of reviewing assessments for 1952 on or after February 4, or as soon thereafter as the assessments have been completed by the Tax Assessor.

The work period for the Shelby county board is limited to 70 days and the Commissioner suggests that ample days be reserved for hearing protests that may be filed within ten days from the date of final publication of the Tax Assessor's notice.

Each member of the board will be paid $10 a day for such time as he may give to the performance of his official duties. An allowance of $100 is made for travel. The member of the board who furnishes the car will be paid from this fund at the rate of 6 cents a mile.

The board will meet to hear protests from tax payers on the first Monday of June.

PRISONERS APPRECIATE PEOPLE'S KINDNESS

We want to let everybody know what the Columbiana people did for the prisoners Christmas. There were six persons in jail, two white and four colored and we had a fine Christmas. Some of us had a better Christmas than we would have out side the prison walls. Plenty of fruit, candy, nuts and magazines were brought us and we had a fine Christmas dinner. We want everybody to know how kind Columbiana people were to us. Signed: Lon Terry and Tommie Honeycutt.

YOUNG MAN INJURED

Leslie Russell, of Shelby County, who was struck by an automobile said to have been driven by Dr. Hodges of Straven, Alabama, was reported in critical condition at South Highland Infirmary. He has a fractured skull. He was struck on the Montgomery - Birmingham Highway when he got out of his automobile to examine a tire.

CHICK CHATS

LICE AND MITES REDUCE PROFITS

A high number of culls and a noticeable drop in profits may often be traced to the age-old poultry problem of lice and mites. These external parasites are a constant threat to the well-being of most flocks and represent one of the most serious problems in poultry production.

One of the most harmful external parasites is the red mite. This pest hides by day and raids by night. Hiding in crevices, under roosts, and in other places in the poultry house, this parasite comes out at night to attack birds while they roost. After filling itself with blood from the fowl, the red mite usually returns to its hiding place before the bird leaves its perch.

Destroying Red Mites

In combating red mites, first remove the roosts so they can be treated or sprayed. If perch poles are not detachable, they should be made detachable. All dried manure should also be removed. Next, sweep down the inner side walls of the poultry house and remove all litter from the nests, floor, and away from the area of the house.

The entire house should be treated when there is widespread infestation. On the other hand, when mites are found only in the nests and vicinity of the roosts, treating these areas may be all that is necessary.

Lice also must be contended with in the poultry house. Lice remain on fowl continuously and may go undiscovered for some time if birds are not inspected regularly. In this case a bird may become unthrifty and run-down before a raiser realizes what has happened.

The common species affecting fowls are the large and small body louse, head louse, and delumping louse.

Roost Treatment

Roost aplications are effective in the control of lice. The roost treatments are usually applied along the top side of roost poles a few hours before roosting time. The preparation spread along the roosts vaporizes slowly, killing lice while birds roost.

It is said that such an application should be used on a calm night, because drafty conditions tend to reduce efficiency of the treatment.

When there is an infection of head lice, louse powders—applied to the affected area (or areas) of the bird — may prove more effective.

ON THE FARMS IN SHELBY COUNTY

B. F. Hatchett and G. C. Starcher

We were surely tempted, in this the first column of our new year, to list acres of crops, miles of terraces, number of farms planned, and the many accomplishments of our county's farmers in the past year. There has been a great forward step made in Shelby County agriculture in that twelve month period.

However, our doing that would look like we were trying to take all the credit for this advance for the North Central Soil Conservation District and the Soil Conservation Service.

Instead, the credit goes to the farmers, the men whose money and labor and ambition to do a better job made the great job possible.

The various agencies and training facilities have just been TOOLS of the farmer, or sources of information.

We ARE glad that hundreds of open minded men have seen fit to ask the District organization, and the services we offer, as a means to help them do a better job for themselves.

During the year we have lost a few cooperators through change of ownership in farms. If there is to be a feather in our cap, let it be that in practically every such case the new owner asked for the farm plan to be revised to fit his particular needs, and has become an active soil conserving farmer.

In the next twelve months, it is hoped that every farmer will join the readers of one or more county papers and read this column and news of other agencies. This is a good way to get information that fits our local conditions. Keep informed on what your fellow farmers are doing!

GOOD NEIGHBORS

Rural Pastor, Church Group Aid Neighbors

NICHOLASVILLE, Ky.—The Rev. T. W. Spicer, pastor of the Mount Pleasant Baptist Church at Keene, has become widely known through Kentucky as the rural pastor directs good-neighbor jobs for the betterment of the community and its residents.

As a result, Mr. Spicer recently was named rural minister of the year in Kentucky by the Progressive Farmer magazine.

Several years ago a farm neighbor of Mr. Spicer, became ill during tobacco harvesting season. His 7-acre crop of fine burley needed to be housed right away. But the farmer's physician insisted that he remain in bed at least 10 days.

Then, Mr. Spicer went to work. He went about his parish telling the people about the plight of their neighbor.

Work Finished in Day

Under his leadership a large group of the church members went to the farm, pitched in and housed the entire crop in one day. Women did their bit by preparing a lunch for the workers.

Several months later, another farmer in the area became bedridden. Members of Mr. Spicer's church did another "good-neighbor" job by housing all 20 acres of the sick farmer's corn.

Twenty-nine men took part in the work, using two teams of horses, four trucks, and two tractor-drawn trailers to get the job done in short order.

Community Service

Mr. Spicer's citation from the farm magazine was presented for community service over and above usual church work. Work that aided the community financially as well as spiritually.

It was awarded on four points—record as pastor, record in community activities, record of cooperation with agencies working toward permanent agriculture improvement, and a record in the field of unusual achievement.

The minister had no experience in rural-church work when he arrived in Keene. He had been a pastor of a city church.

A cyclone struck and destroyed Mount Pleasant Church in 1936. The building was rebuilt with the aid of volunteers under the direction of Mr. Spicer, an expert carpenter.

A new education building for the church was needed, so the minister pitched in to do that job. The building will be finished this fall. To date, the minister has done about 80 percent of the construction work.

Village Looks to Boom With Mixed Emotions

BRANDENBURG, Ky.—A little over a year ago the town of Brandenburg had approximately 800 people and was remembered as a picturesque community, a former Ohio river port, with its old house with iron-railed balconies. That's all changed now.

The Mathieson Hydrocarbon Corporation's new $17,500,000 plant is about complete and will start operation within a few weeks. The town's population is about 1,500. It is expected to grow to 5,000 within a few years.

The community faces other problems, too. The municipally owned water company must expand, a sewer system will be needed, and more housing is an immediate necessity.

As the mayor reported, the town is growing and "we don't take the sidewalks in at 6 o'clock any more."

The company, which will employ 300 people on a permanent basis, manufactures antifreeze compound and other chemical products. Its raw material is a waste derived from natural gas, piped 65 miles from a "stripping plant" at Gabe, Ky.

Another industry has announced it will build a $2,500,000 plant in Brandenburg soon.

J. M. Willis, editor of The Meade County Messenger, is one of the citizens who visualizes a big industrial future for Brandenburg. He expects the two plants to attract related industries.

For the first time in the history of the newspaper, he has started street-stand sales, and circulation has increased. He expects it will continue to grow.

Vandals Pose Problem For School Officials

STAMFORD, Conn.—As Stamford school children resumed classes recently, the board of education was pondering what to do about damage to school property during the summer. Vandals caused $1,242 damage, mostly in broken windows, more than in any previous recess.

Superintendent Reginald Neuwein said the repair cost would more than pay for a complete set of furniture for a school room. Seventy-eight panes of glass were broken in one night at one school, and no one living near the school reported to police any knowledge of the destruction.

Members of the board of education plan to attend meetings of the Parent-Teachers Association to ask aid in solving the problem.

NO ACCIDENTS FOR ALA. POWER EMPLOYEES

M S. McGhee, Manager of the Montevallo District, stated that on January 1, 1952, the Western Division of the Alabama Power Company, of which the Columbiana operations are a part, achieved the goal set at the beginning of 1951 of no disabling employee accidents throughout the year.

The Western Division, with headquarters in Birmingham, has 511 employees, and serves approximately 118,000 customers in all or part of seventeen counties in the northwestern part of the State. According to L. M. Smith, vice-president and general manager, "This group of employees deserve high recognition and congratulations for this splendid accomplishment".

Recently the division employees were awarded a certificate of merit from the Edison Electric Institute upon the completion of one million man-hours worked without a disabling injury accident. Such a certificate is highly prized by the recipients, comprising groups or divisions in the various electric utilities throughout the United States. Since the inception of this form of recognition in 1942, only 160 certificates have been issued throughout the nation, and 23 have been given groups of Alabama Power Company employees.

In addition to the award by the Edison Electric Institute, the Western Division employees have earned a bronze plaque issued by the Company's Safety Department to each division completing a calendar year with a clear record in safety. The bronze plaque will be presented at an early date.

On January 1, 1952, the employees of this division had worked continuously 1,266,533 man hours free from accidents. District Manager McGhee stated that this is a remarkable record, especially when one considers the hazards and dangers of on-the-job utility work, and extensive necessary travel to and from the job in automotive equipment.

On the beach of Mobile Bay at Fairhope is an age-old magnolia tree that was once used as a post office. In a hole high up in its trunk Confederate officers used to hide secret documents for exchange between the various commands operating in the area. There are many such "post office" trees in the surrounding vicinity.

Centre was the home of John J. Pratt, the man who is claimed to have invented the first typewriter. The inventor is buried on the outskirts of his hometown.

P. O. ADDS 201 TRUCK ROUTES DURING 1951

A total of 201 new truck routes for the U. S. Mail have been put into operation since early 1951, the Post Office Department reported late in 1951. Eighteen new routes were inaugurated in November to handle bulk mail. Additional truck facilities are being arranged during January following the excessive Christmas rush.

INFECTIOUS HEPATITIS

During the past month the Vincent community has experienced quite an outbreak of Infectious Hepatitis, formerly known as Catarrhal Jaundice.

This is an infectious disease, caused by a Virus and can be spread by personal contact, by food, milk, water and sewage.

The onset usually is with fever, nausea, vmoiting, headache and abdominal discomfort. After a few days, usually 2 to 5, the liver becomes enlarged and juandice develops. The acute symptoms usually disappear in a few days but the jaundice continues from 2 to 4 weeks or longer.

The mortality rate is low but, in a comparatively small number of cases, some permanent liver damage is done.

To date no cases have been reported from other sections of the county but it is very improbable that the outbreak will remain strictly localized.

The U. S. Public Health Service recommends that the patient be isolated for 1 week from onset but does not recommend any quarantine of family contacts.

In 3 recently reported outbreaks of Infectious Hepatitis in institutions, it was apparently established that Immune Serum Globulin was of value in preventing the infection when given to close contacts soon after exposure.

Immune Globlin is not available in large quantities and it is not possible therefore to carry on large scale immunizing, as of an entire community. It is therefore reserved for use in those instances which, in the judgement of your doctor, are most urgent.

JEWEL CASE

A magic carpet is my jewel case.
The things it holds, their names, can carry me
To many a strange and legendary place,
To coral isle and opalescent sea.
This bit of carven ivory can bring
The jungle near; who knows from what far land
Came the red stone that smoulders in this ring;
Who wore this scarab proudly on her hand?
Here is more treasure than can be amassed
By any goldsmith; wonder that unlocks
All the mysterious coffers of the past
Sharing their secrets with my jewel box
When coral, amber, crystal, pearl and jade
Slip through my fingers in a bright cascade.

So wrote Elizabeth Alsop Shepard, and this descriptive poem struck a responsive chord in my heart as I opened an adorable Jewel Box Christmas morning which plays "Some Enchanted Evening"! As we placed our collection of jewels, (most of them from Mr. Kress' emporium,) inside its merry tinkling heart, we traveled the world over in shimmering silks and satins (with jewels to match) and had a wonderful time. Believe it or not! You won't get what I mean, unless you happened to remain at home New Year's Eve with the radio turned on, while top notch bands furnished the background for your "dreamin' - time"! However, the next morning, it was back to the ink-well, for "yours truly" armed with a dripping penpoint eager to make the old familiar rounds just "following you" "UP AND DOWN MAIN"....

. . . Barney Isbell left Columbiana Saturday to enjoy a vacation in Chicago as the guest of Henry Cardwell.

. . . Glad to report that our good friends Mrs. J. B. Turner and Mrs. J. L. Isbell are recuperating from recent attacks of pneumonia.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Rogers, who have made more friends during their short stay in Columbiana, than many folk we even ever heard of, have returned to Columbiana, following a Yuletide trip which included Wynona, Mississippi.... Mrs. Rogers' former home.

. . . Last week collegiates returned to their respective Universities, and the town is indeed a lonely burg without their gay banter. Saw Barbara Horn, Oliver Head, Bake Elliott leaving town, University of Alabama bound. Pretty Grace Sims and Betty Dorrough off for Alabama College Margaret Ann Hatchett, handsome Denton Cole, and personality, plus Fred Nichols staging a back-to-Auburn trip. We shall miss these "pepper-uppers" more than we can find a word to say.

. . . For your information, Dr. Orr of Montevallo will again head the March of Dimes program in Shelby County. The foundation starts the year off with a deficit of $5,000,000 due to the unprecedented epidemic of Infantile Paralysis during the past year. According to Basil O'connor, National Director, 45,000 people at this very moment are still directly dependent upon March of Dimes for help.

. . . Clarence Cook will meet his choral classes Thursday evening. May we add our plea that every member be present as a special New Year Gift of Appreciation to Clarence for his untiring efforts in their behalf. If a Director can drive 40 miles down here to teach these groups each week, it seems to us that those who live here in town could arrange their busy schedule to meet him. These Choral Groups are numbered among Columbiana's richest assets, and we can think of no greater blow to community life than that these well trained musicians should disband. An opportunity such as we now enjoy may not forever come knocking. So, please be in your places Thursday evening and bring a new member with you.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Tinney have returned from a two weeks vacation in the Carolinas with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Tinney and family.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. William Clark spent the week end in Atlanta, Ga.

TOMMY LEWIS BLANKENSHIP NEW YEAR BABY

Well... Here I am! Or that is what this little fellow seems to be announcing. His name is Tommy Lewis Blankenship, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Blankenship, and he, being the first baby reported in our office this year wins the right to be recorded in our files as the first baby born in Shelby County in 1952, thereby automatically becoming the Reporter-Democrat's Mascot for 1952.

Dr. Shafferman, attending physician, states he is one of the finest babies he has ever seen. Tommy weighed in at ten pounds and twelve ounces. His parents reside on Siluria Rt, better known as the Mt. Era community. Tommy was born at 4:20 A. M., January 4.

So, it is congratulations-time to Tommy Lewis Blankenship, new ruler of hearts in the Blankenship home, as we pull up a high chair for his occupancy each week in 1952.

REV. CURTIS BEAN GUEST SPEAKER BAPTIST CHURCH

The Rev. Curtis Bean, former pastor in Calera, and for the past three years a student in Louisville Seminary, was the guest speaker in the Baptist Church in Columbiana, Sunday.

Mr. Bean's impressive message was generously and gratefully received by a large assemblage. The young minister's hopeful, helpful sermon struck a responsive chord in the hearts of all who were privileged to hear him. A calm and reverent attitude marked the morning hour and the universal favorable comment from the congregation following the sermons brought on this occasion was indeed a tribute to his sincere and consecrated life dedicated to ministerial service.

A number of old friends, from former churches where Mr. Bean had served, were present to hear him, and we feel sure, in addition to the old friends who followed him, that Mr. Bean made many new friends on this visit to Columbiana as guest speaker in the Columbiana Baptist Church.

Mr. Bean will finish the prescribed course in Louisville Seminary in March.

DENNIS NOLAN BARNETT

Dennis Nolan Barnett is the young son of Captain and Mrs. Vertnor Barnett, who have just returned from Japan, where Captain Barnett has been stationed for the past year. Little Dennis was born on Guam one year ago last Friday, January 4, and during his first visit in the Reporter-Democrat office Wednesday afternoon, Dennis saw our dog Rusty, and believe it or not, took his first step toward Rusty. This "first step" was as thrilling to watch as it is to relate, for his Dad tried his best to make him take his first step, before his first birthday. However, try as he might, it remained for the age-old attraction between a boy and a dog to bring about this exciting "first step".

Nine thousand miles is a long, long way from home, but Captain Barnett left Japan the early part of December by boat, and bought a new car after reaching California, then, the cross country jaunt brought them to the home of his parents, before the horns heralding the New Year broke loose. It is good to have them home again, and the welcome mat in Columbiana is out to receive them.

. . . Mrs. Lena Duran of Montevallo spent Thursday in Columbiana as the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. L. Christian and Mr. Christian.

WALTON-CUTLER MARRIAGE SOLEMNIZED IN MISS.

Several months ago, Cpl. Gray Davis Goodwin brought a handsome young Sergeant home with him for a visit. The Sergeant met one of Columbiana's most popular young ladies, and the marriage of Barbara Walton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Walton to Sergeant William H. Cutler of Ft. Wayne, Indiana, was impressively performed in Mississippi last Friday, January 4, 1952.

Immediately following the ceremony, the young couple left for a visit with the groom's family in Ft. Wayne, after which they will will return to Eglan Field, Florida, where Sergeant Cutler is stationed.

Barbara is a graduate of Shelby County High School and has a host of friends who join us in sending across the miles best wishes for their future life togheetr.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Stinson have returned from a delightful vacation spent in New Orleans, Louisana.

. . . Buck Stringer is about the luckiest fellow we know. He may have other assignments and duties in that High School, but we feel sure, not one of them is half as pleasant as teaching those pretty High School cuties how to correctly pilot an automobile. To verify this statement, just take a look-see at him any morning on the Main Drag in that especially equipped automobile in which he is securely seated, smiling just like Santa Claus in person. Can't blame him for being happy over this "lesson".... Can you?

. . . Truck Mail Routes throughout the state are fast supplanting the slower moving railway delivery of mail. A truck route between Montgomery and Birmingham has recently been opened. District Manager Greer, who worked untiringly in our behalf to expedite mail service in Columbiana, has been promoted to the Atlanta Regional office and will move from Birmingham at an early date to accept his merited step-up.

. . . Marie Shogren and two children will sail for Okinawa in March to join Captain Shogren. Friends of the popular couple regret that the location is so far removed from Main, but are glad the devoted family will be reunited. Captain Shogren has been overseas for 6 months. He is a member of the Air Force and a Pilot.

RICHARD-HELMS

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Richards of Wilsonville, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Wynona, to John F. Helms Jr., U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Helms of Wilsonville.

The wedding will be solemnized at an early date in Honolulu, Hawaii.

. . . It is good to learn that Mr. and Mrs. George Starcher will be with us each week thru 1952. We appreciate these newcomers into our weekly reading circle.

WINTER COTTON

Famous designer Tina Leser picks cotton for this striking winter design. Using a menswear cotton suiting in bright red with black and white plaid, she created this versatile costume for the smart sophisticate. Cotton menswear suitings are seen frequently in this season's designer collections, the National Cotton Council reports.

LETTERS AND SUBSCRIPTIONS BRIGHTEN THE NEW YEAR

From Biloxi, Mississippi, comes a delightfully friendly letter from our good friend Nathan Gordon, who is District Governor of the Lions Club, and a former resident of Columbiana who ,no matter where he has resided, has always kept in touch with old friends on Main thru the "Home Paper". We acknowledge with gratitude his letter and a renewal subscription for 1952.

. . . From Montevallo, Mrs. George DeShazo requests that her paper be continued thru the New Year and says, she frequently shares its contents with her neighbors, who also enjoy this newsy periodical.

. . . Mrs. Dewey Bolton tells us James Lewis Bolton, her soldier-boy, enjoys the Home Paper more and more as time goes on, and that each soldier and sailor seem to believe this is about the best present a fellow can get while away from the home base. We hope these men in uniform for Unk will think to write us when they change addresses so that we may keep the paper following them, as post offices do not forward papers.

. . . P. C. Wood, brother of Arthur Wood, who resides in the Magic City sends us a subscription and asks that it be promptly delivered to him each week. A former Shelby Countian, who true to form, still maintains his interest in this neck of the woods. Thanks P. C.!

. . . On and on we might go, telling you of the number of people who regard this "Home Paper" which covers the county, as their most popular visitor each week, and for these expressions we receive, we are duly grateful. Now, that this year holds more than passing interest, we are sure that hundreds of names will be added to the ever lengthening rolls in our office, and, if you want to get in on the "ground floor" of activities on the calendar for 1952, phone or send us in your name and address, and lets get going together, all the way. It's a lot more fun travelling with Shelby County folk from all over the county, for no matter from what section they come, mutual interests remain the same.

. . . We are delighted to enroll in our ever wideing circle of readers this week, Offie Stinson, member of the Board of Revenue and Control of Wilsonville, Rt., and his soldier son, Murphy T. Stinson, who is stationed at Lakeland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

. . . We are frequently asked if papers can be sent abroad to soldiers. They certainly can, and are being mailed each week to numbers of our soldiers and sailors now doing duty overseas. In practically all cases, we have received letters stating that the "Home Paper" is the best morale booster they receive in the strange lands in which they now live. So, if you want to add a bit of happiness to your boys in service, send them the Reporter-Democrat.

. . . W. F. Moody, Montevallo Rt. 1, stops us on the street and says.... Well Lady, while I can find you, what about my renewing my subscription to that good paper.... and so saying, the kind gentleman gave us two greenbacks, and we hasten to get his name on our roster of New Year subscriptions this week, with plenty of "thank-you-sirs" to go with it.

. . . Mrs.. Ruby Porter from Florence College was the recent guest of her aunt, Mrs. George DeShazo in Montevallo.

. . . Mrs. Frank Wyatt Jr., of Chicago, recently made her first trip South. Have just received a letter from her and she was charmed with Alabama, and plans a return visit this summer, at which time wa hope to have the pleasure of meeting her. Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt are making their home in Chicago, but will likely be returning to his home near Vincent during the summer months.

. . . Mrs. Crawford of Georgia, whose husband was a former practicing physician in Shelby County, was a recent guest of Mrs. Myra Chandler.

. . . Beatrice Looney Goley has reached Germany, and is living in an old German Castle, with plenty of servants to do her bidding. Fact is, Bee writes, she does not have to do one thing, but play on the Steinway Piano in this old Castle, and drive her auto around seeing the many interesting places in Germany. Her maid accompanies her on her shopping trips, to see that proper exchange in money and marks tally. Captain Goley will be in this part of the world, for three years before returning to the States, or, at least, that seems to be the plan at present. Things change so rapidly these days, however, that maybe, it won't be this long before they can return for a visit with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Looney in Columbiana, and his parents who reside in North Carolina.

. . . Did you happen to see G. R. McNeill Jr. down town one day last week wearing a Kefauver Coonskin Cap? He looked as cute as a wink, and now Harold Harlin is begging us to buy him one. Well, there may be more of these "caps" seen around town, if Senator Kefauver of Tenn. carries out his ambition to receive the favorite son nomination for President of U. S. A. After paying off a wager made recently with Senator O'Conner from Maryland, he lost his Coonskin Cap, but the Senator from Maryland promised to return it to him for political campaigning if he decided to toss his hat in the ring. The wager was made over the Sugar Bowl tilt between Maryland's crack team and Tenessee's Vols. The stakes were... A coonskin cap (the Senator's) if Tennessee lost, and a barrel of oysters from Maryland's Senator, in the event that Maryland lost. For good measure, after the battle for the oval pigskin ended, Senator Kefauver donated a live coon to go with the chapeau. The cap at present is in the hands of the Captain of the Maryland Football team. The coon is in the Baltimore Zoo. The score between the two teams was, 28-13 in favor of Maryland.

ATTENTION MR. AND MRS. FLOYD BLANKENSHIP

When you make your first visit to Columbiana and bring Master Tommy Lewis Blankenship for his initial "look-see" at the Main Drag, the following merchants have a special gift for him, as a token of appreciation for Shelby County's first citizen of 1952. So, be sure and go by the Yellow Front Store and call for Manager N. A. Jones, or Mrs. N. A. Jones.... Visit Meyers on the corner, and ask for the genial owners, Leon and Jo Meyers, who have a gold ring for bady.... Thelma Glenn says she wants to greet both Mommie and Baby in her Dress Shop and we feel sure when Lady Blankenship sees those new Jollie Junior Dresses, she will just have to have one to begin the Spring Season with. A Gift also awaits Tommy. Now, everybody knows Groceries are essential in any home, and Baby Foods a "must" on Tommy's list. So, see genial Arthur Wood at Wood's Store and find out what he has for you. You can always depend on Wood's for prompt service and dependable merchandise.

MRS. MYRA CHANDLER HONORS GUESTS

On January 2, from five to seven o'clock, Mrs. Myra Chandler entertained Miss Minnie Edwards and Mrs. Roxie Sasser with an Informal Reception in her home in Columbiana, during which time old friends of these former residents had the pleasure of greeting them.

Coffee and Russian Tea with sandwiches, mints and nuts were served to approximately seventy-five guests.

. . . The special musical offerings by the Baptist Choristers at the eleven o'clock hour next Sunday morning will be "Glorious Bannes", and a new arrangement of "Pilot Me O Savior". Dr. Hopkins from Howard College will be the guest speaker.

. . . Mrs. Marie Shogren, Mrs. Lonnie Brown and Brenda Brown are visiting relatives and friends in Gulfport, Mississippi.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Edward German and daughter of Birmingham were visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Skelton over the New Year holidays.

. . . Mary Alice McGiboney has returned to her home in Birmingham after spending two weeks in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McGiboney.

. . . The G. C. Moore's have purchased the home formerly owned by Buck Bullard and will move to this new location this week.

. . . No happier note do we know to close this week's issue than with an old subscriber, who has decided to "return and take his place in the Reporter-Democrat's reading circle". His name, Taft Prince from Vincent Rt., and he took the trouble and the "time out" to personally attend to this important matter, so we had the pleasure of checking up on our friends in this section of the county. A number of former subscribers are now returning stating they want to "keep up with whats happening in Shelby County".... and it is our assignment to "find out". So, until next week.... when we will B.C.N.U.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Matthew 4:18—25; Mark 1:16—20; Luke 5:1—11.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Matthew 4:18—25.

A 'Yes' to Christ

Lesson for January 13, 1952

JESUS knew some distinguished people. But his first and most intimate friends were not of that kind. Christianity started at the grassroots of humanity. It did not start in the top branches. It is a good thing, too.

Dr Foreman

It is quite true that Christianity has depths and heights to which most Christians do not attain. A St. Paul has not only mystic raptures but intellectual penetration which comparatively few Christians have shared or can share; he was a genius, and most of us are not geniuses.

But in Jesus' first group of companions there was no St. Paul. They were the plainest of plain people. The first of them were fishermen. They were not used to lectures; it is extremely doubtful whether any one of them would have understood the Epistle to the Ephesians if it had been read to them. But they understood Jesus . . . at least they understood what he said. He said, "Follow me," and they followed him. It was as simple as that.

THAT is what Christianity is, at its heart: saying. Yes to Jesus. When those fishermen said their "Yes" it meant three things, and those three are always involved whenever any one sincerely begins the Christian life. For this was only the beginning, of course. There was a long road ahead, much they would have to learn and do and suffer; but even the longest road has its beginning. And the Christian's road begins with this first "Yes".

First of all, it means surrender. They took him for their leader, they absorbed his teaching, they obeyed his orders. There is a Christian hymn, "My Jesus, as Thou Wilt"; one hears it most often at funerals, but it is not intended as a funeral hymn. It could well be the hymn sung when young people are confirmed or join the church; it could well be the every-morning song of every real Christian.

What do I want most? is not a Christian question. Rather it should be, What does Christ want most?

AGAIN, those fishermen's "Yes" meant separation. They left their nets, their old occupation.

We must not read too much into this, as if in order to be a Christian one must leave his wage-earning business, whatever it is. On the contrary, the best place to be a Christian may be right where we are.

However, no matter what we may do for a living, it is still true that saying "Yes" to Jesus means saying "No" and "Goodbye" to many other things. It means separation from all that is out of tune with him; separation from selfishness, from sin, from trash and trifles. It means separation from habits that enslave us, from "recreations" that do not re-create but tear down, from places and opportunities of temptation, from hatred and prejudice and pride.

If a man really means "Yes" to Jesus, he cannot mean "Yes" to what is opposite to Jesus. The Christian life is a separted life. It is not that he is separated from people. Isn't it likely that the fishermen who followed Christ had a far wider circle of friends as they went with him than they had ever had before? But they were being shaken loose from what had before seemed to them most important,—yes, even from themselves.

Service

BUT that is the negative side of it The Christian life is not only "from" but it is "for." That is, just as these first fishermen followed Jesus in order to become fishers of men, so the Christian's yes-saying always means enlistment for service.

A Christian's sincerity cannot be measured in what he says, nor even in what he does not do; it is to be measured in what he does.

It is a serious and solemn question: Suppose this is your last day in life, and all the accounts are in. Looking back on what you have been and what you have done, has your life actually helped what Jesus Christ is undertaking in this world. or have you hindered him?

The Christian life is a surrendered, a separated life, but also a life of service. "Yes" can be said with the lips alone—that was Judas; a "Yes" to Christ can truly be said only with life itself.

VETERAN,S COLUMN

E. J. SULLIVAN, VSO

THE G. I. BILL

Our article this week contains some very special information and advice for veterans of World War Two, who are taking on-job training, or are enrolled in any school or institution. Up to July 25 this year, most veterans enrolled under the G. I. Bill could change their courses just about any time they wanted to, provided they gave satisfactory reasons for the change to the Veterans Administration. The VA was very lenient in granting these changes, but since July 25, new regulations have gone into effect which changes the picture drastically. As you know, July 25 was the deadline for the training under the GI Bill for most World War Two Veterans.

Lots of publicity was given to the deadline date, but even so, it slipped up on quite a few of those who fully intended to take advantage of the benefits allowed under the bill. Still, even today, many veterans are losing GI Bill benefits because they don't have correct information. Almost every day veterans are making application to the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Montgomery for additional training or education. In many of these applications are being turned down due to the new regulations.

First, let's take a veteran who, is now in training, or taking educational benefits offered by some institution. Suppose this veteran wants to change his course. The first thing he must do is to request a Supplemental Certificate of Eligibility from the Veterans Administration. Of course, when he makes his request for the change, he must show why he wants to make the change. Naturally, his reason must be a good one. The request must be far enough ahead of time to allow the VA to process it. It usually takes from 30 to 60 days. But, the most important thing is for the veteran to stay in training until he receives his Certificate of Eligibzility for the new course. Remember, Once You Stop Your Course Wthout Having That New Certificate Of Eligibility, The Chances Are You Will Not Be Allowed To Make Any Change, And Your Benefits Are Gone For Good.

Let's take the veteran who is about to complete his course of training or education and wants to continue so that he can go as far as possible before his entitlement runs out. We'll say this veteran has been taking on-job training as a radio repair man and will complete his course in a few months, but as he will still have some time left under the GI Bill, he would like to learn something about television. This is progressing from one course to another, and he would probably be allowed to make the change in the course, provided he follows the procedure as required by present regulations.

First, he must make his application for a change in course or additional training or a transfer from place of training, whichever the case may be. His request must reach the VA far enough in advance to be processed. Usually, it requires from 15 to 30 days.

Your application for the new course must be received by the VA before the present course is completed.

Legend has it that Huntsville's original First Methodist Church was used as a stable by Union troopers during the Civil War. The old structure was then burned by the invaders. The present building was erected in 1867. In 1916, more than a half century after the burning of the original structure the Federal Government compensated the congregation for the damages inflicted on the ante-bellum house of worship.

POLITICAL DEBATE TO HIGHLIGHT PRESS BANQUET

With Ben F. Ray, Claude O. Vardaman and Tom Abernethy crossing political swords, the Alabama 1952 political situation will be spotlighted in Montgomery January 18.

The prominent leaders of political thought in Alabama will match wits in suggesting a "Political Course for Alabama" at the banquet of the 81st annual Alabama Press Association convention, APA President Clarence B. Hanson, Jr., publisher of The Birmingham News, revealed this week.

The three-way debate, feature of the annual two-day meeting, pits Ray, state Democratic executive committee chairman, Vardaman, state Republican committee chairman, and Abernethy, fighting States Rights Democratic editor of The Talladega Daily Home, in a battle of theories.

The audience, newspapermen from over Alabama, will participate, following the presentation of the three men's statements, through questions from the floor in what may be classed as a mass press conference, President Hanson explained. Douglas Hunt, Birmingham News editorial writer, will be moderator for the debate.

The debate takes on added significance, he pointed out, coming just one week before the meeting of the state Democratic committee with its expected party fireworks.

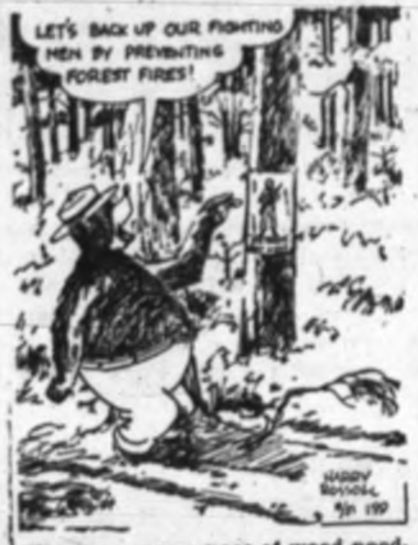
Lending international and professional flavor to the meeting will be two national prominent speakers scheduled for the convention's two luncheon meetings, Hanson said.

Seymour Topping, Associated Press foreign correspondent, will bring the Alabama editors a report on the Pacific area situation at the January 19 luncheon.

Edgar S. Bayol, press counsel for the Coca-Cola Company, New York, and native of Greensboro, Alabama, will present a discussion on the role of advertising in maintaining democracy in America.

Authorities have held that the best cannon in America during the Civil War was made at Selma, the then industrial center of the state.

Smokey Says:



LET'S BACK UP OUR FIGHTING MEN BY PREVENTING FOREST FIRES!

There are many uses of wood needed by our armed forces. Fires destroy this product of nature.

STATE'S DEBT INCREASES 3.3 PER CENT

Alabama's outstanding state government debt increased by 3.3 per cent during the fiscal year 1951, the Atlanta office of the U. S. Department of Commerce reports.

The debt was up from $53,392,00 at the end of fiscal 1950 to $55,163,000 at the end of fiscal 1951. This meant a per capita debt in the state of $18.02.

Debt increase in Alabama was far below the average in the Southeastern states, however. The total outstanding debt of Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, North Carolina, and Tennessee increased by 27 per cent.

In Georgia, the debt increased 86 per cent, but Commerce Department officials maintained its per capita debt was still one of the lowest in the nation.

FARM NEWS

STOP LOSSES FROM BOVINE MASTITIS

Farmers can prevent many cases of mastitis if they follow a few proven rules.

County Agent, A. A. Lauderdale explains that mastitis is often brought on by use of faulty milking equipment and through barnyard and pasture udder injuries which might have been avoided.

To help prevent mastitis, Parrish suggests that cow owners guard against udder injuries by removing sticks and other sharp objects from barnyards; sterilize milking equipment and use only machines which are properly adjusted; avoid rough handling while hand stripping; milk infected cases last; buy only clean, healthy replacements which are known to be free of mastitis, and work out a practical control program with a veterinarian, using both medical treatment for affected cows and preventive methods with those that are free of the disease.

MAKE USE OF CORN AND OTHER FEED SUPPLIES

One problem Alabama farmers will face in 1952 is that of making the best use of corn and other feed supplies.

A. W. Jones, A. P. I. Extension Service marketing specialist, points out that livestock and poultry have increased in numbers. Also, there is a need for more milk, meat, poultry, and eggs to fill increasing market demands. If this work is accomplished, farmers will have to take short feed supplies into consideration.

On top of all this, feed prices are increasing. On November 15 last year Alabama farmers were receiving an average of $1.62 a bushel for corn. This price was 34 cents per bushel higher than at the same time the past year.

Jones further states that the total supply of feed concentrates for next year is four per cent less than in the four previous years. More of these feeds will be fed next year than in any year since World War II, leaving feed reserves considerably lower than the pre-war average.

"To conserve the feed supply and make the most profitable gains," says Jones, "most farmers will need to make careful plans. They should use all feed grains in combination with protein meals, minerals, and other feeds to provide the best balance and most effective ration. Farmers should supplement all grains and feed concentrates with as much grazing, forage and other home-grown feed supplies that can be economically produced. Of course, they should grow as much grain on the farm in 1952 as possible.

CORN-KUDZU ROTATION INCREASES CORN YIELD

The time is approaching to set kudzu crowns, and, to stimulate interest. Here are some results of kudzu-corn rotations on eroded land.

S. R. Doughty, A. P. I. Extension Service soil conservationist, says that in all cases reported, the kudzu was allowed to become well established and make a good growth for four or more years before it was turned and followed by corn.

The records show that on one badly eroded field, kudzu was grown for a few years and then every fourth terrace was planted to corn. The yield from these ctrips equalled the crop produced by the entire field before it was planted to kudzu.

FARMERS SHOULD CHECK EQUITY IN LOAN COTTON

Alabama farmers are urged by chairman William B. Crawley of the PMA State Committee to check current market quotations before transferring 1951 cotton lean equities.

The recent advance in cotton prices means that many Alabama cotton farmers have considerable equity, in some instances as much as $40 per bale, in cotton put in the government loan this year.

Mr. Crawley said that county PMA offices are in position to assist farmers in determining the amount of their equity in loan cotton and will also advise them as to the steps necessary to transfer or sell loan equities.

According to Mr. Crawley, the cotton loan program enables farmers to market crops in an orderly manner rather than sell the entire crop at one time.

POULTRY PRODUCTION

Food buyers have never before had available to them so great a supply of high quality poultry meat as they have now. At the same time, the consumption of poultry meat this year is higher than ever, except the three war years of 1943, 44, aind46 when shortages of other meats boosted poultry production and sales.

STARTING CHICKS

Since the most profitable time to start chicks for the laying flock is in January and February, it's very important that poultrymen place orders with their hatcherymen as soon as possible.

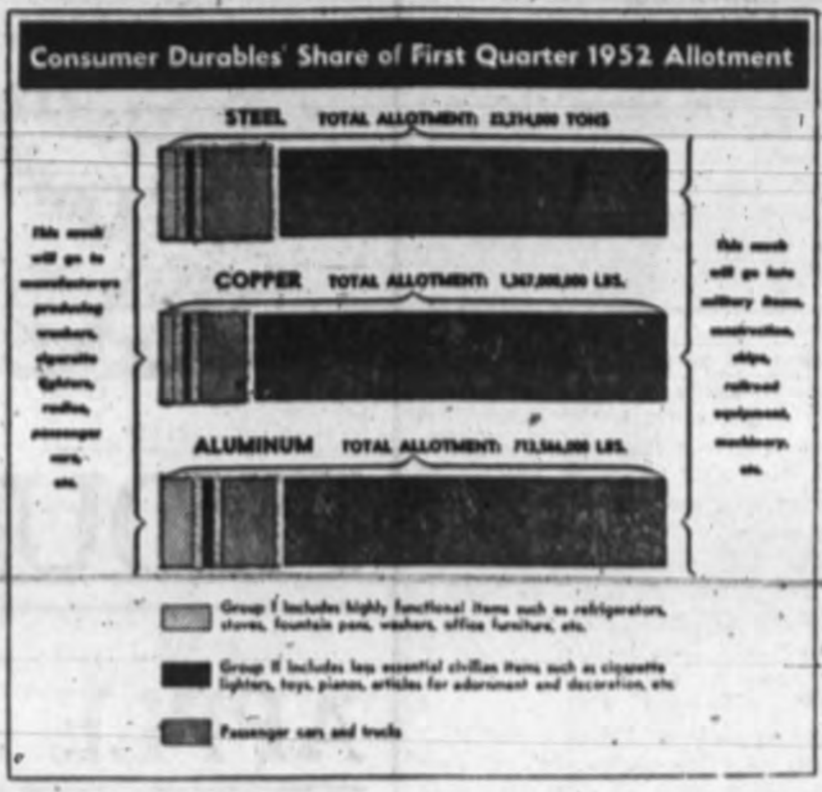
Consumer Durables' Share of First Quarter 1952 Allotment



2,503,070 NOW ON U. S. PAYROLL

Senator Byrd (D., Va.) said Saturday total civilian employment by the federal government climbed to 2,503,070 persons in November, a gain of 4,951 over the previous month.

Additional industrial employees (blue-collar workers) in the military establishment caused the gain, the joint committee on reduction of non-essential federal expenditures reported. Byrd is the committee's chairman.

Byrd said military agencies employed 1,274,187 in November, the latest month checked, and civilian agencies 1,228,883.

He said there was a decline in classified (white-collar) workers in civilian agencies except in the Post-office Department during the Christmas rush.

Other agencies showing increases included the Veterans Administration, the Tenessee Valley Authority and the General Services Administration.

Those reporting decreases included the Agriculture, Commerce and Interior Departments and the Economic Cooperation Administration.

Byrd said the total federal payroll was $840,000,000 for October, an increase of $148,000,000 above September. He said this was due largely to pay increases granted by Congress.

Alabama once had a statesman who was so fat that when he rode a stagecoach he was charged two fares, for he occupied two seats. That statesman, Dixon Hall Lewis, of Lowndesboro, tipped the scales at a ponderous 500 pounds at the time of his death.

NEW CHEVROLETS TO GO DISPLAY, JANUARY 19

New model Chevrolet passenger cars and trucks will go on display at dealer showrooms nationally, Saturday, January 19.

The disclosure by W. E. Fish, general sales manager, accompanied an announcement that in 1951 Chevrolet led all other automotive manufacturers in retail sales for the twelfth consecutive peacetime year.

"Last year's new car deliveries," said Fish, "brought the number of Chevrolets in service to over 12,000,000. No other make in automotive history ever accumulated so imposing a total."

The 1952 models, said Fish, will be new mechanically and in appearance, "fulfilling in every respect the quality and beauty that the public has come to expect from Chevrolet."

"In accordance with our long standing custom," the sales executive continued, "the models will be publicly shown first at Chevrolet dealerships, virtually all of whom are planning special events on the date of the showing."

ALABAMIANS DONATED 5082 PINTS OF BLOOD IN NOVEMBER

Alabamians donated 5082 pints of blood to the Red Cross Blood Bank during December, according to Joseph N. Greene, chairman of the Jefferson County Red Cross Chapter.

That figure, according to Mr. Greene, compares favorably with the November figures, though the bank collected 315 pints more during November. He attributed this to the Christmas-New Year holidays when the rate of donors declined.

During December the Birmingham Center collected 578 pints; the county mobile unit, 735, and chapters outside Jefferson County, 3,769 pints. Military installations gave 974 pints of the blood collected outside Jefferson County for Defense Department usage.

Of the total, Jefferson County hospitals will receive 1620 pints; hospitals outside Jefferson County, 1724 pints, and the Defense Department, 1329 pints.

Mr. Greene said the outlook for the month of January is very encouraging, with a full chedule already set up for the mobile units.

The famous Wright Brothers made one o ftheir first heavier-than-air flights on the site that has since become Montgomery's Maxwell Air Force Base.

At the close of the Civil War all of Alabama's railroads were taken over by the War Department in Washington.

A TRIBUTE TO THE 'LITTLE COUNTRY PAPER'

We, who dabble in the ink well each week for interesting news items to bring our own folk, find this tribute to the "Little Country Paper" rather heartening.

A friend of ours who, some years ago, left the Main Drag for busy, bustling Broadway sent it to us.... and we happily share it with you.

When the evenin' shades is falling at the end of the day,
An' a feller rests from labor and smokes his pipe o' clay,
There's nothin' does so much good,
be fortune up or down,
As the little country paper from his
Ol' Home Town.

It ain't a thing o' beauty an' its print ain't always clean,
But it straightens out his temper
when a feller's feelin' mean;
It takes the wrinkes off his face and brushes off the frown,
That little country paper from his
Ol' Home Town.

It tells of all the parties and balls
at Pumpkin Row;
'Bout who spent Sunday with whose girl and how the crops'll grow;
An' how it keeps a feller posted 'bout
who is up an' who is down:
That little country paper from his
Ol' Home Town.

Now, I like to read the dailies and the story papers, too;
An' at times the yaller novels an'
some other trash—don't you?
But when I want some readin' that'll brush away a frown,
I want that little paper from my
Ol' Home Town.

Me, too.

RED CROSS OFFICE MOVED

Mrs. Conrad Fowler, Executive Secretary of Red Cross Chapter, has moved the office to her home and all persons interested or having problems to be solved by this organization, are requested to contact Mrs. Fowler at her home instead of the down town office.

The days remain the same. Office is open three days per week until noon on Monday, Wednesdays and Fridays.

TELEGRAMS NOW HANDLED IN WESTERN AUTO STORE

J. T. Jones now receives telegrams direct from Birmingham which are delivered in Columbiana. The Southern Depot no longer has wire service.

PARKING REMAINS A PROBLEM ON MAIN

Parking remains a problem on Main, but the City Dads are trying to solve it by providing parking lots. However, one serious menace to safe driving is the thoughtlessness of those who park their cars in the middle of the traffic lanes, go in the P. O. or stores to shop, or stop for a casual conversation. Two long lines of cars were held up this morning, due to this careless disregard of the "fellow behind" your auto. Consideration of others will go a long way toward eliminating, at least a hold up of dozens of cars passing thru the main business section. The new law regulating speed on the highways is definitely showing improvement in the number of auto accidents recorded.

POLL LIST BEING PURGED

The Board of Registrars is busily engaged this week in purging the Poll List of ineligible voters. A list of names which have been stricken from the list will be published in this paper at an early date. The full eligible list of Shelby County's electorate will appear in this paper in April..

CHRISTMAS LIGHTS REMAIN BURNING

It is good at Christmas-time to drive around and enjoy the colored lights strung up all over town, but, after Christmas, when Spring is being heralded by many flowers breaking thru, and song birds, associated with summer time are bursting their throats with Spring-time melodies, it looks a bit out of place for Christmas lights to continue shining on Main. Wonder if George has forgotten to take'sm down, or whether it going to take as long to get them down as it took to get them up, before Santa Claus arrived.

As stated above, we were "just wondering".

Hugh Sims Given Repsonsible Place By Kiwanis Clubs

Mildred White Wallace

Hugh Sims, well known and popular Chief of Police of Columbiana, this week received notice from Nelson O. Fuller, District Governor of Kiwanis International, that he had been appointed Chairman of the Vocational Guidance Committee for the Second Division.

Mr. Fuller stated in making this appointment that this position carries heavy obligations and requested Mr. Sims to immediately contact various clubs in the Second Division and perfect his organization. The District Governor also closed his letter by stating.... "Mr. Sims has quite a bit of responsibility, but I am sure he can be depended upon to do a good job". And if past performance of every task assigned this alert official and public spirited citizen can be recorded as a future guide for successful accomplishments, the Second Division should be congratulated upon acquiring Mr. Sims to direct this important work of the Second Division of Alabama.

Hugh Sims has an enviable record as Chief of Police of Columbiana. He is always on his job, and no call is too small to receive his prompt attention. He is courteous and tactful, but firm in his endeavor to preserve law and order within his territory.

In addition to the public service he daily renders his fellow townsmen, Hugh Sims is Superintendent of the Baptist Sunday School and present every Sunday. His short talks in speaking to the assemblage before the eleven o'clock hour each week are always thought provoking. For instance, on the first Sunday in the New Year, when "resolutions" were being discussed, we reached the church service just in time to hear Mr. Sims' closing remarks, which ended with the following "resolution for 1952".... "As for me and my house, we will serve our Lord, putting Him first in our lives".

Mr. Sims is a World War Two veteran having served for several years with the U. S. Navy. He deserves the honor conferred upon him by the Kiwanians, and will, at all times, reflect credit upon the organization as he goes forth to conscientiously and efficiently perform the duties this important assignment carries.

O. K. Cleaners Add Laundry Service

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Germany are widely known as owners of the O. K. Cleaners in Columbiana, and have an enviable list of patrons. This week the O. K. Cleaners offer a "Pick-Up and Delivery-Laundry Service", having formed a connection with a well known Laundry Company in Birmingham.

The O. K. Truck will pick up the laundry on Monday and return Friday with clothes sparkling clean. They pick up on Friday and return them on Monday. They will warrant your patronage by giving prompt, courteous and satisfactory service, and will appreciate your continued loyalty to their efforts to give this community adequate Ddry Cleaning and Laundry Service.

NEW NATIONAL GUARD UNIT ORGANIZED IN CALERA

A new National Guard Unit has been organized in Calera, Alabama, and this week marks an intensive Recruiting campaign which will continue thru February. Lt. Edwin B. Nickerson, who is in charge of this patriotic endeavor says:

"Young men 17 and over.... there's a uniform in your future.... and here are some important facts about the National Guard you ought to know. The National Guard offers you tops in military training.... good pay while you learn.... technical schooling.... retirement benefits.... and much more. Yes, men, you can get all the facts simply by visiting your nearest Guard headquarters. You'll find its the smartest call you ever made. For when you join the Guard, you guard your future. Keep your guard up! Join the National Guard. National Guard Offices located in the Calera High School, Calera, Alabama, Office hours 8 A. M. to 5 P. M. Monday through Friday.

ATTENTION DOG OWNERS

Mayor W. W. Wallace Jr. and his council met in a called session Tuesday evening for the purpose of taking necessary precautions against an alleged mad-dog invasion of Main Street business and residential sections last week, at which time, it has been reported the rabid animal bit several dogs and citizens.

Acting promptly on the advice of Dr. John Gates, veterinarian, city authorities have ordered all dog owners to keep their dogs up for one week, beginning Friday, January 18. Stray dogs will be impounded and the owner charged an impounding fee. When the animal is repossessed, he must have him inoculated and the dog must, at all times, wear the tags.

These steps are necessary to avoid, if possible, any more serious effects from the purported rabid animal.

P. T. A. Supports W. W. Elliott

The Shelby County Teachers' Association today went on record endorsing the candicacy of W. W. Elliott, Shelby County Superintendent of Education for Vice President of the Alabama Education Association for 1952-53.

Mr. Elliott is a career educator and since starting in the field of education as a class room teacher he now holds the top education position in his native county.

Mr. Elliott received his B. A. degree from Howard College and the Master's degree from the University of Alabama. After completing ten years as high school principal at Columbiana, Mr. Elliott is now serving as Shelby County Superintendent of Education.

Mr. Elliott's record as an informed educator shows him to be excellently qualified to serve the teachers of Alabama as Vice President during the coming year.

MONTEVALLO-BORN GENERAL BACK FROM HEROIC KOREA ACTION

(Birmingham Post-Herald)

An Army man who was born in Montevallo and attended school at Marion Institute has won high honors in Korea and now is back in this country as commanding officer of the 11th Airborne Artillery, at Camp Campbell, Ky.

He is Brig. Gen. Thomas E. de Shazo.

In Korea, he commanded the Second Infantry Division through the bloody battle of Heartbreak Ridge. He was given the Silver Star Medal for gallantry in action.

Born in Montevallo on May 6, 1901, General de Shazo attended Montevallo High School and Marion Institute and began his military career as an enlisted man with the First Alabama Calvalry (National Guard). He served with the 117th Field Artillery of the 31st (Dixie) Division.

Later he was appointed to the United States Military Academy at West Point, where he graduated in 1926.

He served in the artillery and during World War II, as a colonel, commanding the Sixth Armored Field Artillery Group through nearly two years of fighting in Italy, France and Germany.

Later he was chief of the artillery section of the American military mission to Turkey.

With the outbreak of the Korean war, he left a desk job for combat duty. He was made a brigadier general in April of last year.

Bank Of Alabaster Opens Monday

Open House Will Be Held Sunday

Mildred White Wallace

Alabaster stands in the heart of the industrial section of Shelby county. Hundreds of her citizens make their homes in this town and vicinity, and find employment in the textile mills, lime works, cement block plants etc. Some months ago, prominent citizens, and keen-visioned business and professional men, began making plans to establish a Bank in this part of the county, in an endeavor to better serve the people's financial needs in this rapidly expanding territory.

Sunday, January 20, the culmination of this ambitious dream will be realized and the official personnel will be hosts at an Open House in the new "First Bank of Alabaster". Friends and future patrons will take this opportunity to visit this modern financial institution, with its carefully chosen furnishings and latest in lighting equipment designed especially for this bank.

The impressive roster of the officials of this bank are all widely and favorably known business and professional men. Men whose names, combined with their own successful achievements, warrant the faith and confidence of each potential depositor. They are men who have, thru the years, been largely responsible for the phenomenal growth of this section of our county. They include: President Geo. L. Scott Jr.; Vice-President, J. A. Hines; Secretary, W. V. Hammond; Cashier, T. L. Cox, widely known banker from Oneonta, Alabama, who will make his future home in this county.

The Board of Directors include: T. L. Cox, W. V. Hammond, J. A. Hines, K. B. Nickerson, J. T. Phillips and George L. Scott Jr.

Monday, January 21, the Bank, with a capital stock of $50,000, will swing wide its doors for business. The First Bank of Alabaster is a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, which, as you know, will insure each depositor up to $10,000. This safeguard for money invested in this financial institution is in keeping with the progressive spirit which prompted these keen visioned business men to promote this banking facility which will serve the western section of the county.

If this writer is on the alert on this opening date, January 21, perhaps a picture of the first depositor can be taken, and if so, when we give you a more detailed description of Shelby county's latest asset, we will present the first person to take advantage of having a bank in this town. So, watch this paper next week, at which time we hope to have some interesting facts and figures included in a complete story of this step forward our neighbors have taken in Alabaster. We feel sure, you will join us in taking additional pride in Alabaster's slogan, "Watch Us Grow", as we together view the progress this section of our county is making.

BLOODMOBILE TO BE IN MONTEVALLO

One of Alabama's Bloodmobiles is scheduled to be in Montevallo, at the high school building, on Friday, January 25, according to an announcement by Miss Laura Hadley, chairman for Montevallo.

The hours will be one to seven p. m. and everyone who can do so is urgently requested to come and make an offering of blood; the need is great.

Cards have been distributed for those who are willing to give to sign, but if one has not received a card, he is urged to come anyway.

Those desiring further information may call Miss Hadley at 6962, daytime, and 5761 at night.

Village Sold

NAHMA, Mich. — The village of Nahma, population 750, has been sold.

The community was advertised for sale some months ago by the Bay De Noquet Lunmber Company. The asking price was $250,000. Purchaser was Warren P. Miller, president of the American Playground Device Company of Anderson, Ind.

The purchase included 4,300 acres of land, a $100,000 community center, several miles of roadway, 102 houses, docks, a 17 room hotel, a golf course, eight bed hospital, an airfield, one chair barbershop, an 80 bed boardinghouse and numerous industrial buildings.

The recreational and vacation possibilities of the area will be developed by the new owner. The owner will also operate a playground factory in the community.

Farmers Borrowing More Money Today, Rural Bankers Say

SEDAN, Kas.—Farmers are borrowing more money these days to make ends meet, small town bankers across the midwest farm belt report.

Will D. Kinnaman, president, Sedan State Bank says: "Our farm loans have been higher in 1951 than in any other time." Furthermore, he explains, repayments are slower this summer than normally.

A South Dakota banker reports loans at his bank through the first eight months of 1951 were up 25 per cent over a year ago.

M. E. Comingore, president of the Dover State Bank, Dover, Minn., reports: "About 90 per cent of the farm machinery sales in this area are on credit whereas a year ago the bulk of such sales were for cash. We are making 10 per cent more loans to farmers today than a year ago and the average size of the loans has increased to $3,000 from $2,500."

The question in many home towns in Kansas, Iowa, North Dakota, S. Dakota, Minnesota and other states in the midwest is why the increased borrowing?

Many small town bankers report the trend is caused by slipping of commodity prices in recent months and the increasing cost of running farms. Many farmers have tied up surplus funds in machinery and cattle herds that aren't yet of marketable size.

Robert Batton, vice president, Kentland Bank, Kentland, Ind., reports loan demand is terrific and most of the loans are for operational purposes. Between 60 and 75 per cent of farm machinery deals being made in that area are on some kind of credit arrangement. Three years ago nearly everything was sold on a cash basis.

Country bankers have plenty of figures available to show why loans have increased.

In Ohio, for instance, a farm hand could be employed last year for $125 to $135 a month, with a house furnished, plus his living off the farm. Now this figure will run from $140 to $160.

In Minnesota farm hands are drawing $15 a day without board, compared to $10 a year ago.

On top of this, machinery, fertilizer, binding twine and all other farm essentials have increased, some more than 100 per cent.

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The mayors of the cities and villages of Wisconsin gathered in Milwaukee recently for the state convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities.

Most of the mayors agreed their towns are spending considerable money for improvements, such as water and sewer installations, but generally taxes are low, budgets balanced and some surplus cash is in the bank.

G. K. Berge, president of Valders village; population 600, reported his town out of debt, a high tax rate—but low assessments—and $20,000 surplus in the village till. The town has a good waterworks, its own city hall, a good park and a big high school.

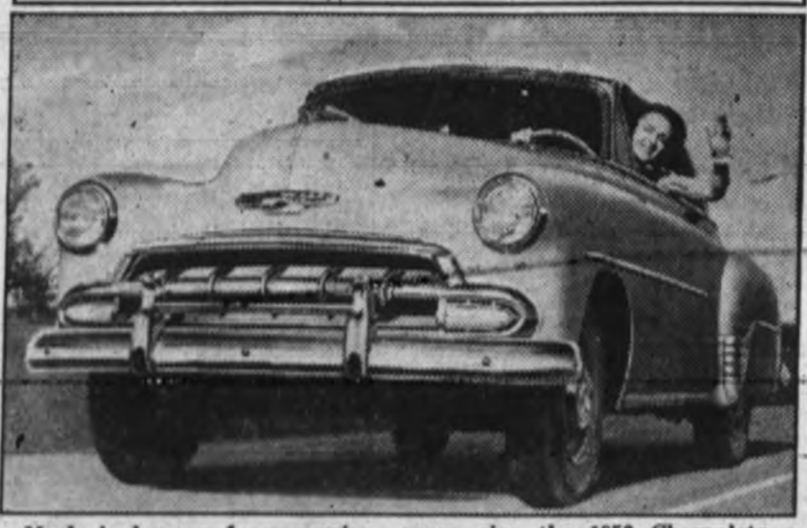
The village faces the problem of building a sewage disposal plant costing $100,000, but the diary plant that causes the waste necessitating the construction is chipping in with a big share of the cost.

Neillsville, population 2,600, is spending $165,000 to renovate its water plant, but no bond issue is necessary. It faces the necessity of some school construction and a larger sewage disposal plant.

The mayor of Janesville reported the town's finances in good shape. Fort Atkins, population 6,000, reports a number of problems, including insufficient housing, but the town is free of debt and has a treasury surplus.

In general the picture among the smaller towns of Wisconsin was a good one as reported by their mayors. The main problems are school facilities, housing, and sewage disposal systems.

Chevrolet's Smart New 'Face'



Marked changes from previous years give the 1952 Chevrolets a freshness that assures their continued popularity in the low-price automotive field. Apparent in this front-end view is the redesigned grille which features five distinctive "air foil" fins mounted on the center bar. Parking lamps have been broadened to eliminate the former slotted grillework and the hood emblem carries the name, Chevrolet.

COOSA RIVER NEWSPRINT COMPANY REPORTS ON FIRST FULL YEAR OF OPERATIONS

(Childersburg Times)

COOSA PINES — In 1951, its first full year of operations, the Coosa River Newsprint Company, here operated at better than its designed capacity and showed a margin of earnings in excess of the forecasts of its backers, a spokesman said today.

A. G. Wakeman, vice president and general manager of the big plant here, summarized the year's operations as follows:

"It was just under two years ago that this large, modern plant, located on the banks of the Coosa River at Coosa Pines near Childersburg, in Talladega County, first started its machinery humming in the manufacture from Alabama pine of newsprint paper and bleached sulphate wood pulp.

"From the very outset, the results of this operation have equaled or exceeded the optimistic predictions of those farsighted persons who conceived, planned and built the plant.

"Contrary traditional experience in starting up projects of this magnitude and complexity in the paper industry, the Coosa River plant turned out products acceptable to its customers almost immediately, and by the third month of operation already was showing a modest profit.

"In 1950, the first partial year of operation both production and earning expectations were exceeded.

"In 1951, the first full year of operations finds the plant operating at better than its designed capacity and showing a margin of earnings in excess of the forcasts of its backers.

"The market for both the company's products has been and continues to be good. Both newsprint and pulp have been in short supply and the company has experienced no difficulty in disposing of its output.

"While there are indications that the supply and demand picture for newsprint and pulp may be approaching a balance, there is every reason to believe that the Coosa River Newsprint Company will be able to sell the entire output of both of its products in 1952.

"Unless new and heavier taxes and the cumulative effect of restrictions imposed by government regulations combine to burden its operations should continue to show satisfactory earnings in the year just ahead."

FINANCIAL SQUEEZE ON FARMERS SAYS MIREE

All signs point to an increasing financial squeeze on farmers, according to A. S. Miree, Secretary-Treasurer of the Mount Olive National Farm Loan Association.

Mr. Miree reports that costs of things farmers buy are up 15 to 20 percent and prices generally received for farm products are lower as compared to a year ago.

The advance in the price of cotton will help farmers to meet the situation, especially the producers who made a good crop, Mr. Miree stated. But many farmers made a short crop. Most other cash crops - peanuts, sugar cane, rice, sweet potatoes, are short

The short corn and hay crops, over-grazed, drouth-stricken pastures and the delay in getting stands of fall-sown winter pastures and grazing crops add to farmers' financing problems.

Non-real estate debts climbed faster during 1950 than in any year since the end of World War I, reached the highest point in 28 years, and doubled in the last year. The farm real estate mortgage debt in the Fifth District reached an all-time high.

Short cash crops, short feed crops, short pasture, plus a shrinking dollar in return for farm products, and the need for more dollars to buy the same amount of goods make it a real squeeze.

For these reasons, Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. Miree believes that many farmers may use more long-term credit as a means of meeting the tight financial situation.

If some of the short-term debts can be transferred to a long-time loan on the farm, the interest rate will be lower and the required annual payment will be less. Some of the squeeze can be taken out with a long-term loan.

Mr. Miree says he will be glad to discuss farm financing with any farmer in need of long-term credit.

Old pie pans not needed longer may be painted or enameled to match the flower pots and used as saucers to catch the drip when flowers are watered.

CHICK CHATS

EGG EATING IS HARD TO CONTROL

Poor feeding and poor management practices are the cause of much trouble in poultry-raising, trouble which in most instances can be avoided. When birds are poorly fed and receive little attention from the management standpoint, they frequently turn to the vices. Such is the case with egg eating, like cannibalism, one of the major vices of poultry.

What starts an outbreak of egg eating in a flock? The answer is thin shelled eggs. Such eggs get broken easily. Naturally, birds seeing the broken eggs about the poultry house start picking at them.

Vitamin D Needed

At first sign of egg eating in the poultry flock, the raiser should check to see that his birds have access to plenty of clean oyster shell or limestone grit, direct sunshine, an adequate supply of cod liver oil, or other sources of Vitamin D. In order to make thick, strong egg shells, birds need both lime and Vitamin D in adequate (plentiful) amounts.

As an aid in checking the egg eating habit the poultryman should keep the following preventive measures in mind:

1. Provide at least one nest for each five birds or one community nest for each 75 birds.
2. Darken the nests.
3. Use plenty of clean nest litter such as white shavings.
4. Gather eggs several times a day.
5. Feed milk in some form if available.
6. In summer, prevent the production of thin-shelled eggs by keeping the house as cool as possible.

The members are: Mrs. Norman Lefkovits, Mrs. Alvin Lefkovits, Mrs. George McCord, Mrs. Wales Wallace Jr., Mrs. Elvin Hill, Mrs. Buck Faulkner, Mrs. Jay Faulkner Mrs. J. B. Turner Jr., Mrs. Bill White, Mrs. Margaret McGhee, Mrs. James McDow, Mrs. Gerald Fulton, Mrs. Bruce Alverson, Mrs. T. C. Rush Jr., Mrs. Alvin Stinson, Mrs. Ben Skelton, Mrs. Cecile Leonard, Mrs. Ross Mullins, Mrs. E. B. Turner and Mrs. Conrad Fowler.

Kingdom area is represented by Mrs. Ruthie Beard and Tommie Inez Kirkland.

Mrs. H. L. Cobb, Westover chairman reports that her lieutenants for the drive are: Mrs. J. C. Lott, Mrs. Bill Powers, Mrs. Nelson Archer, Mrs. Curtis Moore, Mrs. Oliver McManur, Mrs. Earl Whitfield, and Mrs. J. D. Carroll.

Mrs. Maurice MacDonald will head the drive in the Four Mile Community.

Dr. M. L. Orr, County Campaign Director, stresses that the need for funds this year is greater than ever before. Nine children in Shelby county contacted polio last year. In proportion to population, this number means that Shelby county had more cases than an epidemic. Although, the cause of the dread disease has not yet been found, steady progress is being made.

The National Foundation hopes to be able to spend half of the money received in the drive for research into causes and treatments for polio. In the past however, it has had to spend so much on treating and caring for those who suddenly contacted polio that there had not been enough money left over for research. Dr. Orr emphasizes the need for increased donations to the National Foundation by showing that the number of polio cases in the nation gets bigger every year and the National Foundation cannot keep ahead of the demand for its services. The March of Dimes will need many more dimes this year if it is to continue to help the needy polio victims and try to find some way to prevent the disease.

FIRE DESTROYS HARPERSVILLE HOME

On January 9, the home of J. C. Gill, who resides near Harpersville, was completely destroyed by fire. The father saved the life of a son when he rushed into the building before it collapsed.

The fire was discovered about ten o'clock Wednesday night, when Mr. Gill smelled smoke, got up and found the rear of the house in flames. Mr. Gill called his wife and grabbed Joe, age 6 years and Linda Carol, 15 months and carried them to safety. He then smashed a window and rushed in to rescue John Allen, age 3, from his bed. As he came out the roof caved in.

Mr. Gill and the child suffered slight burns.

This family of five now are searching for a place to stay. Mr. Gill is a used car salesman.

SEE IF YOU DON'T LIKE THESE SOUP SUGGESTIONS TRY THEM!

Warm and welcome, especially in cold weather, soup fits into family fare not only at meals but also as an afternoon pickup or a bedtime nightcap, Miss Sara Nell Lightsey, Vocational Homemaking Teacher at Shelby County High School suggests. To save the hurried housewife time and effort a variety of canned soups, and also some dried soup mixtures, are on grocery shelves. All good cooks know, too that delicious soup may be brewed at home from inexpensive materials, such as the dried beans and peas now in such plentiful supply.

A thin soup-like broth or consomme makes an appetizer to start a hearty meal or the hot cup that cheers between meals. But a sturdier, thicker, more nourishing soup is suggested if soup is to be the only hot dish or a meal, especially for growing children. Too much liquid in soup served along with milk to drink may be so filling that children will not want other foods they need. Soup in school or home lunches for children should be accompanied by a hearty sandwich with protein filling and a crisp salad so that the meal will meet children's needs in protein, calories, vitamins and minerals.

Three types of soup are suggested as most nourishing: (1) cream soups, reinforced with added milk products such as dry milk, evaporated milk or grated cheese; (2) thick meat or fish soup, with vegetables and rice, noodles, macaroni or other cereal products; (3) thick bean or pea soup, which is especially tasty if made with ham bone or salt pork and flavorful vegetables like tomato, onion and celery.

Some appetizing ways to step up the protein of soups are: sliced hard cooked eggs on top of cream of spinach or asparagus soup; toast or crackers with cheese melted on top floated on soup; cooked sausage or small hamburger balls, sliced cooked frankfurter rings, silvered cooked meat added to soup; peanut butter stirred into cream soup for different flavor and food value.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE SALE

Default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness secured by that certain mortgage executed by Charles Howard Hinton, and wife, Betty Jean Hinton, on September 22, 1950, to Collateral Investment Company, an Alabama corporation, and recorded in Mortgage Volume 214, Page 247, in the Office of the Judge of Probate of Shelby County, Alabama, which said mortgage was transferred and assigned by Collateral Investment Company, on September 22, 1950, to Federal National Mortgage Association, a corporation organized and existing under Title III of the National Housing Act, as amended, said transfer and assignment being recorded in Deed Record Book 142, Page 595, in the Office of the Judge of Probate of Shelby County, Alabama, and Federal National Mortgage Association, as transferee, by reason of such default, having declared all of the indebtedness secured by said mortgage due and payable, and such default continuing, notice is hereby given that, acting under the power of sale contained in said mortgage, Federal National Mortgage Association, as transferee, will sell at public outcry, for cash, to the highest bidder, in front of the Courthouse door in the city of Columbiana, Shelby County, Alabama, during the legal hours of sale on Wednesday, February 20, 1952, the following described real estate, situated in Shelby County, Alabama, to-wit:

FEDERAL, STATE INCOME TAX DUE BY MARCH 15th!

Getting those notices from Uncle Sam reminding you that your federal income tax is due?

If you are, you probably are getting a similar notice from the State of Alabama.

E. A. Erwin, chief of the income tax division of the State Revenue Department, reminds all Alabama taxpayers that their state income tax deadline is March 15, the same as the federal deadline.

State income taxpayers will get a little relief this year they have not had in the past.

The 1951 legislature passed a bill that permits taxpayers to take a flat 7 per cent off their adjusted gross income for contributions and other non-business deductions.

However, the taxpayer cannot take more than $500 off his adjusted gross income for the flat 7 per cent deduction.

In the past, certain specified items have been allowed as deductions but not any flat percentage of income.

Single persons who make $1,500 or more a year are required to file a state return. Married persons have to file if their annual incomes are $3,000 or more.

Individuals pay the state income tax on a rate beginning at 1½ per cent. The maximum for individuals is 5 per cent.

WHAT? NO MAN OR WOMAN IN SHELBY COUNTY NOMINATED FOR COUNTY HONORS

So far, we have received not one nomination for the man or woman whose outstanding work in this county is worthy of the honor of being named "Shelby County's Man Or Woman Of The Year".

We called on the clubs of the county for nominations, but so far, none have come into the office. Let us hear from you if you know of such a person, if you are interested in awarding "A Flower to the Living" expressed in verbal appreciation."

. . . The lovely solo, "His Eye Is On The Sparrow" was impressively interpreted Sunday when Jane Fowler Carter sang in the Methodist Church at the eleven o'clock hour. We have heard many spendid tributes, not only to Jane's lovely Contralto voice, but verbal expressions of sincere appreciation for this gracious personality who is beloved by all who know her.

. . . Better do your shopping each week after the last Wednesday in January on a day other than Wednesday, for beginning February 6, stores in Columbiana will be closed at noon.

. . . Barney Isbell has returned from a wonderfully fine trip in Chicago. He is most enthusiastic over the entirely new and modern furniture purchased during his week's sojourn in the Windy City. Watch for it, this Spring.... New colors, new lines, and woods.... "You are going to be delighted with it", says Barney, and who are we to doubt this connisseur of furnishings for the home?

. . . Mrs. Rosa Teague spent Thursday in Columbiana, the guest of Judge and Mrs. W. W. Wallace.

McGIBONEY-GREEN WEDDING SOLEMNIZED

In the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends in the Methodist Pastorium on Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock, Miss Flora McGiboney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McGiboney, and George Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Green spoke the wedding vows, the Rev. A. D. Wilson, officiating.

Mrs. Green holds a secretarial position with the PMA Office in Columbiana and Mr. Green is associated with the Green Grocery Company. The young couple have a host of friends who will be joining us in extending congratulations.

Immediately following a short wedding trip, they will make their future home in Columbiana.

Mrs. Green was attended by her sister, Mrs. Florence Bohannon, and J. B. Green Jr., served his brother as Best Man.

. . . Mrs. Edmund Ewing of Tuscaloosa was the week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Fowler. Mrs. Ewing is a sister of Mr. Fowler's.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ingram Jr., of Parkersburg, West Virginia, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ingram Sr., Columbiana Route 2. J. A. Ingram Jr., who is a veteran of World Two is now associated with International Harvester Company, with headquarters in Atlanta, Ga., having recently transferred from the West Virginia area.

. . . Mrs. Sadie Perryman after a visit with her sister, Mrs. Meta Waggoner in Columbiana, has returned to her home in Montgomery.

. . . George L. Scott Jr., President of the First Bank of Alabaster, and Cashier T. L. Cox, were distinguished visitors in our office Monday. This new and valuable asset to financials circles, known as the First Bank of Alabaster, where the "Watch Us Grow" slogan is day by day becoming more interesting, will open for business Monday, January 21 and congratulatory messages will be winging their way toward this section of our county at this time with best wishes for pre-eminent success in the new venture.

. . . E. H. Bentley of Columbiana Rt. 1, decides he would like to read the Reporter-Democrat each week and this decision brought the gentleman into our office with the required price of a complete reservation all thru 1952, for which we are duly grateful. Rarely a day goes by since the dawn of this New Year, that some citizen or citizens from our county fail to come by and line up with Shelby County's only county-wide circulated weekly. This means encouragement to those of us who each week, attempt to report the happenings in our county.

MERLE MEYERS

MERLE MEYERS WINS COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP IN ORATORICAL CONTEST

Vivacious and talented Merle Meyers, who recently won the right to represent Shelby County High School in the Birmingham News Oratorical Contest, in an elimination contest held in S. C. H. S. met contestants from other parts of the county in Montevallo, on the morning of January 10, and emerged the winner for the entire county. Miss Meyers subject was: "More Fear For Freedom", and those who had the privilege of hearing her were impressed with her personality, poise, and sincerity as well as the clarity of diction in delivering her well written oration on the chosen subject.

In addition to this recent recognition of Miss Meyers' outstanding ability, her fellow-students at Shelby High School have accorded her the following honors, since she moved from Cleveland, Ohio, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Meyers to make her home in Columbiana:

In 1947, Miss Meyers was President of her Class, President of 4-H Club and elected "Miss Shelby High"; In 1948, she managed the campaign for "Miss Shelby High" and was a member of the Junior High Glee Club; In 1949, Merle Meyers was President of Junior Dramatic Club, Member of High School Glee Club and Majorette.

Miss Meyers is a talented student of Terpsichorean Art, majoring in Ballet.

A wide circle of friends join in extending congratulations and will follow with keen interest her future progress in this Oratorical Contest which is sponsored each year by the Birmingham News.

. . . Mayonise Walton has accepted the position of Director of Public Welfare for Bibb County. Miss Walton is an efficient worker and Bibb County is fortunate in acquiring her for this important assignment.

. . . Mrs. C. J. Seay of Siluria pays us a call Tuesday, and while in town says she wants to be absolutely certain that the "Home Paper" will be on her reading table thru 1952, so, presto, we pull up her chair which she has promptly reserved thru many years, and express our appreciation for continued loyalty.

. . . To Mrs. Angela Rock, of Los Angeles, California, go our sincere thanks for a lovely day by day reminder of her gracious kindness to us. This gift from California comes to us in the form of a beautiful floral calendar, featuring the Floats in the Tournament of Roses. "Aunt Angela" as she became known to a host of friends during her visit with Mrs. F. E. Williams and Mrs. Ben Skelton, several years ago, is now making her home in California, but states she is "still going strong". A lovely lady whom we happily remember and for whom pretty Angela Skelton is named. Her letter was as refreshing as the first Spring Violet. It is good to be remembered and better still not to be forgotten, ever.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Wales W. Wallace Jr. and Shirley Wallace have returned from a week end spent in Montgomery.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Smith (Ruth Isbell) are making their home in Columbiana and going to and from their work in Birmingham each day, during the illness of Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. J. L. Isbell.

MAD DOG SCARE

It is reported a mad dog came thru town last week and bit several dogs. It is further reported that the animal bit some people in this vicinity. If this rumor is true, better check with Dr. John Gates, and find out what is best to do, which brings up the subject of neglecting to have Fido properly inoculated against rabies. For several years, hundreds of dogs in this county have not been inoculated against rabies. This year, however, there will be a different story, as the Rabies Inspector, who is Dr. John Gates, a qualified practicing Veterinarian, will have charge of this work, and tells us the law will be strictly enforced. Certainly, this protection should be willingly taken by every dog owner in town, and if there is any doubt about your dog having been bitten by this rabid animal rampaging thru town last week, you had better be on the look out, and keep him tied in the yard until the danger is past.

. . . Mrs. Conrad Fowler entertained the Monday Evening Bridge Club, January 14. Preceding the games, a delectable Strawberry Shortcake was served, after which Contract was enjoyed with Mrs. Dick Ozley winning top score prize and Mrs. George McCord receiving low score trophy.

. . . If you see troubled expressions and wrinkled brows on those now doing their annual figuring for Uncle Sam, the Income Tax will be due March 14.

. . . Friends of Bob Kaplan are having the pleasure of greeting him on Main this week after a two weeks stay in an hospital in Birmingham. Bob is one of the most popular merchants on the Main Stem, and folk like to be around him and enjoy his keen sense of humor, and inimitable manner of telling a joke.

. . . Mr. J. A. King, "Uncle Joe", to a host of friends, spent a few days in Columbiana this week assisting in the purging of the Poll List, and during his visit on Main, thoughtfully came in for a "check up on this and that".... We always enjoy chatting with this gentleman from Pelham.

. . . Glad to report to Andrew Jackson's friends that he is recuperating at his home on the Wilsonville Highway following a recent illness.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Cosper of Birmingham, spent Wednesday in Columbiana, and during their brief stay, we had the privilege of inscribing their names on our subscription list for 1952, which is always a pleasure when we have the opportunity of sending this weekly message to old Shelby Countians, whose work keeps them in the Magic City, but whose loyalty remains with old friends on the Main Drag.

. . . C. B. Davis, "Uncle Charlie Davis" to a host of friends is numbered among the first subscribers to this paper. He says "The Reporter has been in my home ever since the first issue. I may be a little late getting in to pay up, but I appreciate the paper and it has never failed to arrive" and so saying.... "Uncle Charlie Davis" pulled out some folding money, and handed us the necessary two dollars and all of us were happy about the whole thing....

. . . Harry Dorough of Wilsonville Rt. 2 stopped us and said, "I have been wanting the Reporter-Democrat for a long time. How about writing me up for a year's subscription?" So, up comes Harry's chair in our reading circle and a rousing welcome is extended him.

. . . Mae and Bolin Cooper are "baby sitting" this week as little Larry Dorough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dorough (Allie Claire Cooper) takes over the premises. Mr. and Mrs. Dorough are spending the week end in Mobile. Suffice it to say, there is never a dull minute in the Cooper home as long as Larry makes merry as only an 11 month old youngster can.

. . . Durwood Davis, Columbiana, completed requirements for the bachelor of science degree this month at Howard College. He is one of thirty-five students meeting the requirements for graduation. His degree will be awarded at commencement exercises in May. At Howard he was a member of Sigma Nu, the Commerce Guild and Spanish Club. He is the son of Durwood Davis, Sr., Birmingham, and Mrs. Marianna Davis of Columbiana.

. . . Congratulations to Ann Hatchett whose name is on the Deans list as an A1 student at Auburn.

ALVIN LEFKOVITS

COLUMBIANA LEADER SALE NOW ON

The Columbiana Leader is now offering to its customers one of the most gigantic clearance sales in its long history of "out fitting the whole family". A complete check up in all departments has been made and drastic reductions are offered on all merchandise which you enjoy for months before you begin making your Spring selections.

Alvin Lefkovits will soon leave for an Eastern trip at which time he will be sending in a new stock of merchandise, and room must be made ready to receive these large shipments. So, take this tip from me, and go by today and make your selections for the rest of this season. You can save money by doing so.

. . . Friends of Mrs. J. T. Jones gave her a surprise Stork Shower Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Sam Pierce. Many useful articles as well as beautiful "reminders" of the "blessed event, soon-to-be" were presented Mrs. Jones on this enjoyable occasion.

. . . A host of interested friends of little Roddy Jones anxiously await news from his bedside at the Children's Hospital in Birmingham.

. . . Don't forget to keep your date with your chorus team-mates Thursday evening when Clarence Cook will be on hand to direct these organizations. New music will be ready for the first reading and we sincerely hope each section will be full. Don't let just a few loyal members to these worthwhile musical activities continue to try and carry the burden of financially supporting it. Without your continued individual interest and presence, there is danger of being forced to discontinue these choral meetings, and that, to this writer, would be deplorable, after three years! Don't let it go dead by not being present yourself, for after all, it is to your advantage to be there.

. . . Ruth Tillery, Carolyn Evans and Jessie Jones, are receiving warm welcomes as they return to join the Baptist Choristers this week.

. . . Lawyers and court officials are preparing for the opening day of Circuit Court, which is February 4.

. . . John Green has returned home after a much deserved vacation spent in Florida.

NEW CHURCH PLANS SUBMITTED

Plans have been approved by the Building Committee for the erection of an Education Building by the Baptists of Columbiana. These plans will be submitted to the church, and if approved, construction will begin at an early date.

. . . Mrs. Joe Davidson of Helena, former resident of Columbiana, was a cordially welcomed guest in our office Wednesday. Mrs. Davidson renewed her allegiance to our journalistic endeavor and left many kind words of encouragement which brightened our day for us. Thanks!

. . . Rev. J. E. Franks spent the week end at home. Rev. Franks is Chaplain of Kilby Prison.

. . . Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Noland Barnett were Captain and Mrs. Vertnor Barnett and family; Mr. and Mrs. Zell Barnett of Montgomery; Mr. and Mrs. Hill Barnett, also of Montgomery.

HENDRICK-KIRKPATRICK WEDDING FEBRUARY 2

Miss Margaret Ann Hendrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anthony Hendrick, has completed plans for her wedding on February 2 to Mr. Lyle Lawrence Kirkpatrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kirkpatrick of Montevallo. Mr. Hendrick will give his daughter in marriage, and the ceremony will be performed at 4:30 in the afternoon at the Methodist Church at Montevallo with the Rev. Minar Triplett officiating.

Her honor attendant will be Miss Betty Ann Smitherman and the bridesmaids will be Miss Iris Kirkpatrick, sister of the groom; Miss Julia Kennerly, Miss Barbara Johnson, all of Montevallo and Miss Dorothy Davis, of Montgomery.

E. G. Smitherman, Jr., will be best man for Mr. Kirkpatrick. Ushers are to be Jerry Mozley, Bobby Dyer, Joe Stewart, all of Birmingham, and David Stanley of Anniston.

Mr. H. D. LeBaron, Director of the School of Music at Alabama College, and Mrs. J. K. Steele, of the Birmingham Conservatory of Music, will present the nuptial music.

After the wedding the bride's parents will be hosts at a reception for the wedding party and the immediate families.

Parties in her honor began on January 10 when Mr. and Mrs. Ziolkowski entertained after her senior musical recital. On Wednesday January 16, Mrs. Hendrick and Miss Hendrick had a luncheon in honor of her bridal attendants. On Friday, January 18, Miss Joann Small will have a dessert bridge party. On Wednesday, January 23, Misses Julia Kennerly and Dorothy Davis will have a miscellaneous shower at the home of Miss Kennerly with her young college friends as guests. On January 27, Miss Virginia Hendrick will have a buffet supper for the bridal party, and on February 1, Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Baker will be hosts at an after-rehearsal party.

REV. JULIUS JONES GUEST SPEAKER AT BAPTIST CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY

The Rev. Julius Jones, senior ministerial student from Howard College, will address members and friends of the Baptist Church Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock hour. The young people are especially urged to be present at these services as the minister states he has a "special message" he wants to bring them.

The Baptist Choristers will sing by special request, " Ye Believe In Me". Your presence will be appreciated.

EASTER CANTATA CHOSEN

"The Song of Triumph" by Edward Norman, will be presented by the Baptist Choristers Easter Sunday in the Columbiana Church. The first reading of this beautiful story of the Resurrection will be held Sunday afternoon at one-thirty o'clock. All members who intend to participate in this presentation are urged by the director to be present.

. . . I know of no happier note on which to end this page than chalk up another subscriber who has just entered the office and told us to "pull up a chair for him".... which we happily do and L. B. Tidmore receives a welcome back into our reading circle each week.

FORECLOSURE NOTICE

Default having been made in the payment of the debt secured by that certain mortgage executed by Ethel Wynn and husband John Wynn to L. E. Shaw on June 1, 1949, to secure the payment of $852.35 payable six months from date with 8% interest after maturity, which said mortgage is recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Shelby County, Alabama, in Mortgage Book 200 at page 276, I, the said L. E. Shaw will proceed to sell to the highest bidder for cash in front of the Courthouse door in Columbiana, Alabama, during the legal hours of sale on February 11, 1952, the following described land, to-wit:

That part of Lot 3 Block 8 according to Thomas' addition to the town of Aldrich, Map of which is recorded in the office of the Probate Judge of Shelby County, Alabama, on February 23, 1944 in Map Book No. 3, said lot herein conveyed described as follows: Beginning at the Northwest corner of Lot 3 Block 8 and run in a southwesterly direction a distance of 52 feet, thence run in a southeasterly direction a distance of 41 feet, thence run in a northeasterly direction a distance of 52 feet, thence run in a northwesterly direction a distance of 41 feet to point of beginning. Said lot being of the former Montevallo Coal Mining Company of Aldrich, Alabama, subject to easement for light, power and Telephone lines and poles as shown on the said Map also for water pipes as now situated, situated in Shelby County, Alabama.

The proceeds of said sale to be applied; first to the expense of foreclosure; second, to the payment of said mortgage indebtedness, any balance to be paid to mortgagees.

Witness my hand this the 10th day of January, 1952.

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Matthew 9:9—17; Luke 5:27—39.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Matthew 16:24—28.

About Face

Lesson for January 20, 1952

TAX collectors and customs officers in these days are highly respectable men. They are not (officially) popular; but every one knows they are necessary. What they collect is fixed by law, and they get no commission on their collections. They live on a salary also fixed by law. If anyone feels "gouged" by taxes he never accuses the collector, the fault is somewhere else.

Dr. Foreman

Now in Palestine, in the time of Christ, it was different. Throughout the gospels the name "publican" or, as translated in present-day English, "tax-collector", is evidently a name for a mean man. Jesus himself used publicans as examples of the lowest level of society. The reason was this: In the Roman system of tax collection, the privilege of levying taxes in a given district was "farmed out", that is to say, offered at auction. The highest bidder was given the franchise, and then he, or men he hired, would proceed to collect all the traffic would bear.

Palestine at that time was under the Romans, and the Jews had the army of occupation with them year after year. What the tax collectors did was to turn over to the Romans what the Romans wanted, and everything over and above that amount went into the collector's strong-box.

A Christian's Job

ONE day Jesus just said "follow me" to one of these men, named Matthew, and the man got up and followed him. So far as we know, he never set foot in his office again. Very likely, as a great preacher has suggested, this was not the first time Matthew had seen Jesus. Possibly they had had conversations before, out of business hours. The preacher goes on to suggest that Matthew may have come to loathe his job, but never have seen just how he could leave it.

Be that as it may, Matthew understood quite well that he could not be both a publican and a follower of Jesus. This raises a question: Are there occupations today which a true Christian cannot follow without sin?

There was a dope peddler one night sitting on a stone wall outside a New England church. Somehow the Spirit of God blessed the singing that night, for one of the hymns sang its way straight into that man's heart, and that very hour he threw his packet of dope away and became a Christian. He never went back to that business. We can all see that he was right; but are there other businesses also that cannot have the blessing of Christ upon them?

Whom Do You Follow?

THE story of Matthew suggests also that every one is some kind of follower. Some people just "follow their noses", that is, they just keep on in the routine of their lives, doing today what they did yesterday just because they have the habit of living in this way. Others follow an ambition, others a desire for revenge, others follow pleasure, others attach themselves to a leader (political, social or what not) and follow somebody else's band-wagon.

The tragedy of the Christian church is that although every Christian, or rather every church member, has solemnly promised to follow Jesus Christ, they don't all follow him, by any means. They go right on following habit, or pleasure, or ambition, and they do not ask (as Matthew must have asked) whether these things are such as Christ can bless, or not.

In spite of Jesus' plain statement: You cannot serve God and Mammon (the god of money), people go right on serving Mammon in spite of their Christian profession.

About Face!

THE word "conversion" means simply "turning around". It means turning all the way around. When the sergeant says "About Face!" it won't do for the rookie to twist his face around, or to turn one foot. It's all the way or nothing.

Yet when Jesus our Commander gives the command "About Face!" how many Christians barely move a muscle!

The church is too well loaded with half-converted people. They are turned around enough to go to church, but the rest of the week they are headed just the same way the world is headed. What we need is more Matthews, converted 100 per cent.

'Smoother Ride, Vivid Colors Feature Four-Door

Chevrolet records indicate the four-door Styleline De Luxe sedan was the most popular body model in the country in 1951. Above, it is shown in its 1952 design, more striking in appearance and improved in performance over earlier models. Headlining some notable contributions to motoring pleasure are smoother riding qualities and responsive performance under all sorts of weather conditions.

NEW HOPE

NEWS OF NEW HOPE SCHOOL

A glimpse at the program of work and accomplishments of New Hope School for the past year, confirms reports that these youngsters are not only being taught their "three R's" but also get a wealth of practical knowledge. This wins the hearty approval of both the youngsters and their parents, and is a challenge to other schools in the county.

Pupils of the First Grade are enthusiastic over their new project; a study of the community. On a recent visit to the Denson Dairy, the children saw milking machines in operation and how milk is cooled and handled before going to the market.

They have made a study of their school, churches and natural resources along with the people and their occupations.

They are beginning a study of the seasons which they find most exciting, according to their teacher, Mrs. Weaver.

The Second and Third grades were featured in a splendid program during Education Week. We were delighted to have Miss King and her mother as guests of the school on this occasion.

Children of all grades participated in a most enjoyable Christmas Program, which included readings, songs, dialogues and a pageant. Painting pine cones tipped with silver and blue paints, tiny cedars and mirror lakes lent an air of festivity to the rooms during the holidays.

Interesting programs were arranged for Religious Education Week, with Rev. W. B. Todd as guest speaker.

The boys who are members of the 4-H Club have completed a book case for the school and also made candle holders for Christmas gifts for their mothers. The girls are busy in their sewing projects, making hot plate mats, dish towels and other articles. They are using a machine, borrowed from one of the mothers, but plan to buy one for the school as their next project.

A double sink is the piece of kitchen equipment recently installed which is the cooks pride. This facilitates the handling of dishes and cooking equipment for a more thorough cleaning job.

With the summary of the school news comes our prediction of one of the most successful years work in the history of New Hope School.

TWIST-TYPE RUGS VERSUS TUFT-TYPE

Twist-type carpets and rugs are becoming more popular and challenging the long supremacy of the "Cut Pile" type, such as the Axminster, finds Alice Peavy, A. P. I. Extension Service home management specialist.

She states that Axminsters still lead all other kinds of carpets in sales, but consumers are showing a preference for the twist-type with the harder surface and nubby or pebbly look.

Reasons consumers give for preferring this type are that it shows soil and footprints less easily, has good scuff resistance, is of plain color, yet may give a two-tone effect because the uneven surface provides highlights and shadows.

A Brief Review of 1951
And A Look Ahead

THE economy of the territory served by Alabama Power Company continues to improve. Existing industries have added to their productive capacity. The diversity of products made in Alabama is increasing. In the year just past, many new and valuable industries came to our State. We were privileged to participate in this program of development.

All demands for our service have been met adequately and on time. During 1951, despite shortages of critical materials, and generally higher costs of the items entering into our service, the company continued to provide to its customers dependable electrical service at reasonable rates. It is building new generating plants, with associated transmission and distribution facilities, at an unprecedented rate, to supply the rapidly growing power demands of our area. The job has been a big one, but we have been encouraged as we have worked at it, by the good will of the people in our service area, by the support of investors, and by the know-how and devotion to duty of the men and women of Alabama Power Company.

We shall continue to do our utmost to meet the heavy electricity demands of our area. During 1951, we brought into service 140,000 kilowatts of new generating capacity. We are now building new power units with a capacity of 405,000 kilowatts. Of this huge program, 155,000 kilowatts will be completed in 1952, 125,000 kilowatts in 1953, and 125,000 kilowatts in 1954. Additional capacity is planned for later years. These new plants will be completed on schedule if we are able to secure the necessary materials and equipment on time.

Hundreds of miles of transmission and distribution lines were built during 1951, to augment our service to existing customers and to serve 20,000 new customers. Additional hundreds of miles of line will be built in 1952 to serve new thousands of customers.

Our progress is inseparably bound up in the progress of Alabama. Realizing the need for balancing agriculture with industry, we have worked and will continue to work wholeheartedly for the development of Alabama, supporting every movement to build and expand industry in the State.

We believe that the greatest good can come to the citizens of Alabama only when the benefits of good electric service at fair rates are spread as broadly as possible, and we will work earnestly toward this end.

We recognize that it is a duty and a privilege to participate as good citizens in the development of every community within our service area, and to this end we pledge the services of the men and women of our organization.

Our Pledge for 1952

During 1952 we will do our utmost, as in years past, to supply adequate and dependable electric service and do our part as citizens in the development of a great State.

DO'S AND DON'T'S FOR SAFE DRIVERS

If the following safety suggestions given by Stella Mitchell, A. P. I. Extension Service home management specialist, are put into action by each driver in the family, many trips to the hospital will be avoided.

Don't race to a stop sign, traffic light, or highway intersection then slam on the brakes. Don't start with a rush and roar, or try to beat the other cars in a quick get-away when traffic signals change. Do adjust speed to conditions.

FARM NEWS

PLAN NOW FOR BETTER PASTURES NEXT YEAR

Now is the time to look ahead and plan for more and better pastures in 1952, according to A. A. Lauderdale, County Agent.

"Perhaps some pastures that were improved a few years ago need attention now," says the specialist. "Lime needs should be checked, too".

BROILER HATCHING EGG TIMETABLE SUGGESTED

Those who are producing hatching eggs for broiler chicks would do well to start a flock of pullets in January, according to John Weeks, A. P. I. Extension Service poultry specialist.

He points out that the birds will be in production by July and early August. They will continue in production throughout the fall months when hatching eggs are in very short supply.

Weeks adds that many growers who start birds at this time will start another flock in March so that a constant supply of eggs will be produced throughout the year

Pullets for the commercial flock should also be started in January or February so that they will be in production during the last six months of the year when egg prices are highest.

Bread put in a paper bag and hung up will not mold; ready for crumbs.

HOG SCHOOL

There will be a 1 day Hog School to discuss Feeding, Breeding and Management for hog production on Friday, January 18th, beginning at 9:30 o'clock in the Old Courthouse auditorium, Columbiana. Mr. G. B. Phillips, Swine Specialist, from Auburn will be with us for this meeting Everybody interested in hogs is urged to attend. The meeting will last into the afternoon. Make your plans now to attend.

THE CALF PEN SYSTEM GROWS IN POPULARITY

The individual calf pen system, dedeveloped by the Regional Animal Disease Research Laboratory in Auburn, is quite popular with many Alabama dairymen.

In 1951 this program, designed to control parasites and diseases of dairy herd replacements, was in operation on 322 dairy farms that were using 1,283 pens in 35 Alabama counties. The value of this program is reflected in the increased number of dairy calves raised in Alabama as shown in county agents' annual reports.

J. R. Parrish, A. P. I. Extension Service dairyman, says that herdsmen who are having trouble raising calves should ask the local county agent about the calf pen system.

4-H BOYS PLANNING POULTRY WORK THIS MONTH

All boys 4-H clubs plus one joint club this month are studying 4-H Poultry projects says assistant county agent G. C. Moore, Jr. This being the time to plan your brooder houses, and place orders for early delivery of chicks makes it very appropriate that considerable attention be placed on this project at this time.

Programs were prepared and mailed out to club presidents and officers by Assistant agents Moore and Clark in advance. Discussions are being given by the members themselves, and summarized by the assistant county agents.

Some of the points studied by the boys are: (1) How many chicks should a 4-H member have, which is about 50 to 100 in most cases. (2) The quality chicks to buy which should be high qaulity if one plans to raise good, healthy laying hens. (3) Feeding from day old on thru laying. (4) Green grazing for the growing pullets. (5) Separation of pullets and roosters as soon as the difference can be detected. (6) Disease control stressing the old axiom that "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure", and (7) where to purchase chicks. The boys will get assistance from County Agent Lauderdale and the assistant agents in ordering the best chicks if they need help.

Clubsters are urged to order heavy or dual-purpose breeds (Reds, barred rocks, etc.) for March Delivery and light-weight breeds (the Leghornn) for April delivery.

Poultry is a project that most any club member can have as a project. Poultry is one of our best and most economical meats to serve, say the home economists, in this time of high-priced meats and other foods. Every family needs at least a dozen laying hens. Many families don't need more than a dozen unless they are selling eggs on the market.

FARM INCOME TAX POINTERS LISTED

The time to file income tax returns has arrived, and some important requirements in the income tax law that will affect farmers are included in pointers given today by Foy Helms, A. P. I. Extension Service economist.

"Any farmer whose gross income was $600 or more in 1951 is required to file a federal income tax return, even though he may owe no taxes," explains Helms.

The farmer has two choices as to filing of returns. He can either file a return and pay the tax on or before January 31, 1952, or he can file a declaration of estimated tax due and pay this amount by January 15, 1952, then file a complete return and pay any balance due on or before March 15, 1952. If a farmer's business year does not start January 1, he may file a return and pay the tax on or before the last day of the first month of the succeeding taxable year; or he may file an estimate within 15 days and a return within two and one-half months after the end of his business year.

Form 1050 F. To summarize the farm income and expenses and to compute the farm profits.

Schedule D (File with Form 1040). To show gains and losses from sales of property used in the business.

Form 1040 and instruction pamphlet. To list the farm profit from Form 1040 F; to list other items of income and personal deductions; and to figure the tax due.

Form 1040 ES. To declare an estimate of the tax. This form is not needed if a farmer files his return and pays the tax on or before the last day of the first month of the succeeding taxable year

Forms 1099 and 1096. To be used in reporting the payment of $600 or more in wages to individual workers.

RINSE DARK WASHABLES IN THE RIGHT MANNER

Dark-colored clothes of washable fabric are often favored for winter wear because they show soil less than light colors, yet can be tubbed at home rather than dry-cleaned.

"If they are to keep their clear dark color after washing and show no whitish or greyish streaks or spots, special care in laundering is necessary," says Levice Ellis, A. P. I. Extension Service clothing specialist.

She advises homemakers to use soft water for washing dark-colored fabrics if possible, but avoid strong water softeners which may fade colors. Make a good thick suds of lukewarm water. Avoid soaking. Put garments into water and wash as rapidly as possible. If the water is hard, make a second lighter suds for the first rinse, or rinse in lukewarm water containing a little vinegar. Then rinse at least twice in clear water.

IT IS A FACT THAT PIGS NEED VITAMINS

If pigs could talk, thousands of Alabama hog growers would hear their pigs say, "I haven't had my vitamins today"

G. B. Phillips, A. P. I. Extension Service hog production specialist, verifies the fact that pigs do need their vitamins. In fact, they have to have them if they grow and thrive

"Fortunately," says Phillips, "pigs don't require the 'drug store' kind of vitamins. Pigs can get all the growth vitamins needed from tender legume grazing. One experiment station test showed that if all the vitamins contained in one acre of alfalfa grazing were purchased in pill or tablet form, the cost would exceed $800."

Therefore, the specialist advises hog growers to keep their pigs and hogs on good grazing. If the grazing is not available, give them a small amount of leafy, green legume hay. And if shotes are being finished in the pen or dry lot, include a little hay in their protein supplement.

"A good protein supplement for use in dry lot feeding," adds Phillips, "can be made by mixing equal parts of tankage, cottonseed meal, finely ground legume hay, and either peanut or soybean meal."

Nail two empty spools to the wall of your kitchen or the inside of your closet so idle brooms won't be forever falling over. Hang the broom upside down on the spools.

Your dressing table will stay immaculate if you keep your face powder in a decorative salt shaker. You can put just the right amount of powder on your puff and won't spill any.

February 1, is the deadline for the payment of your poll tax. This privilege of free expression at the polls by every qualified citizen is one of our most priceless heritages. I fear we have, in the past, taken this responsibility too lightly, and, when everything was not convenient to go to our polling places to vote, just followed the line of least resistance and remained at home, thinking perhaps that "one vote" would not matter one way or the other. However, if hundreds and thousands of voters throughout the U. S. continue in this indifferent mood, the "Stay-At-Homes" may be responsible for the election of the next President, Senator, Congressman, Circuit Court, Supreme Court, and Probate Court Judges and other key positions in our national, state and county races.

According to an article I recently read, in which the Gallup Poll was recorded, the enormous size of the non-voting element played an important role in the Presidential election in 1948, when the following figures were tabulated. Total voting 48,794,000. Not voting 45,278,000; The 1950 Congressional elections recorded total voting 40,334,000. Not voting: 57,082,200. These figures, it was stated were used as a base to indicate the potential vote in the United States.

Alabama with South Carolina, ranked lowest in this tabulation with 14 percent. Utah stood as the highest in the nation, as far as voting was concerned. Seventy-four percent of the estimated population of this state participated in the Truman-Dewey election.

Therefore, this writer sincerely hopes eeach qualified voter in the state will go to the polls and freely express his or her preference for the candidates who will shortly place their ambitious claims before you for your consideration. The price of only $1.50 per year is a nominal one, when all its advantages of "freedom" to choose, is considered.

POLITICS ON MAIN

Almost any hour of the day if you know your political zodiac you may observe various "huddles" on the Courthouse grounds. Should you go into a drug store or restaurant around ten o'clock in the morning you will likely find "candidates" discussing the "pros and cons" of the approaching races, in which all citizens of Shelby County should be alertly interested. A cup of Java and a tete-a tete is a "must" on the professional and business men's daily program. The optimism that pervades the atmosphere around all potential political aspirants is more refreshing to us, than the coffee or coke we order. Everybody is in a good humor, and brotherly love continues, with a splendid degree of good sportsmanship among them, which is exactly as it should be.

The political brew, now beginning to simmer, is the most interesting concoction we have seen or heard of in years. Seasoned campaigners will mix it with the new comers, and even the oldest political prognostigators will not venture a guess regarding the outcome of some of these political battles which will officially "Sound Off", within the next few weeks.

At this writing, practically all the candidates have unofficially announced their "intention to run". It only remains for the Democratic Executive Committee to meet when rules and regulations will be discussed and agreed upon, for the political gun to pop, and off they go.... in what looks like from my perch in the "bleachers", one of the most exciting races ever staged in the county.

KARL C. HARRISON CALLS DEM. EX. COM. TO MEET

Karl C. Harrison, Chairman of the Shelby County Democratic Executive Committee, has issued a call to all members to convene in the Courthouse at Columbiana, at ten o'clock Tuesday morning, January 29. All members are urged to be present.

DR. VICKERY HEADS MOTHER'S DRIVE AGAINST POLIO

Dr. Katherine Vickery of Montevallo will spear head the Shelby County's Mother's Drive against Polio, scheduled to be held nationwide on the evening of January 31, between the hours of 7 and 8 o'clock P. M.

The Vignette Club members will be in charge of this house to house canvas in Columbiana. Your light on the front porch will signify your desire to contribute to their campaign. These club members objective is to get each member of the family, even the little children, who are largely most susceptible to this dread malady, to contribute. Let them have a part in it, no matter how small the contribution.

Listen over your Radio for further plans, regarding the national Mother's Drive against Polio. See the stars on Television as they plead for assistance and give freely of their time and talent to make the call more effective.

The Polio Drive will be brought to a close in Columbiana on the evening of February 2, when the Vignette Club entertains with the March of Dimes Dance. This annual affair will be a Square Dance this year. Music by Cofer's Band of Siluria. Proceeds will be donated to the March of Dimes and dancing will begin at eight o'clock and continue until eleven-thirty.

You are cordially urged to be present in the S. C. H. S. Auditorium on this date.

ALABAMA DEMOCRATIC EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE TO MEET

Alabama Democratic Executive Committee members will meet here January 25-26 to determine the rules under which the Alabama Democratic primaries will be conducted next spring.

Main topic of discussion will be whether primary candidates must pledge to support the nominees of the National Democratic Party. Loyalist Democrats maintain that Alabama Democrats should be forced to support all the party choices. tSates' Rights Democratic forces hold that the state's Democratic electors should be given free hand to vote for such presidential candidates as they think might be best, whether he be Democrat, Republican, or the nominees of some third party, as in 1948.

HOME-TALENT SHOW AT SHELBY

The public is invited to attend a Home Talent Show at Shelby School on January 29th at 7:30 P. M. Different types of acts will be featured from among the best musicians and comics of the area.

Proceeds will be used in improving the school program in general. This Show is sponsored by P. T. A. and promises to offer an evening of interesting fun for the audience, who will vote for their favorite entertainers, and for the entertainers themselves who will be eligible to win one of three prizes. Shelby's most Popular Baby will also be chosen at this time. Don't miss it!

THOMPSON P. T. A. TO MEET

Thompson P. T. A. will hold its first meeting for this year in the new cafeteria on Monday evening, January 21, at 7:30.

A film, "Angry Boy", will be shown and Miss Kirkpatrict, speech and social studies teacher in the high school will give the devotional.

Refreshments will be served by the tenth grade following the program.

This will be the first opportunity for many parents and friends to visit the attractive cafeteria that is nearing completion.

NEWSPAPERS MERGER

Publisher Edmund Blair has announced the merger of the Southern Aegis and the Pell City News, the weekly publication now to be called the St. Clair News Aegis.

Blair said the newspapers will continue to serve subscribers to either of the individual papers. He said there will be no increase in subscription rates. The Southern Aegis was established at Ashville, Alabama, in 1873. The Pell City News was founded in 1908 as the Progress and its name changed to the Pell City News in 1921.

SHELBY COUNTY'S MAN OF THE YEAR TO BE PRESENTED NEXT WEEK

Following last week's reminder that no nominations had been received for the honor of being "Shelby County's Man Of The Year", nominations began to come into the office and we have turned them over to the committee chosen to select the candidate it considers most worthy of this distinction. We hope to have the final decision by next week, at which time, it will be our very great pleasure to present him.

NEW PHONE NUMBER FOR RED CROSS OFFICE

Those who have cause to contact the Red Cross Office in Columbiana, now located in the home of Mrs. Conrad Fowler, may call 3301. The office is open three mornings each week.... Monday, Wednesday and Friday until noon.

COTTON MILL RUNNING THREE SHIFTS

Much rejoicing among workers and in commercial circles over the three shifts now spinning merrily along at the Cotton Mill. Its round the clock schedule now, and a more optimistic tune is heard around the Main Stem.

ALABAMA COLLEGE OFFERS HONORS SCHOLARSHIPS

High School Seniors will have an opportunity to try out for eight Honors Scholarships provided they obtain application blanks immediately from their high school principals, according to an announcement by Dr. John Tyler Caldwell, president of Alabama College at Montevallo. Applications must be in not later than February 15.

Actual date of the Honors Scholarships competition will be March 13 through 15 and any high school senior who is in the upper one-fourth of her graduating class will be eligible to compete upon recommendation by Principal Lonard Rogers of S. C. H. S.

Competing seniors will be given examinations in ability, achievement and personality during their three day stay on the campus.

Two full four-year scholarships to cover all fixed charges, including room, board, laundry and all other college fees are offered to seniors in the top competition.

An additional two scholarships will be offered which will cover one-half of all fixed charges, each for a period of four years.

The final four scholarships will each pay for one-third of fixed charges for four years each.

DEPUTY TAX COLLECTOR COMING HERE FEBRUARY 9

A Deputy Collector from the Internal Revenue Department will be at the Courthouse, Columbiana, Alabama on February 6, 1952, 8:30 A. M. to 4:30 P. M. to assist taxpayers in making out their income tax returns. Taxpayers requesting assistance of a Deputy Collector in preparation of returns must be able to readily furnish the following information:

1. A record of all income received in 1951.
2. An itemized statement of all deductions they wish to claim on the return—such as taxes, interest, contributions, business expenses, cost of goods sold, etc.
3. The total amount of tax withheld by all employers during 1951 together with Form W-2 furnished by each employer.
4. The amount of tax paid on estimated income tax for 1951 as reflected by declaration of such income filed on Form 1040-ES.
5. A copy of the 1950 return if depreciation was claimed on such return.

Alabaster Bank Opened Monday

GEORGE L. SCOTT JR., President, "First Bank Of Alabaster"

SENATOR J. T. PHILLIPS makes first deposit in new bank in Alabaster January 21. VIRGINIA JOHNSON, Teller, receives it as SUE WYATT looks on—

T. L. COX, CASHIER, In his Official Quarters

Large Crowd At Open House Held Sunday

Mildred White Wallace

No rain-clouds of economical depression, or thunder-heads of doubt as to business stability threaten the fair skies of Alabaster, Alabama, as evidenced by the opening of the First Bank Of Alabaster on Monday, January 21st, 1952.

We had the privilege of being among hundreds of visitors on Sunday, January 20, who inspected this "Banking Home" and the opportunity of meeting the official family. The spirit of friendly courtesy, the desire to meet a long-felt need for such a business venture in this progressive section of our county, gave us the deep conviction that another step forward on Shelby County's upward march has definitely been made possible by the timely opening of this "Bank of Service".

The building itself, stands a credit to the architectural artists who transformed an old building, formerly used for a garage, into a modern, streamlined structure, with both exterior and interior reflecting careful planning on the part of the owners, who wisely designed the commodious lobby, offices, vault room, director's official quarters etc., not only with an eye for elegance and good taste, but with specified consideration for the convenience of its patrons and friends and for the security of each depositor.

"Open House" Sunday, brought to Alabaster, over one thousand people, who came to congratulate these keen visioned men who, in establishing this bank, expressed their personal faith in the future possibilities of this section of Shelby County.

Congratulatory messages came from various parts of the State. Floral offerings transformed the lobby into a veritable flower garden of beauty. Dozens of baskets were artistically displayed throughout the building, all bespeaking good will and best wishes for future success to the genial President George L. Scott, Jr., whom you will see in the above photograph seated at his desk, in the office immediately to your right as you enter the door.

The first depositor, pictured above, you will readily recognize as Senator J. T. Phillips, Textile Magnate, and public spirited citizen whose faith in his adopted county is evidenced by his Textile Mills in Siluria and Columbiana. His individual interest in Shelby County citizens is too well known for reiteration. The The pretty "Teller" receiving the deposit is Virginia Johnson, and the beauteous blonde looking proudly on is Sue Wyatt.

The gentleman seated at his desk in his private official quarters, is Cashier T. L. Cox, whom we are anxious for all of you to know. Mr. Cox hails from Oneonta where he has been associated in the banking business for a number of years. However, Mr. Cox told the writer, that he did not feel like a "stranger in our midst" so generous and cordial had been his welcome since arriving in Shelby County.

Opening day, Monday, January 21, Thousands of Dollars were deposited during banking hours and if this one day record has ever been equalled in this county, much less surpassed, you have only to let the writer know, and she will make a head line streamer proclaiming it.

The future success of this bank is already assured. There remains but one thing for us to do, and that, we wholeheartedly proffer at this time, our congratulations to those who have written another page on Shelby County's roster of brilliant achievements which will stand the test of time, and continue to render "service" to the citizens of this section of our county — thru all the years to be!

4-H Clubs Plan Full Years Program For '52

Members of the Shelby County 4-H Clubs made plans recently for a full program during 1952. Fifty-four council directors representing 29 clubs under the Leadership of president, Ashley Jeter, set up plans for the 50 4-H clubs in the county.

FARM RESEARCH

Lab Men Open New Markets For Farmers

PEORIA, Ill.—Hundreds of small towns across the nation who depend on farming for their livelihood have reason to be thankful for a new field of endeavor—farm community research.

As an example, the Agriculture Department's Northern Regional Research Laboratory in Peoria, employing 300 persons, busy themselves with expanding the utility of such things as corn, wheat and soybeans.

From corn the laboratory has made a product called Vicara from which sweaters have been knitted and for which there was great demand until withdrawn from the market a few weeks ago.

And insurance agents may turn a more kindly eye toward home town garages and maintenance shops as a result of the laboratory's development of a new method of cleaning engine parts. It uses a grit made from ground corncobs, rice hulls, fruit pits and nutshells.

Study Wheat Varieties

Most garages clean auto engines by dousing them with gasoline, naphtha or a commercial solvent. There is often a high element of danger in this process. Sandblasting is impractical since sand is a harsh abrasive. So the laboratory developed the method of simply using soft grits in place of sand.

The northwest wheat farmers may benefit from the laboratory's work. These farmers grow several varieties of soft and semi-hard wheats which give especially good crop yields and are strongly disease-resistant.

Millers, however, don't like these wheats. They give fluffy stocks, don't sift through bolting cloth easily and slows down the milling process.

The laboratory is studying the problem and will eventually come up with a solution.

Developed Penicillin

Other products of the laboratory include a starch sponge which is now being produced by pharmaceutical houses for clinical testing as a hemostatic agency.

When you swallow a penicillin tablet on your doctor's orders, you may not be aware of it, but the mold which yields the largest amounts of this antibiotic was discovered on a cantaloupe from a Peoria market. That particular mold is one of 6,250 varieties housed in six large refrigerators in the laboratory, comprising the world's largest collection of yeasts, molds and bacteria for industrial uses.

Educators Study School Bus Safety Problems

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Newer and safer transportation for the 6,000,000 home town and rural children riding school buses was discussed by 75 educators, transportation experts and bus manufacturers at a recent meeting in Washington.

Approximately 100,000 buses are driven an estimated 4,000,000 miles each year in transporting children between their homes and schools, according to H. C. Bleckschmidt, conference chairman.

Since the first set of standards for school bus transportation was developed in 1938, more than 40 states have adopted the standards wholly or partially in their school transportation systems.

The committee studied ways to protect children from pinched fingers, skinned knees or more serious injury.

Bleckschmidt reported that the need for better school transportation has increased as the highways throughout the nation have improved. Another factor is school redistricting which has brought about a greater demand for school transportation as children attend consolidated schools.

The tentative minimum standards worked out by the interim conference will be presented to a full scale conference of educators, transportation experts and others interested in school transportation. Bleckschmidt emphasized that the goal of his committee is to raise the standards of school transportation in all home town communities.

Remote Michigan Town Gets Its First Telephone

GAY, Mich. — The remote community of Gay has its first telephone.

Less than 200 people live in the community now, but it was once a thriving copper mill town. For the past 50 years it has got along without a telephone.

Old-timers can't explain how they fell behind the times. And they don't think it at all unusual that the community was to mine and sell millions of dollars' worth of copper without benefit of the telephone.

They do appreciate the new contact with the outside world, although they admit it will take a little time to get used to the instruments. The heavy winter snows in the area used to cut the community off entirely.

"Now it seems like we're part of the state of Michigan," said one resident.

Here are the six new Alabama Master Farm Families recognized by The Progressive Farmer magazine and the state's agricultural agencies. Master Farm Family awards are based on excellence in farming, homemaking, and community leadership. These six families will receive their awards at a banquet in Birmingham on February 13. These Master Farmers are real "shirtsleeve" farmers and leaders in practical agriculture. Their farming operations reflect the South's switch to "two-armed farming"—balancing row crops with livestock.

We "Went to Town" on Farm Telephones in 1951 . . .

Southern Rural Telephones Pass the Half Million Mark

THE number of rural telephones served by Southern Bell passed the 520,000 mark in 1951. More than 77,000 were added last year alone.

Even bigger things are planned for 1952, provided we can get the necessary materials. Many more Southern farmers are eager to enjoy the convenience and money-saving advantages of telephone service. We are working hard to fill their needs. And we expect to have another 82,000 rural telephones in service by the end of this year.

Meeting the needs of farm families is a big and costly job. But it's a mighty important job to us—because it's so important to the South's prosperity, in town and on the farm.

SELECT THE SOAP MADE FOR THE JOB

To most of us soap is divided into two kinds, laundry soap and toilet or bath soap. Today, however, homemakers need to know more than this about laundry soap they use. Manufacturers are making different kinds of different needs.

As a guide in buying soap, Stella Mitchell, A. P. I. Extension Service home management specialist, suggests that the label on the package be studied carefully. See if the soap is recommended for fine washing or general laundering.

"The mild soap used on fine fabrics may not get work clothes as clean as 'general purpose' laundry soap," warns the specialist. "On the other hand, the product that keeps shirts and sheets white may fade colored clothes and shrink or harden wools and silks. Soap that washes well in soft water may do a poor job in hard water. A detergent that leaves wool socks and sweaters soft and clean may be a disappointment when you use it on cottons".

BOIL, BLEACH OR BLUE ONLY WHEN NECESSARY

Boiling the laundry is only recommended for sterilizing clothing, bedding, and handkerchiefs after illness, according to Levice Ellis, A. P. I. Extension Service clothing specialist.

She agrees that boiling is a good substitute for correct washing and a cheaper way to whiten clothes than using a commercial bleach. Bleaching is only necessary for clothes discolored by long storage or poor washing. Use commercial bleach only on white cottons and linens.

"Remember," says Miss Ellis, "that bluing does not whiten clothes but makes them look white by camouflaging dinginess."

PIG GAINS CHEAPEST WHEN SUCKLING SOW

The cheapest gains in weight occur during the first eight weeks while pigs are suckling the sow.

G. B. Phillips, A. P. I. Extension Service hog production specialist, points out that the average brood sow produces more milk per pound of body weight than does the average dairy cow. In addition, the sow's milk is 44 per cent richer than cow's milk.

The amount of milk that a sow gives is influenced largely by her care and feeding. This is why Phillips urges that a balanced ration—and plenty of it—be given the brood sow. Also, a mineral mixture and dry salt, fed free choice, are highly important.

Small Town Celebrates Greatest Football Upset

DANVILLE, Ky.—The little community of Danville, home of Centre College, recently celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of football's greatest upset, the 6-to-0 victory over Harvard back in 1921.

Norris Armstrong, the captain of that crew of "Praying Colonels" which was quarterbacked by Bo McMillin, recalled how the players went up to Soldier Field at Cambridge, Mass., to face the then mighty Crimson eleven which never before in its history had lost an intersectional football game.

After the game the people back in Danville, townspeople and students, went berserk and literally painted the town with huge scrawled whitewash figures which state simply "C-6, H-0."

Even today the figures remain on the side of a water tank and the wall of a warehouse, and the legend persists that enthusiastic old grads come around occasionally and touch them up.

Don't throw away old woolen socks. Put them over your shoes when you start painting wall or furniture. If paint spills you can wipe it up with your foot.

Flowerpots won't fall off your window sill if you place a curtain rod across the window. It won't be noticeable if you paint the rod the same color as the window.

ON THE FARMS IN SHELBY COUNTY
B.F. HATCHETT & G.C. STARCHER JR.

Conservation got a big boost this week in the Harpersville and Vincent areas. The 1400 acre B. George Farm now owned by the Brookside Pratt Mining Company, is being planned according to S. C. S. Standards. Mr. Long, one of the owners and farm operators, is preparing land for sericea and has begun a complete fertilizing program on his pastures. The rest of the "boost" came with the Faulkner bulldozer which is clearing hedgerows, filling old wells, leveling washes, removing value-less hardwoods from pasture areas and in several other ways speeding conservation on farms around Vincent including the Bates, Davis, and McGraw farms.

At Calera, J. J. Reeves placed his very large farm in the ranks of the North Central Soil Conservation District. Also at Calera the John T. Johns farm changed hanrs, but is being replanned for the new owner, Mr. Mason, a vice-president of Wimberley Thomas Hardware in Birmingham. A dam has been designed for Mr. Mason and will be built in the near future to provide a three acre lake to supply fish, swimming, stock water and emergency irrigation for the gardens.

Have you seen:

MOBILE'S AZALEA TRAIL ATTRACTS TOURISTS

One of the largest tourist attractions in the Deep South during the Winter vacation season will be the internationally-famous Mobile Azalea Trail Festival.

The most extensive and most colorful program in the 23-year history of the festival will be staged from early February until the middle of March. Visitors are expected from every state in the nation and many foreign countries.

Queen of the Azalea Trail Festival will be Collen Kay Hutchins, "Miss America for 1952". Coronation ceremonies are scheduled on Sunday, March 2, in historic Bienville Square, and in addition to Miss America will feature some of the South's loveliest ladies in the Queen's court.

Approximately 15,000 persons saw Yolande Betbeze, a native Mobilian and Miss America for 1951, crowned queen of the 1951 festival. In the three-week period of the 1951 festival, about 300,000 persons saw Mobile's fabulous 30-mile trail of magnificent azaleas.

The 1952 Azalea Trail Festival will also coincide with Mobile's Mardi Gras celebration.

The carnival celebration, with twelve street parades and over 100 brilliant floats on display between February 16 and 26, will be the most outstanding ever held, according to Alfred E. Staples, president of the Mobie Carnival Association.

Among the feature stars during the festival program will be Edward G. Robinson, who will appear in the stage production of "Darkness At Noon". This and other stage attractions being tentatively planned in connection with the festival are being sponsored by Theater Associates, Inc., of Mobile.

Negotiations are under way to bring Miss Margaret Truman in a concert during the festival, and Ted Malone, the radio personality who covered the 1951 Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo, is expected to return for the azalea doings.

Among other big name attractions now in the negotiating stage, Trail officials said, are "Mister Roberts," which would be making its second appearance here, and Sadlers' Wells Ballet.

WORTH OF KUDZU

Records show that on one badly eroded field, kudzu was grown for a few years and then every fourth terrace was planted to corn. The yield from these strips equalled the crop produced by the entire field before it was planted to kudzu.

If you wish to preserve your linens, avoid allowing your sheets to whip on the line in a strong wind. It's also poor policy to jerk sheets forcibly from the line after they have frozen stiff.

VILLAGE PROBLEMS

No One Wants To Hold Office In Ohio Town

WAUSEON, O.—The community of Wauseon, population 3,500, recently gained considerable national publicity due to an article written by the Rev. Frederic Fox, pastor of the First Congregational Church, in which he pointed out many of the town's problems, especially that of getting candidates to run for office.

The article gained wide attention in the small towns across the nation because the author could have been writing about any one of a thousand towns other than Wauseon.

The problem of getting good small town public officials is described by Mr. Fox:

"Public salaries are certainly no attraction unless you're desperate. Our mayor and village solicitor get $500 per year. The town councilmen get $120 per year. The members of the Board of Public Affairs get half that because the board meets half as often as the council. The School Board gets nothing. Mrs. Will Mackie, the village clerk, gets $222.50 per month, but she runs the office and gets most of the 'grief'.

People Interested

"Actually, you lose money by serving the public. No public official can do business with the town, and the town is a big business — close to $300,000 per year, counting the school. This might be one reason why so few merchants are willing to run for office. But in addition to the actual village sales they lose, they also lose friends and customers."

In the election just past, Wauseon had 14 offices to be filled and only 14 candidates.

Mr. Fox complained that "95 per cent of the people of the community don't even know who is on the Town Council" and that the public seldom attends the meetings, although they are open meetings.

Wauseon's ex-mayor, George Fletcher, had this to say of the situation, Mr. Fox reported: "Wauseon has an overabundance of good men who could do a lot of good for the town if they would only seek public office, but they refuse to run because they are afraid of public criticism and ridicule . . . A good man does not like to take such abuse."

"Smelly" Politics

And like many other communities across the nation, Mr. Fox reports another reason why good people refuse to run for public office is they don't want to "get mixed up in politics", as if there were something smelly about politics.

Mr. Fox reports "the gripes always outnumber the bouquets 1,000 to 1." He also writes, "And there are complaints about the DDT spray which the town applies as a blanket anti-polio measure. There are complaints about bumpy streets, broken sidewalks, uncollected garbage and flooded cellars."

Mr. Fox's article on Wauseon and it's problems could have been about any of a thousand other home towns across the nation. Many of them face the same problems of finding good officials and efficient government.

Exira Merchants Promote Dollar, Pancake Day

EXIRA, Ia.—The Merchants of Exira recently combined pleasure with business in the promotion of a Dollar Day and Pancake Feed.

One of the largest crowds in the community's history gathered for two day promotion during which every store in the town offered special bargains and pancakes were served to all who wanted them.

The Community Club originally suggested the event. The Ladies Aid served the pancakes in the basement of the Danish Lutheran Church from 2 until 8 p.m. on Saturday. The Fidelity Pancake Company furnished the cakes and an expert chef. Exira Cream Company provided the cream, milk and butter, and the Exira Journal furnished the coffee. The Penick Syrup Company provided all the syrup needed to drench the cakes.

It was the first such event in the community for several years.

Paper Suggests Montana Be United With Alaska

LEWISTOWN, Mont. — A small town newspaper has come up with a solution for the problem of statehood for Alaska.

The Lewistown Daily News suggests that Montana and Alaska be combined into a new state of "Montanaska." The paper said the combination would offset Canada's proposed union of Alberta and British Columbia into the new province of British Calberta.

Montanaska would displace Texas as the largest state in the Union.

"Alaska seems to have been stymied in its quest for statehood," the newspaper said, "so why shouldn't Montana annex this Northwest territory, which is connected with the Treasure State via the Alcan highway? We could call the new state Montanaska.'

Its 733,538 square miles would be almost three times as big as Texas' area.

SGT. WALTER R. PARTRIDGE VICTIM OF HEART BREAK RIDGE

The war was brought closer to Shelby County citizens on December 10, when the remains of 1st Sergeant Walter R. Partridge Jr., was brought to Shelby for interment.

Sgt. Partridge was killed on Heart Break Ridge, September 21. He was 21 years of age and the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Patrridge of Shelby.

The military funeral was an impressive one, attended by approximately 400 people. Services were conducted from the Baptist Church in Shelby, and military dignitaries from Birmingham, with a group of soldiers from the Birmingham area, accompanied the body to its last resting place.

Sgt. Partridge is survived by his parents and two sisters, Mrs. E. B. Holmes of Birmingham and Mrs. Shrader of Shelby.

WAYS DAIRYMEN CAN INCREASE MILK FLOW

Alabama dairymen can increase production per cow by following good milking practices, believes J. R. Parrish, A. P. I. Extension Service dairyman.

He reminds owners that cows are creatures of habit; therefore, the same routine should be followed at each milking. Cows require gentle and quiet handling. Noise and roughness retards "letdown" of milk. When milking by machine, cows should be prepared and then milkers attached about one minute after preparation is completed.

Successful milkers say to strip cow by machine if possible by pulling down on the clan and massaging each quarter with a downward motion. Also, remove the milker unit as soon as milk stops flowing. Keep milking machine in good working condition and vacuum lines clean. And, last but not least, follow manufacturer's recommendations concerning vacuum and pulsation rate.

VET'S COLUMN WEST VIRGINIA BONUS

I am wondering if any of you were living in West Virginia when you were inducted into service during either World War One od World War Two? If so, you may be entitled to the State Bonus now being paid by the State of West Virginia. One of the prime requirements for qualifying for the West Virginia Bonus is that you must have been a resident of the state at the time you entered the service, and must have been a resident for a period of six months immediately preceding your entry into service. You will still be eligible, If, Immediately Preceding Your Entry Into The Armed Forces, you were temporarily absent from the state while attending school, while confined to a hospital or in prison or engaged in a trade or occupation outside the state. If any of you feel like you may be eligible for this bonus, contact your nearest County Veterans Service Officer, Alabama Department Of Veterans Affairs, and he will assist you in getting the necessary forms for filing your application.

INCOME TAX REFUND — If you have been in Korea, you may be entitled to income tax refund. If you were hospitalized before November 1, 1951, because of wounds, diseases or injuries received in Korea, you may be entitled to cash refunds from the Bureau Of Internal Revenue. The 1950 tax provided that enlisted men and warrant officers would owe no Federal Income Tax on service pay earned while in the combat zone. It also provided that the amount of $200 monthly of Commisioned Officers' pay would not be subject to tax. Last October, Congress extended the original law through 1953 and in addition, gave the same exemptions to service men hospitalized as a result of Korean service. This exemption would apply even if the serviceman concerned is returned to the United States and this provision is Retroactive to June 24, 1950. If you feel that you would be eligible for this refund, you should contact your nearest Federal tax officials.

DIXIE DIVISION TO MOVE

The 31st (Dixie) Infantry Division is slated to be transferred from Fort Jackson to Camp Atterbury, Ind., in April.

The Dixie Division is made up of former Alabama and Mississippi National Guardsmen and has been at the South Carolina base since being recalled to federal service in January.

Present plans call for the 31st to take part in maneuvers near Camp Hood, Texas, in March and April. The transfer to Camp Atterbury will then be made. Army spokesmen said the Indiana camp has better facilities for training and troop housing.

Since the division was reactivated soldiers all over the United States have been integrated into the organization. Commanding officer is Major General A. G. Paxton, former Greenville, Mississippi, banker.

MOTOR TREND ENGINEERING ACHIEVEMENT AWARD
CHRYSLER DIVISION
MOTOR TREND
In the Grinding Tests that Won it the Motor Trend Magazine Award, Chrysler proved itself the Best Engineered Car in America
CHRYSLER SURPASSED ALL OTHERS WHEN MOTOR TREND TESTED FOR:
★ Average Braking Distance in Feet
★ Ton Miles per Gallon
★ Average Acceleration in Seconds
★ Acceleration Over Standing ¼ Mile in Seconds
★ Average Top Speed in M.P.H.
★ Maximum Road Horsepower
★ Pounds per Road Horsepower
★ Maximum Torque in Lbs.-Ft.
★ Maximum Brake Mean Effective Pressure
★ First in Total Points
15 different American stock automobiles—equipped as you buy them—were driven by Motor Trend Magazine as hard as steel and rubber can be driven. In these actual road tests of efficiency and performance, measured by the most accurate instruments obtainable, Chrysler proved itself superior to all others. In 13 tests Chrysler was first in 7—tied in 2, making a total of 9 out of 13 . . . and first in total points!
Only by taking an engine to the limit of its potential, only by turning the corners at high speeds, applying brakes for emergency stops, torturing body, springs and shock absorbers, can you learn just what performance you can expect from the make of car you drive. The results of the Motor Trend tests were conclusive . . . as Chrysler, again, proved itself the one best car in America.
The Motor Trend Award, like numerous other honors today's Chrysler has won, is both a proof of and a tribute to Chrysler's magnificent Fire-Power engine and master engineering. Each demonstrates why, among men and women who know automobiles . . . Chrysler is always the first choice.

ALABASTER WELCOMES SHELBY COUNTY CITIZENS SUNDAY, JANUARY 20

There is no one thing I enjoy more than greeting old friends from all sections of Shelby County, therefore, I had a veritable "Field Day" last Sunday when I joined hundreds of interested folk and journeyed to Alabaster for a first glimpse of the new Bank, and what a bank! Never have we seen a more beautiful interior, nor one furnished with more exquisite taste than "The First Bank Of Alabaster". The soft pastel shaded walls; the massive walnut furniture; the modern flourescent lighting arrangements; and the "just enough" on each official desk. All bright and new and glistening in its colorful floral setting. And, when I mention "floral setting", I mean every conceivable blossom that could be purchased at this season of the year. Gorgeous baskets, filled with Spring's first glorious harbingers... roses, glads, carnations, chrysanthemums, etc., were placed in every nook and corner. People coming and going. Old friends, new friends, eager to extend greetings to the President, host, George L. Scott Jr., the affable vice-president Dr. J. A. Hines, and the new-comer in our midst, Cashier T. L. Cox.

Soon after we entered the flower bedecked lobby, we saw a familar figure pointing out the numerous attractive features of Shelby County's newest asset, and later learned that our good friend Senator J. T. Phillips, was proudly displaying the new banking facilities to some bankers from Nashville. Senator Phillips, as you know, is a Member of the Board of Directors. Another Member of the Board of Directors is Virgil Hammond, whom we had not had the pleasure of greeting in years. Mr. Hammond was engaged in seeing that the guests were registered and then turning them over to the pretty hostesses, who graciously conducted them thru the spacious building and its official quarters.

There were present on this occasion, professional and business men and women from every walk in life. It thrilled me to note the pride registered on the face of each individual who had come to view the new bank, citizens who would, perhaps be patrons as soon as the doors opened Monday. We talked with many of them, and each one spoke of the bank as "our bank", injecting a personal note of interest rarely found in such an impersonal business as banking, where hard boiled dollars and cents are usually the only things considered.

These people in Alabaster however, feel that this bank belongs to this fast growing section of Shelby County. They know that men who have lived practically all their lives in this town have invested their money in it. They are their well known friends, and this financial commodity placed in the center of the industrial part of our county, stands as a permanent evidence of their personal belief in the people and in the future of this great county of ours. Confidence was the key note sounded regarding the official personnel and gratitude for this manifested interest on their part, was freely expressed in their full desire to completely cooperate with them in making this bank one of the strongest in the state. And certainly no one could view this "dream-come-true", without sharing the happiness the occasion brought to the entire community.

We are delighted to have had the opportunity of being present on January 20 in the First Bank of Alabaster, for this day will definitely be recorded as a "red letter" day on our calendar of important historic happenings in our county thru all the years to be.

'ALABASTER - WATCH US GROW'

While standing in a circle of proud Alabaster citizens Sunday afternoon, I asked Truett Farris, who owns a furniture store next door to the new bank, how the appropriate slogan, "Watch Us Grow" came into being, and Truett told us the following story.... "Well, Lady, it was a long time ago. I was about 17 years old, and a Barber at that time. (You know there are five Farris Brothers and we owned a barber shop). A sign painter came by, and while doing some work for us in our shop, he remarked.... 'This town ought to have a slogan. I'd like to paint one'. I don't remember which one of us said.... 'All right, go ahead, and watch us grow'.... and the painter said.... 'You have just mentioned a wonderfully fine slogan, why not 'Alabaster, Watch Us Grow''.... and quicker than a wink, he was at work with his paint brush, and the sign went up, and has remained up ever since this time."

So, there you have it, and all we can say is that Alabaster is living up to its slogan. It will not surprise us, in years to come to see a commercial line of business firms all up and down this highway, for thats the only way, we saw, for commercial ventures to expand.

HOP COLE

About the time we left this group, we heard a well known Shelby County fellow, who formerly resided in Columbiana, hail us, and it proved to be our good friend Hop Cole, brother of Lloyd Cole, druggist in Columbiana, who owns his own drug department in Alabaster and is one of Alabaster's most enthusiastic boosters. When we left Hop, he told us the following, "I have lived in many places, but no where have I ever felt as much at home as I always do in Shelby County, seems like I have always belonged here, and I am so glad to get "back home".

And, knowing Hop as I do, I am sure this section is fortunate in having this registered Pharmacist locate permanently in Alabaster.

On and on we might go enumerating the many fine folk who make up this county and their indomitable faith in Shelby County, but, space is limited, and there are other things happening which we must tell you about. So, will you continue following me?

. . . Did you know that J. B. Williams, an educator in Birmingham for past 43 years had moved to Shelby County and has a beautiful home near Florida Short Route? Mr. Williams tells us he sold several acres to a capitalist in the Magic City a few weeks ago, who will soon build a rustic ranch-type house in our county. Sometimes I wish I had nothing to do in this newspaper business but drive around to various communities and tell you of the new folk and their ventures in this grand old county we all love so much. This would be indeed a pleasant assignment.

CHARLES R. JONES AWARDED VANDERBILT SCHOLARSHIP

Charles R. Jones resides at Jemison, Alabama. He has recently been awarded a scholarship at Vanderbilt University, but, sharing in the pride of this signal honor, are many of Mr. Jones' friends in Shelby County where he was born. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Jones of Columbiana. Charles recently graduated from Jemison High School with honors. He was a star athlete and was awarded the scholarship by Vanderbilt due to his all round performance in athletic circles for past four years in Jemison High School.

Charles is six feet, two inches tall and weighs 185 pounds. Vanderbilt is to be congratulated. Judging from what we have heard regarding Mr. Jones' football career, we regret the University of Alabama or Auburn were not sufficiently alert to keep this native Alabamian at home. However, we sincerely proffer congratulations and wish for Charles every successful achievement in Vanderbilt.

THE SALLIE CIRCLE MEETS

The Sallie Circle of the Columbiana W. M. U. met on Monday, January 21, 1952, at the home of Mrs. Ted Riley, the Circle Chairman. All Hail The Power, the W. M. U. Hymn for 1952 was sung as opening song.

Mrs. L. P. Dycus led the Devotional reading the scripture from 15th Chapter of John, followed with prayer by Mrs. L. B. Riddle. Mrs. W. B. White, Secretary and Treasurer, read the minutes and called the roll.

After the committee chairmen reports and the usual routine of business, the meeting closed with prayer led by Mrs. Noland Barnett. The hostess served refreshments to 9 members and Mrs. L. B. Riddle, President W. M. U.

JANUARY BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARIES

Last Sunday, Jane Carolyn Stone celebrated the passing of her birthday anniversary. Gloria Jean Akers came in for her share of birthday greetings January 23. M. E. Smalley, Post Commander of Columbiana American Legion, will have the good wishes of his buddies and friends offered on Thursday, January 24.

Saturday, according to the P. T. A. Calendar, Tax Assessor-Editor, Luther Fowler will receive best wishes for continued health and happiness from his host of friends and I know of no one who more sincerely deserves "Many Happy Returns" of this day that brought him our way, than this widely beloved gentleman. Sunday, "Miss Sue" Roberts and Kathreen Curlee will share honors and the traditional birthday cakes plus the candles to make the passing of a joyous birthday occasion, and in Wilmington, Delaware, January 30, surrounded by the four little Gordons, plus Ruth and Bub Gordon, Mrs. Paul O. Luck will be the lucky one, as birthday greetings will be lavishly bestowed from family and friends as they watch her puff out the candles atop her birthday cake. Gordon Spearman also has a birthday on January 30.

. . . J. W. Davidson of Birmingham, is a former Shelby County boy who made good in the big town, but whose heart interest in old friends remains as loyal as in the old days when he resided in Helena and took an active part in politics, civic, cultural and educational circles of the county. Jack came by the office Monday, and what a splendid time we had traversing the paths that led to "Used-To-Be". Jack recalled many incidents and people we had not thought of for years, but it did not take us long to assemble the memories that came up for review when he mentioned them. Naturally, Jack decided, after seeing so many new people and so many changes on Main, that he had better take the Reporter-Democrat and catch up a bit. So, this week, J. W. Davidson becomes a new subscriber, and we thank him for continued interest which prompted the subscription.

. . . High school pupils look a bit happier this week now that mid-term tests are just another memory.

DR. H. C. HOPKINS GUEST SPEAKER BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday, January 27, by special request from an appreciative congregation, Dr. H. C. Hopkins, Director of Extension Department of Howard College, will return to Columbiana to speak Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock hour and on Sunday evening at seven o'clock.

Dr. Hopkins spoke in Columbiana Baptist Church January and his message was so thoroughly enjoyed, he has been asked to return for the Sunday services.

The Choristers will sing a special arrangement of "Stand Up Stand Up For Jesus", and an arrangement of "Jesus Lover Of My Soul" by special request.

The Youth Choir will sing Sunday evening, under the direction of Bob Holliman.

'WHAT ARE YOU LIVING FOR'?

"What Are You Living For", asked the visiting pastor of the Baptist Church last Sunday? A personal, thought provoking question. The congregation had every reason to stop and think before the young ministerial student, Julius Jones, finished the morning message. This handsome young fellow is destined, in my humble opinion, to go far in his chosen field for service.

Mr. Jones is a Senior in Howard College. He will be married to the daughter of widely beloved Dr. John Buchhanon in June, and leave for Louisville Seminary for further ministerial study. Everyone enjoyed his message Sunday morning and evening.

I like the way the Baptist people are going about making their selection for a resident minister. Hearing a number of preachers, a different one each Sunday, for past several weeks, has given the congregation a wider vision, a different view point and a chance for deliberation and consideration of the welfare of this church and its future destiny, before making a decision to call one. All departments of this church should be considered before making a final choice. Only by full cooperation between minister and the various departments that make up a church, can any minister hope to succeed in the work assigned him as the leader. We are numbered among those hoping that no haste will be employed in calling a minister to this church, but that many guest speakers may come and, the best equipped one for the position finally chosen.

. . . Following an order from town authorities last week to keep all dogs off the street or they would be impounded, there was not a dog in sight as we swung along to work. However, a certain Pointer came to our house about a year ago, practically starved. We began feeding him, and he has been with us ever since. Evidently this canine had, thru instinct, some sort of premonition that he would be again a "wanderer upon the face of the earth" for we missed him Friday morning from the house, but, when we reached Main Street, Jack Armstrong, and a crew of "dog-catchers" were out to get "Scrapper" and the last we saw of them, this dog was giving them the hottest race they have ever had. Guess we shall visit the pound and find out what happened to him, but, if the owner wants this dog, we wish he would come forward and claim him. He is an expensive boarder!

WATCH YOUR STEP, BACHELORS! IT'S LEAP YEAR!

The "official" halter-shy bachelors around town, one of them may be found in his office in the Courthouse, are still one jump ahead of Dan Cupid and his little bow and arrow. But, the right "she" may come along this year, armed with a lariat so colorful he will mistake it around his shoulders for a rainbow, and topple before he realizes just what has happened to him. At any rate, Miss 1952, has an extra day this year in which to complete her conquest and have Mr.. "Hard-To-Get", "Don't Fence Me In" to Hymen's Altar verbally agreeing on that final little remark that goes like this. "Until death do us part".... Remember? Most of you do! However, there are several obstinate fellows still persistently clinging to the single blessedness path, and this, my poor dears (?) is just to remind you that it is Leap Year and you had better watch your step, or be prepared to join the throng of the "hen-pecked heroes".

. . . Mrs. P. O. Luck left Columbiana Wednesday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Gordon and family in Wilmington, Delaware.

. . . Mrs. Mehaffey of Montevallo was in town Friday and will be in Columbiana each week to pick up and deliver laundry. Will also be glad to take your Dry Cleaning in this pick up and deliver service.

. . . Judge W. W. Wallace and Harold Harlin have returned from Clay county where a non-jury term of the Circuit Court was held.

. . . Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Holland received a warm welcome back on Main Street Friday during a brief sojourn with friends. Rev. Holland is a former pastor of the Methodist Church who now resides in Birmingham and is serving the Methodist Hospitals as Chaplain. We frequently hear of the splendid work he is doing in this field for ministerial service in the Magic City, and whenever Shelby County people are hospitalized there, they invariably expect the "little minister" to call on them. No one is ever disappointed for he values the friends he made during the years he and his family resided here.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. William Clark and Gay Clark spent the week end in Andalusia and at the Greenville, Alabama Camelia Show.

. . . Misses Irene, Gertrude and Mamie Bishop have returned from a weeks visit in New Orleans, having been called there on account of the serious illness of their brother, who, we are glad to report is satisfactorily convelescing.

. . . Owners of the "Varsity" announce they will remain open each Saturday night until 9 o'clock and on Sunday afternoons from one until 6 o'clock P. M.

FROM THE MAIL BOX

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Blankenship, the proud parents of Tommy Blankenship (our Mascot for 1952) and Shelby County's first baby of the year, write us a letter asking that we express their appreciation to the merchants for the "gift for Tommy" as listed in the Reporter-Demacrat, (January 10). The Blankenships state they will make their first trip to Columbiana within the next few weeks or as soon as Tommy is about 6 weeks old. Naturally, the Blankenships are kind enough to say they are enjoying the Reporter-Democrat which announced his adoption as our "Mascot For 1952", and we shall be delighted to grant their request that we present this family to others who wanted to welcome Tommy, just as soon as they come to town. Until then, they ask that we thank all the merchants who so kindly offered a gift for "our wonderful son". They assure us the whole family is eagerly looking forward to the trip for Tommy's introduction to the "press" and to friends in Columbiana. So, be on the lookout for Shelby County's first citizen of 1952, Tommy Blankenship when he comes to town.

We assure the Blankenships a warm welcome awaits them.

. . . Dr. W. J. Terry, State Superintendent, spent Monday in Columbiana visiting the schools of Shelby County accompanied by Supt. W. W. Elliott. This was Mr. Terry's first visit to this county since being elected to the State's highest educational office, and we were delighted to have the privilege of again meeting and chatting with him.

. . . Zollie Cowart, widely known druggist of Calera, spent Thursday in Columbiana. It had been a "long-time-no see" between us, but we were delighted to have a brief chat with this friend of ours for many years during his brief sojourn on Main.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Rux Carter have moved to their new home which is one of the most attractive in Columbiana.

FROM THE OZARK MOUNTAINS

A sad accident happened in the Ozark mountains. A farmer's mule kicked his mother-in-law to death. A tremendous crowd turned out for the funeral, but it was made up mostly of men.

The minister commented. "This old lady must have been mighty popular because so many people will leave their work to come to her funeral."

"They're not here for the funeral," said the surprised farmer, "they're here to buy the mule."

Canner Prospers Small Georgia Farming Town

GIBSON, Ga.—One of the greatest factors contributing to the industrial and agricultural development of the Central Savannah River area has been the establishment of the Kent Canning Company in the community of Gibson, population 500.

The plant has not only helped to create new jobs for people of the community, but has also created a new market for farm products. It is another big boost to the program of diversified farming of the area.

The chief products canned in the area are field peas, collards, turnip greens and pimientos. In 1950 the company turned out 130,000 cases of these products.

The plants reached a peak of 190 employes during the summer months. Farmers from eight surrounding counties sell their products to the firm.

Percolator scum comes off like magic if you put slice of lemon and water inside and put the pot on to boil.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: John 3:1—21, 7:45—52; 19:38—42.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Matthew 10:32—39.

Born Again

Lesson for January 27, 1952

IN many places one often hears the expression, "born - again Christians". As a matter of fact, there are no other kinds. If a person is not born again he is not a Christian.

The first birth is of the natural self, the awakening, so to speak, to this natural world. The second birth is of the supernatural self, the awakening to the spiritual world, the beginning of "living unto God." Sometimes this new birth comes very early in life. Dr. Warfield, a very conservative theologian, used to think that the second birth might in some cases actually come before the natural birth. (See Jeremiah 1:5).

Dr. Foreman

A man may become very distinguished, may be a great scholar, and still not have been born again. Nicodemus is a case in point. He was a man who had everything, as the saying is; he was a judge in the Jewish High Court, a man both wealthy and respectable. But he had not been born again.

God Is the Life-Giver

THE English translation of John 3:7 has given many persons the idea that being born again is a duty. Now a duty is something that you ought to do, and that by your own choice you can do if you will. It's up to you. But (taking the teaching of the Bible as a whole) being born again is not a duty. It is the act of God.

What Jesus was saying (as the Greek of John 3 indicates) is that it is necessary, it is indispensable, to be born again. There can be no development, no growth, in the spiritual life unless there is somewhere the beginning of that life. You must have been born once in order to see the sunshine. You must be born again in order to see God.

The seed which we sow in field or garden must have the germ of life in it or it will never grow. But no farmer can give life to lifeless seed. God alone is the life-giver, in the first birth or in the second.

Turn; Follow

SOME people get this far in their thinking and then they become discouraged. "If only God can give life," they think, "what is the use of my trying to obey him? If God takes that first step then all I can do is to wait for him. No matter how much I want to be a Christian in my heart, I may not be able to for God may not see fit to make it possible for me to do what I want to do." This is a mistaken thought.

John Calvin, as is well known, was a very strong believer in predestination. As pastor of a large church, he had numbers of people in his congregation who heard him talking about predestination, the doctrine that we are in God's hands and that spiritual life can come only as he himself begins it in our souls.

They would ask just about this same question: I want to be a Christian, but how do I know that God has chosen me? I want to be a Christian, but how can I know whether I have been born again? Calvin's answer was a simple one: If you really want to be a Christian in your heart, that is a sign, the very best sign, that you have been born again.

Turn; Follow

IN the Bible, the commands are "Turn"; "Follow"; "Believe"; "Obey". If we have not been born again these commands fall on deaf ears. If they stir our conscience, if they make us respond, then that is a sign we have been born again.

Then can't we tell when we are born again? Certainly we can tell; just by being alive. "We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren," said the same apostle who recorded Jesus' conversation with Nicodemus.

We wish very much we knew whether Nicodemus himself was ever born again, but students of the Bible have never agreed on this. And the reason for the uncertainty is that Nicodemus never did come right out.

We know Matthew was born again because he turned his back on his former life and followed Jesus. We know that Nicodemus said some kind things about Jesus. We know that after Jesus was dead, Nicodemus came through with a handsome contribution for the funeral. Was that only late, or was it too late?

PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT OF CALERA HIGH HAS PARTY

"Country Style" was the theme of the Calera High School girls Physical Education Department's party Saturday night in the school auditorium.

Eighty-five girls and boys attended, dressed in appropriate costumes.

Miss Blanche Lucas, sponsor, said the party was an outgrowth of a teaching situation developed this fall with Sociology majors from Alabama College, Montevallo, Alabama.

Miss Lucas pointed out that among the young ladies from the College was a student from Japan and one from Germany, whom the high school students thoroughly enjoyed.

Misses Sara Maddox, Sara Goldstein, Helga Stenner, Martha Greeter, and Hiroka Oikawa came three times a week to work with them.

The pupils enjoyed rhymthics of all kinds from eight until ten-thirty.

Miss Betty Myers, Physical Education Instructor from the College led the students in th games.

The Auditorium was decorated with hay, corn stalks, wagon wheels, and old oil lanterns. Dorcas Simpson drew the murals that adorned the walls depicting the scene from the Country Style Party.

Refreshments of punch, pop corn, cookies and candy were served by the Physical Education Girls.

GMC PRESENTS THE FIRST 2½-TON DIESEL

At last—Diesel economy and hill-leveling performance come to thousands of truckers who have never had any choice but gasoline power in the past!

TODAY America's foremost builder of Diesel trucks smashes the size-weight barrier that up to now has denied the many economies of Diesel power to haulers of medium-weight loads.

Today GMC offers users of equipment in the 19,500 GVW-35,000 GCW range a sensational new Diesel truck-tractor.

It is powered by the first welterweight Diesel truck engine—a smaller, more compact model of the famous General Motors 2-cycle engine that has made GMC America's first-choice Diesel truck.

More Miles per Gallon

Because it is Diesel-powered, this new GMC Model D450-37 will cost you far less to run per mile, far less to maintain per year than any other 2½-tonner you've ever owned. All Diesel experience proves that.

Because it is a 2-cycle Diesel, it is a fast-starting, quick-accelerating, highly responsive truck with plenty of snap in traffic—a truck that will maintain a steady "on time" schedule even on hilly runs.

Fuel economy is automatic thanks to GMC's famous Fuel Modulator. Regardless of throttle pressure this engine never gets more fuel than it needs and makes the most of what it gets. Smooth driving is assured by "easy-turn" recirculating ball-bearing steering—even electric shifting on two-speed axle models.

Nationwide Service

Equally important to the thousands of truckers who can now enjoy the benefits of Diesel power for the first time, this new GMC D450-37 is backed by the nation's largest network of Diesel service stations.

Before you buy another truck, you owe it to yourself to investigate these new GMC welterweight Diesels if you want to cut costs! We will be glad to give you facts and figures that will open your eyes. Why not come in today!

FARM NEWS

MOST SEED CORN SOLD ACCORDING TO GRADE

Buyers of seed corn find that most of it is labeled according to grade. This method of handling seed corn on the market is relatively new, and farmers are often confused as to why the corn is graded and what grade they should use.

Ralph Jones, A. P. I. Extension Service seed marketing specialist, explains that more and more seed corn is made up of hybrid varieties. This situation necessitates a grading system since hybrid seed have a wider variation in seed size than open pollinated varieties. Of course in machine planting this variation in size interferes with regularity of dropping to obtain uniform stands.

"Hybrid seed corn is graded into flat and round grains, ranging in sizes from large to small," says Jones. "The size a farmer should use is based upon the grade which he can best use with his planter to give uniform stands, price and other factors being the same. In other words, there is no evidence to indicate that the sizes or shape of the kernel has any appreciable effect upon yield."

Farmers who buy Alabama certified seed will find that it is tagged to show both the grade and screen dimensions used in sizing. This additional information is given to ad farmers n selectng planter plates.

COTTON PRODUCTION GOAL SET FOR 1952

According to O. N. Andrews, A. P. I. Extension Service cotton improvement specialist, the 1952, national production goal for cotton has been set at 16,000,000 bales on 28,000,000 acres. Last year production was 15,290,000 bales from about 28,000,000 acres in cultivation on July 1.

KUDZU, A LIFESAVER

Farmers scattered throughout nearly all of Alabama found kudzu to be a lifesaver for producing grazing for all classes of livestock during the dry summer and fall of 1951.

THE TERM 'LOWLY HOG' IS A RANK INJUSTICE

It's high time to do away with the term "lowly hog", declares G. B. Phillips, A. P. I. Extension Service hog production specialist.

He explains that the story of the pig demands a big share in the progress Alabama agriculture has made. In fact, hogs rank third in importance based on the total Alabama, farm income. But those who don't know any better have ridiculed, reviled, and looked down on the hog. The statement "dirty as a pig" has become a measure of complete uncleanliness, even though the pig is, by choice, most clean. This animal is referred to as "hoggish", though he eats only what is good for him and never too much.

"Yet, cursed and not appreciated by many people," points out Phillips, "the hog, dignified and more nearly self sufficient than other domestic animals, has put folding money in the pockets of many farmers."

Growers say hogs utilize feed more efficiently than any other farm animal. Also, pork is as digestible as other meat and contains more calories per serving than any meat commonly eaten. And, whether it's any consolation to the hog or not, more people eat more pork than they do any other meat.

"For example," says the specialist, "those who use the term 'lowly hog' conveniently forget about the crisp strips of bacon, succulent slices of ham, and golden brown pork chops they have enjoyed in the past."

CLUB NEWS

H. D. CLUBS WILL TRAIN MORE LEADERS IN 1952

Shelby County Home Demonstration Clubs will train more leaders during 1952.

76 Club leaders representing 20 clubs met recently for a workshop and planning session. These leaders will be prepared to carry out effective community projects in Community Activities, Citizenship, Youth, Farm Bureau and Defense Activities. County Chairmen, Mrs. R. E. Bowdon, Jr., Mrs. A. D. Glover, Mrs. H. A. Pauly, Mrs. Frank Wyatt, Mrs. Douglas Kent, and Mrs. Joe Hodges conducted the training classes.

Features on the general program included a Devotional by Rev. A. D. Wilson, Pastor Columbiana Methodist Church, Farm Outlook for 1952 by A. A. Lauderdale, County Agent. W. Royce Morris, Agent, explained the Farm Bureau Insurance Program. "Our Challenges" was the subject of Mrs. J. Frank Baker's (President of the Alabama Home Demonstration Council) talk in reporting her recent trip to the American Farm Bureau Meeting in Chicago. "We must hold on to every bit of freedom we have by using our privilege as a citizen to vote. 1952 Is a time that we must work and pray - pray for the strength of our homes and our nation," Mrs. Baker emphasized.

Every club member will assist in promoting better attendance at club meetings and enrolling new members. All club members will give or be responsible for a pint of blood for the Red Cross Blood Bank. Clubs will continue the erection of church and community signs, mailbox improvement and the improvement of church grounds and cemeteries. Each club members is asked to sponsor a 4-H project. Clubs will subscribe to the National 4-H news for all Rural Youth Leaders. An out of County Trip is planned during National Home Demonstration Week, May 3-11. Clubs will cooperate in the contest for the Outstanding club in the county. Plans are underway for several special interest demonstrations during the year.

Those attending were: Mesdames Claude Winslett, J. J. Owens, B. W. Williams, Acton; Carlos Warren, R. E. Bowdon, Jr., Quinton Culver, Mary Childress, Curtis Lucas, S. C. Cofer, W. W. Howell, Calera; F. E. Williams, Hugh, Sims, J. H. Crawford, Frances Leonard, Columbiana; Robert Johnson, J. Frank Baker, Dargin; W. A. Jones, H. A. For a delicious luncheon dish spread toast with deviled ham and top with creamed eggs. Serve with a crunchy carrot and green pepper slaw for good texture and color contrast.

BETTY MAE McGUIRE GOES TO WORK

Let's get out our Paint buckets, put on our blue jeans and go to work. That's what Betty Mae McGuire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. McGuire, Helena, Route 1, has done.

Betty Mae, with the help of her parents has a bedroom most any girl dreams of having. They installed sheetrock, finished the seams and painted the walls, and woodwork, sanded and finished the floors, refinished 2 old oak dressers, remodelled and refinished the bed and made curtains. The yellow and white color scheme make this a cheerful and attractive room.

Betty Mae is a member of the Siluria, Senior 4-H club and lives in the Little Cahaba Neighborhood. She has been in 4-H club work 6 years.

CAROLYN SAMPLE COMPLETES SEWING PROJECT

Why not take a sewing hint or two from 4-Her Carolyn Sample. She has proved to be quite a seamstress in her 4-H sewing project.

In completing her project she has made 5 dresses, 2 skirts, a blouse, 2 pairs of shorts, a set of dish towels and a hoe bag. This does not include extra sewing she has done for her mother.

Carolyn is a member of the Calera Senior 4-H club and has been in club work four years. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Sample, Route 1, Calera.

H. D. CLUB MEETS

The Columbiana Home Demonstration Club held its first meeting of '52 in the home of Mrs. J. H. Crawford with Mrs. L. B. Riddle Cohostess on January 15th.

Sixteen members were present. Mrs. H. T. Seale and Mrs. W. H. Lee joined the club.

Mrs. F. E. Williams, new president, presided. Mrs. Barney Isbell led the group in singing the hymn "Jesus Savior Pilot Me". The classic of the month was played by Jane Isbell. The attendance prize was won by Mrs. Crawford.

Mrs. Isbell was asked to keep a scrap book for the benefit of the club.

The Demonstration, "The Band Around The Can of Food" was given by Miss Boysworth with slides.

The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Riddle, after which delectable refreshments were served by the hostess.

The meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. Francis Leonard, February 19th.

WILSONVILLE H. D. CLUB NEWS

The Wilsonville Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. Paul Smith, January 18th. Mrs. Bill Smith, president, had charge of the meeting. Reports concerning plans for the coming year were given by the president and Mrs. A. A. Thornburg, who attended the council meeting held in Columbiana.

Miss Julia Ann Boysworth, assistant Home Demonstration Agent, gave the demonstration on "The Bands Around The Cans of Foods". Slides were shown and points were brought out to help make the housewife more aware of what she was buying in the way of canned food. By reading the labels one can be sure of what he or she is buying and paying for.

Delightful refreshments were enjoyed by seventeen members. The club was especially happy to welcome Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Fincher, and Mrs. Earley into its membership.

The next meetings will be held at the home of Mrs. Barney Nichols.

Next time you're putting some fish fillets into the oven, bake some onion rings with them. Just peel and slice the onion into thin rounds, separate into rings, and arrange over the seasoned fillets. Baste the fish and the onion with a little butter or margarine during the baking.

CHEVROLET FOR '52 WINS APPROVAL

Mildred White Wallace

It was "Open House" all day Saturday in the McDow Motor Company's display rooms where the new Chevrolet for 1952 proved the center of popular approval. Jimmy McDow and B. W. Carter were faultless hosts and took pleasure in displaying the many new features this modern luxury car now has.

Perhaps the widest range of colors and combination of colors ever offered the public will be found in the new model Chevrolets. The car on display in McDow's, is a dark blue, with chrome trimming, and is truly an elegant looking car. Comfortable and roomy, but if you prefer a snazzier model, take a look at those shades of Emerald and Spring Green, or the Cherry (solid) or, the Tan and Brown, or, Blue and Gray. In fact, just call for the color you want and quick as a wink, Jimmy will flash a color card showing you just how the colors will appear when your new Chevrolet rolls up. The only thing necessary, is, of course, the "long-green" it takes to own one. If you are lucky in this respect, you won't have any trouble in getting just the color scheme you most desire, together with every comfort possible in a car within this price range.

Go by McDow's and see this car today.

STUDENTS TO HEAR DR. T. H. NAPIER

International Relations students will hear an address by Dr. T. H. Napier, Dean of Alabama College at Montevallo, at the next meeting of the organization on January the 30th. Dr. Napier's subject will be "The Communist Scare and Academic Freedom".

The International Relations Club, which meets twice a month in Reynolds dining room, seeks to acquaint students with the problems of today, and to stimulate interest in world affairs.

Organized under the Carnegie Foundation for international peace, the club has a membership of 20 students; however, interest in the vital subjects under discussion keeps the regulars atendance over the 40 mark.

Meeting areopened to other students, faculty and the community of Montevallo.

Officers for the current year include: President, Mary Alice Heaps, Birmingham; Secretary, Carol Hurt, Montevallo; Program Chairman, Peggy McCary, Mitchell Dam; Publicity Chairman, Betty Teague, Talladega; Social Chairman, Vivian Callaway, Gulf Shores.

Speakers have included: Leonard Davis, of the Speech Department, who lectured on the five years of the United Nations. Mr. Murray C. Flynn, who moderated a discussion on The Economic Aspects of European Union. Dr. Hallie Farmer, who spoke on the Political Barriers to European Union. More recent speaker was Dr. Katherine Vickery, head of the Physchology Department, who spoke on Physchology Barriers to European Union.

College International Relations Club over the State are affiliated, have semi-annual meetings and publish a regular bulletin.

PELHAM-KEYSTONE
H. D. C. MEETS

The Pelham - Keystone Home Demonstration Club held its first meeting of the year January 16 at the home of Mrs. Jessie Ozley in Saginaw, where plans were made for club activities for 1952 with 21 members and 3 visitors present. Roll call was answered with New Year's resolutions.

Report on County Council meeting was given by Mrs. Mason Cumberland and results of county training meeting given by each objective chairman who also gave plans for the local club. Following the demonstration "The band around the can of food," a social period was enjoyed with Mrs. Rebecca Robinson assisting Mrs. Ozley as hostess.

Officers of this club are: President, Mrs. Herbert Pool; Vice President, Mrs. Joe Hodges; Sec.-Treas., Mrs. Don Busby; Rural Youth, Mrs. Mason Cumberland; Community Activities, Mrs. F. L. McCoy; Citizenship, Mrs. John Butler and Mrs. Zora Dunnaway; Farm Bureau, Mrs. Kenneth Cooper.

The Pelham-Keystone club has done outstanding work in the rural youth program as is attested by the large number of 4-H local and state winners from this area and in interest in 4-H work. In addition to a continuance of this activity, plans are made to complete the mailbox improvement and to continue the roadside beautification with flower exchange begun last year, to enlist more Farm Bureau members and to urge all qualified voters to exercise this privilege.

Each objective chairman will have a committee to assist in carrying out that activity.

CHICK CHATS

WHAT ARE YOUR BROODING NEEDS

With chick time near, most poultrymen have already started thinking about and planning for the arrival of their baby chicks. Cleaning and disinfecting of brooder houses and equipment are now underway on many farms.

Although many raisers have their plans set and need little instruction as to how to go about their business, included here is some brooding information which may be of help to poultrymen going into the brooding season. This brief resume of brooding requirements should be of particular value to the beginner.

Brooder Houses

A 10 by 12-foot brooder house will take care of from 250 to 300 baby chicks. In building such a house, build it on runners so it can be moved to clean ground occasionally as a help in controlling diseases and parasites. Insulation, although not essential, does help keep the fuel costs down. Flooring can be made of two-layer wood, with building paper between the layers. The building should face toward the south with most of the windows located on the south side. One window in the west side and a door on the east will allow satisfactory air circulation during warm weather.

Brooder Stove

As for brooder stoves, there are many kinds available. Generally, 10 to 12 square inches of hover space are required for each early-hatched chick. Allowing this much space, a commodate about 200 chicks, and a hover 42 inches in diameter will ac- 52 to 60-inch hover will handle 300 chicks. For best results, do not have more than 250 to 300 baby chicks around one brooder stove.

Whether the brooder stove you choose is coal, wood, electric, or oil-burning, remember the cost of each type will vary according to the cost of the fuel in any particular section. As a precaution when using coal-and wood-burning stoves, make a frame at least six inches larger than the base of the stove and fill it with sand or dirt. By placing the stove on this, you may prevent the brooderhouse from catching fire.

Also have plenty of feed hoppers, watering utensils, and other brooding equipment on hand. Don't slight your chicks. Give them the best of care and they'll thank you with profits.

Another major vice of poultry is cannibalism. Although it may develop in a flock of any age, it is more likely to give most trouble during the growing period and pullet laying year. It can become a serious problem. At first sign of cannibalism, actquickly to control it. An anti-pick salve, used generously on picked areas of birds, is often helpful in combating cannibalism.

STATE AND COUNTY DEMOCRATS MEET

"The tumult and the shouting dies,
The captains and the kings depart;
Still stands thine ancient sacrifice,
A humble and a contrite heart;
Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget, lest we forget"—

So began an article we read recently by Rufus King of Montgomery, following the State Democratic Executive Committee meeting in Montgomery when the battle between the "Stars and Bars" and the "Stars and Stripes" took place. Mr. King says however, there is comfort for all in Kipling's immortal lines printed above.

No sooner had the "tumult and the shouting" died away in the Capital City of our state, than Karl C. Harrison, Chairman of the Shelby County Democratic Committee called members of this organization together.... Tuesday morning, January 29th, to be exact, and old and new candidates were observed greeting their friends and sponsors, and lining up their plans for "active campaigns" for important key positions in our county, which prompts us to say this to our candidate-friends. We are taking your official announcements as they come in, and giving a personal sketch of each candidate in the order in which they are received. Space is limited each week ,and we hope you will be patient with this writer, who has been assigned the task of "covering the candidates" in these articles. We assure you no partiality will be shown thru these columns, and each candidate, will, as far as facts and figures are concerned... receive our "best foot forward" attempt.

So, each week, at least for the next several weeks, you may expect to read about these "men of the hour" and their ambitious dreams for the future.

WELFARE LIST ON FILE IN PROBATE OFFICE

The names of citizens in Shelby County receiving aid from the Welfare Department are now on file in the Probate Judge's Office. They are not to be published, but are available to those interested in seeing them.

State Director Bill Dorrough says that 253 persons have requested their names to be removed from public assistance rolls rather than have them made public, and 108 asked that their welfare checks be stopped but gave no specific reasons.

BACHELORS, BETTER STAY AWAY FROM GEORGIA

The State Legislature's House committee on public welfare has sent to the floor a bill which would, if passed, require "all bachelors and old maids over 35 years of age to pay $100 tax annually".

One bachelor stated when he heard about this, that perhaps the reason he had not taken the plunge, was because he did not have the $100. We reminded him that marriage licenses are obtainable for only $2.00 but, he did not take the hint, or hasn't.... yet.

M. E. SMALLEY TO LEAVE FOR FT. PAYNE, FEBRUARY 11

Congratulations are mingled with regrets as we learn that the M. E. Smalleys will leave Columbiana February 11, to accept a promotion offered Mr. Smalley by Brown-Service, which will take him to Ft. Payne, Alabama, where he will assume the responsibility as Superintendent of this area. Mr. and Mrs. Smalley have made a host of friends since moving to Columbiana. They have taken an active part in community life, and Mr. Smalley has been a tireless worker in the American Legion organization. He is Post Commander of the Columbiana Chapter.

So, it is Ft. Payne's gain, as the Smalleys leave, but a host of friends join us in extending congratulations and best wishes for their future success in this larger field for development in his chosen work.

Demo Executive Committee Met Here Monday

The Executive Committee of the Democratic party of Shelby County met at the court house Tuesday morning at the call of Chairman Karl C. Harrison. There was a good attendance, fifteen of the 21 beats being represented. A good many visitors from different parts of the county also came to the meeting.

Following the roll call the committee filled some vacancies from different beats by electing to temporary membership, the following:

Beat 6, Louie R. Cates, Helena.

Beat 10, J. W. Donahoo, Harpersville.

Beat 13, J. A. Farley, Helena R I

Beat 17, L. P. Wilson, Siluria R I.

Brief tributes were paid to two members of the committee who since the last meeting had passed to their reward; Dr. J. C. Embry, Vincent, for many years a faithful member from Beat 16 and Carl H. Wyatt, Siluria Rt. I, a member from Beat 21. Appropriate resolutions were voted by the committee, to be published later and furnished to members of the respective families.

Following the usual order of business the meeting was opened for prospective candidates to speak. A. L. Crumpton of Ashville, Paul O. Luck and Frank Head of Columbiana spoke briefly each announcing that he would be a candidate for Circuit Judge.

Homer J. Walton of Columbiana, Owen Bridges of Montevallo and Judge L. C. Walker of Columbiana announced that they would become candidates for the office of Probate Judge.

Other offices to be filled in the elections this year are: Circuit Clerk, Members of the Board of Revenue and Control from Districts 1 and 3, and two members of the Board of Education.

Members of the Committee who came to Columbiana to attend the meeting were: Beat 1: Cecil Duke, A. B. Bristow, W. R. Carter. Beat 2: E. S. Pearson, Orin Pearson. Beat 3: A. E. Norwood, R. E. Bowdon, Jr. Beat 4: J. K. Cunningham, S. M. Mahan. Beat 5: Claude O. Lambert. Beat 6: T. R. Nash, T. S. Wallace. Beat 8: H. T. Holcombe. Beat 9: O. F. Lokey, Neal Crumpton. Beat 10: J. H. Thompson. Beat 11: J. E. Shelton, J. W. Shaw, W. H. Ray. Beat 12: J. M. Denson, N. L. Cross. Beat 13: J. P. Lee, Ernest McLaughlin. Beat 16: S. E. McGraw. Beat 17: Tom Lee. Beat 20: John

DR. HOPKINS TO SPEAK HERE SUNDAY

The Baptist Church will hold special services Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock hour, in honor of the four Chaplains who died when their ship was torpedoed.

Dr. Hopkins of Howard College, who has endeared himself to the members and friends of this church, will return and the Choristers will sing special numbers in observance of this occasion.

All veterans urged to attend the church of their faith.

NOTICE

To all people 65 years old and older, we will have our regular monthly meeting at the Courthouse, 10 A. M. Please be present. Mr. J. L. Carter will be with us.

—Secretary

QUALIFICATION DATE FOR CANDIDATES ANNOUNCED

The last day a candidate may qualify for the office he will seek has been fixed by the Shelby County Democratic Executive Committee for March 1st.

W. M. U. HOLDS QUARTERLY MEETING IN CALERA

The Shelby County W. M. U. held its January Quarterly meeting with the Calera Baptist Church in their beautiful new building, which has almost been completed. This fine church, under the leadership of Rev. Joe Anglin, is making rapid progress in the Kingdom work. Mrs. Marvin Jones is President of the W. M. U. The wonderful hospitality helped to make this meeting one of the very best.

ALABAMA COLLEGE TO HONOR ALUMNAE

Alabama College will be host to some 400 Alumnae at its Homecoming on February 22-23. Activities will include the usual meetings and a luncheon to honor the Alumna-of-the-Year.

Alumnae will attend Friday and Saturday night performances of Colloge Night famed musical, dramatic review of the students. Graduates and former students may register in Reynolds Hall, student union building, on Saturday or in Palmer Foyer before the college night performances.

On Saturday there will be four class reunions. They include the fifth reunion of the class of 1947; tenth reunion of the class of 1942; silver anniversary of the class of 1927; and the golden anniversary of the class of 1902.

At 9:00 a. m. Saturday, the Executive Board and Alumnae Council will have a joint meeting in Reynolds Hall, followed by an Alumnae luncheon honoring the Alumnae-of-the-Year, which will be held at 1:00 p. m. in the New Dining Room.

Co-chairmen of Homecoming activities are Willilee Reaves Trumbauer and Eloise Lee, Alumnae Secretary.

The Alumnae-of-the-Year will be guest of honor at the luncheon of Saturday and will be presented with a trophy.

COLLEGE NIGHT AT MONTEVALLO COLLEGE

Here it comes again, one of the most exciting of all collegiate spectacles... College Night.

For the 33rd year at Alabama College at Montevallo, Purples and Golds will vie with each other to present the best in music, drama and staging.

College Night, an all student production, is scheduled for Feb. 21st, 22 and 23, and is the culmination of four weeks' creative activity by the Purples and the Golds, the two sides into which the entire student body is divided.

College Night presents the singing voices, the writing talent, the dramatic efforts of the whole school. Each side offers a complete production, and a corps of judges makes a final decision on Saturday night. On that night, too, the Alumna of the year is presented for Homecoming has become a part of the College Night tradition.

Activity begins with the selection of a leader and an assistant leader for each side. These leaders choose cabinets and the work begins. Faculty and administration have no part in the big event other than serving as advisors. Even publicity is in the hands of a student committee.

LLOYD COLE COUNTY'S MAN OF THE YEAR

Mildred White Wallace

A committee, composed of unbiased citizens, was recently selected by the official staff of the Reporter-Democrat, to choose from the nominations received in the office, "Shelby County's Man Of The Year", for 1951. It gives us great pleasure to announce to our readers this week, the winner, Lloyd Cole, popular pharmacist, philanthropist of Columbiana.

George Sand once said: "There is but one virtue, the eternal sacrifice of self". This statement might well have been inspired by the life of Lloyd Cole, as revealed by dozens of letters received recommending him for this signal honor. Certainly, it can never be said of Lloyd Cole, that "a prophet is not without honor save in his own country", for these letters containing indisputable testimonials all cited various instances typifying the character of this highly respected citizen of our town.

The names of several prominent personalities were also submitted for consideration by the committee. Men who were outstanding in the successful realization of their individual ambitions. Some, have scaled the heights, and reaped monetary reward for their efforts. And these gentlemen certainly merit our admiration for achieving their respective goals, but, in every instance, the facts related, pertained only to "personal accomplishment and personal gain"..... As a basic qualification for our "Man Of The Year"..... "unselfish service to others" is an essential requirement. Therefore, we ask Lloyd Cole, our "Man Of The Year" for 1951, to step right up and take his place among other "Men of the Years" gone by, whom it has been our privilege to honor, namely: Dr. James H. Crawford, the Rev. T. K. Roberts, Senator J. T. Phillips, A. A. Lauderdale, W. L. Christian, and Miss Mary Peters (the only woman who has ever received this award).

Knowing "Doc" Cole, as we do, we believe he will be the most surprised fellow in the county who will read this "late news flash", for, we have never known a more modest, unassuming gentleman, nor one who has more unobtrusively, without fanfare and publicity, assisted more worthy undertakings and causes, than the above named gentleman. He is the living example of the "Magnificent Obsession". He believes in lending a helping hand, when and wherever needed, but, with no "personal mention" of same.

Let's read, in part, one of the letters received regarding Mr. Cole's qualifications for this county-wide honor. We quote: "No man in Shelby County has more untiringly devoted his entire life to others, than Lloyd Cole. In addition to his well known devotion and loyalty to his home and family ties, he served this community for many years as the only registered Pharmacist in this section of the county, and at all times, day or night, answered the numerous calls that came to his friendly door and willingly hastened to help those in need. He has never failed to give generously of his time and money to churches, schools and other uplifting influences in community life. He is a man of high ideals, and lives up to them every day of his life" etc. This letter was signed by dozens of friends and neighbors who have observed his daily life since he came to Columbiana many years ago.

In addition to the above stated facts, Mr. Cole is a member of the Masons; a Shriner, and active member in the Columbiana Baptist Church. Recently, he was elected to serve Shelby County as a Member of the Shelby County Board of Education.

The writer does not think it amiss to mention a few facts regarding the personal life of Lloyd Cole, so worthy of emulation.

Following the death of his wife, (Margaret Carter Cole), Mr. Cole's responsibilities became greater. However, he shouldered them with unusual courage. He has practically, single-handed reared, cared for, and educated his two children, Mrs. Charles Allen (Margaret Cole) who is a graduate of A. P. I., and Denton Cole, now a Senior in Auburn. Perhaps, the zenith of happiness came to "Doc" Cole, when his adorable little grand-daughter, Deborah Allen, was placed in his arms. Since that time, an additional rainbow of happiness has surrounded his heart and home and his life centers around visits this little "Queen of Hearts" makes when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen "come home" for a visit.

All of these circumstances, facts and friendly tributes, we know were taken into consideration by the judges, before the final unanimous decision was handed us, and the best part about the final tabulation, is, that Lloyd Cole richly deserves this recognition so generously accorded him by his fellow-countians. We proudly present him as our distinguished "Man Of The Year", your friend and mine, "Doc" Cole, and with the presentation go our thanks to the "judges" and congratulations to them upon their selection.

SAM A. LOKEY, CHAPLAIN LEGION POST ISSUES CALL 'FOR GOD AND COUNTRY'

Sunday, February 3, 1952, commemorates the anniversary of the fateful day on which the immortal Four Chaplains, the Rev. George L. Fox, Protestant, the Rev. Clark V. Poling, Protestant, the Rev. John P. Washington, Catholic, and Rabbi Alexander D. Goode, Jewish, gave their lives when the U. S. Transport Dorchester was torpedoed in the North Atlantic.

At the 33rd National Convention of The American Legion a resolution was passed calling for the recognition of this historic and inspiring event by observing this date, or the Sunday immediately preceding or following it, as "Go To Church Sunday" throughout our nation, and encouraging and urging our people to attend the church of their choice and pray to God to hasten the day of enduring peace.

Mr. Lokey, Chaplain of the American Legion Post in Columbiana, urges that Sunday, February 3, be observed in the churches throughout Shelby County and also that every member of the American Legion Posts throughout the county attend the church of their faith.

Mr. Lokey joins Donald R. Wilson, National Commander's plea for observance of this historic occasion and says:

"'For God and Country' The American Legion was dedicated, and those are the words we should ever live by.

"It is fitting that we of The American Legion who have fought together in three wars should pray together today, and that we should implore the people of our nation to join with us in an appeal for Divine Guidance in one of the dark hours of our country's history.

"Need for a spiritual reawakening of our people was never more clearly manifested than now, with the world in a struggle between those who believe in God and freedom and those who believe in Godlessness and slavery.

"In recognition of the supremacy of God lies the security of our nation and the peace of mind of its people.

"We can prove our love of God and Country by our everyday behavior and appreciation of the fact that, despite the present darkness of fear in the world, there is Divine Guidance if we will but seek it.

"We have a glorious heritage as citizens of America and children of God, and I therefore most fervently urge The American Legion and The American Legion Auxiliary to spearhead a spiritual call to arms, a back-to-God and back-to-Church movement whereby we all may be made aware of the necessity for daily prayer for Divine Guidance in these troubled times.

"I urge the Chaplain and Commander of every American Legion post and the President and Chaplain of every Auxiliary unit to make every effort to arange appropriate services in the churches of their communities on the designated date. I hope that these services will be the beginning of a continuing movement of church attendance every Sunday and prayer to God every day.

Failthfully yours,
Sam A. Lokey"

Homer Walton Candidate For Probate Judge

MILDRED WHITE WALLACE

There will likely be, several potent contenders for the top political plum in Shelby County, namely, the office of Judge of Probate, before the final day for qualifying for same has ended, but this fact will remain true, regardless of the final tabulation of votes proclaiming the winner. Homer J. Walton, prominent merchant, Funeral Director, and Ex-Mayor of Columbiana, is the first candidate to officially announce his candidacy thru the columns of the Reporter-Democrat.

Mr. Walton admits he is a new comer in the political arena of the county, but he is certainly no stranger to a host of friends who have expressed interest in his decision to make the race for this highest position in our county government. Mr. Walton was born and reared in Shelby County and "proud of it". He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Walton of Columbiana. He received his childhood educational advantages in Columbiana schools, graduating from Shelby County High School in 1920. Following graduation he entered the University of Alabama and enrolled in the School of Commerce. After several years in the University, Mr. Walton entered the Gupton-Jones College of Embalming, and following graduation from this institution, Mr. Walton returned to Columbiana to engage in the practice of his chosen profession, and owned and operated the Walton Funeral Home, now operated under the name of Walton-Bolton Funeral Home in Columbiana. Mr. Walton is at present, associated with his father, T. R. Walton, in the Hardware and Furniture business. Homer Walton is a public spirited business man. He has had many years experience as an executive in Road and Bridge Building and in Contracting and Construction work. He served Columbiana efficiently as Mayor of the town for eight years. Preceding this honor, conferred on him by his fellow townsmen, Mr. Walton served for six years as a Member of the Town Council.

During these fourteen years of civic service, several miles of curb, gutter and paving, was placed throughout the town and new sewer lines were laid. During Mr. Walton's term as Mayor of Columbiana, the town's financial status steadily improved and the progress the town made during his tenure of office, stands today a credit to Mr. Walton's executive ability.

In 1950, Mayor Wales W. Wallace Jr., appointed Mr. Walton, Chairman of the Columbiana Housing Authority. This was the year the Housing Authority was organized. At the present time 60 units of this project are approximately 80 per cent completed.

Mr. Walton is a charter member of the Kiwanis Club of Columbiana and is an active and enthusiastic member. He is President of the Shelby County High School Alumni Association.

In 1932, Mr. Walton and Miss Zera King of Troy, Alabama, were married. Miss King, at this time was Supervisor of Shelby County Schools. They have one son, Homer J. Walton Jr.

In presenting the candidates as they come forward each week, the writer is glad that no formal introduction is necessary. The aspirants for various official positions are all widely known gentlemen, your friends and mine, therefore, it becomes a very happy privilege just to recall some of the activities they have engaged in during the past years, and some, at the present time, as we lay before you... the electorate, their qualifications for the position they seek. Then, on May 6, with these facts and figures before you, when the Democratic Primary Election is held, an enlightened electorate may go to the polling places and register their individual preference by making a cross mark by the name of the candidate whom they believe best qualified to serve them.

It is an honor, therefore, to place before you, at this time, this brief sketch of Homer J. Walton, who seeks the privilege of serving you as Probate Judge of Shelby County.

ON THE FARMS IN SHELBY COUNTY

B. F. Hatchett and G. C. Starcher

Mr. Ned Bearden, Helena dairyman, is enthusiastic about his test planting of the S. C. S. strain of Rescue grass. He feels that rescue grass is more promising than some of our most successful annual winter grazing crops. On his farm it is growing extra well and has stood the freezes this year without injury.

Vincent's vocational agricultural teacher, Edward L. Lansford, took all his students to the M. B. Bates cattle farm to see land reclamation in progress and to see practically the complete list of winter grazing combinations best suited for their area: Crimson clover with rescue, crimson clover with oats, crimson clover with ryegrass, rescue on sericea, and Ky. 31 Fescue with ladino clover.

Conservation farm plans have arrived for delivery to Leon Baker, Fred Harris, Ross Clyde, and Albert Eager, of Columbiana, Siluria, Chelsea, and Westover.

The Mason pond at South Calera will be under construction this week. Farmers who live nearby and need bulldozer work to speed up conservation practices may be able to secure this machinery while it is in the vicinity.

R. E. Brannon, whose large planting of Ky. 31 fescue was nipped by a severe freeze just at it sprouted, reports a fair stand is on the ground now.

A letter from S. C. S. engineer Sanders tells us he will be here soon to assist in planning a difficult dam for Mr. Ling, Chelsea. Cooperators of the Soil Conservation District can be assured experts will be called in if their problems present more than usual difficulties!

Get-Rich-Quick Fever Hits Pennsylvania Town

RENOVO, Pa. — The 3,700 residents of Renovo have the "get-rich-quick" fever and have gone into the natural gas business.

The unfortunate thing about the fever is that it has turned old friends into enemies, legal battles are flaring over long-settled property, and money and strangers are pouring into the community.

It started when Dorcie Calhoun, convinced that there was natural gas under his father's farm, secured the backing of his neighbors and drilled a well. The result was one of the greatest gas strikes ever in the eastern United States.

After that first well "came in" in January, 1950, there has been a wild boom to obtain land. Five years ago $10,000 could have bought all of the hamlet of Kettle Creek. Only recently a firm paid a $20,000 bonus just for a lease giving the right to drill a well there.

So far more than 100 wells have been sunk or are being drilled at a cost of approximately $60,000 each. Of the 69 operations completed, 45 are producing an estimated half-billion cubic feet of natural gas daily.

In cash, that is about $125,000 each 24 hours.

Three pipe lines take out the natural fuel. Another one is being built at a cost of $9 million.

Calhoun's strike, financied by a remarkable cross-section of people in the area, caught the big gas companies flat-footed.

The Old Register Building, SW corner of Royal and St. Michael Sts., in Mobile, was completed about 1809. It was first used as an inn by Louis de Mouy. Here Lafayette was entertained during his tour of Alabama in 1825. Known until 1870 as the Lafayette House, it was occupied by the Mobile Register, until the newspaper moved to the Bedsole Building in 1932.

Telephone Service is Growing, too and the cost is up far less than prices in general!

"LADIES" already! My, how they have grown! And you can say the same for Alabama's telephone service.

IN JUST FIVE years in Alabama, the number of telephones you can call has more than doubled.

BEST OF ALL, the price of this bigger, better "package" of service has gone up on the average far less than prices in general . . . and less than our cost of providing the service.

ALWAYS a bargain, telephone service is today an even better buy than it was ten years ago, and a smaller part of the family budget.

BURIAL ALLOWANCE

A number of widows or next of kin of recently buried servicemen may not be aware that they are entitled to Govt. burial allowances for expenses incurred to the interment of the deceased. The Government allows expenses up to $75, where burial is in a National Cemetery, and up to $125 where burial is in a civilian or private cemetery. If expenses exceed this amount, they must be born by the person who arranged the funeral. However, it is very rare that exepenses exceed what the Government allows.

Some of the items which are recognized as. Expenses include: hearse hire from railroad station to home, funeral home ,church, or cemetery; vaults, clergyman's fees, car for carrying the immediate family to and from the cemetery, professional services of the funeral director, grave site and the opening and closing of the grave. The military escort accompanying the body to its final resting place explains all of this to the funeral director or the next of kin. However,there are some expenses which may be incurred which may escape notice. In the event the person making the final arrangements pays the funeral director, then that person is entitled to the refund. If the undertaker is not paid, then he makes his own claim for reimbursement.

BRIGHTEN UP THAT SOILED UMBRELLA

Umbrellas that become dingy or spotted with soil can usually be cleaned at home with a soapsuds shampoo.

"Before washing," says Levice Ellis, A. P. I. Extension Service clothing specialist, "open the umbrella and brush the fabric with a clothes brush to remove loose dust or dry mud. Grease spots should be sponged with a cleaning fluid."

She points out that the bathtub is a convenient place to wash, rinse, and dry an umbrella. Hold the open umbrella over the tub and go over the outside with a soft brush dipped in thick, lukewarm suds of mild soap. Handle and wash umbrella gently to avoid strain on the stretched fabric.

"An easy way to rinse the umbrella," reveals Miss Ellis, "is to hold it under a spray of lukewarm water from the shower. Leave the umbrella open and stretch while it dries."

Invitation For Bids

THE HOUSING AUTHORITY OF THE TOWN OF COLUMBIANA, ALABAMA, will receive bids for the furnishing of all labor, materials, equipment, and services required for the construction of JACK CAMPBELL APARTMENTS, Rural Non-Farm Housing Project No. Ala. 72-2 six (6) dwelling units, including utilities, site development, lawns and planting, at its office in the Gordon & White Building, Main Street, Columbiana, Alabama, until 2:00 P. M. Central Standard Time on the 28th day of February, 1952, at which time and place all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Proposed forms of Contract Documents, including plans and specifications, are on file at the office of The Housing Authority of The Town of Columbiana, Alabama, and at the office of the Architect at 104 St. Joseph St. Mobile, Alabama and at the Atlanta Builders Exchange, 163 Harris Street, Atlanta, Georgia, and at the Birmingham Builders Exchange, American Life Building, Birmingham, Alabama.

Copies of the documents may be obtained by depositing $25.00 with the Local Authority for each set of documents so obtained. Such deposit will be refunded to each person who returns the plans, specifications and other documents in good condition within ten (10) days after the opening of bids, $12.50 per set will be refunded; $12.50 per set being retained by the Local Authority to cover cost of production.

All plans and specifications will remain the property of the Local Authority. All applications for plans, specifications and bid documents shall be submitted to the Local Authority, on the applicant's business letterhead, containing telephone number and mailing address of the principal place of business.

A certified check or bank draft, payable to the Housing Authority of the Town of Columbiana, Alabama, U. S. Government Bonds, or satisfactory bid bond executed by the bidder and acceptable sureties in an amount equal to five (5) percent of the bid shall be submitted with each bid.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish and pay for satisfactory performance bond and labor and material bond each in the amount of 50 % of the contract price, on the forms included in the specifications.

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum salaries and wages as set forth in the specifications must be paid on this project.

Attention is called to the 1940 Code of Alabama Title 46, Section 65 requiring persons submitting bids for work involving ten thuosand dollars or more, to show satisfactory evidence of license as a General Contractor. Form of Bid and envelopes containing Bids shall be clearly marked in upper right hand corner with the General Contractor's License number.

The Housing Authority of the Town of Columbiana, Alabama, reserves the right to reject any and all bids or to waive any informalities in the bidding.

No bid shall be withdrawn for a period of thirty (30) days subsequent to the opening of bids without the consent of the Housing Authority of the Town of Columbiana, Alabama.

A SURGICAL OPERATION

A friend of ours who operates a filing station had an opportunity the other day which he had been awaiting for years. His physician came in with a flat tire. Our friend diagnosed the doctor's trouble as "puncture wounds resulting in prolapsed perimeter." He prescribed "plastic surgery followed by a complete treatment with inflatus windus". Then he charged him accordingly.

MOTHERS MARCH AGAINST POLIO THURSDAY, JANUARY 31

Mothers throughout the nation will pool their efforts, and in a concerted forward march, will stage a mammoth parade Thursday afternoon, January 31. The Vignette Club members will lead the parade in Columbiana. Popular little Steve Pierce, who is a victim of Polio, and has been greatly benefited thru the March of Dimes, is the sponsor for this Club. And, what a lovable sponsor he is! We feel sure this impressive group will certainly loosen your heart and purse-strings, and generous donations will be cheerfully and promptly tendered these altrustic workers, led by Virginia Fowler, Chairman for the Polio Drive.

Do not forget to leave your light burning on the front porch Thursday evening, for this will be a signal that funds for polio victims will be handed to the solicitors for this humanitarian cause.

A Square Dance will mark the final wind-up of this campaign sponsored by the Vignette Club of Columbiana at the High School on the evening of February 2, Cofer Band playing for the evening's entertainment.

You are urged to dig down deep for this cause, and do your part toward helping these little victims who are depending on you for their future welfare and improvement.

STEVE PIERCE AGE 4 TO AID 'MARCH OF DIMES'

Steve Pierce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pierce in Columbiana is only four years old.... but as gallant a lad as you will ever meet. He is a victim of Polio.... and has been, since he was twenty months old.

Following the attack, his parents took him to several hospitals in the state, but it was months, before his case was finally diagnosed as Polio. He now makes regalar trips to Warm Springs, Georgia, where braces are changed and adjustments made which enable him to walk.... Doctors at this foundation do not hold out hope for complete recovery, but believe, his condition can, and will be helped, so that, Steve can lead a reasonably normal life in later years.

Now, Mr. and Mrs. Pierce and Steve, want to do their part toward making the March of Dimes a success and Steve is going to lead the "Parade of Mothers", Thursday, seated high on the "big red fire truck", which ride, his dad tells me is a high spot on Steve's calendar of activities for Thursday afternoon.

In talking with Mr. Pierce, Monday afternoon, he said that one visit to Warm Springs, Georgia, where patients suffering from Polio are cared for, would convince any skeptical person regarding the need for this "March of Dimes" now on throughout the nation. Instances of various forms of paralysis resulting from Polio, recounted to us, certainly brought to our attention the urgent need for money to carry forward this research work and help defray the expenses necessary for the maintenance of this institution.

The helplessness of little children afflicted with this dread malady is heart breaking. Certainly no call is more urgent than this challenge now before you.

I think Mr. and Mrs. Pierce are being wonderful to allow Steve to enter this drive.... and Steve has a host of friends in this community who will gladly share their dollars and dimes so that eventually, (we hope), all little children who have Polio, will profit by this assistance so generously offered by the Pierce family. Remember the words, "In as much as ye have done it unto the least of these.... ye have done it unto me"? Give generously! Won't you?

. . . Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Jackson and daughter, Miss Jean Jackson of Gadsden, spent the week end with their parents, Judge and Mrs. L. B. Riddle.

MARCH OF DIMES

FIGHT

JANUARY 2-31

. . . Congratulations to Elizabeth Hunt, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Hunt, who has accepted a position at Camp Polk, Louisana, as Librarian. Miss Hunt has recently held a position in Columbia, South Carolina, but will resume her work as librarian in Camp Polk, where her distinguished Dad (Major Ralph Hunt), was stationed for several years during World War Two. The new position, we learn carries not only a nice promotion, but a thousand dollar raise in salary, and brother, that "aint hay".

(So, it's best wishes Ma Cherie. We are proud of you!)

. . . Virus X continues cluttering up the community and several victims remain captive due to this disease, known only as Virus X.

. . . Regret to learn that our good friend George Rogers, Birmingham attorney, has been in a car wreck, and hospitalized from the injuries. His car collided with a steer, when they decided to cross the highway at the same time, when the attorney was returning from a legal battle in Albertville, back to his home in Birmingham, in answer to a phone call from his wife, who had received an annonymous threat that their home was scheduled for a bombing. What are we coming to in erswhile peaceful Alabama?

. . . An R. F. C. representative came to Columbiana Wednesday for a conference with Mayor W. W. Wallace Jr., relating to our loan applied for which would give this community natural gas. Hope it is approved.

. . . Thanks a trillion to Mrs. Purnie Hendricks of Greenville, Alabama; Lucille Jackson of Siluria, the Gulf States Paper Corporation of Tuscaloosa for renewal subscriptions the morning mail brought in.

. . . Clyde Adams, a likable fellow from Chelsea, was a refreshing visitor in our office Wednesday morning.

. . . Have you travelled the Shelby Road recently. Much improvement is being made on this Highway, which, eventually, we hope will be extended to the Steel Bridge, where Chilton County folk, will, perhaps, join us and complete the circle leading into Highway 31, and on in to the Capital City. That would be a fine thing to happen during this eventful, history making year 1952.

. . . R. E. Bodwon Jr., alert and progressive Mayor of Calera, and Cecil Cowart, widely known druggist and business man, were among the friends who called to say "Hello" in our office Tuesday, when they attended the meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee.

. . . Hon. A. L. Crumpton, prominent attorney of Ashland was a visitor in our office Tuesday. Mr. Crumpton states he will toss his hat in the ring from Clay County, as a candidate for the office of Circuit Judge.

. . . Is that old 1951 license plate still on the front of your car? If so, better remove it, as it is not only unnecessary, but a violation of the law. Only one auto tag is essential for "happy motoring".

. . . Vera McClain, blind student from Alabama College, delighted the Vignettes at their last meeting when she came as a guest speaker. Not only was Miss CcClain an inspiration, but a most engaging personality which will not soon be forgotten.

. . . Stanley Chesser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Chesser, of Chelsea, celebrated the passing of his birthday anniversary Monday evening, when his parents entertained members of his class with a Dinner Party in Lloyd's Drive In. Stanley was 13 years old, and, visitors dining in this popular restaurant tell us that merriment reigned supreme, with plenty of Boogie music to pep up the tempo.

WARD-BLEVINS ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED IN MONTEVALLO

EVELYN LEE WARD

Miss Ward is the daughter of the late Dr. Ward, former Professor of Modern Languages at Alabama College. She is a graduate of Montevallo High School and Alabama College at Montevallo, where she was elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, president of Alpha Lamba Delta and Sigma Alpha Sigma, and a member of Kappa Pi, honorary fraternities.

Lieutenant (junior grade) Blevins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bell Blevins of Calera. He is a graduate of Phillips High School in Birmingham, attended Marion Institute and Alabama Polytechnic Institute, and graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, in June 1946. He has served in destroyers, Atlantic Fleet and Atlantic Amphibious Force and had duty in Fighter Squadron THIRTY-THREE in both Atlantic and Pacific waters, including a combat tour in the Korean Theatre where he was awarded the Air Medal and two gold stars. Lieutenant junior grade Blevins is currently based in Sanford, Florida.

Plans for the wedding are to be announced.

. . . Do not fail to answer the cordial invitation issued by Mrs. Julius Barrett in Calera, to join in an "Open House" in honor of her one year old son, who is a Polio patient, at their home in Calera. We think the parents of these little sufferers are doing a magnanimous act in helping this March of Dimes cause, and they deserve a special vote of thanks from everybody. We are, of course, speaking of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pier)ce of Columbiana, whose son, Steve, will lead the March of Dimes Parade in Columbiana Thursday, and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Barrett of Calera, whose one year old son will greet his friends on his birthday and receive contributions which will go to help other victims of Polio. Give and give generously, please.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Riddle Jr., and son Regneil Riddle of Birmingham were week end visitors in the home of their parents. Regneil has completed his Freshman Year at Howard College and has entered in his sophmore year and is majoring in Pharmacy.

. . . A press release just read states, "Telephone rates in Alabama will go up an average of from 15 per cent to 20 per cent next month". If and when this happens, there will be less talking over Herr Bell's trick invention, as far as we are concerned. "Talk is far from cheap", at the present rate, and it will be simply a luxury, and a "urgent call' when we pick up our receiver, from next month on!

. . . Pfc. James O. Brasher was seen on Main last Monday greeting friends and former classmates. James is now stationed in Germany and was on leave from military assignment due to the critical illness of his mother, Mrs. Cleve Brasher, who is in an hospital in Georgia. James came in to see me and said he did not believe he could have "stood it", without The Reporter-Democrat, which has never failed to reach him since he subscribed for it before leaving for over seas duty.

. . . W. B. Ozley of Siluria Rt was in town last Wednesday with his handsome young grand-son, Gary Burfield, whose gallant Dad is in service in this all out fight for maintenance of our "Freedom". Little Gary is 17 months old, but is one of the most widely travelled manikins we know anything about, due again to military maneuvers. He has been in California, Florida, Texas, and has now come to Alabama, where he will remain until "further orders from Uncle Sam" which will affect his whereabouts in the future. However, Gary did not seem a bit worried over the situation. He was clothed in a becoming corduroy outfti, and "Grand-Dad Ozley" had him cuddled closely in his arms when he came by our office Wednesday to renew his subscription to the "home paper".

. . . Jack Ozley from Calera was our next visitor Monday morning, and carried out his resolution for 1952, one of them, and presto, his name went up in our ever widening circle of weekly readers. It was good to chat with Jack during his short visit with us, and we were delighted, to hear our cherished friend, R. E. Bowdon, Sr., was "feeling fine again". That will be good news to every one who knows "Mr. Bob".

A TRIBUTE

The community and county lost a valuable citizen and friend in the recent passing of Mrs. Anna Lee Wyatt who passed away on January 15. Born on November 13, 1903, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moore, at Westover, her life was dedicated to the service of her community.

Mrs. Wyatt attended high school at Columbiana and graduated from Jacksonville State Teachers College. She attended Southern College and Howard College, Birmingham. She was an ardent enthusiast in her field of work and though in poor health for several years remained in her work; she collapsed while at work and died about 30 minutes later. For nine years she has been a teacher in the Shelby County Schools serving as principal in the Harpersville Elementary School and at the time of her death was teaching in the Vincent Consolidated School.

Her religious activities will always be a monument to her way of life; she always had time for her church and its work. She served as president of the Missionary Society, taught the ladies Bible class and was pianist at the Harpersville Baptist Church. For years she directed the daily vacation Bible School.

Mrs. Wyatt excelled as a wife and mother always provided with loving care for the needs of her family. She is survived by her husband, Ernest Wyatt, a daughter, Helen Curtiss, and two sons, Kenneth and William. The many friends of hers extend to the family sincere sympathy over this recent loss but we know she is at rest and her influence and goodness will live after her for years to come.

—A Friend

. . . Friends of Elgin and Leon Pope, former residents of Wilsonville, extended them a warm welcome during their short visit in Columbiana Saturday. They are the sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Pope who, for many years resided in Wilsonville and were prominently identified in Mercantile business circles.

. . . Mrs. Rosa McDanal thoughtfully came by today and renewed her loyalty to Shelby County's leading newspaper for which courtesy we say, "Thanks a million"....

Television

Small Towns on List

BILOXI, Miss. — Small cities are next in line for television stations, Wayne Coy, chairman of the federal communications commission, said in a recent speech at Biloxi.

He did not know when the TV freeze would end, however.

"Generally speaking. 'Small City, America', will get new stations first," he said. "But even these grants will be slow because of a very limited FCC staff."

He also said he was firmly convinced of the desirability of the use of television by educational institutions, but was concerned about the ability of institutions to get the wherewithal to finance the construction and operation of TV stations.

FROM CORPUS CHRISTI:

Dear "Reporter-Democrat:

Thanks a million for my paper. It arrives promptly every Monday. I am enclosing $2.00 to pay for another year. We think it the 'most 'wonderful paper in the world'. Keep me posted when my subscription is out for I do not want ever to miss a single copy.

Best wishes to all.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Marion R. Hatfield"

ANDY BARRETT, POLIO VICTIM

Andy Barrett celebrates his first birthday by having Open House with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julious Barrett (Lucille Thornburg of Shelby) at their home in Calera Tuesday, February 5th from 4:00 to 6:00 o'clock. Please everyone from everywhere come marching with your dimes and help us to share liberally in the Mothers' March of Dimes.

ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Etress of Shelby, Alabama, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Helen, to Ralph H. Baker of Birmingham.

The wedding will be solemnized in Norwood on February 14, 1952.

FORECLOSURE NOTICE

Default having been made in the payment of the debt secured by that certain mortgage executed by Ethel Wynn and husband John Wynn to L. E. Shaw on June 1, 1949, to secure the payment of $852.35 payable six months from date with 8% interest after maturity, which said mortgage is recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Shelby County, Alabama, in Mortgage Book 200 at page 276, I, the said L. E. Shaw will proceed to sell to the highest bidder for cash in front of the Courthouse door in Columbiana, Alabama, during the legal hours of sale on February 11, 1952, the following described land, to-wit:

That part of Lot 3 Block 8 according to Thomas' addition to the town of Aldrich, Map of which is recorded in the office of the Probate Judge of Shelby County, Alabama, on February 23, 1944 in Map Book No. 3, said lot herein conveyed described as follows: Beginning at the Northwest corner of Lot 3 Block 8 and run in a southwesterly direction a distance of 52 feet, thence run in a southeasterly direction a distance of 41 feet, thence run in a northeasterly direction a distance of 52 feet, thence run in a northwesterly direction a distance of 41 feet to point of beginning. Said lot being of the former Montevallo Coal Mining Company of Aldrich, Alabama, subject to easement for light, power and Telephone lines and poles as shown on the said Map also for water pipes as now situated, situated in Shelby County, Alabama.

The proceeds of said sale to be applied; first to the expense of foreclosure; second, to the payment of said mortgage indebtedness, any balance to be paid to mortgagees.

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Luke 7:36-50.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 32.

Understanding

Lesson for February 3, 1952

PEOPLE are like books. Some can read them, some can't. You can put a thing down in black and white and still some people will not understand, simply because they can't read. If a person is illiterate it makes no difference how plainly a book is printed or how big the type is or how clear the author's sentences. So a person can be read by some of his neighbors, like a book in plain English; to others who are just as close to him (close, that is, measured by a foot-rule) he might as well be written in Egyptian hieroglyphics for anything they can make out of him.

Dr. Foreman

Strange Dinner Party

TRUE of all men, this was and is true of Jesus. Luke tells of a dinner party where he was a guest, and puts the spotlight on three persons there: Jesus, the host Simon, and an un-named woman.

The woman was not supposed to be there; she just wandered in off the street. Not that she was a stranger, exactly; she was well enough known in the village so that the host knew what sort of woman she was, even if (being a respectable man) he did not know her name.

Like all guests in those days, Jesus had taken off his sandals and was reclining on the couch beside the dinner table. This woman stood behind him and wept. Her tears fell on his bare feet and she wiped them dry with her long hair.

Jesus at first paid no attention, but the host was scandalized. How could Jesus take it so calmly? How could he let such a woman touch him?

The conversation that went on, as Luke reports it, between Jesus and Simon, shows that the poor woman of the street understood Jesus' heart, while the leading citizen, whose house it was, did not understand Jesus at all. One could read Jesus, the other found him a closed book. Why?

A Door Barred

THE MAN could not read Jesus' mind and heart because, for one thing, his own mind was made up as to the kind of person Jesus ought to be. He supposed Jesus was the same sort of person as himself—proud, sensitive, careful of his social standing, unwilling to associate with the "lower classes," wanting to be respectable much more than he wanted to be helpful.

In his mind he carried a ready-made pattern of what a "Prophet" ought to be, and so when one who was greater than all the prophets sat at his own dinner table, he could not see him for what he was.

His eyes were blinded, he could not read Jesus, the door to understanding him was closed. He had never learned to read the kind of language which Jesus' life wrote large.

Then there was another reason why this man could not "see" Jesus. It was his own pride, Simon looked down on Jesus so much that he could not even treat him with ordinary politeness.

A Door Open

BUT the woman understood. She did not know all there was to know about Jesus. And still she understood the depth of his heart.

The door of his heart opened to her—she could read the clear writing of his spirit. She understood him because she was humble. She did not try to fit him into her pattern; in his presence she knew, as the host Simon did not, that his was the true pattern of life and hers the false. She understood him too because of her love.

And so in spite of the immense difference between them, there flowed the light of understanding, even before a word had been spoken. She could read the bright word FORGIVENESS which to Simon was only a blank.

And So Today

TO this very day, some people can read Jesus while others cannot. And in between are uncounted people who can read him only more or less dimly as through glasses that are not clean, or through the smoke of a city twilight.

But it is still true that pride and prejudice not only keep us from reading the lives of those around us, they keep us from reading the mind of Jesus.

And it is still true that humility and love are the great teachers; they show us how to read the lives of those around us every day, and best of all they teach us how to read the word "Forgiveness" in the mind and heart of Jesus . . . which is the heart of God.

OVER $25,000 MONTHLY PAID BY SOCIAL SECURITY IN SHELBY COUNTY

After 15 years' operation, old-age and survivors insurance is paying about $25,746 in monthly benefits to 949 residents of Shelby County. M. C. Folmar, manager of the social security office in Birmingham, Alabama, noting that the Federal insurance program commenced operations on January 1, 1937, described it today as "a national institution, reaching more people in Alabama than any other organized program for family security." He said that 64,157 residents of Alabama were receiving approximately $1,813,295 per month.

From its comparatively modest beginning in 1937, the system has developed in a decade and a half into the largest single insurance operation the world has ever known. In 1940, the first year in which monthly benefits were paid, total benefit payments for the year were approximately 35 million dollars; for the fifteenth year, ending December 31, 1951, total benefit payments were 1,900 million dollars (01.9 billion), paid to nearly four and one-half million people.

The greatest increase in benefit payments occurred in the program's fifteenth year. This, as Mr. Folmar points out, was caused by higher payments to individual beneficiaries, and by the large number of people made eligible under liberalized qualifying requirements. Increases in benefit payment rates to retired workers range from 50% to 100%. For example, the minimum payment of $10 was doubled. The maximum payable to a retired worker in August 1950 was $45.60; this was raised to $68.50.

"Nearly everyone in this country has a stake in this contributory insurance system," says Mr. Folmar. Three out of every four persons gainfully employed or self-employed are engaged in work covered by the law. Sixty-two million people are now insured under the program, which is now providing life insurance protection to three out of every four of the Nation's mothers and children. "Eighty-five million people now living have made tax contributions to old-age and survivors insurance," says Mr. Folmar. "It is to employees, their employers, and to people who work for themselves that the Social Security Administration directs this report."

HOMER J. WALTON

Candidate For

PROBATE JUDGE

Of Shelby County

Subject To The Action Of The Democratic Primary Election May 6, 1952

I am asking each of you for your support in nominating me for Probate Judge. When elected, I promise fair, friendly and efficient service to ALL the people all The Time.

My successful record in my former business as Funeral Director and Merchant, and my Public and Civic Record as a Progressive Citizen, I feel, qualifies me well for this office.

Your Vote and Active Support Will Be Greatly Appreciated.

The specialist adds that those who prefer a cool color, such as blue, in a room that has a cold light may produce a warm effect by using ivory on the walls and sheer dull yellow curtains on the windows. Then, a rug with a tan background and good bit of blue in the figure will satisfy the desire for blue.

Mending finger-tip holes in your gloves will be easy if you put on a thimble, put on the glove and mend.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the many friends who remembered us with flowers and all kind deeds at the time of our recent bereavement, in the loss of our wife and mother, Mrs. Anna Lee Moore Wyatt. To be remembered helps to soften the sorrow at a time when everything seems blackest and hope seems lost forever.

VINCENT 4-H BOYS AWARDED CERTIFICATES

Man in background is Mr. M. M. DuBose, Local Teacher and Sponsor for the high school club. Not available for the picture was Mrs. Anna L. Wyatt, now deceased, who served as Sponsor for the elementary club boys and had a splendid influence upon these boys as a fine Christian teacher, as well as being an excellent, conscientous sponsor of the 4-H members.

We congratulate Mr. DuBose and these boys for having one of the larger groups receiving certificates in 1951 for good work done and records completed.

Those boys having Good Records were: Johnny Beavers, Tommy Teeel, Jerry Green and Chester Ray Sims.

KLEIN HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB MEETS

The Klein Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. W. W. Stillwell, January 24, for a demonstration on "The Band Around A Can of Food."

Miss Boysworth gave a very interesting demonstration, showing slides on labels and giving information on how to jude the product by a label.

Lunch was served to twelve members and the agent.

During the business session, the club made plans for beautifying our mail boxes.

We hope to reach the goal of having 100 per cent Farm Bureau members in our club.

USE COLOR TO MAKE ROOMS COMFORTABLE

When indirect light entering a room tends to create a cold effect, a warm color on the walls will make the room inviting.

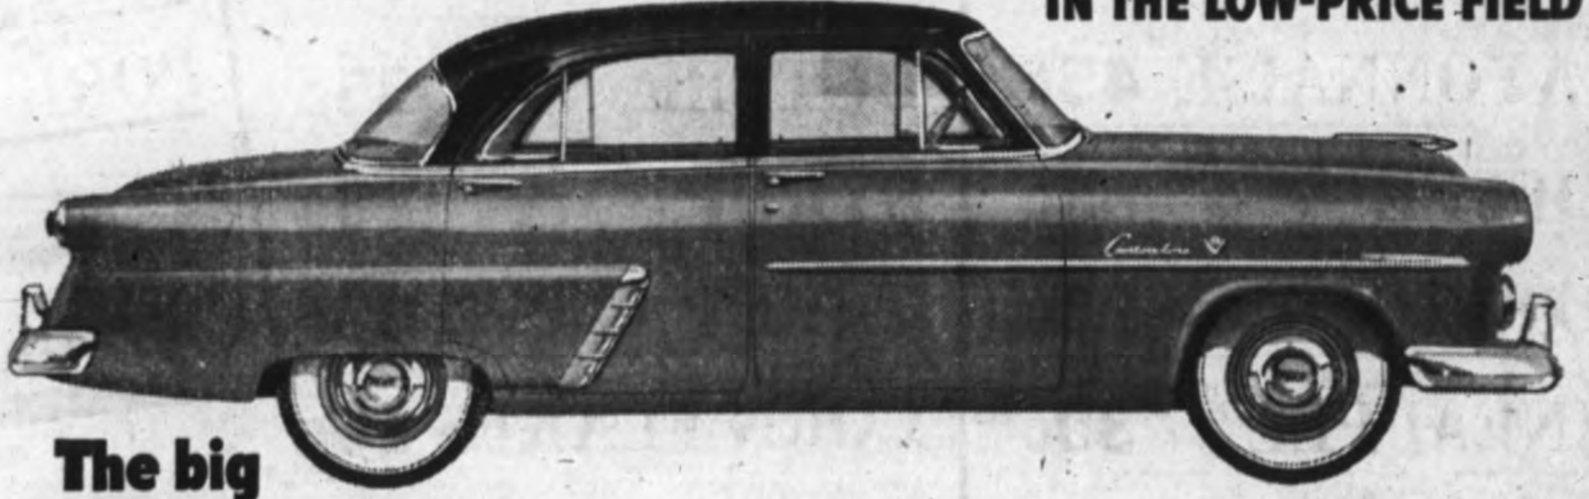
THE GREATEST CAR EVER BUILT

IN THE LOW-PRICE FIELD



The big 1952 FORD

Out-rides them all!

The '52 Ford gives you riding comfort such as you have never before experienced in a car in the low-price field. With front springs tailored to the weight of each model, longer rear springs and diagonally mounted shock absorbers, Ford's Automatic Ride Control gives you the smoothest, easiest ride of them all—a level ride on straightaways, an even keel on curves.

Out-sizes them all!

The '52 Ford has longer wheelbase, wider front tread and greater length. It's big outside and big inside, with spacious seating for six and the largest luggage locker of them all.

Full-Circle Visibility!

With narrower corner pillars, picture windows all around and a rear window that's 48% larger you have "all-direction" vision that adds to your enjoyment and your safety.

Out-performs them all!

Ford's completely new 101-h.p. high-compression, low-friction Six, with free-turning overhead valves, is the most modern Six in the industry. And Ford's high-compression V-8, now 110 h.p., is the most powerful engine in the low-price field. Both are available with performance-proved Fordomatic Drive.

Exclusive Power Pilot Economy!

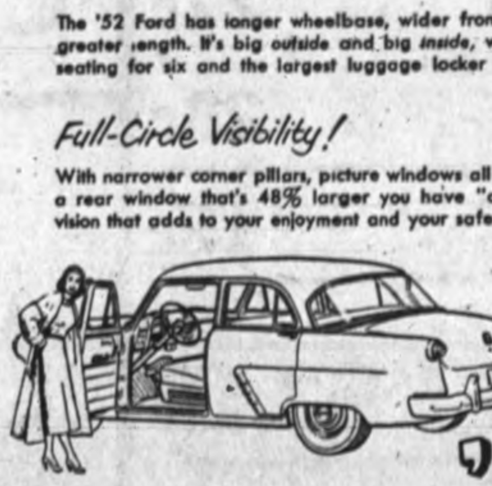
Both the new Ford Mileage Maker Six and the Strato-Star V-8 have the exclusive Ford Automatic Power Pilot. This completely integrated carburetion-ignition-combustion system gives you high-compression "go" on "regular" gas.

New Coachcraft Bodies!

Ford's new Coachcraft Bodies are longer, stronger . . . distinctive in their modern beauty. They offer new hull-tight construction which seals out dust, weather and noise. And Ford has more color and upholstery combinations than any other car in its field!

Out-values them all!

With such modern design and engineering features as new Flight-Style Control Panel, new Power-Pivot Clutch and Brake Pedals, new Center-Fill Fueling, and new counterbalanced hood and deck lid, Ford adds up to more dollars and cents value than any car in its price class!



Fordomatic Drive, Overdrive, white sidewall tires (if available) and two-tone colors on Customline Sedan optional at extra cost. Equipment, accessories and trim subject to change without notice.

You can pay more but you can't buy newer or better!

To The State Democratic Committee:
Sticks and stone may break our bones
And words may make us tarry,
But nothing on this good green earth
Can make us vote for Harry!

IT'S WOMEN AGAIN

According to the latest tabulation from headquarters, of both major political parties, women can now outvote the men so decisively, that politicians are alerted to the power weilded by the feminine contingent and are wooing their "consideration of their candidacy" with more ardor than usual. Statistics now record the fact, that if all the women who are eligible to vote, will cast their ballots, and become active in the campaigns, that the women can vote 2,000,000 more ballots than men in the coming national election. They hold the balance of power in 30 states. But, according to Mrs. India Edwards, vice-chairman of the Democratic National Committee in charge of women's activities, the women are not using this power. She urges that all women take a more active interest in public elections.

Potent politicos believe however, that the present high prices of food and other things women buy, and the fact the spotlight has been turned upon the ethics of government officials, will likely be issues that will attract more interest among the women this year than has heretofore been manifested. At any rate, we haven't found any candidate overlooking the importance of copping the attention of "Lady" John Q. Public.

A CORRECTION

IN announcing Shelby County's Man Of The Year, Lloyd Cole, last week, we were in error in stating that he was a Member of the Board of Education. Mr. Cole is a Member of the County Board of Public Welfare. We just got our "boards" mixed up. However, we are glad to correct the error for the sake of those interested.

WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE

These are exciting days. Not in the memory of this writer's life have the minds and tongues of so many Alabamians been so busily engaged in the consideration and discussion of public affairs. And I do not remember at any time in recent history there having been such a wide divergence of opinions as to what is the best course for Democrats to pursue.

We do not look for much let up in these discussions until after the Presidential election in November. Fact is, unless some compromise is reached regarding the recent action of the State Democratic Committee, there will likely be many bolts from the old Democratic Party, and a stronger Independent vote will be recorded. Alabamians do not like the whip hand attitude taken by the State Democratic Committee. The majority of fair minded citizens in Alabama, whether for, or against, Harry Truman, do not condone a closed primary election with an even tighter voting restriction than the usual pledge of allegiance to party nominees incorporated thereon. Many counties in the State, thru their Democratic Executive Committee meetings have revolted against this action. Where, and how far, this definite decision on the part of the voters to exercise their right of a free choice at the polls, will go, only Time can tell. There are plenty of clouds on the political horizon at present, and these clouds are the result of an aroused public opinion.

No other nation in this world has prospered as ours. We have, here in America achieved a measure of individual liberty unparallelled in the history of mankind. We are not going to silently surrender one single right we believe to be ours by yielding to any self appointed dictorial hierarchy.

Sound common sense, rather than an emotional upheaval, is to be desired, and by debating these controversial issues, as is possible in a democracy, perhaps an intelligent, rather than an emotional approach to the matter may be possible. Here's hoping.

Owen Bridges In Probate Judge Race

Mildred White Wallace

The Reporter-Democrat presents this week to the electorate of Shelby County Owen Bridges, of Montevallo, who announced in last week's issue, his candidacy for the office of Judge of Probate for Shelby County.

In a brief interview with Mr. Bridges during a visit in Columbiana Friday, we learned the following facts, which it is my privilege to record.

Mr. Bridges was born in Jefferson County, but moved to Shelby County twenty-two years ago and has resided here since that time. He is the son of Mrs. Terrell Bridges and the late Dr. Terrell Bridges, who for many years practiced his profession in Boothton, Montevallo, and other sections of Shelby County.

Owen Bridges received his educational advantages in Boothton, and Montevallo High School, from which school he graduated. For a few years after graduation Mr. Bridges entered commercial circles, but his ambition centered around the legal profession, and he enrolled in the University of Alabama Law School, from which college he recently graduated. During the time he was in Law School, he made excellent grades in his chosen course, and is a member of Phi Delta Phi, Legal Fraternity.

Mr. Bridges also taught for over a year, veterans in High School who were eligible for these educational advantages under the General Continuation Program.

Mr. Bridges takes an active part in religious work. He is a member of the Presbyterian Church of Montevallo, and teaches a class in the Sunday School. He is also Secretary of the Board of Deacons.

He is interested in agriculture in Shelby County and is a member of the Farm Bureau.

Many of Shelby County's older citizens will remember his grand- citizens will remember his grandfather, J. S. Bridges, who was a native of Calera ,and served as L. & N. Station Agent for a number of years. He is also a nephew of Mrs. J. H. Holland, formerly of Columbiana.

During the past year, Mr. Bridges has been actively engaged in the practice of law in Montevallo. He is married and his wife, (Glenn Murphree) is an instructor in Montevallo High School.

Mr. Bridges says, if his candidacy is approved by the voters of Shelby County, he will do his best to administer the responsibilities of this office in a fair and an impartial manner. He feels that his legal training especially qualifies him for the Probate Judgeship and will be grateful for the serious consideration of his candidacy by every voter in Shelby County.

County Political Announcements Up To Date

MILDRED WHITE WALLACE

Candidates for various official positions are placing their "statements" in the Reporter-Democrat this week, but, not all of those who have "officially" cast their hats in the political arena, will receive recognition this week, as space is limited, and a dead line has to be met, but, the writer lists for your information this week the new candidates, and assures you that each week, thru these columns a personal sketch of the "potent politicos" will be included.

This week, C. R. (Shorty) Falkner, is announcing his candidacy as a Member of the Board of Revenue And Control from District Number One.

Judge L. C. Walker, incumbent, has placed his official announcement to succeed himself in this highly responsible position in our county. We will procure a personal interview with Mr. Falkner and Judge Walker before next week, and you may expect "facts and figures" in our next issue.

This week we are presenting those who qualified last week, whom we managed to "catch on the run", before the dead line caught us. They include Paul O. Luck, candidate for Circuit Judge of 18th Judicial Circuit; Owen Bridges of Montevallo, candidate for Probate Judge; and Offie Stinson of Wilsonville, who is seeking re-election to membership on the Board of Revenue and Control.

If you are interested in these candidates we are presenting each week, file these articles, and keep them for future reference on the facts they will contain regarding their ambitions to serve you.

LEGISLATURE GIVES $600,000 TO SCHOOLS

The Legislature has passed a bill appropriating $600,000 to be used as an emergency fund to extend the term of every school in the state to seven months. The bill was prepared and introduced at the request of Governor Bibb Graves; its prompt passage was asked in order that the money might become available immediately. It was passed by the House last week without a dissenting vote.

under the bill, about $12,000 will be appropriated for Shelby County.

INCOMING, RETIRING COUNTY OFFICERS HONORED

The incoming officers of Shelby County together with those retiring from the public service were guests of honor at a banquet at the Camp Hotel on Friday evening given by a number of their friends. The meeting proved a genuine Democratic lovefeast.

The principal address of the evening was given by Senator L. H. Ellis. Judge L. B. Riddle was Toastmaster and he succeeded in keeping things moving at a lively rate.

Among those present at the banquet were: Rep. Paul O. Luck, Tax Collector L. E. Christian, W. T. Taylor, Circuit Clerk; E. A. Turner, Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee; Luther Fowler, T. R. Walton, C. E. Goodwin, Felton Goodwin, L. E. Shaw, R. G. Cosper, W. E. Merrell, Chairman of Board of Revenue; Dr. J. W. Arthur, member of the Board of Education and others.

Offie Stinson Candidate Board of Revenue And Control

Kildred White Wallace

Offie Stinson, of Columbiana, this week officially announces his candidacy to succeed himself as a Member of the Board of Revenue And Control from Shelby County's District Number One. The race, is a county wide one and Mr. Stinson states he will make an active campaign.

He was born and reared in Shelby County and is well known. We have been reliably informed that Mr. Stinson, although opposed to the passage of the new Road Law, has, since the passage of this law, fully cooperated in carrying out its mandates. Much progress throughout the county has been made since an Engineer was placed in charge of the roadways in our county. And further improvements on various projects may be expected for the new year.

Mr. Stinson states he will appreciate the approval of his candidacy by the electorate on May 6, and June 3, on which dates the Democratic primaries will be held.

FERNETTA WALTON WINS COUNTY ORATORICAL CONTEST

Fernetta Walton of Calera High School is county champion of The Birmingham News senior high school oratorical contest and will represent the county in the district contest to be held at Benjamin Russell High School, Alexander City, on Wednesday night, February 20, 1952.

The winner in the district competition will represent the district at the state finals to be held at Birmingham-Southern College, Birmingham, March 28.

Birmingham-Southern will award tuition scholarships to state finalists. The Birmingham News will award cash prizes and will pay railroad fare and hotel bill for each visiting state finalist and chaperon.

The contest subject is "Fear and Freedom".

District competitions in The Birmingham News junior high contest have been held. Nancy Chester of Camp Hill High School, Tallapoosa County was selected to represent the district at the state finals. The junior state finals will also be held at Birmingham-Southern, March 28. The News will award cash prizes to all state finalists of the junior high contest and will also pay railroad fare and hotel bill for the visiting finalists and chaperons.

PAUL O. LUCK

KING GEORGE IS DEAD

The radio news early Wednesday morning flashed across the world, the tragic news that King George VI, ruling monarch of England, had passed away in his sleep at 5 A. M. The King recently had a surgical operation on his lung, and it was believed he would fully recover his normal health. The news came as a shock to the entire world.

Princess Elizabeth, his daughter, who is 25 years old, now becomes reigning monarch. She is at present touring New Zealand, Australia and other countries, but cancelled the rest of the journey to fly with her husband, back to England.

Princess Elizabeth becomes the third woman to ascend to England's Throne.

WOODROW ELLIOTT

W. W. ELLIOTT ELECTED VICE-PRESIDENT ALABAMA EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

Shelby Countians may well take pride in their Superintendent of Education, Woodrow Elliott, who, this week, was elected to serve the Alabama Education Association as Vice-president. Mr. Elliott won the election in a contest between himself and Miss Florence Pass of West End High School. The tabulation of the votes cast netted Mr. Elliott 7818, and Miss Pass 5664.

This promotion in A. E. A. circles for Mr. Elliott comes as just another step forward along the road leading to future successful achievements, which those who have known him longest, have predicted for him. The signal honor of serving this organization as vice-president, was conferred by individual secret ballot, which is further proof of what the educators in Alabama think of Mr. Elliott's ability.

Friends in Shelby County will be especially interested in hearing this "good news flash".

Paul O. Luck Is Candidate For Circuit Judge

MILDRED WHITE WALLACE

The Reporter-Democrat has the privilege this week of presenting for your consideration, the candidacy of Paul O. Luck, widely known attorney, for the position of Judge of the 18th Judicial Circuit. Mr. Luck is the first candidate in the Circuit, composed of Clay, Coosa, and Shelby counties, to comply with the stipulated requirements to enter the race for this highly responsible post of duty.

Circuit Court is now in session in Columbiana, and the writer was able only to obtain a very brief interview with the busy barrister. However, here are a few pertinent facts regarding Mr. Luck's qualifications for the promotion he now seeks at the hands of the electorate.

P. O. Luck is a graduate of the University of Alabama Law School. He has practiced his profession in Columbiana for the past 34 years. He is a successful attorney; and has made an outstanding record in official circles of public service. For a number of years he faithfully, fearlessly and courageously discharged the duties of County Solicitor. He was honored by the people of Shelby County when they elected him for two terms to serve as their Representative in the State Legislature. He is a former member of the State Democratic Executive Committee, representing the 6th Congressional District, and his fellow-townsmen, in Columbiana, honored him by electing him a member of the Town Council several years ago. He now serves as a member of the Columbiana Park and Recreation Board and is a member of the Columbiana Kiwanis Club. He was Chairmen of the Shelby County War Chest Drive, and for three years acted as Chairman for the War Bond Sales in the county. He is now serving his third term as a member of the Alabama State Bar Commission from the 18th Judicial Circuit, which is an honorary appointment made possible thru the endorsement of his fellow-attorneys. He is married to the former Clarice White, and they have one daughter, Mrs. H. M. Gordon, who resides in Wilmington, Delaware.

These items give a few facts regarding Mr. Luck's personal life and we now turn to his ambition to serve the 18th Judicial Circuit as Judge.

An old Greek philisopher once said.... "Four things belong to a judge; to hear courteously, to answer wisely, to consider soberly, and to decide impartially". If this statement holds true today, and these four things are regarded as essential qualifications for this highly responsible post of duty, I feel sure Paul O. Luck's record in public life fully warrants the conclusion, that if he is chosen by the people in the Primary Elections to serve them, as their Circuit Judge he will earnestly strive, at all times, to meet these four qualifications, which seem, to the writer, to embody the essential equipment for the man, who will be chosen to administer the duties this office demands.

Before we left Mr. Luck's office, we asked him if he had any statement regarding his race that he would like for us to incorporate in our article regarding him, and he said this: "In announcing my candidacy for the position of Circuit Judge, I am deeply conscious of the responsibilities I seek. It is my assurance to the electorate that at all times, my best efforts will be conscientiously directed toward the discharge of the duties of this office in a manner which will, I hope, merit the approval of the voters and those friends who are personally interested in my campaign."

And there you have the above sketch of Paul O. Luck, who needs no introduction, for he is widely and favorably known throughout the county and state. However, the writer, having been assigned to "cover the candidates" as they enter the race for various official positions, shall, to the best of her ability, present them to you for yuor consideration before making your cross-mark on May 6 and June 3, 1952, when you, the people, having weighed each aspirant and his qualifications, will make the final decision.

In choosing your next Circuit Judge, I believe, the above factual statement regarding Mr. Luck, certainly warrants your most serious deliberation.

Paul O. Luck
(Pd. Pol. Adv. by Paul O. Luck, Columbiana, Alabama)

The state legislature under reconstruction Governor Smith was so crooked that some of the senators charged as much as $1,000 for a vote on railroad issues. The practice of taking bribes was the rule rather than the exception, history books state.

In Prattville stands probably the oldest white oak tree in Alabama. A wellknown tree surgery company has estimated that the tree was of fair size at the time Columbus discovered America. Today, after a life of over 400 years, the giant old oak is still hale and hearty.

CHICK CHATS

GIVE GOOD CARE TO GOOD CHICKS

The first steps are often the most important in poultry-raising. That's why the care you give baby chicks frequently determines their success or failure. The slightest slip-up or management error during the early days of a chick's life can disrupt its entire growing period.

Feeding, of course, is one of the first problems the raiser faces when the chicks arrive — and it should receive his special attention. Chicks may be fed when they arrive or any time after they are 24 hours old. If chicks have been chilled, overheated, or mistreated in any way, it is best to feed a fine baby chick scratch for the first day and a half. This will help prevent "pasting up". On the second day or on the first day if chicks are in good condition, give a good starting mash. Make such feedings on egg flats or some other flat, clean surface.

Feeding Space

After two or three days, use small hoppers to prevent feed waste and aid in sanitation. Try to allow at least one inch of hopper space for each chick, and more space as the chicks grow older. During the first week feed the chicks five times daily. After that, keep mash before the chicks constantly.

Supply the chicks with water or milk when they first go into the brooder house. For this purpose, use two one-gallon fountains, or three smaller ones for each 100 chicks.

Provide Clean Ground

The brooder house should be placed on clean ground so that the chicks will have access to sunshine and grass after a week or 10 days. When the weather is suitable, the chicks may be turned out on ground to enjoy themselves. However, be certain such ground is free of disease germs and parasites. If it isn't, keep chicks confined or provide sun porches until they are old enough to go to the rearing range.

Also, keep a close eye on the brooding temperature. Usually, when brooding temperatures are about correct, the chicks will form a ring around and just outside the edge of the hover when they settle down for the night.

Ventilation is another factor to consider. Keep the walls of brooder houses tight to prevent drafts. Fresh air should come in through the window in front of the house and the opening should be adjusted to admit the proper amount of air.

ALABAMA HIGHLIGHTS

The first cotton mill in Alabama was located near Huntsville on the Flint River. It was incorporated by the legislature in 1832. Put into operation as the Bell Factory of the County of Madison, the concern derived its name from the fact that a bell instead of the customary steam whistle was used to call the employees to work.

Buckets used for carrying water by early pioneers were commonly referred to as "piggins".

NOTICE

No. 3256 In the Circuit Court of Shelby County, Alabama, In Equity.
Ada Atchison Spain, Complainant,
Vs.
Vester Spain, Respondent,

In this cause it being made to appear to the Register by affidvait of Ada Atchison Spain, the complainant in this cause, that the Respondent is over 21 years of age, but his place of residence is unknown. That respondent has secreted himself so that process of summons cannot be served upon him. The officers of Shelby County and officers of Jefferson County, where respondent resided for a while, have made effort to serve summons in this case upon him but have been unable to do so for the reason he could not be found in those counties; that respondent evades the Sheriff and his deputies and as stated they have been unable to serve process upon him. It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Shelby County Reporter-Democrat, a newspaper published in Columbiana, Alabama, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring the said Vester Spain to plead, answer, or demur to the Bill of Complaint in this cause by the 4th day of March, 1952, or in thirty days thereafter a decree pro confessa may be taken against him.

Done at Office in Columbiana, Alabama, this the 4th day of February, 1952.

$300 MILLION BOOST IN MAIL RATES ASKED

President Truman asked Congress recently to vote an immediate $300,000,000-a-year boost in rates for second and third-class mail, parcel post and foreign mail.

He said the rates should be raised still another $200,000,000 next year to meet the actual cost of delivery. Unless rates are hiked again, he added, the Postoffice will run $670,000,000 in the red in fiscal 1953.

If you're making a sponge cake, allow the eggs used in it to come to room temperature before they're beaten; they give better volume this way.

'Ike For President' Movement Started

From "Eisenhower For President Inc.," State Headquarters in Montgomery, Alabama, comes the following article:

General Dwight D. Eisenhower's Alabama supporters today set up a non-profit corporation to work for his nomination and election.

Incorporation papers were filed with the Montgomery county probate judge, naming the organization "Eisenhower for President, Inc.," and showing Winton M. Blount as temporary president.

Blount said the group's initial efforts will be to raise funds and conduct a campaign which will "demonstrate to the Republicans the plain truth that they can win Alabama and the South with Eisenhower."

Blount said, "We are going to show the whole nation how the mass of Alabama voters feel. Almost all of them are so disgusted that they will not vote for Truman or his handpicked successor under any circumstances, and that the great majority are ready and anxious to vote for Eisenhower."

Headquarters are being established in a Montgomery Hotel.

In addition to Blount, who is from Union Springs and is a contractor, the incorporation papers showed these officers: vice-president, Arthur Mead, real estate man; secretary, Eugene Munger, Jr., farm machinery dealer; treasured, Staurt X. Stephenson, general manager of the Montgomery Grays Baseball club and well known sports figure.

Among the charter members was listed Tom Abernathy, editor of the Talladega Daily Home, and formerly a leader in the States Rights faction in Alabama.

Blount said that the charter membership of the group included almost 100 persons from various walks of life and from all sections of Alabama. "There are barbers and bankers, plumbers and farmers, lawyers and businessmen, workers and doctors in this group," Blount siad. "Almost to a man they are people who have consistently voted straight Democratic up to now."

A section of the incorporation papers setting forth the corporation's purposes said American political life had been degraded and corrupted by the group now in control and that there was "no hope that conditions can be improved by continued support of such politicians, or anyone chosen by them."

The statement said that completely new leadership of the "highest character" is needed, and that no public figure is "more qualified to give such leadership than General Eisenhower."

"The nomination and election of Eisenhower," the statement said, "is so desirable an end that it should transend all considerations of politicians or political parties."

CHARLES G. JOHNSON BACK IN STATES

Back in the United States following a tour of duty in the Korean area aboard the attack cargo vessel USS Washburn, is Electrician Chas. G. Johnson, USN, of Aldrich, Alabama, and husband of Mrs. Manya S. Johnson of 2630 Juar St., San Diego, California.

Johnson, who entered the Naval service in April, 1940, received his recruit training at the Naval Training Center. Norfolk, Virginia. Before entering the Navy, he graduated from Montevallo High School.

In the Old Church Street Graveyard in Mobile is a tombstone marked: "Oldest Jewish grave in Alabama".

The second railroad in Alabama, The Tuscumbia, Courtland & Decatur RR, used mules to pull the coaches at the beginning of its operations. The cost of track laying was so high that the backers of the venture gave out of money before a locomotive could be bought.

Boy Scout Week February 6 to 12

President Truman, members of Congress, Govenors and national representatives of organizations and institutions throughout America that sponsor Boy Scout Units, will share in ceremonies during Boy Scout Week, February 6 to 12, launching a new three-year program known as "Forward . . On Liberty's Team". Boy Scout Week marks the 42nd birthday of the organization.

Twelve outstanding Eagle Scouts, chosen to represent the more than 2,900,000 members of the organization, will share in ceremonies at the White House when President Truman greets them at 12:45 p. m. on Friday, February 8. Mr. Truman, as Honorary President of the Boy Scouts of America, is to receive a scroll stating the broad objectives of the new program.

At a breakfast in Washington with nearly 100 leaders from the Cabinet, the Senate, House of Representatives and national organizations, the twelve picked Eagle Scouts will dramatize Scouting's part in meeting the problems of these times. The Scouts will tell what the entire membership of the organization will do next Fall in their major activity of getting out the vote in the national elections.

They will also report on what Scouts have been doing in Civil Defense, Conservation and their flood services last summer.

Following the visit to the White House February 8, the Scout party will go to Independence Hall in Philadelphia. At this national shrine, in the presence of national representatives of organizations and institutions throughout America who sponsor Scout Units, ceremonies will be held to dramatize the part played by the churches and synagogues, schools, civic and community organizations in supporting and extending Scouting throughout America.

The Scouts will also visit West Point.

THE GOLD RUSH

Workers Rush Into Towns; Stop Farming

PADUCAH, Ky.—A serious situation has come to light in the western part of Kentucky in the small towns and rural areas. There has been such a mass migration of workers away from the farms that it is almost impossible to hire farm workers.

In the last few months more than $700,000,000 worth of industrial plants have announced their intention of moving into the area and many have already commenced construction. More than 2,000 workers will be required at the six largest jobs alone, once they reach peak construction-stage employment.

Such attractive wages are being offered for comparatively short hours and easy work that sharecroppers, tenants, small towners, and even farm owners themselves have flocked to take advantage of the windfall.

Wages Double

Crop production in the area is reported to have fallen greatly, although exact figures are not available. But as an example, one farmer who last year raised a good crop of corn, tobacco and strawberries didn't even stick a plow in the ground this year.

Now he is employed as a steamfitter in the atomic plant near Paducah, although he had never done that type of work before. The reason: hours are shorter and the pay better than farming.

At the present moment there are eight counties in western Kentucky feeling the farm labor shortage. In time, other counties in the area will feel it, too. Some workers are driving as much as 75 miles a day to reach construction jobs—a total 150 a day, going to and from work.

Small farmers are at a loss as to what to do about the labor situation. Some of the larger ones, however, are importing labor.

Mexicans Brought In

J. E. Terret, who operates a 2,000 acre farm in Fulton county, solved his labor problem by importing Mexican workers.

Last May, Terret brought in 100 Mexicans to help with his 800 acre cotton crop. $10,000 spinach crop, however, was lost because the workers did not arrive in time to harvest it.

The workers live in 20 tenant houses scattered over the farm. They can cook their own food or take meals at a central mess for $1.25 a day. This is the third year Terret has used Mexican workers.

Terret, however, is the only farmer in that part of the state to import foreign labor, but what he has done may be an indication of the steps other farmers in the area will make in an effort to solve the labor problem.

Farm hands in the area last year were working hard in the fields for $5 a day, or tops of $7.50. Now they are drawing down $15 a day or more as common laborers at the big construction jobs.

Small Town Bank Closes; Wouldn't Yield to State

PORT HOPE, Mich.—Miss Lydia A. Welsch, the woman banker of the village of Port Hope, is busy liquidating the privately owned Citizens bank rather than accept a state charter and submit to government regulation.

The bank had 392 depositors with deposits of $497,000.

The decision to liquidate leaves only 11 private banks in the state of Michigan. The Port Hope bankers, including a retired farmer and the retired postmaster of the village, faced the issue of accepting a charter when the Commercial Bank of West Branch collapsed a few weeks before.

As a result of the Commercial Bank crash, the state banking commissioner urged the owners of the surviving private banks to apply for charters. Without a state or federal charter no bank can get federal deposit insurance.

The commissioner said Miss Welsch could easily have qualified for a state charter without changing her banking methods. "The liquid condition of the Port Hope bank is astonishing," he said. "If I had to pick the state's most successful banker, the honor would go to Miss Welsch."

Of the other private banks in Michigan, all but one has agreed to apply for a charter. The dissenter, who plans to go on doing business as he has for years, is S. W. Varty of Rhodes.

The village now has less than a dozen buildings, but was once a thriving lumber town.

Soundproof Kennels Are Installed by Township

LOWER MERION TOWNSHIP, Pa.—The officials of this community have installed the only soundproof dog pound in the east and maybe in the nation. The dogs can bark their heads off without anybody hearing them, even if they stand 10 feet away from the pound.

The sound conditioning was the happy solution to complaints of neighbors who found it nigh impossible to sleep with the dogs howling into the early hours of the morning

PUBLIC WELFARE ENTITLED TO 90 PER CENT ABC BOARD CHECKS

Alabama Attorney General Silas Garrett, III, has ruled that the State Public Welfare Department should get 90 per cent of the checks sent monthly to counties by the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

In an opinion requested by State Welfare Commissioner Bill Dorrough the attorney general's office said the Welfare Department should get nine-tenths of the "approximately $284.75" per month ear-marked for health and welfare in each of the counties.

The ABC board transfers 10 per cent of its monthly profits to the 67 counties. The Department of Public Welfare is supposed to get 90 per cent of such profits from the state liquor systems.

Billion in Bonds Was At Issue in Elections

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Voters in America's home towns and cities were asked in the November 6 election to approve bond issues for various improvements costing $1,151,149,000 a survey in the bond field revealed.

The proposed issues compared with $957,765,410 worth of bonds submitted to voters at last year's election and with the peak of $1,607,652,367 in 1949.

Well over half of the bond issues were for proposed new school construction. In all municipal construction building materials require authorization from the National Production Authority.

Bond issues were also voted on for the construction of sewers, water systems, street improvements, parks, playgrounds, parking spaces, schools, bridges, and in some communities town halls.

No record is available as to the total of issues passed, but in all probability it dropped well below one half.

MOTORS REGISTERED INCREASED

Motor vehicle registrations in Alabama increased 42,675 vehicles during the first quarter of the present fiscal year.

This is the report of H. S. Phifer, chief of the motor vehicle and license division of the State Revenue Department.

Phifer said there were 611,818 vehicles registered in the state in the period from October 1, 1951, to December 31, 1951. During the same period the previous year there were 569,143 registrations, Phifer said.

Registrations for all of last year totaled 690,511, he said. State-owned registrations during the three-month period totaled 2,836, compared to 2,206 a year ago.

In the 17 special town school districts reporting to the state superintendent of education in 1888-89, the school population was given at 29,613, with an enrollment of 9,162, and and average attendance of 6,210.

Among some of the outstanding educational institutions in early Alabama were the Green Springs Academy for Boys, Mount Sterling, the Marion Military Institute, Noble Institute at Anniston, the Male and Female Academies at Athens, Snead Seminary, Boaz, Thorsby Institute, Thorsby, and Southern Industrial Institute, Camp Hill.

TOMMY LEWIS BLANKENSHIP MAKES FIRST VISIT TO TOWN

The Reporter-Democrat's Mascot for 1952, Tommy Lewis Blankenship, age one month, held the spotlight of attraction on Main Street Tuesday, when he made his initial appearance, and what a welcome Tommy received! Merchants had gifts just waiting for him, and the writer had the pleasure of enjoying Strawberry Sundaes with them at the Varsity. Gifts showered on little Tommy included one from Weir's Jewelry, Horn-Mullins Supply Company, Varsity, Wood's Grocery, Yellow Front Store, Meyers, and Glenn's Dress Shop. Tommy also has a little three year old brother, that is one of the handsomest little fellows you ever saw. It was indeed a pleasure to welcome the Blankenship family to our town, and especially happy were we, to get a chance to meet "Tommy" whom, we are certain, will bring us good luck.

FROM THE MAIL BOX

Letters are always welcome messengers across the miles, and those we receive from our soldiers and members of the armed forces receive a doubly warm reception. This morning we had a letter from Sfc. A. L. Crowson which we find especially interesting and we share it with you. Sgt. Crowson says:

"Dear Mrs. Wallace,

"My sister (Mrs. Margie G. Davis of Calera) tells me she has entered my subscription to the Reporter-Democrat, and I am eagerly awaiting its arrival.

Even though I have been in the service of my country for the last ten years, and away from Columbiana for about the same length of time; I still enjoy reading the Reporter-Democrat.... and recognize among its pages mention of many of my old school mates and friends. It makes my heart swell with pride when I read of the accomplishments that many of them have made in their various occupations. I especially enjoy reading the column "Up and Down Main".

I am now stationed in the old historic city of Orleans, France. The city made famous by Joan of Arc in her heroic defense of France against the British.

My regards to the staff of the Reporter-Democrat, and many friends in Columbiana.

Your friend,
Andrew L. Crowson"

LARRY WAYNE LETSON ARRIVES

ORCHIDS TO THE VIGNETTES

If we had an arm full of orchids, we would give every one of them to "The Vignettes" in Columbiana, individually and collectively. They, in my opinion, have rendered a greater service to this community than any group of club members we know. And, this record, recently made in the March of Dimes, is but one step forward in a long list of worthwhile activities these young matrons have engaged in since they organized several years ago.

And, you Folks, who gave them such a royal welcome in your homes, Thursday evening, by "letting your light shine", when they stopped in, and received your most generous contributions for this drive against Polio. Practically all of them phoned me how much they appreciated the generous reception you accorded them and, the result of this campaign is so overwhelmingly successful, that we know every little Polio victim will also join us in expressing gratitude to them for this magnificient achievement in Columbiana.

CONGRATULATIONS TO VIRGINIA HAMILTON

We are numbered among a host of friends who will extend congratulations this week to Virginia Hamilton (Mrs. Larry Hamilton) upon successfully landing a feature story which has been published in Ford Times. Mrs. Hamilton, before her marriage, resided in Birmingham and Washington D. C. where she was widely known as a successful newspaper woman. After moving to Montevallo, Mrs. Hamilton taught journalism in Alabama College. We are eager to read this article which we hear bears the attractive title "Cherry Blossom Time".

RALPH H. GARRETT PROMOTED

Ralp H. Garrett, 21, of Siluria, Alabama, who is assigned to the 113th Ordnance Medium Maintenance Company in Fort Meade, Maryland, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant.

A graduate of Thompson High School, Siluria, Sergeant Garrett entered the Army on February 12, 1951 at Birmingham, Alabama. Prior to entering the Army, he was employed by the Alabaster Lime Company, Alabaster, Alabama as a truck driver.

DOROUGH-BIRD WEDDING ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Leon F. Dorough announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Betty Joyce to Alvin Nelson Bird, son of Mrs. Inez J. Bird. The wedding will take place at the home of the brides parents on February 8.

Miss Dorough is a graduate of Shelby County High School and attends Alabama College, Montevallo, Alabama.

Mr. Bird is also a graduate of Shelby County High School and attends the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn, Alabama where he is majoring in Engineering Physics.

A Bride's Biscuits Can Be Good

When Dorothy Mankin, Tennessee's 4-H Club biscuit baking champion, turned down a college scholarship to become a farmer's wife, she was immediately named the "Self-Rising Flour Bride of the Year" in tribute to her excellence in homebaking and her contribution to future homemaking.

As the Bride of the Year, she now bakes biscuits for Roy F. Rowland, using the same recipe and self-rising biscuits she used at home and for her 4-H contest entries.

The bride offers two sound tips to all home bakers:

"Whether it's biscuits or pastry," she says, "work the dough as lightly and as little as possible. Also, do not let the dough stand, but bake as soon as your preparations have been completed."

Self-Rising Biscuits

2 cups Self-Rising flour
3 tablespoons fat
⅔ cup sweet milk (about)

Sift flour once before measuring. Cut fat into flour until texture of coarse cornmeal. Add liquid all at once and stir until all flour is well dampened (20 strokes). Kneed lightly 6 strokes. Roll to ½-inch thickness and bake on ungreased baking pan in hot oven (450°F) for 12 minutes.

FEBRUARY BIRTHDAYS TO REMEMBER

Last Friday, Betty Dorough, bride elect, celebrated the passing of her birthday anniversary, and this coming Friday, it will be orange blossom time for "Betty and Buddy". Mrs. Nelle Davis also received good wishes for "Many Happy Returns" on February 1; On February 5, Myra Falkner was the center of attraction in her home, this date marking her birthday anniversary. Wednesday, February 6, seems to be the most popular day for anniversaries, and the following honorees will be the recipients of greetings from friends and loved ones. A. A. Lauderdale, James Milton Carden, Adele Edmondson, Myra Ann Chandler and J. H. Davis. At the same time birthday congratulations are being showered, lets pass a few congratulations on to Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bolton, who will be celebrating a wedding anniversary on February 6.

FEBRUARY 14

Don't forget to mark a ring around February 14, for thats St. Valentine's own day, and many lovely gifts expressing "love and kisses" for your "heart interest" are on display in the stores in town. We saw some beautifully boxed candy at the Varsity and Columbiana Drug. And at Meyers, there are all sorts of pretty knick-knacks, he or she might be interested in receiving. Just be sure you send something, and it had better have on the package, those "three little words" that mean so much to that "certain somebody".

. . . Collegiates we have seen in town, following their mid-term examinations include Buddy Bird of A. P. I.; Bake Elliott, Barbara Horn, June Harrison and Oliver Head from University. There perhaps are others whom we have not had the pleasure of greeting, but the welcome mat is always out for these bright and breezy young people.

. . . Saturday on the Main Drag, everybody we saw was hoping the Ground Piggy would NOT see his shadow during the day, so that we might safely proclaim "Spring Is Here". What this furry little prognostigator in reality did, however, was take a squint at himself and return to his lair for another six weeks of button-up-your-overcoat-time.

. . . Miss Lena Cox has moved to her new home near the Sam Stinson residence, and will be glad to see her friends. She has opened her dress making parlors in her home and will be delighted to do your spring sewing for you.

. . . Mrs. Karl C. Harrison is visiting her Mother, Mrs. Bennett, in Savannah, Georgia.

. . . Mrs. Jimmy Harrison has gone to Florida for a few weeks vacation.

. . . Thanks to Mrs. J. E. Decker of Columbiana and to Grady Scott of Siluria for renewal subscriptions to the Reporter-Democrat.

. . . It is indeed a pleasure to welcome Tom Lee, prominent citizen of Pelham into our long list of subscribers this week. Mr. Lee was in Columbiana Saturday, and personally came by to "line up with us" thru 1952. Thats the kind of "Valentine" we like to receive.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Tom Taylor and Miss Dorothy Taylor of Birmingham spent Saturday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Wales W. Wallace Jr.

. . . Billy Bridges, brother of Attorney Owen Bridges of Montevallo, is one of the handsomest fellows we have ever seen. He has just returned from the fracas now in progress in Korea, and we were delighted to meet him during a brief visit in Columbiana. No, Girls, I do not think he is married. He did not have that "married look" but, we doubt if he makes it thru Leap Year. Unless he learned some new "side-steps" during his seige in foreign countries, whereby he can successfully stage a tactical maneuver that will carry him around the blondes and brunettes who will be glancing in his direction.

. . . Mrs. Luke Wheeler, formerly of Sylacauga, and a loyal booster for the "Home Paper" writes and asks that we change her address to LaFayette, Alabama, where they now live. Mrs. Wheeler says they simply could not do without the Reporter-Democrat in their home, for it brings to them each week a "tie that binds" Shelby Countians together.

. . . Mrs. Keener Roberts who now resides in Tuscaloosa, where her husband, Keener Roberts is completing his Senior year in the School of Commerce, was a charming guest in our office Thursday morning, and naturally, renewed her allegiance to this journalistic endeavor known as the Shelby County Reporter-Democrat. Stella tells us that the paper "keeps them from getting too homesick, between visits back to Main".

These tributes that come to our office are truly appreciated by all of us who each week strive to merit them.

. . . If as many telephone calss about Lloyd Cole's selection as Man of the Year, went directly to him in the Columbiana Drug Company, as were received in our office Thursday and Friday, "Doc" Cole had little chance to "wait on his customers". We are delighted that the decision to honor Lloyd Cole pleased so many people. As we predicted in our article about him, he was the "most suprised fellow" we have ever seen.

. . . Thanks to W. L. McManus of Vincent Route for a subscription to the Home Paper just received.

. . . To Mrs. J. M. Butler go our thanks and appreciation for her renewal subscription to the Reporter-Democrat, and going one step farther, Mrs. Butler says.... "I believe I will just take another one for my daughter, Mrs. John R. Jones, who, sometimes, gets my paper and forgets to bring it back. We could not do without this weekly news messenger". This kind tribute of loyalty sent us off on just the right foot this bright Spring morning. Best pepper-upper we know.

. . . The Rev. C. M. Nolen, pastor of MacDonald Chapel near Wylam, was a visitor in our office lsst Friday. Mr. Nolen is enthusiastic over his work in this church, and well he may be proud of its outstanding record. With a membership of only 300 members, they have built and paid for a $60,000 church. Mr. Nolen states this achievement has been made possible due to a "working congregation" and full cooperation of every member with the 14 stewards. This pastor and his church membership certainly merit our congratulations.

. . . Mrs. John Gates and Jennie Lou Gates have returned home after a few days visit in Helena, with Mrs. Gates' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Wallace.

CULTURE CLUB MEETS

With Mrs. G. F. Goodwin as the gracious hostess, the Culture Club held a most interesting meeting on January 31.

The home was tastefully decorated with fall flowers.

The president, Mrs. W. R. Carter, presided over the business session, after which Mrs. R. J. Ozley gave a well prepared paper on "As Others See Us".

After the program, delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. Ruby Mitchell was a guest of the club for the afternoon.

The next meeting will be on February 14th, at 2:30 o'clock, with Mrs. H. J. Walton as hostess.

MRS. STARCHER'S BROTHER VISITS HERE

Last week in Columbiana, enroute from San Diego, California to New York City, via Savannah, Mrs. George Starcher's brother, DeWitt Swindell and his wife "Pat" and year old son Dale visited the Starchers.

DeWitt was just discharged after four years in the Navy including service at New York, Guam, Sasedo Japan, and Korean waters and San Diego. They are now vacationing on a leisurely trip enroute to South Ga., to visit the Swindell family then to New York where Mrs. Swindell's parents live.

They will possibly make their home in New York, although almost persuaded to settle here. DeWitt formerly worked in Childersburg and Birmingham while living with Mr. and Mrs. George Starcher.

. . . When Court convenes, we always enjoy greeting many friends whom we rarely ever see except at these intervals. Such was the occasion Tuesday when we had the pleasure of talking with our cherished friend, Frank Baker from Montevallo Rt.

. . . Tuesday morning we had the pleasure of welcoming our kinsman, Gene Roberts of Sylacauga in Columbiana. Mr. Roberts is the owner of the American Marble and Granite Company in Sylacauga and his firm in this county is reprsented by Judge L. B. Riddle.

. . . Mike Shaw is one of the handsomest two year old youngsters we have ever seen, and for brilliant chatter, about anything you want to talk about, just ask Mike. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Shaw, (Bobby Jean Taylor) and came in our office today with his mommie and his "Aunt Ruth" (Tillery) to ask that we send the "Home Paper" to his Dad, who is a member of Uncle Sam's Navy, and serving overseas. Pretty Mrs. Shaw is staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor during his absence. The Reporter-Democrat is on its way care of Fleet P. O. San Francisco, California, to greet seaman John Shaw and with each issue will come our best wishes for a speedy end to this fracas overseas, and a return "for keeps" for all our boys scattered over the entire world.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis Cates of Montgomery were week end guests of their parents.

. . . We are delighted to welcome Leon Baker of Columbiana Route, into our weekly circle of readers this week.

. . . Had the pleasure of a visit from Frank Nevin of Cahaba Valley Road. Nice taiking with him about matters and things in our county of mutual interest.

. . . Judge L. B. Riddle, E. M. Young and Rob Roy are the three gentlemen now talking over Tax adjustments with property owners in the Court House.

ALABAMA LOCAL BOARDS TO INDUCT 954 MEN IN FEB.

Men To Be Called In Age Sequence

Alabama's induction call for February will be for 954 men according to Colonel J. T. Johnson, Jr., Acting State Director of Selective Service. The call for February exceeds the January call which was for 625 men. The figure of 954 men represents Alabama's part of the national call for 55,000 men.

Colonel Johnson stated that beginning in February, men will be ordered for induction in each local board by age groups. Beginning with the twenty-five year old men not deferred, each age group will be exhausted in the local board before the next age group will be called. Colonel Johnson stated that approximately 43 twenty-five year olds, 108 twenty-four year olds, 254 twenty-three year olds and 274 twenty-two year olds will be called in February. The remainder of the call will be from men who are twenty-one years of age or younger.

The number of men from Shelby County who will be called is4.

S. C. S. Training Session Planned

In keeping with the policy of the Soil Conservation Service of improving skills of its personnel, a two day engineering training session will be held next week on the farms of Homer Jackson and F. E. Williams for Shelby and Chilton counties.

Ponds will be studied and dams designed. Terraces and drainage ditches will be laid out and cubic contents figured.

Experts will furnish all needed training.

Two Rich Men

Lesson for February 10, 1952

EVERYBODY knows that Jesus took an interest in the poor. But there is another side of the picture: Jesus took just as keen an interest in the rich. Some of his most famous and penetrating sayings were spoken in conversations with wealthy men. The truth is, Jesus was interested in people, as people. Whether they were rich or poor was, for him, a side issue. And still he knew that a man with money has both temptations to evil and opportunities for good that the poor man never has.

Dr. Foreman

Two Rich Men

JESUS met two men of means who were quite different from each other.

One, who remains nameless, had much to recommend him. He was rich, but perhaps that was the last thing people thought about when they saw him. He was young and vigorous; when he came to Jesus for an interview he did not walk, he ran. He was a man of executive ability, for the story calls him a "ruler." He was good, at least he claimed to have kept all the Ten Commandments, and Jesus did not contradict him.

Furthermore, he was eager in the right direction. His principal ambition was not to have more money but to have eternal life. On top of all this, Jesus loved him. You would certainly think that a man like that couldn't miss. But he did.

On the other hand was the man Zacchaeus. Being a publican, and rich, it is perfectly obvious that he couldn't have been either honest or generous, for it was only the greedy and the dishonest in those days who could amass fortunes by collecting taxes. He was no doubt middle-aged, for it took time to rise to the top in the publican game. As for eagerness for spiritual things, he seems not to have felt a bit of it.

We may guess that Jesus was not the only one who loved the rich young ruler; but if Jesus loved Zacchaeus, and he must have, he was perhaps the only person then in Jericho who did. No community loves a man who bleeds it white. Yet, strange as it seems, it is this rich man, this bad rich man, who comes out in the end with a higher rating than the "good" rich man.

Money the Master

THE last thing we see of the good rich man is his turning his back on Goodness. He had a chance to follow Christ—the same chance that Peter and Matthew had, the same command. Follow Me!

What great service Christ had in mind for him we shall never know. All we know is that he made the great refusal. Perhaps he thought better of it and came back later on; but it is not likely. The last we see of him is his back, as he "went away sorrowful."

Jesus never said of him what he said of Zacchaeus. Salvation never came to his house. He never inherited the eternal life he wanted. When it came right down to a choice: money, or eternal life, he chose money. He was willing to be a Christian, but not a sacrificing Christian. He only wanted to be an inheriting Christian. He thought of himself (no doubt) as master of his money; instead, money was his master. His money talked so loud he could not hear well what Jesus said. His money talked so fast that it made what Jesus demanded sound like nonsense.

Money the Servant

JESUS did not ask all his followers to get rid of every penny they possessed. Zacchaeus, for instance, did not renounce all he had. What he did was to give back all that did not belong to him, and give away a good deal that did. Jesus did not ask this man to do more.

A doctor does not always prescribe the same operation for every one. For some men, an appendix is a source of danger and must be removed at once, for others, an appendix may safely and most wisely be left where it is.

Jesus could see that the younger man was at the point where money was about to be his master; so indeed it was for the older man. But the first could not shake off the tyranny of his wealth, his own wealth; the other man could.

For the servant of Christ, money is not in itself a sin. It is a root of sin when its voice is louder than the voice of the Master. It is the means of sin when it stops the ears to a cry of need. No one can call himself a Christian when he refuses his money in the service of Christ.

VETERAN,S COLUMN

DIVIDEND

There may be a number of veterans in this county who have received no 1951 dividend at all, or have received a part of it. For instance, some veterans have more than one policy, have received the dividend covering possibly just one policy, and have heard nothing from the other one. It is my understanding that a representative of the Montgomery Regional Office of the Veterans' Administration made a trip to Washington to see if he could learn the answers to some of these questions, but came back empty handed.

The Central Office in Washington makes some attempt to explain why some veterans are so late in getting their dividend checks, by stating that the FREE INSURANCE LAW passed by Congress last April is holding them up. The Central Office said they were paying them off as fast as they could.

The 1952 Special Dividend. The Veterans' Administration has finally announced that it will begin paying about five million policyholders a total of about 200 million dollars in March. These dividends will be payable to those whose policies were in force for a period of three months or longer between 1951 and the 1952 anniversary date. The most you can expect from this dividend is fifty cents for each thousand dollars of insurance. If you have the full ten thousand dollars, your dividend will amount to $60; if you have $5000 in insurance, your insurance will be about $30.

Those of you who want to receive the 1952 dividend in cash must notify the Veterans' Administration in writing. If you don't do this, the dividend will be used by the VA to pay your premiums becoming due after the dividend is payable, if you should fail to pay it.

The VA states that it is mailing a special form to all policyholders which they may use to make the request for cash. You don't have to use this special form if you don't want to. You can simply write a letter, but if you do, be sure to include your full name and address, as well as your insurance numbers. Payments this time will be made direct from the VA District Office instead of the Central Office in Washington. These dividends do not cost the American taxpayer one cent. These dividends simply represent the unused portion of the policyholder's premium payments.

SHELBY COUNTY BOARD OF REGISTRARS TO ENFORCE NEW REGULATIONS

The Board of Registrars are now operating under provisions of Alabama's tighter voting qualifications written into the Constitution last December.

To register, a prospective voter must take an oath disvowing any subversive group or party and answer a questionnaire prepared by the State Supreme Court.

The new voting requirements were put in the Constitution after the so-called Boswell Amendment substitute carried by 369 votes in a statewide referendum.

Voting is restricted under the newly adopted law to persons of "good character" who "embrace the duties and obligations of citizenship."

This is the oath voter applicants must take:

"I do solemnly swear that the foregoing answers . . . are true and correct to the best of my knowledge, information and belief;

"I do further solemnly swear that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of Alabama; that I do not believe in nor am affiliated with, nor have I been in the past affiliated with any group or party which advocated or advocates the overthrow of the government of the United States or of the State of Alabama by unlawful means."

These are the more pertinent questionnairs:

"Are you now or have ever been a dope addict or an habitual drunkard?

"Give a brief statement of the extent of your education and business experience.

Questions Listed

"Have you ever been charged with or convicted of a felony or a crime offense involving moral turpitude?

"Have you ever served in the armed forces of the United States?

"Do you believe in free elections and rule by the majority?

"Will you give aid and comfort to the enemies of the United States government or the government of the State of Alabama?

"Name some of the duties and obligations of citizenship.

"Do you regard those duties and obligations as having priority over the duties and obligations you owe to any other secular organization when they are in conflict?"

In its order adopting the questionnaire, the Supreme Court reserved the right "to amend, change, and alter said questionnaire and oath when deemed by the court expedient to do so."

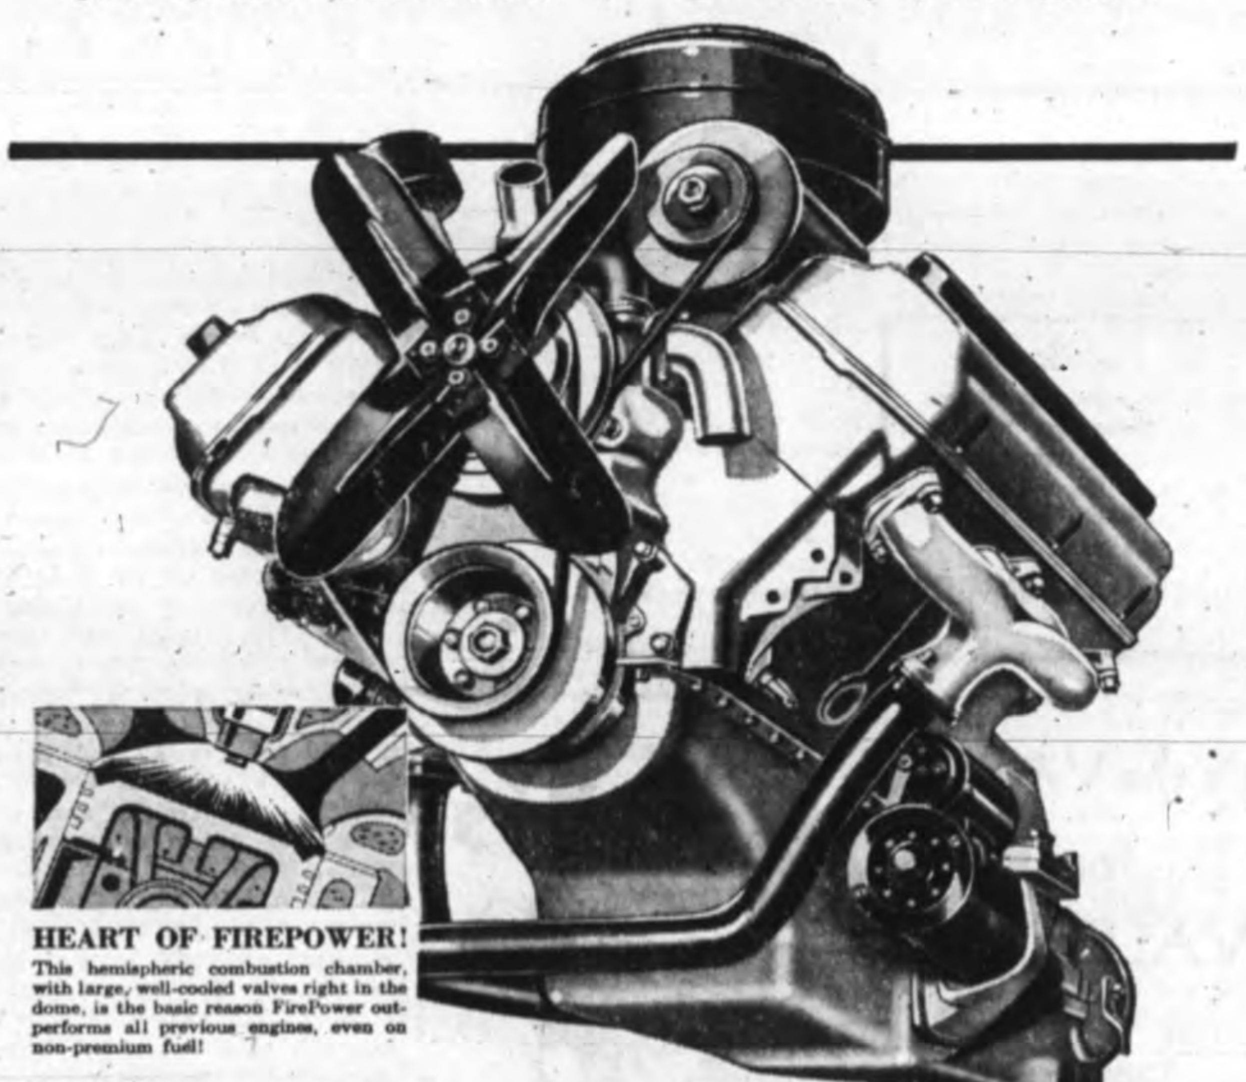
CHRYSLER V-8 ENGINE!



HEART OF FIREPOWER!
This hemispheric combustion chamber, with large, well-cooled valves right in the dome, is the basic reason FirePower outperforms all previous engines, even on non-premium fuel!

WHETHER you plan to buy a Chrysler or not, we cordially invite you to drive this revolutionary Chrysler FirePower V-8 engine. Only FirePower performance can possibly tell you what it is like. We want you to have that experience. The FirePower engine is a basic new design so advanced it can meet rising performance needs for years to come. Today it delivers 180 horsepower, even on non-premium fuel, and when desirable with simple changes in manifolding, compression, and carburetion the horsepower can be raised to 250 . . . or over 300, as in the experimental Chrysler K-310 car. Naturally, others will imitate this Chrysler achievement, at least in part. We honestly believe that the FirePower engine will outperform any other car in America . . . and we invite you to learn the new standard in engine performance Chrysler has set by driving it yourself.

EARLY FERTILIZATION FOR FARM FISH PONDS

Pond owners should make plans now to begin fertilizing their ponds around February 1, according to Earl Kennamer, A. P. I. Extension Service fish and wildlife specialist.

He points out that good fishing depends to a large extent on early fertilization. Fertilization materials stimulate early production of fish food in the water so that blue gills will be able to spawn heavily. They, in turn, will supply food for yung bass that wil be born in March, April and May.

"The first three applications on fish ponds this year should be made two weeks apart," advises Kennamer, "and any application thereafter should be made when the water begins to clear below the surface or when the hand can be seen beneath the surface at elbow depth."

The specialist adds that each application should consist of 100 pounds of 6-8-4 and five pounds of ammonium nitrate or 10 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre of pond surface. If large amounts of uncontrolled water are flowing through the pond, do not fertilize on February 1. Wait until the water has dropped to its normal flow over the spillway or has stopped altogether.

STATE COTTON SHOWS HIGHEST GRADE INDEX

Alabama's 1951 cotton crop showed the highest grade index of the Southeastern states, says O. N. Andrews, A. P. I. Extension Service cotton improvement specialist.

Using the grade "Middling White" as 100, Alabama cotton averaged 96.7.

HONEYBEES MEAN MORE CRIMSON CLOVER SEED

County agents estimate that more than 17,000 colonies of bees were used in Alabama last year to increase crimson clover seed yields an average of 65 pounds per acre.

W. A. Ruffin, A. P. I. Extension Service entomologist, says it is an established fact that pollination of many kinds of clover by honeybees will increase seed production, especially in areas where large acreages are planted. Of course, if only a few fields in a given area are planted to clover, wild bees will usually do the job.

There are two honeybee sources for farmers who have large acreages of clover. First, they can rent strong colonies of bees from established beekeepers to be placed in or around clover fields before blooming starts. Second, they can buy package bees in the early spring and start their own colonies. However, only those farmers that have had experience with bees should try this method.

"At any rate," says Ruffin, "arrangements for bees should be made at an early date. One to three colonies should be provided for each acre of clover. If new colonies are to be established with package bees, all equipment that will be needed should be ordered. Also, place an order for package bees and queens. If package bees are to help much with pollination this spring, three-pound packages should be used."

In a one-year experiment conducted by the A. P. I. Agricultural Experiment Station, clover exposed to bees produced 200 to 400 pounds more seed per acre than clover under cages that excluded bees.

4-H NEWS

NEW HOPE CLUB BUSY

A busy 4-H group these days is the New Hope Club. Most any afternoon if you should happen in you might find the girls busily working on their 4-H sewing projects. Under the leadership of their teacher sponsor Mrs. Julia Moore, the girls are learning how to sew by making aprons, skirts, dish towels, and pot holders. The sewing machine they have been using was furnished them by Mrs. W. S. Brasher. They plan to own a machine of their own.

The New Hope Club is one of two joint 4-H clubs in Shelby County. The boys and girls hold their meetings together and especially enjoy singing. A few of the songs they have learned are: "Night Herding Song," Side of the Mountain," "Morning Bells," and "Oh How Lovely is the Evening".

MRS. A. T. BELL AND DAUGHTER, MARY HONORED

A handkerchief shower honoring Mrs. A. T. Bell and daughter Mary was given recently by the Macedonia 4-H Neighboraide group.

Mrs. Bell was an active leader and has done much to assist and support 4-H club work. Mary Bell has been one of the outstanding 4-Hers in Shelby County.

The hostess, Mrs. J. Frank Wyatt directed several exciting games and served a lovely salad plate fo 13 guests. Those present including the honorees were: Joyce King, Brenda Huffman, Dorothy Mims, Betty Stillwell, Buddy Whitten, Mary Alice Davis, Jimmy Gamble and home agents Marian Cotney and Julia Ann Boysworth.

GUIDING THE ALABAMA PRESS ASSOCIATION in its expanded program for 1952 will be the officers pictured above, who were elected by the association's delegates to the 81st annual convention in Montgomery January 19. In the photo are:

WARDROBE TO TAKE ON BRIGHTER LOOK

No longer do salesladies try to sell customers dull colored dresses for the winter or early spring wardrobe, observes Levice Ellis, A. P. I. Extension Service clothing specialist.

She points out that the traditional navy blue will be pepped up n 1952 with such colors as daffodil yellow, beige, and gold. Also, leading colors will be all of those in the range from beige to gold and from pink to red. Neutral colors used alone or in combination with maple sugar, blue, ivory, navy blue, or black will be in the spotlight. Yellow for both toppers and accessories will be found on the market. The yellow trend includes such colors as mimosa, porcelain, gold, banana, lime, and chartreuse.

Put an old cloth to use when you're washing walls or high ceilings. Tie the cloth around your "washing arm.

HOMEMAKERS NEED TO BE GOOD MECHANICS

Today's homemaker needs more mechanical knowledge than ever before, according to Stella Mitchell, A. P. I. Extension Service home management specialist.

"The hand that rocks the cradle now runs the washing machine, dishwasher, vacuum cleaner, sewing machine, and an increasing number of other mechanical servants," explains Miss Mitchell. "Whether the homemaker uses them to best advantage and keeps them in condition depends considerably on her understanding of how they work. In emergencies she may be called on to make simple repairs, such as changing an electric fuse, patching an electric cord or plug, or opening a clogged sink drain."

If you have an iron frying pan or Dutch oven, do not soak or scrub it too vigorously. Just wash it with hot soapsuds and use stiff brush, if necessary. For scouring, use either steel wool or scouring powder. After rinsing, wipe completely dry. (If the oven is on or cooling off, the heat will help the iron to dry out completely).

JUNIOR II CLASS TAKES TRIP TO MOUNDVILLE

The Jr. II Class of Shelby County High School visited the Moundville Monument and Park at Moundville, Alabama, on Friday of last week. The transportation was furnished by interested friends. There were eight cars which made the trip.

At the park we enjoyed walking over the mounds. There were approximately 40 mounds in all and the largest one was about 58 feet in height. The view was beautiful from the top of this mound looking out over the rest of the park.

We then went inside the museum. Many Indian relics, pottery, jewelry, etc., were on display. Most interesting of all though, was the two burial rooms. The mounds had actually been dug into and the Indian bodies left as they were found, and the museum was built around and over the bodies.

Dinner time was next and what a picnic, right on the banks of the Warrior River. The food consisted of; sandwiches, potato chips, stuffed eggs, cookies and candy. Also plenty of Coca Colas were on hand. While eating a large freight boat came up the river pushing several barges. That of course, added to our excitement.

On our return home we stopped by the University Campus. There we visited the Museum and Library. Just before leaving we drove by Bryce Hospital. Time was pushnig us, and from there we turned our nose toward home. The end of day found us all tired, but happy and much richer from the experience for having gone.

Thanks again to all who made the trip possible.

New Bridge

Dedicated by Village

CHARLEMONT, Mass. — The entire community of Charlemont, 900 people, turned out recently for the dedication of a replica of one of the first covered bridges in New England.

The new bridge, like the old, spans Mine Brook and, except for some new-fangled notions—steel bolts instead of wooden pegs and a bit more truss work—looks the same as the original. It even has the same signs reading: "Walk Your Horse—$1 Fine for Trotting."

The old span was condemned some time ago. Then, the town contributed $10,000 toward the $56,000 cost of the new bridge, Franklin County put up $16,500 of the sum and the state the remaining $38,500.

Townsfolk Give Tiny Station Coat of Paint; Neglected for Years

MERRICK, L. I.—The community of Merrick, population about 600, recently demonstrated what a community can do if it has civic pride and determination.

The village's squat, old-fashioned building that serves as a railroad station was an eyesore. It had not been painted for almost 50 years. It stood in the town's very front door and the entire community was ashamed of it.

Determined to do something about it, Merrick called upon the Long Island Railroad to dress up the building. However, railroad officials replied they had neither the men nor the money for such a job.

There followed a long series of conferences which ended with the railroad finally agreeing to furnish the paint and the community the labor. But when the paint arrived it was the sickly green that had been used for years by the railroad on all of its stations.

Again the villagers balked. Then a local paint concern came to the rescue by donating white paint, and for trim, bright kelly green.

Then, on a recent Saturday, more than a hundred men—doctors, lawyers, merchants and teachers—began the job of giving the station a new coat of paint, the only white and kelly green railroad station on Long Island.

The men worked in relays of twelve or fifteen at a time. Mary and Bill's Diner, near the station, furnished coffee by the gallon and cake by the yard. Only professional on the job was Michael Schnabel, paint superintendent of the railroad, who readily admitted that while he had had more skillful men working under him, he never had supervised such an enthusiastic crew.

The station eventually will get two coats of paint inside and out, and a nearby watchman's shack will receive the same white-and-kelly-green treatment.

The local chamber of commerce reports the station gives visitors and people riding the railroad an entirely different opinion of the little community.

LOCAL DUROC BREEDER BUYS AT BIRMINGHAM

Local Duroc breeder C. W. Cates of Columbiana, bought a fall boar pig at the Southeastern Duroc Congress in Birmingham, January 22 and 23. He made the purchase because he found some of the finest Duroc hogs in the southeast at this congress. This is part of a program being carried on by Cates to make the quality of his herd still better.

The show and sale was staged by the Southeastern Duroc Breeders Ass'n. Breeders from seven southeastern states who brought bred gilts, fall boar pigs, and fall gilts to the congress.

The 2-day congress included such educational features as a type conference, cardass demonstration and judging contest, reports B. R. Evans of the United Duroc Record Ass'n, Peoria, Ill.

The Birmingham Chamber of Commerce invited Duroc breeders to a banquet held January 22. Featured speaker was Dr. E. V. Smith, dean of the College of Agriculture, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, Alabama. He gave an inspiring account of livestock advancement in the South.

C. Edwin Moseley, Peru, Indiana, and president of the United Duroc Record Ass'n., also spoke, as well as Evans.

Blacksmith Shop Is Tourist Mecca; Brings Fame to a Small Town

BURNSVILLE, N. C.—Daniel Boone VI has brought a measure of fame to his little home town of 1,000 people. But this Daniel Boone isn't blazing new trails or killing Indians. He's a blacksmith.

For those who like lacy grill work, he's just about tops.

Folks of the small town in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains say he could forge a perfect horseshoe at the age of 12, but he preferred to sketch intricate designs and produce ornamental iron instead of horseshoes.

His father, also a blacksmith, didn't know what to make of this artistic ironware, but he decided it was all right when tourists began buying young Daniel's andirons, grills, stair railings, name plates and mail boxes.

Daniel Boone VI, now approaching 50, really made a name for himself and his small town in the wrought-iron business back in 1939 when the restorers of colonial Williamsburg searched the hills for a craftsman who could turn out authentic colonial hardware. Each piece that he carefully fashioned for the restoration project bears the legend, "Wrought by Daniel Boone."

Like other manufacturers, Boone went in for war work during World War II. Part of his job was to repair machinery for the local mining industry, but it was mostly chance that caused him to go in for his major war project—turning out combat knives for soldiers.

He had two sons in service, and he made knives for them. They were of the finest steel with deerhorn handles, hand-forged and hollow ground—sharp enough to shave with. An officer saw one of the knives and wanted one. Orders rolled in until he had manufactured nearly 1,000 knives—at $10 each.

Now, in a manner of speaking, Boone is converting swords into plowshares. Nearly 100 veterans are training at the Daniel Boone Forge, learning how to be blacksmiths under the GI bill.

A Home-made Valentine for Him

Calumet Baking Powder Photo

Your sweetheart will be very happy, and proud, too, if you make him a delicious Valentine Cake with your very own hands! Yes, a beautiful cake such as this, with fluffy frosting and a heart right in the center — presented with your sweetest smile — will rate with him as the best valentine of all.

Valentine Cake

- 2¼ cups sifted cake flour
- 2½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ cup butter or margarine*
- 1⅓ cups sugar
- 2 eggs, unbeaten
- 1 cup milk*
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

With vegetable or any other shortening, use 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons milk.*

Sift flour, baking powder, and salt together three times. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating very thoroughly after each. Add flour mixture, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla and blend.

Turn batter into two round 9-inch layer pans, 1½ inches deep, which have been lined on bottoms with paper. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Cool.

Prepare your favorite fluffy white frosting. Set aside a small amount and tint pink for heart decoration on top of cake. Swirl remaining frosting between layers and on top and sides of cake. Then draw outline of a heart, with tip of knife, on top of cake and fill in with the pink frosting.

Dishwashing will be easier if you sew a large button on a corner of your dishcloth. The button will make scraping food particles off the dishes much easier.

A QUICKIE DIVORCE REFUSED

The State Supreme Court has again refused to consider a divorce case filed by a former New York woman who had lived in Alabama only two weeks when she brought the suit.

The court turned down an application for rehearing of Mrs. Joan Degger Levy's suit for divorce from William S. Levy. Mrs. Levy filed the suit in Madison County March 10, 1951. It was dismissed and the court ruled she did not show intent to become a permanent resident of the state.

Later last year the supreme court agreed and upheld the finding of the lower court. The supreme court did amend the decision, however, by dismissing the case "without prejudice" so Mrs. Levy could file another suit. The most recent ruling merely refued to look into the case again.

In Alabama, nine district agricultural schools were established between 1889 and 1895.

PEN POINT PARAGRAPHS

Mildred White Wallace

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO GOOSE-STEP FOR ONE DAY?

Stressing the Bill of Rights and all its blessed privileges, we have just read of a High School which put into effect Totalitarian Government for one day in the School. Pupils were required to "goose-step" to each class. A strict supervision over speech and press was placed into effect, and the teachers went home with the pupils for luncheon and demanded the kind of food they preferred. Everything was done under strict orders, and penalties were invoked for the slightest disobedience! Can it be by comparison young America was taught just how fortunate their independent pathways have been? Like many of Life's blessings we only miss them when they are gone.... This is applicable to both people and things!

SHELBY COUNTY CANDIDATES

I doubt if there is another county in the state that can present a more distinguished group of well qualified men seeking positions involving public service, than those now lining up for the race in Shelby County. All are well and favorably known. All are highly respected in their various walks of life. They stand well in their communities and towns. A gentleman just leaving our office this morning made the statement that he had never been 'so at sea" as all candidates were "his friends" and he was having a time "making up his mind" which one he should vote for.

Many citizens find themselves in the "same boat" regarding candidates for several responsible positions and wish they could vote for more than one. However, all cannot win. Some candidates will be eliminated on May 6, 1952, but; win, lose or draw, we do not believe there is a man in this race, who can't take victory or defeat at the polls, and come up minus any arrogance, if victorious, or bitterness, if defeated, which is exactly as it should be!

ATTENTION VOTERS

No one can legally register after the third Monday in April, until after the Primary Election which will take place on May 6, 1952, according to J. A. King, Chairman of the Board of Registrars.

PAUL O. LUCK GUEST SPEAKER COUNTY P. T. A. MEETING AT CALERA

Paul O. Luck has accepted an invitation to address the Shelby County Parent Teachers Association which will convene in Calera, Monday evening, February 18. His subject is "Shelby County's Industries and Educational Advantages".

POLL TAX RECEIPTS NUMBER APPROXIMATELY 1500

L. C. Abbott, genial Tax Collector of Shelby County, tells me that approximately 1500 electors have paid their poll tax. His records show a decided upturn in interest on the part of the voting contingent. For instance, this morning, I saw the names of four citizens who paid $36.00 each. They will cast their ballots for the first time on May 6, 1952. There were 5 citizens who paid $16.50 each for the privilege of having a "say-so" at the polls. Three people paid $21.00 each. Two paid $22.50 each and 2 paid $24.00 each. One fellow paid $27.00.... This is a healthy sign. More people are getting interested in who will fill the key positions in our county this year, and we are numbered among those who value this right of individual choice at the polls. We hope every citizen who is eligible to vote will avail himself of this opportunity. Only in this way can our democratic way of doing things survive.

Mr. Abbott has collected a total of $4,110 from the Poll Tax "payer-uppers" which, as you know, goes to the schools.

JOHN DAVID PHILLIPS

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Phillips of Siluria are announcing the arrival of a son who was born February 7, 1952, and whose name is John David Phillips. His proud grand-dad, Judge L. C. Walker was "passing out the cigars" most generously when we saw him the morning after this "blessed event".

Frank Head Enters Circuit Judge Race

Mildred White Wallace

High in popular favor, in what appears to be developing into a four-cornered race for the honor of serving the 18th Judicial Circuit as Judge, stands well known Frank Head, prominent attorney of Columbiana, and Deputy Solicitor for Shelby County. Mr. Head is recognized as one of the most universally liked officials in the county. He has a host of friends and former constituents who will read with interest the announcement of his candidacy for the 18th Judicial Circuit Judgeship which is carried in the current issue of the Reporter-Democrat.

Mr. Head is so unassuming and reticent when talking about matters and things pertaining to himself and the coming race, the writer felt, after leaving his office this morning, as if she had interviewed the "Egyptian Sphinx". Fortunately, however, we have been richly blessed in possessing the friendship of Frank Head for a number of years and it is on this basis, rather than on any direct quotation from the gentleman that we proudly present your friend and mine, and we shall begin this factual pen-point sketch from the time our paths first crossed in 1919.

During World War One there came a clarion call from over-seas, Frank Head, at this time, was a law student at the University of Alabama. He answered the call of his country and joined the Army, Infantry Division. He left Columbiana with other Shelby County boys on June 4, 1918, On July 31, 1918, Pvt. Frank Head sailed with the 81st Division for foreign service. He was numbered among the gallant lads who participated in the unforgettable Argonne Drive during October-November 1918.

Following the Armistice, Mr. Head was sent back to the states, and having discharged his patriotic duty, he re-enterd the University to complete his law course. He graduated from Law School with the class of 1921, and immediately began the practice of his chosen profession in Centerville, Alabama, where he remained from 1921-1925. He left Bibb county in 1925, to accept a position with a law firm in Miami, Florida, and lived there until 1932, when he returned to Columbiana where he has has since resided.

The people of Shelby County have honored Mr. Head by electing him for two successive terms in the House of Representatives. During his tenure in the Alabama Legislature from 1943-1950, he was appointed to serve on several important committee assignments. He is rated as one of the most capable Representatives Shelby county citizens have ever elected.

Mr. Head is an enthusiastic member of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. He has served two terms as Commander of the Columbiana American Legion Post. He is also a member of the Kiwanis Club and a much sought guest speaker by various clubs and patriotic organizations. He is married to the former Loretta George of Fairhope, Alabama, and they have one son, who is, at present, a student at the University of Alabama, awaiting his call to the Army.

Those of us who have known Frank Head for many years have found him to be a man of high ideals; a splendid character; a mild mannered gentleman whose integrity has never been questioned. He is loyal to his convictions and courageous enough to fight for those things he believes to be right. As a public official, he is well poised, competent, and, in every instance, has acquitted himself with distinction and dignity. Advocators of his candidacy (who claim to be "in the know), state that Frank Head possesses what is called, a "natural judicial temperament", and his friends and constituents believe, if his candidacy is approved by the electorate, that he would make a "good judge". The definition of a "good judge", given by Thomas Wilson, is as follows: "A good Judge should never boast of his power, because he can do nothing but what he can do justly; he is not the master, but the minister of the law"....

If you believe in these essential qualifications stated above, which I believe every Judge should possess, and if you believe by experience and education, Mr. Head is the man to fill the responsible post of Judge of the 18th Judicial Circuit," he states he will be grateful for your personal interest ,influence and vote on May 6, 1952.

REV. A. D. WIILSON LEAVES FOR CHATTANOOGA

The Rev. A. D. Wilson, pastor of the Methodist Church in Columbiana, left this week to acept an invitation to preach for one week in the Flintstone Methodist Church in Chattanooga, Tennessee. This series of services is being held as a part of the simultaneous Evangelistic campaign now in progress among Methodists throughout the South. Mr. Wilson is to be congratulated upon being chosen for this assignment in our neighboring state.

Next Sunday, Judge L .C. Moore, of Centerville, will speak at the eleven o'clock hour and the evening service will be devoted to viewing the picture called "The First Martyr".

GREEN'S SERVE YOURSELF PRIDE OF COLUMBIANA

Mildred White Wallace

When John Green, and his son, J. B. Green Jr., decided to pool their brains, brawn and assets, and give to this section of the county, a store in which all patrons could take pride, "Green's Self Service" came into being. Today, it stands a credit to the business acumen of the "Green's", and a joy to hundreds of patrons.

The modern, spacious building has one of the prettiest interiors we have ever seen, and every department is filled with dependable, staple and fancy groceries and meats. There is plenty of room and plenty of time for each shopper to look things over before buying. Prices are plainly marked, and courteous clerks are there to help you with your selections for delectable menus.

We invite you to look over the full page adverisement the "Green's" carry this week, and then, hasten right down and fill your culinary needs from this huge stock of Spring fresh vegetables and fruits. And, don't fail to go by the Meat Market. There, genial Clayton McGhee, will give you any kind of Meat or Fish you may be looking for, with a lot of good, breezy advice about how to cook it, in the event you are a novice in this line.

Take this worth knowing tip from me, and I'll wager you will be glad you did.

TOM NASH QUALIFIES AS CANDIDATE MEMBER BOARD OF REVENUE AND CONTROL

Tom Nash of Helena has qualified for re-election as a Member of the Board of Revenue and Control for Shelby County, but the official announcement was received too late for a sketch of Mr. Nash's outstanding work on this Board, during the many years of faithful service rendered the people of Shelby County. We hope to have a statement from him by next week. Mr. Nash is one of the most valuable men in this county. He has made a splendid pubicl servant, and District Number 3, should be very proud of the advancement made in this section under Mr. Nash.

Now, more than ever before, good business men are needed to serve on this Board, and we are delighted to learn that Mr. Nash will again be a candidate from District Number 3.

CONVICT LEASE SYSTEM ENDS JUNE 30, 1928

The convict lease system will come to an end for all time in Alabama on June 30, 1928, under a compromise bill that was passed by the Legislature last week. Governor Graves announced Saturday that the 285 county convicts at work in coal mines will be taken out and placed on the roads by June 1st, and the ninety days notice was given the coal companies.

CONTRACT IS LET TO REPAIR SHERIFF'S HOME

On Monday the Shelby County Board of Revenue let a contract for the repair of the Sheriff's home. Two new rooms will be added to the home and a bungalow roof will be built and the house will be painted. H. L. Gould was the successful bidder for the contract.

CIRCUIT COURT IN SESSION THIS WEEK

Beginning Monday the Circuit Court of Shelby County has been in session this week and will continue for another week. The Criminal Docket has 81 cases on it. Six of these are capital. The Grand Jury was organized Monday afternoon and C. A. Payne of Siluria is Foreman. Judge E. S. Lyman presiding Judge.

WALTON NAMED TAX AGENT

Governor Graves has notified T. A. Walton of Kingdom, of his appointment as Tax Agent for Shelby County. Mr. Walton is a successful farmer and succeeds E. A. Turner of Columbiana who served as Tax Adjuster during the Kilby administration.

COMMUNITY NEWS

L. C. Walker and F. P. Speight spent several days last week in Columbus, Ga.

The Siluria community extends a hearty welcome to Mr. J. T. Phillips and family of Kingston, N. C., who recently moved here. Mr. Phillips has charge of the Buck Creek Cotton Mills as Superintendent.

Mrs. N. S. Crawford attended the Missionary Conference in Gadsden this week, as a representative of the Columbiana Society.

H. A. Lester returned home Monday from a trip to Arkansas on which he had the opportunity to observe the effects of the recent heavy rains in that section. The rivers had greatly over-flowed their banks and for 5 miles, he said, the train passed through unbroken stretches of water.

News has been received of the death of W. R. Lawley, who formerly lived in Columbiana, at his home in Palm Beach, Florida. Mr. Lawley founded the Shelby County Abstract Company. Mrs. Lawley will be remembered as the neice of the Rev. T. K. Roberts. She formerly taught in the Shelby County High School.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Price had as their visitors Sunday, their three nephews, Dr. O. C. Connell, P. H. Connell and Hershel Connell of Notasulga.

Robert Shrader of Auburn visited his parents in Shelby during the past week end.

Alvin Lefkovits will leave Sunday for New York to buy goods for the Leader which will be displayed at a Spring Opening when he returns.

J. G. Hendrick Jr. had a group of his friends from Auburn up to spend the week end in Shelby. They were C. L. Brown, D. I. Wilson, E. W. Root, W. B. LaNicca and W. T. Horn.

Work has been started on the hotel at Club Yamakita, Shelby Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Taylor and their two children spent Sunday in Sylacauga.

A strong delegation from the Kingdom Community headed by E. L. Crumpton went to Montevallo Monday to attend the dairy meeting. Mr. Crumpton is greatly interested in learning all he can about the dairy business but even more interested in having his "boys" learn all they can.

Judge L. B. Riddle who says he is a farmer by proxy is greatly interested in developing his farm on the highway above Calera. This week he is planting 225 fruit trees. He expects to add to this number each year.

L. C. WALKER CANDIDATE FOR PROBATE JUDGE

JUDGE L. C. WALKER

MILDRED WHITE WALLACE

Presenting Judge L. C. Walker to Shelby County citizens is like carrying "coals to New Castle", so widely and favorably known, is this highly respected gentleman and public official, but it is a pleasure, the writer covets, to reveal some pertinent facts and figures regarding the the spendid record Judge Walker has made since Shelby Countians honored him by electing him to the Probate Judgeship. I should like also to call your attention to the advantages this county has had over less fortunate counties, in having a man of Judge Walker's character and ability to occupy the highest position in our county government.

Judge Walker's record, since assuming the responsibilities of the Probate Judgeship, is a one hundred percent perfect score. There is not one blot against it, according to the State Auditor's report thru the years he has served Shelby County citizens. After all, a man's record as a public official should be, and in this case is, the best recommendation he could have when asking for re-election. Not only are the records in this office accurately kept ,but Judge Walker has never failed to give every citizen who enters his office prompt, friendly and courteous service. And the people in this county are not unmindful of this service. I have yet to hear anyone, even from those who, for one reason or another will vote for his opponents, say they have "anything against Judge Walker". Thats a record in itself.

The Probate Office, since the new Board of Revenue And Control law went into effect, has taken on even greater significance with additional responsibilities. The Probate Judge, now, automatically becomes the Chairman of the Board of Revenue And Control for Shelby County. Therefore, an experienced man in finances, as well as an experienced executive, is certainly to be desired for this responsible post. Judge Walker, as Chairman of the Board of Revenue and Control, has proved his efficiency in this position which he has held for the past nine months. Here is factual evidence, which will verify this statement.

Shelby County has assets in excess of liabilities totaling $178,767.74, as compared with $148,674.65 on September 30, 1950, an increase of $30,093.90 within the past fiscal year. The county is under its constitutional debt limit by the amount of $573,572.48. The interest bearing indebtedness of the county, at the close of the fiscal year (1950-51), totalled $418,000.00 of which the Road, Bridge and General Indebtedness bonds amounted to $308,000.00 and the Refunding Road, Bridge and General Indebtedness bonds $110,000.00.

Sinking funds have been set up to meet the principal and interest payments on both issues. On September 30, 1951, the Road and Bridge Sinking Fund had a cash balance of $4,405.81 and receivables in the form of government bonds amounting to $297,970.00. The Road and Bridge Refunding bond Sinking fund had a cash balance of $6,737.70 and receivables of $79,180.00. A Surplus Gasoline fund has been set up and is designated as the Gasoline Equipment Trust Fund. This fund had receivables totaling $91,000.00 at the close of the fiscal year.

The official records show that all funds are operated at this time within their respective incomes.

In addition to cash balances in the sinking funds, other county funds had balances amounting to $159,654.60 while the liabilities chargeable against them amounted to only $42,180.37.

These facts and figures will not mean much to the average or casual reader, but they were obtained from the records, and few counties have a better financial record than Shelby County. These records all show a consistent improvement in the financial condition of the county, since Judge Walker has been Chairman, and he and his co-workers deserve recognition and commendation for this excellent report.

Not only have all bills been paid promptly, but where terms would permit, cash discounts have been taken which has resulted in saving

deGRAFFENRIED APPOINTED MEMBER BOARD VISITORS U. S. MILITARY ACADEMY

Representative Edward deGraffenried on Jnauary 31st was appointed by the Speaker of the House to serve as a Member of the Board of Visitors to the United States Military Academy. Other Members of the House appointed by the Speaker were Reps. Sieminski (D.-N.J.), Wigglesworth R.-Mass.) and Miller (R.-Md.).

The law requires one of the Members of the Board of Visitors to be the Chairman of the Committee on Armed Services of the House of Representatives, or his designee. Representative deGraffenried will serve as the designee of Representative Carl Vinson who is Chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

The duty of the Board is to inquire into the state of morals and discipline, curriculum, instruction, physical equipment, fiscal affairs, academic methods and other matters relating to the Academy.

ARTHUR'S GROCERY STORE A SUCCESS

One of the most successful grocery enterprises in Columbiana is Arthur's Grocery Store ,located a bit off the "Middle of Main" section of town, but offering each week such unbeatable bargains in Groceries and Meats, that customers lose no time after reaching town in going down to the building formerly occupied by Caldwell's.... and doing their trading with Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Arthur and Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Arthur, owners of one of the fastest growing commercial activities in this town.

The writer does not have time to do much running around to meet the many interesting people who have recently come to Columbiana to make their home, but a rural newspaper office is a gathering place for lots of folk who come to Main Street to do their trading, and invariably, they speak of ARTHUR'S GROCERY, as the place a fellow can really "find the bargains".

Arthur's Grocery Store personnel believes in advertising.... and for that we are grateful. They believe if you have something good in your store, you should let the people know about it, and they have consistently done this thru the weeks and months since they have been among us. Never a truer saying than that "It Pays To Advertise".... As one wide awake merchant recently remarked, "Doing business without advertising, is like winking at a girl in the dark. You know what you are doing, but no one else does".

You will find a successful merchant in every case, to be the one who confidently presents his merchandise, and enjoys the profits which such presentation always brings.

Visit Arthur's Grocery next time you come to town and you will get what I mean. M. W. W.

DUKE BUCKNER PASSES

Duke Buckner, 69, of Columbiana, died Saturday morning in a Birmingham hospital after an illness of several months. Funeral services were held Sunday in Birmingham with burial in Elmwood Cemetery.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Louise Freemen; two sons, Alton and B. B. Buckner, one brother and one sister.

Mr. Buckner was a brother-in-law of H. R. Davis, Charlie Davis, and Mrs. Nath Mooney of Columbiana. He had lived in Shelby County since his retirement several years ago.

COMBINING 4-H PROJECTS AND HISTORY WORK

The 6h grade boys and girls of the Vincent Elementary School are combining their 4-H projects and history work. How to learn the names of the 48 states and their size was their problem. With the help of their teacher, Mrs. Elizabeth Poole, they solved this problem by making aprons using the outline of a state on them as trimming. Each boy and girl draws a state on a piece of material placing the capital in its correct place and colors it. An apron is then made of the material. In addition to learning the 48 states they are learning to sew and can count another apron to the total of garments made on their sewing projects.

The 4-H boys and girls working on this project are: Delana Lawley, Glenda Garrett, Shirley Abbott, Voyt Guy, Lamar Hinds, Jerry Sims, and Arnold Moore.

CIRCUIT JUDGE

FRANK HEAD ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY JUDGE 18th JUDICIAL CIRCUIT

I hereby announce my candidacy for the position of Judge of the 18th Judicial Circuit, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary Elections to be held May 6, 1952 and June 3, 1952. I will be grateful for your personal interest, vote and influence.

P. O. LUCK CANDIDATE FOR JUDGE 18th JUDICIAL CIRCUIT

To the Voters of Clay, Coosa and Shelby Counties:

I hereby declare myself to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Primary Elections to be held on Tuesday the 6th day of May, 1952, and on Tuesday the 3rd day of June, 1952, for the office of Judge of the 18th Judicial Circuit.

I am deeply conscious of the responsibilities which I seek. It is my assurance to you that at all times my best efforts will be directed toward the discharge of the duties of the office in a manner which will, I hope, merit your approval.

I shall consider it a great honor if I may have your support in the coming elections.

Paul O. Luck

New Industries Move Into Thomson, Georgia

THOMSON, Ga. — This town of 3,000 has long held the reputation of being one of the most progressive communities in east Georgia, and is now expanding from the support of new industries.

The Kingsley Mill, one of the nation's most modern textile plants, located about five miles north of Thomson, is busy producing filament rayon fabrics. Production got underway in March and the plant has trained sufficient personnel to operate at 50 per cent capacity.

A total of 175 persons are now employed. This number will be expanded to more than 200 when full production is reached.

The mill's annual payroll of between $600,000 and $700,000 will help the local economic picture a great deal, local merchants report.

Another new industry will soon begin operation. It is a packing company that will handle pickles, sausages and other processed foods.

In the recreational field, the town has made considerable progress also in the last year. A new golf course and club house were completed recently, the tennis courts, open to the community, were lighted and the town is now raising funds for the construction of a swimming pool.

Ada Atchison Spain, Complainant,
Vs.
Vester Spain, Respondent,

In this cause it being made to appear to the Register by affidvait of Ada Atchison Spain, the complainant in this cause, that the Respondent is over 21 years of age, but his place of residence is unknown. That respondent has secreted himself so that process of summons cannot be served upon him. The officers of Shelby County and officers of Jefferson County, where respondent resided for a while, have made effort to serve summons in this case upon him but have been unable to do so for the reason he could not be found in those counties; that respondent evades the Sheriff and his deputies and as stated they have been unable to serve process upon him. It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Shelby County Reporter-Democrat, a newspaper published in Columbiana, Alabama, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring the said Vester Spain to plead, answer, or demur to the Bill of Complaint in this cause by the 4th day of March, 1952, or in thirty days thereafter a decree pro confessa may be taken against him.

Done at Office in Columbiana, Alabama, this the 4th day of February, 1952.

L. C. WALKER CANDIDATE PROBATE JUDGE

During 1951, the county completed the black topping of approximately 20 miles of road without borrowing a single penny. All roads black tapped have been paid for without borrowing any money and every piece of machinery purchased has been paid for in cash.

Now, Ladies and Gentlemen, there is a record on which any official might proudly take his stand. It is a record that will always reflect credit on the public servant who made it, and in this case, it is L. C. Walker, now serving you as your Probate Judge. He is asking that you allow him to continue the faithful, conscientious, honest work he is doing for the best interest of every citizen in Shelby County and for the permanent development of our resources.

If you appreciate Judge Walker's splendid record of public service, which I have recorded for your information, he says he will be most grateful for your approval of his candidacy; and this approval, of course, will be evidenced by your own cross mark on May 6, when you, the people, will determine who shall fill the Probate Judge's position for the ensuing six years.

NATIONAL FFA WEEK FEBRUARY 16-23

The week February 16-23 has been designated FFA Week. During that week, Aemicans in all walks of life will pay tribute to the Future Farmers of America, the boys studying vocational agriculture today, who will produce the food we eat tomorrow.

National FFA Week is also the week of George Washington's birthday. And this is no coincidence. Future Farmers regard Washington as America's first scientific farmer, he used some practices that are just coming into use today, and have chosen the week of his birthday to celebrate the founding of the FFA.

The FFA is a national organization of farm boys studying vocational agriculture in rural public high schools throughout the 48 states, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. There are over 12,000 FFA members in Alabama alone, more than 300,000 throughout the nation.

"I Believe in the Future of Farming," the first seven words in the FFA creed, is the theme of the National FFA Week of 1952. Each of Alabama's 252 chapters will participate in various activities during the week, carrying out the national theme. There will be banquets, radio broadcasts, contests and games, programs at civic club meetings, tours, barbecues and fish fries, parades, programs in the various schools, torch-light ceremonies, and many other unusual activities celebrating the founding of the largest farm boy organization in the world.

The week of February 16-23 will mark the 24th anniversary of the Future Farmers of America, the successful farmers of tomorrow.

ANDREW LYNN. BARRETT HELPS MARCH OF DIMES

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Barrett of Calera, held OPEN HOUSE Tuesday, February 5th from 4:00 to 6:00 o'clock in the afternoon in honor of their young son's first birthday. Andrew Lynn (Andy) was stricken with Polio at the age of 7 months. He has been under constant care of a Birmingham Physician and is wearing a brace, hoping that it will help him to recover from this dread malady. His parents have been so deeply touched since this misfortune took place in their family, until they were anxious to do something to help the March of Dimes Campaign.

Mrs. D. G. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Julious Barrett, Mrs. A. A. Thornburg, and Mrs. Exton Lowery greeted guests while Mrs. Tullis Blankenship registered them. Red and white gladioli and jonquils were used in the decorations. Mrs. Roy Downs presided over the lace covered punch table, which was centered with white tapers. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Marion Jones and Mrs. M. W. Jacks.

Mr. and Mrs. Barret wish to express their deepest appreciation to each and everyone of the 105 people who had a share in helping to make the occasion a success and they know that those who came will rejoice in knowing they had a part in adding $80.00 to the donations already made by the people of Shelby County to the Mother's March of Dimes Crusade. Special thanks are expressed to the Vignette Club of Columbiana for their generous response.

'OPERATION LEAP YEAR DAY' LAUNCHED BY AMERICAN LEGION POST

"Operation Leap Year Day" has been proclaimed by the Alabama Department of the American Legon for the Month of February, 1952, says G. C. Moore, Jr., Post Adjutant.

The purpose of Operation Leap Year Day is simply to induce every post in Alabama to "Equal its last year's membership by Leap Year Day, February 29th".

Not only will Legionaires be calling on those delinquent comrades and new prospects but the American Legion Auxiliary is "throwing in its active help and support in this drive, because for them "A new Legionaire is a new prospect Auxiliary member in the Legionaires wife". This help is deeply appreciated by the American Legion.

To date, February 9th, as this article is written, Shirley-Holloway Post 131 has active and paid up 1952 members totalling 53 as compared to a grand total last year of 59 members.

Six Diamond Auxiliary pins have been set up as prizes to be given the six top membership workers in the 5th District getting the most Legion Members between January 15th and February 29th.

Six Diamond Legion Pins will go to the top six membership workers in the fifth district for members signed up during the same period.

Those Posts reaching the last years total and going Over The Top By Leap Year Day will receive a beautiful certificate of Merit for this feat.

Come on Legionaires, ex-Legionaires and all Honorary Discharged veterans of all wars and let's get into the Organization that has backed us and that is at the forefront today standing guard over the destines of our country. You need the Legion! The Legion needs YOU!

Solid fat may be measured by submerging in water. If one-third cupful of fat is desired, fill a cup two-thirds full of water, then submerge the fat until the water reaches the one cup mark. The water may then be poured off and fat removed from the cup without sticking.

GULF STATES PAPER COMPANY HOSTS AT BARBECUE AND SELECTIVE TIMBER CUTTING

Officials of the Gulf States Paper Corporation of Tuscaloosa, extend a cordial invitation to all citizens in Shelby County who are interested in Timber Conservation, and Selective Cutting, to be present at the F. E. Williams place here, February 20, and witness a demonstration featuring selective cutting, and hear some pointers on the value of our timber lands and how to preserve them.

A delectable barbecue will be served by the Gulf States Paper Company's personnel, and all citizens interested in the timber industry and in promoting the preservation of our forests, are invited to be at the F. E. Williams place on this date from 2:30 to 4:30 P. M.

J. W. Byrd, genial representative of the Gulf States Paper Corporation will have charge of the afternoon program, which will be both instructive and entertaining.

MRS. EMMA PITTS 85 YEARS YOUNG FEBRUARY 20

Mrs. Emma Pitts, a long time resident of Columbiana, now resides with her daughter Mrs. Era Clinkscales in Birmingham and February 20, will be a memorable day for this "forever-young-in-heart" lady, for she will be the honoree at the celebration of her 85th birthday anniversary. Friends and loved ones say, "Yes, she is 85 years young, and gets sweeter every year". So, growing old gracefully, with children to bless her sunset years with their thoughtfulness, is merited by Mrs. Pitts. Her life's devotion to them has warranted their love for her now, and everyone of them seek to make the years ahead, the happiest she has ever known.

We join friends in Columbiana in extending our best wishes to "Miss Emma". Those of you who want to send your own birthday greetings may do so by addressing her, 526, 81st Street, Birmingham.

Remember the ones you love on Valentine's Day
THURSDAY FEBRUARY 14

'HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO YOU'

February is the shortest month in the year, even with one day added for Leap Year, but, a number of birthdays are being observed, past and present. For instance, Thomas A. Edison's birthday anniversary was February 11. He was born in 1847. In our town on February 11, little Miss Carol Horn, personable and talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Yeager Horn was the center of attraction in her home and among her many friends. February 12, Abraham Lincoln has made memorable. He was born in 1809 J. I. Harrison and Dr. Ralph Hunt Jr. shared honors on this date in Columbiana. Wednesday, February 13, Marie Ann Minor was puffing out candles on her birthday cake, and February 14, good old St. Valentine, the sponsor of "hearts" and those "three little words" was the topic of conservation. We saw several young blades purchasing candy for the "girl of my dreams".... and one good looking youngster, with a box tucked under his arm, not so big, but he explained this to me by saying "My financial standing isn't so flourishing, but this will let her know she isn't forgotten". And thats the main thing, on St. Valentine's Day.

Mrs. Homer J. Walton is entertaining the Culture Club February 15, and a beautiful musical program has been arranged as something special on these ever interesting program presentations for which the Culture Club is noted.

February 15, Oakley Vincent, Lamar Cagle and Mrs. Sam A. Lokey, will say good-bye to another milestone along their pathways. So, it's "Happy Birthday Everybody".

. . . Patricia Lewis, who has returned from Pennsylvania with Mrs. Odell Lewis for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Turner, entertained a few friends in the home of her grandparents last Saturday morning with a Television Party. The occasion marked a birthday anniversary for little Patricia, who is now a member of the Kindergarten set.

. . . We are glad Mr. J. C. Brumbaugh of Harpersville had some business to transact in Columbiana Monday, and that Lady Brumbaugh came along with him. It was the first time we have had the privilege of a chat with her in months, and we enjoyed every minute of it.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Lovett are numbered among our most loyal subscribers to the "Home Paper". Saturday, Mr. Lovett came by and whipped out a crisp $5.00 bill and handed us to renew his subscription. We immediately began scratching around hunting in vain for $3.00 change, when he startled us with the statement that he "wanted the whole $5.00 worth of Reporter-Democrat". Now, thats news brother, when a fellow comes by and hands out this much encouragement to a mere little dabbler in the ink-pot and we hastily record it as our best news item of the week.

. . . We express our thanks to Annie Mae Farmby of Columbiana Rt. who came in this week to renew her allegiance to this weekly we have the honor of representing. Everything going good, so far this week.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Miller and Mrs. Thomas Herring and little daughter Debbie, of Tuscaloosa, spent Sunday visiting relatives here.

TRINKET FORE SHAW

As dainty a babette as her name indicates, Little Trinket Fore Shaw was seen Friday in the post office with a crowd surrounding her, and we hastily joined in with our "O's and Ah's" in recognition of her baby charms. No one happier over the arrival of this little "Queen of Hearts" than Wilma Fore, her "grand-ma-ma" who handed little Trinket thru the P. O. window for us to cuddle up for just a minute. My, what joys these little blessed events in our lives prove to be!

ATTENTION MEMBERS OF THE MALE CHORUS

So many absent from the Men's Chorus last Thursday evening, that no rehearsal was held. Please let's get together promptly Thursday evening, and meet Clarence Cook, who has worked so unselfishly and faithfully with this group of musicians. He wants to begin work on the Spring music scheduled.

The "Ladies" had a full house, and their progress has been remarkable. The reason? Hard work and staying together. Their interpretation of "Some Enchanted Evening", is a lovely thing. We ohpe they will soon present an Evening of Music, so all may hear them.

. . . William H. Lee of Columbiana Rt., took "time out" from his duties with the Housing Project to come by the office and renew his subscription to Shelby County's leading weekly. All of these "subscriptions" and the words of encouragement that accompany them, make us feel that after all, maybe efforts to bring the news to you each week from your County and mine, have been worth while. It is good to know, when we fail to arrive on time, that we are "missed". Thats a pretty good indication that we are members of your family circle each week, and we like to know that the warm welcome you mention is ours for another year. Thanks so much.

. . . Thanks to J. F. Schumacher of Sterrett, who came by Saturday morning and asked for re-instatement in our ever widening circle of weekly readers of "The Home Paper".

. . . Chicken Pox continues making lots of our little friends unhappy. They are not at all satisfied with the limited boundaries in the Land of Counterpane. Among those recently kept from Kindergarten on account of this uncomfortable disease. are Conrad Fowler, Grace Carter Ozley, and across the way, we are happy to note that Kathy, Ileen and Judy Carter have recovered. Just next door to the Carters live the three little Hills, Nan, Peggy and Mike, all have "taken it". Here's hoping each little patient will soon be out again and can continue their merry-making.

. . . Mrs. J. E. Franks has returned from the hospital and friends hope she will soon be well enought to be back in her class rooms at the High School.

. . . We are grateful for the continued interest in our paper of the B. F. McClannahans as evidenced by a renewal subscription just received.

. . . U. S. Grady of Montevallo was in Columbiana Friday and pleased us muchly when he came by our office and signed on the dotted line for 52 more issues of the Reporter-Democrat.

. . . Mrs. G. S. Houlditch of Selma has been the charming guest of her daughter. Mrs. Ross Bob Mullins and Mr. Mullins, Jimmy and Bob Mullins, returned home with her Friday to spend the week end.

. . . If you are in search of a fellow who is popular with everybody, and who could have most anything he wants in this community, we would not take you one step further than where we could find Elvin Hill. One of the most public spirited fellows we know. Always ready to lend that "helping hand". The Kiwanis Club has never made a wiser choice for President, than when they elected personable, likable, affable Elvin Hill. That Kiwanis Club will now be like Alabaster, all you fellows will have to do is sit back and "watch it grow" under the direction of the above mentioned gentleman.

. . . This week we happily extend a warm welcome to Mrs. O. H. Cost who has moved from Birmingham back to Shelby County. She tells me as soon as she got "straightened out", she came in to have her name inscribed on our subscription list, for which courtesy we are sincerely grateful.

JEFFIE COWART

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCEMENT — Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Daniel Cowart of Calera, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jeffie, to Carl McLemore, son of Mr. Emmett McLemore, Moulton, Alabama. Miss Cowart attended Judson College and received her Bachelor of Science degree in Pharmacy from Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, Alabama. She is now employed as Pharmacist in Moulton. Mr. McLemore will receive his degree in Pharmacy this summer from Howard College, Birmingham, Alabama. The wedding will be an event of April.

MRS. GEORGE GREEN HONORED WITH MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

The spacious and hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Williams was the setting for a miscellaneous shower, Saturday, February 9th, 1952, honoring the popular bride, Mrs. George Green, formerly Miss Flora McGiboney of Columbiana, Alabama.

Cut Spring flowers in artistic arrangements fragrantly centered the halls and living rooms. The hostesses for this lovely occasion were Mrs. dames F. E. Williams, Ben Skelton, L. C. Walker, Alton Sawyer and Miss Maggie Powell.

The guests were met at the door by Mrs. J. G. Bohannon, a sister of the bride; greeting the friends in the receiving line were: Miss Maggie Powell, Mrs. George Green, Mrs. J. W. McGiboney, the mother of the bride, and Mrs. J. B. Green, Sr., the mother of the groom.

Miss Myra Holcombe graciously presided over the bride's book in which eighty guests were registered.

One of the unusual features of the entertaining shower was the Wishing Well; each friend was invited by Miss Dorsey V. Payne and Mrs. Charles Spearman to "make a wish for the bride", and many and varied were the wishes that went into the Well to return, they hoped, as full as "The Old Oaken Bucket" and as forever satisfying!

The gifts were displayed in the various rooms by Mrs. Luther McGiboney, Misses Norma Jo Gardner and Peggy Johnston.

The color scheme of yellow, white and green was distinctively shown in the table appointments; the iced course was served by Mesdames W. H. McGiboney, S. S. Pierce, Ben Skelton and Frank Johnston. Among the unique decorations in the dining hall was the minature "wedding party" consisting of bride, groom four bridesmaids and the minister, all costumed by the hands of the Mother of Mrs. F. E. Williams, Mrs. Arthur Milstead, twenty-five years ago in celebration of the marriage of Eloise Milstead and Fogus Williams.

Among the out of town guests were Miss Vinnie Mae Lyon, Miss Maxine Finley, Mrs. P. T. Templin, Mrs. W. H. McGiboney, Miss Elizabeth McGiboney, Mrs. J. H. Gardner, Miss Norma Jo Gardner, Mrs. Edward Gardner, Mrs. R. L. Lawley of Birmingham, Alabama; Mrs. E. I. Goodwin of Talladega, Alabama, Mrs. Jimmie Crabtree of Nashville, Tenn.; Mesdames O. D. Smith and N. E. Revis of Wilsonville.

WYNONA RICHARDS LANDS IN HONOLULU

One of the prettiest brides in Honolulu today is Wynona Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Huston Richards, who flew from Birmingham last Saturday, landed 16 hours later in Honolulu, and is now the bride of John Helms Jr. They were married Monday. Classmates and friends of the young couple will join us in extending congratulations.

. . . Mrs. Dick Martin of Calera spent Tuesday in Columbiana, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Homer H. Bearden and Mr. Bearden. Appreciate their thoughtful call in our office during her brief stay on Main.

. . . Friends of T. C. Rush Sr., will be glad to learn he is improving satisfactorily at his home, following an attack of Virus X. Mr. Rush is the oldest in years of service on the rural routes in Shelby County today. Mr. Rush has been sincerely missed from his church activities as well as his work for Uncle Sam.

. . . John Shaw of Westover seen on Main today and someone told us he was 80 years old, but, judging from his looks, we still do not believe it....

. . . Mr. and Mrs. J. P. West and two children of Rome, Georgia, spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Spivey.

. . . Friends will regret to learn that Joe Spivey, when returning from his work at T. C. I. last week fell and broke his ankle. He is receiving medical treatment in Birmingham.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Dougald MacMillan and two children of Birmingham, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Homer J. Walton.

. . . Rose Wood has one of the loveliest speaking voices we have heard. Soft and well modulated. We asked her where she had acquired it, and in the ensuing conversation, learned that Rose is a former member of the Howard Glee Club. Now, the point is, we think she should stop being so modest about her talents, and she has many! We have the pleasure of arriving at the Baptist Church each Sunday morning, just about the time Rose is closing her lectures to her class, and if the close is an indication of the beginning, we no longer wonder why she always has a full attendance. Rose Wood is often featured as guest speaker and is exceptionally good on Book Reviews.

. . . Dr. Hopkins from Howard College, will fill the pulpit at the Baptist Church next Sunday, and a large congregation is assured. Seldom has Columbiana had the privilege of hearing such a distinguished speaker. The writer hopes he will continue coming each Sunday, for many more weeks. The church attendance as well as financial condition, has steadily improved since he has honored us with his presence and hope-filled messages. The Choristers will present their interpretation of "The Holy City", as a special request number at the eleven o'clock hour.

. . . Shelby County High School students have contributed $14.00 to the March of Dimes campaign.

. . . Sunday, February 10, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Smith in Wilsonville was the setting for a second Christmas Party. Pfc. Nick Smith is home from his military assignment in Tuscon, and all the children were together for the first time in many months, and even Grandmama, and Grand-papa, were there to join in the "happy welcome home again". Annette Thompson of Columbiana was numbered among the guests who shared this joyous occasion.

. . . We are hearing many favorable reports regarding the "Youth Choir" at the Methodist Church which was recently organized and is making splendid progress under the direction of Mary Mims at the High School, Mamie Miller Horn, accompaniest.

. . . Easter Sunday is April 13! "The Song Of Triumph", a Cantata, will be interpreted by the Baptist Choristers on Sunday evening. This is an annual offering and friends are cordially invited to share this occasion with us. Soloists include, Ed Rush, Bob Holliman, John Rush, T. C. Rush, Jr., Bettye Lyon Rush, Ruth Tillery, Catherine Walton and Carolyn Evans. A supporting choral group of 30 voices will be heard.

. . . Total amount collected by the alert Vignette Club members for Fight Against Polio Drive is $605.00 according to Virginia Fowler, Chairman. We do not believe any club or organization can beat this "teamwork". The Vignettes deserve and are receiving congratulations!

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen, Deborah Allen, Denton Cole of Auburn and Lloyd Cole were having a fine time dining together Sunday, as we joined the luncheon guests at Evelyn's. At other tables we enjoyed chatting with Homer, Zera and Bud Walton, Mr. J. R. McMillin, Levert and Pearl Christian and Joanna and Frank Jones.

. . . The Rev. Harry Moore, ministerial student at Howard College, spoke in the Baptist Church Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock hour.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Gene Edmondson entertained friends of their daughter, Dell Darlene on her birthday anniversary. Favors were presented each guest and after games and contests were enjoyed, Cake and Ice Cream were served to the future beaux and belles of Columbiana.

. . . "Ruth and Smitty", Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Smith, are now "home every night", but spend their days "teaching" in the Magic City. They received a warm welcome from their many friends in Columbiana Sunday morning when we had the pleasure of greeting them in the Baptist Church.

. . . Angela Skelton was hostess on her birthday last week and entertained the Kindergarten Kiddies as well as members of her class at the Elementary School. Angela is popular with her classmates and has many friends among "grown-ups" who love her for her sweet and gracious manner. We join others in wishing for Angela many more happy birthday anniversaries.

. . . Congratulations to Bill and Gayle White who, on St. Valentine's Day, ten years ago, agreed to share their joys and sorrows, "until death do us part". (May you have many more happy years together, my dears.)

An egg beater should never be soaked. Instead, rinse it under the cold water faucet the minute you stop using it, and hang it up to dry. Keep the wheel of the egg beater from under the faucet, it rusts.

NOTICE

In The Probate Court of Shelby County, Alabama.
Shelby County, a Body Corporate,
vs
Mrs. Floy M. Carr, et. al.

You are hereby notified that Shelby County, a body corporate, has filed in this court its written application seeking to condemn lands, rights and interest therein described for a right of way and borrow pits for the purpose of constructing, improving or maintaining a public road or highway in said county by the county and the State of Alabama, as located and staked out by engineering personnel of the Office of the County Engineer of Shelby County, Alabama, and designated as Project No. SACP-432, which said road or highway is located between Vincent and Arkwright in Shelby County, Alabama ad which is called the Vincent-Arkwright road; and said lands owned by you are situated in Shelby County, Alabama, and are described as follows:

Parcel I: Beginning at Station 64/15 of Project SACP 432 at a point two feet West of and at a right angle to center line of said project; thence Easterly along the property line of said railway a distance of 21.0 feet; thence Southeasterly along said property line a distance of 140.0 feet to point of intersection with East 40 foot right of way line of said Project; thence South 29 deg. 58 min. East along said right of way line a distance of 108.0 feet; thence Westerly across the North abuttment of existing overpass a distance of 60.0 feet; thence Northerly along property line of said railroad a distance approximately 251.0 feet to the point of beginning.

Parcell II: Beginning at a point on centerline at Station 69/13 of said project thence Easterly along property line of said railroad, a distance 16.0 feet; thence Northerly along property line of said railroad a distance 103.0 feet to point of intersection with East 40 foot right of way line ofsaid project; thence Northwesterly along said right of way line a distance 30.0 feet; thence Westerly across the South abuttment of existing overpass a distance 60.0 feet; thence Southeasterly along property line of said Railroad a distance 126.0 feet; thence Easterly along property line of said railroad a distance 9.0 feet to the point of beginning.

It is the intention that these two parcels of land as above described shall include any land that may be lying within 40 feet on each side of centerline of said project up to the abuttments of the said overpass.

Said strips of land lying in the SE¼ of the NW¼, Sec. 23, T 19 S, R 2 E.

The above description is as shown on the right of way map of Shelby County recorded in the Office of the Probate Judge of Shelby County.

You are further notified that the hearing of said application has been set by the court for Friday, the 7th day of March, 1952, at ten o'clock A. M. on said date and notice of said application and of the day so appointed for the hearing thereof, are hereby given you.

This the 11th day of February, 1952.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

SCRIPTURE: Luke 10:38-42; John 11: 1-45; 12:1-2.
DEVOTIONAL READING: I John 2: 8-17.

Homes for Christ

Lesson for February 17, 1952

Dr. Foreman

WHAT is a Christian home? It is no solemn place, for "solemn" is not another word for "Christian." It is not an "American" home, because while Christians can be Americans, and vice versa, the two words do not mean the same thing. Sending off the little ones to Sunday school every Sunday morning, or even piling the whole family into the car and going to church 52 times a year, will not quite do it. For church-going is only one part, and the easiest part, of being Christian. What about the rest of the week?

Does Jesus Get Beyond the Front Door?

THE home of Mary, Martha and Lazarus, where Jesus often visited, we can think of as in many ways a Christian home. Jesus was welcome there; he dropped in any time, he felt at home.

Now Christ is most at home (as any one is) where people are congenial, where the attitude to the things men live by—work, play, love, worship—is the same as his attitude.

Also in the Bethany home they listened to Jesus. It is well to have a Bible in the house; but that alone will not make it Christian. Is it read? Do the children when growing up hear the words of Jesus from the Gospels? Do they hear his voice as often as they hear the voice of Mr. Cassidy or the Lone Ranger?

How the Home Can Serve

THERE are three ways in which the home of today can serve Christ. One is in connection with the church. Except in rarest cases, every Christian home should be an actual part of some Christian church. A church which has no cooperation from the homes in its community will be a dying church.

The livest churches, on the other hand, are those where homes and church do the best team-work. To take only one example: Does your home work together with your church in the recruiting of ministers?

Ministers have to come from somewhere, and the best ministers don't all come from preachers' homes by any means. How about the boys in your home? If one of them felt an urge to be a minister or a missionary, would the rest of you laugh him out of it?

Another way for the home to serve Christ is in treatment of strangers. When strangers move into your community, or live there for a short time as school teachers sometimes do, is your home open to them? Is your house a "home away from home" for lonely people?

When you have a party, do you invite always only those who can invite you back, or do you (as Jesus suggested) include people who will probably never be able to repay you? A home that prides itself on being "exclusive" has forgotten Jesus' words—"I was a stranger, and ye took me not in."

Serving the Children

A Christian home, moreover, will serve its own children in Christ's name. In it children will hear about Christ, not as a past figure in history but as a Living One. Parents will teach them Christian patterns of living.

This will not be merely something they hear about in Sunday school, it will be the pattern of life in which they are trained from day to day, beginning even before they can remember. This home, if it serves its children as it should, will show them how to help Christ. The children will know about the church ("His body," said Paul) and what it is doing in his name around the world. From their earliest years they will be helpers in this work. They will not grow up thinking of "missions" in some vague way, but they will know and be thrilled by the great story which that single word carries.

And the children in a Christian home will be helped by Jesus far more than they help him. Even at the beginning of childhood they will learn to say "Dear Jesus, help me," when the mean word or the angry act are just almost exploding. Even as children they will learn something of what in older years will mean much more, the "practice of His presence."

But no one can learn from the ignorant. And children will never learn these things at home without help. A home does not begin to be Christian with the children, but with the parents. Whatever good the children learn, father and mother must learn it first.

NEW HOPE

Mr. W. C. Turrentine left Saturday for New York after spending the past two weeks visiting relatives at "Happy Acres". He is a member of the crew of the U. S. N. Henry Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mahan have named their baby daughter, Billie Joyce.

Mrs. Grady W. Denson and Mrs. Emory Collins of Birmingham were guests of Mrs. Earl Fallin and other relatives in the community Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wright and Mrs. A. B. Davis, spent Saturday in Oak Grove visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Davis.

Mrs. Gordon Cross has returned from the Lloyd Nolen Hospital where she spent two weeks undergoing treatment.

Mrs. H. H. Putnam and Mrs. Ruby Paine of Birmingham were guests of the J. W. Mahans here Friday.

Mrs. Carolyn Lamb has returned to her home in Birmingham after spending several days of last week visiting her sister, Mrs. Minnie Todd here.

Mrs. T. R. Wynn is improving at the East End Hospital following an operation Monday.

Mrs. G. A. Bass and daughter, Mrs. Bennett Brake of Republic were guests of relatives in the community Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hilley and little daughter, Carol, were week end guests of relatives in Gadsden.

Mr. Lee Street is improving at his home here following an illness of several weeks.

Mrs. Mason Cumberland and children of Pelham spent Saturday here visiting Mrs. Carl Street.

Three beautiful modern homes have been completed in the community. Mr. and Mrs. Berey Morgan have come down from Birmingham to occupy their home on "Rainbow Farm". Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waites, also former Magic City residents came to their new home here several weeks ago. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Morgan who have resided here for a number of years, will move into their new home atop New Hope Mountain just off the Valley Road this week. Several others plan to build here this summer.

The Otto Crumleys have a new home which has been completed in recent months. The family has been responsible for finishing the floors and other inside work on this attractive little home.

TELEPHONE RATES TO GO UP

Alabama telephone rates are to go up an average of from 15 to 20 per cent this month.

But that is only part of the increase asked by the Southern Bell Telephone Co., the Alabama Public Service Commission said, in announcing the rate hike.

And commission spokesmen emphasized that the new rates bring the telephone company earnings on investment to 6-2/3 per cent, the minimum fixed by the Alabama Supreme Court two years ago. Southern Bell, at December and January hearings, asked for increased rates to bring in an additional $4,912,278 a year. The raise granted by the commission will bring in an estimated $3,655,921 of which $1,995,812 represent taxes. That leaves the company with a revenue increase of $1,660,109.

The PSC also refused Southern Bell permission to increase pay station local calls from five to 10 cents.

The commission also have given two other telephone companies in the state permission to raise their rates slightly. They were the Tri-County Telephone Company, Ashland, to increase the cost of phones served by the Wadley, Alabama, dial system exchange, and the Arab Telephone Company, Arab, Alabama.

SHELBY COUNTY FARM FAMILIES CONTRIBUTE TO AGRICULTURE THRU FHA

The United States Department of Agriculture last month released the annual report of the Farmers Home Administration for 1951.

"Increasing numbers of families who have been only partially employed because of their inadequate land resources are borrowing to enlarge or develop their holdings so they may have full employment in agriculture and thus expand their production," Dillard B. Lasseter, Administrator, pointed out. This trend is being encouraged, he said because of the need for more food production in this defense emergency period.

The number of farm ownership loans in 1951 was 27 % more than in 1950, the report noted further, and more than half of them were for farm enlargement and farm development purposes. Veterans becoming established in farming received slightly more than half of the national appropriation of FHA loan funds.

Many Shelby County farmers participating in this program of supervised agricultural loans have increased their production and contributed thereby to the national welfare.

"It is essential in this emergency period that we fully employ our agricultural potential in Shelby County," Stephen S. Pierce, County Supervisor in the loeal Farmers Home Administration office, pointed out in presenting this report.

SOD WATERWAYS HELP CONTROL SOIL LOSS

During heavy rains more water falls on cropland than it can absorb, even where good terraces, contour farming, and crop rotations are used.

"This surplus water must flow from the farm through some kind of waterway," says S. R. Doughty, A. P. I. Extension Service soil conservationist. "Unless a safe waterway is provided, serious damage from erosion will result. Generally, it is easiest and cheapest to use bottoms of natural draws or depressions for sod waterways. The sod may be grass, perennial legumes, or grass-legume mixtures."

Doughty adds that sod waterways must be designed to take care of any amount of rainfall. They must be made right. They must have annual applications of fertilizer and mowing and grazing when needed.

DATE AND RATE FOR TOP-DRESSING OATS

Highest yields and greatest returns from oats result when they are top-dressed at the recommended rate and time.

D. R. Harbor, A. P. I. Extension Service argronomist, says that one test plot of oats received no top-dressing. It produced 23.2 bushels per acre. A top-dressing of 100 lbs. of nitrate of soda increased the yield 18.6 bushels per acre. Another plot of oats received 200 pounds of nitrate of soda and increased the yield 11 bushels over the 100-pound application. Still another plot received a 300-pound application, increasing the yield 11.6 bushels over the 200-pound per acre application.

"In other words," says Harbor, "300 pounds of nitrate of soda increased the yield 41.2 bushels over the plot which received no top-dressing. All plots received 300 pounds of 4-10-7 fertilizer per acre at planting time."

The agronomist adds that the date of application of nitrogen top-dessing is very important. At the same substation over a five-year period, the following results were secured: Oats top-dressed March 1 produced nearly six bushels per acre more than those top-dressed April 1.

COTTON VARIETIES LISTED FOR STATE

Cotton variety tests conducted at 12 locations in the state show that Stoneville 2B, Smith 78, Empire, Deltapine, Coker 100 Wilt, and Plains are the best varieties to plant in areas free of cotton wilt.

"Cokker 100 Wilt, Stonewilt, Smith 78, and Auburn Hybrid 56 should be used in wilt infested areas," according to O. N. Andrews, A. P. I. Extension Service cotton improvement specialist.

CHICK CHATS

SOME 'ESSENTIALS' OF POULTRY-RAISING

As poultrymen prepare for another chick season, they are making careful arrangements for the arrival of their broods. They're doing this because getting chicks off to a good start is the first, and most important, step in poultry-raising.

But special care for chicks isn't all the poultryman should be concerned with at this time. He also should be planning ahead to insure the future growth and development of the flock. The "essentials" of good poultry management not only apply to the chick season, but also other stages of development.

Important Reminders

Briefly, here are a few important reminders for the poultry-raiser as he starts another year and another batch of baby chicks:

1. Start with good chicks. Buy chicks backed with good breeding. These birds have the best chance for good livability and high production.

2. Start chicks early. By purchasing chicks in February or March, you will have pullets in 50 per cent production by early September.

3. Keep old and young stock separate. Many diseases and parasites can spread from old to young birds when they are allowed to run together, so never range young and old stock on the same ground.

All-Pullet Flock

4. Provide clean, succulent pasture for growing birds. Clean ground helps in disease and parasite control. Succulent pasture helps save on feed bills and provides nutritional advantages.

5. Have an all-pullet flock. All-pullet flocks are more economical producers and return a greater profit. All-pullet flocks also tend to have lower mortality than flocks of mixed hens and pullets.

6. Cull the flock constantly. Cull during the growing period, at housing time, and throughout the year. "Culls," if kept, threaten other birds in flock and consume feed without producing.

7 Feed balanced rations. Feed a growing mash during the summer months supplemented with plenty of whole oats and granite grit. Also keep plenty of fresh drinking water on hand.

8. Use labor-saving devices. Such conveniences as roosting racks, built-in feed bins, running water in houses are labor-saving devices you can use efficiently.

FFA COOPERATES ON 'KEEP ALABAMA GREEN' PROGRAM

In cooperation with the "Keep Alabama Green Program", The Future Farmers of the Columbiana F. F. A. Chapter observed Arbor Day for Shelby County High School.

They cleared up some school property that had been growing up in weeds, briars, and honeysuckles for the past 15 or 20 years, to have a place to plant some trees.

For the occasion, the Future Farmers used 2,000 of some 10,000 trees donated to us by the Gulf States Paper Corporation.

At some period during the day each individual class made a trip to the demonstration area, and the students received information and instrutcion on the "Keep Alabama Green" program, where and how to obtain uine seedlings, how to heel in and set the seedlings, and many other important things pertaining to forestry.

Next, each Future Farmer took from 3 to 5 students and made sure that each student (girl and boy) set out several pine seedlings. One girl expressed the occasion as being her monument to leave at "Shelby County High".

After the trees were planted cookies and coffee cooked over a camp fire was served.

We enjoyed having with us Mr. Stucky with the State Forestry Department and Mr. Cook of Gulf State Paper oCrporation.

4-HER HAS HOBBY

What's your Hobby? 4-Her, Hertha Stone, has started a hobby of making stuffed animals. Hertha has shown her interest in sewing by taking it as one of her 4-H phojects for the last 3 years.

Besides the extra sewing she has done for herself, she has completed her last year's sewing project by making pillow tops, chair covers, a luncheon set, curtains, and a skirt which she entered in the skirt revue.

Hertha is an active 4-H neighboraide leader for the eBthel community and is a member of the Columbiana, Junior-Senior 4-H Club. She is the daughter of the Sam Stone's. Miss Irene Bishop and Mrs. Frank Head are her Teaiher Sponsors.

TERRY ANN DEWBERRY INTERESTED 4-HER

An interested, hard working 4-Her is Terry Ann Dewberry. She has been a member of the Wilsonville 4-H club for 3 years. During those years she has completed projects in foods, sewing, calf ,and canning.

She has been a big help to her mother this past summer with the canning projects she was taking. Besides helping her mother she canned 7 quarts peas, 10 quarts fruits, and 7 quarts of beans.

She has finished her sewing project by making 4 potholders, 4 dishtowels, 2 skirts, 1 apron, and hemming some of her own dresses. Terry Ann says that she also likes to make doll clothes and has made many dresses for her doll.

Terry Ann is a member of the Wilsonville 4-H club. Mrs. Bertha oCsper is her Teacher Sponsor. She is the 12 year old daughter of the J. M. Dewberry's of the Fourmile Community.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY, FEBRUARY 22

George Washington once wrote his nephew Bushrod Washington the following bit of advice. The letter is dated 1783, but the advice contained in the paragraphs is an applicable today, as it was 168 years ago. We quote:

"Be courteous to all, but intimate with few; and let those few be well tried before you give them your confidence. True friendship is a plant of slow growth, and must undergo and withstand the shocks of adversity before it is entitled to the appellation."

A RETURN TO THE FAITH OF OUR FATHERS

Some one once said, "Despotism may govern without faith, but Liberty cannot".

We must have a restoration of faith in our leaders, if our democracy survives. There must be a return to our traditions which have made America the greatest country on earth. We must elect leaders this year, who will be guided by those fundamental principles which have been the solid rock foundation of our country, through all the years, even, as one writer says... "when in the wilderness of war and of depression, a cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night."

We must elect leaders locally and nationally in whom we can safely trust the future vitally important decisions affecting every American citizen.

Leaders should be chosen who possess intellectual ability and keen vision tempered by knowledge and sound judgment. Leaders with convictions that will rise above personal political ambition. Leaders who will hold fast to principles. Certainly there are such potential leaders available today, for the spirit of Washington and of Lincoln persists in the hearts of the people who have honored their memories this month.

At present, however, a bewildered and confused people stand at the cross roads, groping for courageous leaders in whom they may safely place their confidence. Men of integrity must be elected to key positions in our national, state, and county government who will inspire faith, without which, as this writer sees it, this country and its democratic way of life cannot survive the chaotic condition it flounders in today. What do you think?

CANDIDATES WARNED NOT TO PARTICIPATE IN 'BOX' SUPPERS

"It has been brought to tne attention of this paper that several of the announced candidates for the various offices have already been receiving invitations to money-making suppers.

The Elmore County Demo. Ex. Committee has asked us to remind the candidates of the resolutions passed at their meeting last week. This resolution forbids candidates from participating in money-making suppers of all kinds, where prices in excess of usual market rates are paid. Violations of this regulation can disqualify a candidate and cause his name to be removed from the ballot. All candidates are advised to take heed to this warning."

(Wetumpka Herald)

The above action has been taken in consideration of the candidates and the many demands made on them. I feel sure all candidates in all counties would appreciate the adoption of this plan set by the Elmore County Democratic Executive Committee. It is a good "Resolution".

We have also been asked numerous times what the Shelby County Democratic Executive Committee did regarding the "pledge" to support the national nominee, no matter who he might be, now a hot controversial issue. We understand from those present, that "the matter was not brought up", hence, no action was taken pro or con.

How Shelby county, or any other county, will handle the pledge invoked by the self appointed arbiters of our "ballots", is a matter which is puzzling those who have to provide them. Printers await the final decision. The Supreme Court, which will have the finay say-so, has adjourned until March 3, which is after the deadline for qualification for candidates has expired. So, passing the buck, continues and at this writing, we can find not one person sure of what effect the "mandate" handed down by the State Committee will have nor whose name is legally oin the ballot.

Agnes Baggett, Secretary of State, states she will not place any name on the ballot, not first o-kehed by Chairman Ben Ray. Ben Ray will act in accordance with the State Democratic Executive Committee's action "until the Supreme Court rules otherwise". So, there you have an all time high confusion, and a living example of a "political hot potato run-around"....

(News Flash: Since writing the above article we "see by the papers" that the State Supreme Court has set the national party loyalty oath suit for a hearing in Montgomery at 10 o'clock Thursday.

Perhaps this ruling will clarify a few of the controversial issues now receiving state wide comment.)

CIRCUIT COURT ENDS

Following a two weeks term of the Civil Division of the Shelby County Circuit Court, the term ended Thursday, with 27 cases disposed of.

Dedication Held At Thompson High

The dedication program for the new gymnasium was held at Thompson High School at ten o'clock on Monday, February 18. Mr. W. J. Terry, State Superintendent of Education gave the key-note address.

BONNIE JEAN HOLCOMBACK FOUND AFTER ALL NIGHT SEARCH

Bonnie Jean Holcomback, who was missing from her home near Aldrich, from Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, February 14, until Friday morning February 15, at 6 o'clock, was found by a group of men numbering over 100, led by Sheriff A. E. Norwood, after she was spotted by Cooper Shaw in his private plane in a thickly wooded area near Dogwood. Miss Holcomback had wandered thru the woods all night, but other than shock from the cold weather, seemed to be in good physical condition.

No trace has yet been found of Mrs. Anne Bragg who was lost several months ago on Double Oak Mountain.

KUDZU CROWNS AVAILABLE

To those of you interested in putting out Kudzu this year, let your County Agent, A. A. Lauderdale, know at once. He is getting up an order for farmers in Shelby County. These Kudzu crowns will cost you $9.00 per thousand delivered to Columbiana. So, if you are interested let your county agent know at once.

Frank Head Elected Post Commander

Frank Head, lawyer and circuit solicitor, was elected Commander of the Local Post 131 of the American Legion(says G. C. Moore, Jr., Adjutant.

This election took place last Wednesday Night at the regular monthly meeting of the post, and is an interum election to fill out the unexpired time of M. E. Smalley, who was transferred. Election for the full year for Legion Officers will be held in June.

Commander Head, in accepting, said: "Boys I have served as commander of this post two or three times already and I am always glad to do what I can to serve my comrades and the country we all fought to defend."

Commander Head is urging every Veteran in this area, whether member of the Legion or not, to be present next Sunday Afternoon, 2:00 P. M. when the 5th district of the Legion holds its meeting in Columbiana. Meeting will be in the Masonic Hall, above the Shelby Theater. Come and see what your veteran's organization is doing for you as a veteran and for the welfare of your country.

5th DISTRICT AMERICAN LEGION MEETS COLUMBIANA SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 24th

Columbiana will play host to the 5th District of the American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary, on this Sunday afternoon, February 24th at 2:00 P. M. when the meeting is scheduled by District Commander Lewis McCrary of Birmingham. Mrs. Wooly, of Montevallo, is District Auxiliary president. This information received last week from 5th District Vice-Commander Ed Yeargen, of Thorsby.

Department Commander Hugh Starnes, of Guntersville may be present. Senior Vice-Commander Howell "Hef" Heflin of Tuscumbia will surely be here to give us a timely and urgent call for the present campaign for membership labeled "Over The Top By Leap Year Day". Meeting will be held in the Masonic Hall above the Shelby Theater, in Columbiana. Every legionaire, present or past or any veteran who can make this meeting will be cordially welcomed.

This will be a joint meeting of the Auxiliary (Ladies) and the Legion. At the beginning there will be a joint meeting, afterwards the ladies moving to the courthouse for their separate meeting. The Legion will remain at the Masonic Hall.

The local Auxiliary ladies with Mrs. Thelma Glenn, President, will treat the entire group with refreshments at the close of meeting.

PENSIONS TO BE INCREASED

Alabama will provide larger amounts for Confederate pensions than any other southern state under the terms of a bill that passed the House Friday. Veterans will receive $120 quarterly; widows of veterans who are over 80 or totally blind will receive $75 a quarter; widows between the ages of 70 and 80 will receive $45 a quarter; all other widows who are pensioners will receive $30.

(The last Confederate veteran died in Alabama this year, 1952. He was Gen. Moore of Selma.)

TWO MINE OFFICIALS KILLED

Two officials of the Aldrich Mines, S. R. Stearnes and Frank Norris lost their lives in a tragic manner Monday afternoon when they were buried under a slide as they were entering an opening of the mine on an inspection tour. Mr. Stearnes was superintendent of state operations and Mr. Norris was mine foreman. Two convicts who were leading the way escaped with minor injuries.

CATES' MILK TRUCK HIT BY SPEEDING CAR

J. A. Cates and his son, Cecil Cates, who operate the milk truck from Columbiana to Birmingham had a narrow escape from death Wednesday afternoon as they were returning from Birmingham when a speeding car ran into them, turning their truck completely over. One of the occupants of the car, C. B. Mann, of Birmingham was killed almost instantly while his companion J. W. Douglas, who was driving the car, was slightly injured. The accident was held to be unavoidable as far as the Cates were concerned. J. W. Douglas was placed under bond and charged with reckless driving and manslaughter.

U. S. TO DRAFT ONLY 19,000 MEN IN APRIL

The Defense Department recently issued a draft call for 19,00 men in April—15,000 for the Army and 4000 for the Marine Corps.

The April call brings to 894,430 the total of announced draftees since Selective Service was resumed in September, 1950.

The Army has asked for 817,000 of the total and the Marine oCrps for 77,430.

The April call is the lowest since last September when 16,900 men were requested by the two services.

The April call is the third lowest since the outbreak of the Korean War. The lowest for any month was July, 1951, when 15,000 men were drafted by the Army.

ABC, COUNTY AND LOCAL OFFICERS DESTROY 449 STILLS LAST MONTH

Enforcement Chief Joseph T. Burton says 449 liquor stills were destroyed in Alabama last month by ABC, county, and local authorities.

He said that a Coast Guard plane helped in spotting some of the stills. The stills destroyed in January were capable of producing 85,664 gallons of whiskey per month, he said.

Despite the destruction, distilling and traffic in moonshine whiskey is still on the increase in the state, Burton said.

C. R. (Shorty) Falkner Candidate For County Board Of Revenue

MILDRED WHITE WALLACE

A week or so ago, I promised a sketch of C. R. (Shorty) Falkner, but, catching these candidates and not exceeding the speed limit, is another matter. However, we finally had the pleasure of talking with our good friend "Shorty" Falkner, whom we have known for years, and procured a statement from him regarding his ambitions to serve his native county as a Member of the Board of Revenue And Control.

Mr. Falkner says his message is sent to every voter in Shelby county. We cordially invite you to read his statement.

"To The Voters Of Shelby County:"

"I am a candidate for the office of Member of the Shelby County Board of Revenue and Control from District Number 1, an office that carries a great deal of responsibility.

"In selecting a man for this office I would appreciate your sincere consideration. I am the son of the late Ex-Sheriff J. J. Falkner and N. J. Falkner. I received my education in the schools of Shelby County, am a Mason, a Baptist, a Democrat, all of which I believe in. If I am honored by being elected, I promise to give my deepest consideration to all business coming before me. If I am defeated in the Primary, I intend to support my opponent in the General election. It is my intention to make an active and fair campaign, without prejudice or mud slinging.

"I do not believe in piling up huge sums of money in the banks, but to have enough to buy needed equipment and supplies. As you know, we now have a unit system in our road work. I believe we should give this new law our full support and a fair trial. If it later proves unworkable, then I would favor repealing it. I believe all commissioners should cooperate with each other and with the county engineer, thereby giving each district its just share of the work. I do not believe in the county paying a salary to an engineer, then not giving him a fair chance to build and maintain our roads. I believe we should, as fast as possible, eliminate all our old wooden bridges and culverts, replacing them with concrete or other permanent materials. I believe we should try as much as possible to keep all the county employees satisfied on the job, by paying as fair a price as we can, as the cost of equipment is high, and the cost of training men, then losing them after a short time of employment is a great expense to the county. I have had 10 years experience in building and maintaining the roads of Shelby county, having been employed by the county some years ago, and I feel I am well qualified for the position to which I seek election.

"Now you have an outline of some of the things I stand for and if I fail to see you personally, I will appreciate your vote and support.

Sincerely yours,
Cecil (Shorty) Falkner"

Final Campaign On For Legion Members

"Over The Top By Leap Year Day". Yes sir! "Leap The Top By Leap Year". This means that the Alabama Department of the American Legion and Auxiliary, have joined up to put every post in Alabama above its Last Year's Membership by midnight, February 29th.

Shirley-Holloway post has 54 paid up members as this is written (Feb. 15th) as against 59 for last year. Members will be accepted on thru June, however, the New Years Dues for 1953 will be in process of being collected after the State Convention in July. Therefore, no further all-out appeal will be made after Feb. 29th.

District commanders of the Legion and Auxiliary are awarding 6 Diamond Legion Pins to the 6 top Legion Members in signing up members before February 29th. The Auxiliary members will get Diamond Auxiliary Pins for signing up the most Legion members.

Our local post has two teams vieing it out against each other: The Reds: Frank Head, Chairman, Ross Bob Mullins, Wallace Glenn and E. L. Gibson, members. The Blues: G. C. Moore, Chairman, James T. Jones, Hap Hatchett and A. M. Mann, members.

If you are a past-Legionaire or a veteran who has never joined a veteran's organization, won't you see one of these members at once??

Which team will win? That doesn't make any difference. Come on and let's join hands and make the American Legion what it ought to be by giving it your support. You Need the Legion! The Legion needs you.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that there will be a meeting of the Shelby County Republican Executive Committee to be held at the Court House in Columbiana Alabama, at 10 A. M. Saturday, February 23rd, 1952.

Chairman of Committee

A. L. Crumpton Now Candidate For Judge Of Circuit Court

Mr. A. L. Crumpton, of Ashland, has announced that he is a candidate for nomination in the Democratic Primary as Judge of the 18th Judicial Circuit.

Mr. Crumpton, who graduated from Law School of the University of Alabama in 1914, located in Ashland in March 1915 to practice law. He has been actively engaged in the practice of all branches of law continuously since then, with the exception of the time he spent as a private in the infantry during World War I. His long experience in the general practice of law should be an invaluable aid to him in the proper performance of the responsible duties of the office he seeks.

Mr. Crumpton has always been interested in civic and community affairs. He has served Ashland as its Mayor; his District as its State Senator; his Circuit as its Bar Commissioner; the Democratic party as a member of its State Executive Committee and as a Delegate to its 1932 National Convention. He is a member, and Past Worshipful Master, of Ashland Masonic Lodge; a member, and Past Commander, of the local American Legion post; a member of the Ashland Chamber of Commerce. He is a member of the Ashland Methodist Church and regularly teaches an adult Bible Class in his church.

Mr. Crumpton is 61 years of age; is a widower with two children, both girls. The older girl is married, the younger, after spending four years in the armed services during World War II, is in college working toward a Phd degree, and doing part time work as an intern in a V. A. hospital.

Mr. Crumpton believes that his training and experience qualify him to fill the place he seeks in an acceptable manner. He states that he expects to see as many voters as possible during the campaign, but that due to the size of the circuit he will not be able to see anything like all of them. He urges his friends and suppoters to actively promote his campaign; and assures the public that if he is nominated and elected he will fill the office and conduct its business to the very best of his ability.

McGraw And Foshee Qualify For Member Board Of Education

John Foshee, of Montevallo, and Solon E. McGraw of Vincent have filed qualification papers as candidates for Members of the Shelby County Board of Education.

Mr. Foshee came to Shelby County eleven years ago and resides in Montevallo. For some time he was owner and operator of the Montevallo Motor Company. In 1946, he was elected to the Shelby County Board of Education. Soon after his election his fellow members honored him by naming him president of the Board, the position which he now holds. Mr. Foshee is a practicing attorney which further qualifies him for reelection to the very important position which he seeks.

Mr. McGraw is a successful businessman of Vincent. He served on the Shelby County Board of Revenue from 1931 to 1943. In 1946, he was elected as a Member of the Shelby County Board of Education and is now serving as Vice-President of the Board.

Under the direction of the present Board a $400,000 building program in this county is nearing completion.

The outstanding work of Mr. McGraw and Mr. Foshee in this more or less honorary position, warrants your serious consideration of their candidacies.

NOTICE

No. 3256 In the Circuit Court of Shelby County, Alabama, In Equity.

Ada Atchison Spain, Complainant,

Vs.

Vester Spain, Respondent,

In this cause it being made to appear to the Register by affidvait of Ada Atchison Spain, the complainant in this cause, that the Respondent is over 21 years of age, but his place of residence is unknown. That respondent has secreted himself so that process of summons cannot be served upon him. The officers of Shelby County and officers of Jefferson County, where respondent resided for a while, have made effort to serve summons in this case upon him but have been unable to do so for the reason he could not be found in those counties; that respondent evades the Sheriff and his deputies and as stated they have been unable to serve process upon him. It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Shelby County Reporter-Democrat, a newspaper published in Columbiana, Alabama, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring the said Vester Spain to plead, answer, or demur to the Bill of Complaint in this cause by the 4th day of March, 1952, or in thirty days thereafter a decree pro confessa may be taken against him.

Done at Office in Columbiana, Alabama, this the 4th day of February, 1952.

Good Morning

PARAGRAPHS

You never know what's on the other side of a closed Post Office window. The same as you don't know, sometimes, how close delight is to where you are.... or how far away, maybe, in our upsy-daisy world. There was a banging on the closed window one Wednesday afternoon and I decided to have a look-see. That is how I first met Deetsie Spires, pretty as an April rain with her bright eyes and radiant smile. But today when I found her pennies and letters pushed up under the window, after listening two hours for the banging again, I realized that sometimes you could be mighty close to, and still an awful far piece away from, pretty vivacious delight in our upsy-daisy world.

A drought is as natural as falling down stairs. And as persistent sometimes as an old song when a guy's dancing is through. But everybody wants to do something about a drought, and no one ever succeeds. Still every guy's got his own idea... like the location of the moon, maybe; or the way frogs holler in a deep swamp; or the whim of the wind, as was the case with Jim Corderie who lived in Shelby sixty years ago. They called on Jim to pray for rain one night and he got up off his hard oak bench in a manner befitting the occasion. "Brethren," he said, "I'll pray, and I'll pray most earnestly. But danged if that wind ain't got to change."

When she comes in it's like turning on more lights, and when she goes out it's like turning 'em off again. Just like that. There are a lot of folks like her, friendly, vivacious, radiant as rain in the late afternoon. They sort of wash your day and hang it out to dry in the late afternoon sun. I guess that's why I search the mail every moring to see if Delores Adcock has a letter. Since every afternoon by three my day needs to be hung out in the sun to dry.

There's a thousand good excuses for not killing a bird, and almost every guy I know totes 'em around in his hunting coat pocket from the last of November until the middle of February every year. The same as I. But this guy had a new one. It had been June in January for weeks, and suddenly the wind was right k-dab out o' Chelsea, and everything and everybody who had to get out and hustle for grub were nestling as close to red flannels as they could get. His dog had pointed out in an open sage field, and when the bird got up it followed the shortest distance between two points. But the guy didn't shoot. It seems the movement of the bird, or the twist of the wind, or the pull of gravity, or the uncertainty of elastic, had caused the red flannels to slip; and this guy, with his eyes on his game, spied the tiniest bit of lace sparkling in the bright sunlight. "I just couldn't shoot," he said. "You see, I won't shoot anything but bob-whites, and a bird with lace on its pants just couldn't be a bob."

TELEPHONE RATES UP

Have you noticed your last telephone bill? Did you see that beginning next month your basic bill for the privilege of having your phone in your commercial office would be $8.34? I believe $6.90 has heretofore been the rate. Just wondering how much more Old Man Public can stand and how far mediocre salaries can be stretched to cover the continuous rise in cost of living and operating a business.

Telephones are essential toward carrying on a business. Mailing cards is a quick way to get an idea across, but even the lowly postal card, has been upped to two cents. Not much, you say, and think, but by the time all these "little items" are added together, plus your grocery bill and other "essentials", life insurance, auto insurance, health and death insurance, there is a "hushed silence" where nickels formerly jingled happily in a fellow's pocket. What I want to know is, where is it all going to end?

Six State parks and numerous State recreation areas embrace approximately 20,000 acres in scattered sections of the tate.

During the War Between the States, calico was $10 a yard, sugar sold at from $15 to $20 a pound, coffee at $20 a pound, corn at $10 a bushel, flour at $800 a barrel, and a good horse brought $2,000. The cheapest shoes for children $10 a pair, while by 1864 those for adults cost at least $150.

What this Statement Does Not Show

THIS FINANCIAL STATEMENT—Liberty National's report to the holders of its 3 million policies—while made up of some big figures—does NOT tell the whole story. It does not show the "double duty" performed by Liberty National dollars. In the most important sense, these funds represent the resources which serve to guarantee that obligations to policyowners will be met faithfully and promptly. In addition, until the funds are paid over to policyowners, they are loaned to people and businesses who have need for the funds and consist of over 13,500 individual mortgage loans on homes, apartments and commercial buildings—bonds issued by electric, gas, telephone and water utility companies—loans to railroads and industrial companies of all types—bonds issued by the Federal Government, the states, counties and cities—and real estate held both for investment and Company use. Life Insurance dollars have played an important part in the growth and development of the nation.

MRS. IDELLA CARROLL PASSES

Mrs. Idella Carroll, age 73, passed away Saturday, February 16th at the Sylacauga Hospital, after a short illness. Mrs. Carroll is survived by 4 sons, C. P. Carroll, Rt. 1, Columbiana; M. H. and E. E., Childersburg; and T. C. of Annondale, Virginia.; 1 brother, John Henry Pope, Fayetteville, Alabama and 1 sister, Mrs. Tina Williams, Georgia, and 14 grandchildren.

Funeral Services were conducted by Rev. H. B. Ramsour, pastor Bethel Baptist Church, Walton-Bolton Funeral Home directing, at Mount Sharon Baptist Church, Rt. 1, Childersburg, of which Mrs. Carroll was a member of a number of years, and buried in Rock Mount Cemetery. Active pall bearers were Arland Carroll, Buddy Carroll, Chester Carroll and Noland Carroll, grandsons, and 2 friends, Charles Dunn and George Pate.

On February 4, 1861, at a convention in Montgomery, delgates from Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and Texas created the provisional government of the Confederate States of America. On February 18, Jefferson Davis was inaugurated provisional president in the Alabama capitol; Montgomery continued as the seat of Confederate government until May 21, 1861, when the Confederate Congress adjourned to meet the following day at Richmond, Va. Despite the prevading sentiment of patriotsm, anti-slavery feeling was so strong in one section of northern Alabama that formation of a new pro-Union state, to be called Nickajack, was proposed.

SELLING EGGS AND POULTRY

A person can be a good worker, a good observer, and a good manager, but he can't be a really successful poultry-raiser until he familiarizes himself with marketing. In other words, to succeed with a poultry enterprise, a person also should be a good "huckster", or salesman.

Now one of the primary requirements in marketing is a good product. With a good product come high prices and repeat sales — and extra profits.

Apply the above to the marketing of eggs. Unless carefully handled, eggs are easily broken or quickly spoiled. With proper care and handing, eggs can be marketed to the advantage of the poultryman.

Market Good Eggs

To have good eggs for market, do this: (1) Give the hens plenty of nesting space, about one nest for every four birds. (2) Gather eggs twice a day the year 'round, and handle them as little as possible. (3) Keep them in a cool, moist place. (4) Take them to market at least twice a week.

Also, all eggs should be uniform in size and free of abnormalities. To insure strong shells, provide plenty of lime material, such as oyster shell the year 'round. A good market egg should be smooth on the surface and have good "bloom". Glossy shells show that the eggs have been handled excessively, incubated, or washed.

And another pointer. Always pack egg crates with clean filters and flats.

Marketing Poultry

With the number of poultry dressing plants on the increase in most areas, the majority of birds being marketed today are sold alive, with grading being done according to color age, and condition. However, some raisers dress their own birds for private trade.

If you dress poultry for market, keep the following suggestions in mind: (1) Keep birds away from feed for 24 hours before killing. (2) When killing a bird, dislocate the neck. (Some people chop off the head or cut the juglar veins in the neck.) (3) Remove the feathers by scalding and picking, or by dry picking.

And remember, when marketing dressed poultry, market clean birds. Make them attractive to customers by removing all pin feathers.

If your baby is a girl you should begin laying aside money right now to support your future son-in-law.

Tall Tales

As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

Ever Meet a High-Behind?

MANY a tenderfoot has protected the camp from a high-behind, but not one of them has seen this fabulous beast.

The high-behind, as all Westerners know, is equipped with a stiff tail, the end of which was fashioned like a posthole digger.

The chief delight of the high-behind was to turn on its back, balance on the tail and spin madly in circles. Of course you understand the rotary action of this indulgence bored a hole in the ground into which the high-behind invariably disappeared.

Night duties of a tenderfoot frequently included replenishment of condensed milk cans around the camp. This was the favorite food of the high-behind. The beast opened the cans with his metal tail and after three drinks was lulled into such abiding peace that the camp was safe for the night from his attacks.

FROM MY SCRAP BOOK:

IF WE COULD HEAR

If we could hear the wistful little prayers
In hearts about us, whispered every minute;
If we could know the faltering and fears
That many a daring enterprise has in it,
Maybe we'd give a lenient smile or two
When irritating tricks and traits confound us,
Because you'd see in me and I in you
The still-persistent child that's peering through Chinks in the wall the years have built around us.

—M. M. Parrish

VIGNETTES MAKE FINAL REPORT

The alert Vignettes have made a final tabulation of the result of their concerted drive for "dimes" and have sent to Chairman Milton Orr of Montevallo a check for $633.00 representing an all time high in donations from Columbiana citizens. A wonderfully fine record!

KIRKPATRICK-HENDRICK WEDDING SOLEMNIZED

On February 2, in the Methodist Church in Montevallo, Miss Margaret Ann Hendrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anthony Hendrick, became the bride of Lyle Lawrence Kirkpatrick. The Rev. Miner L. Triplett officiating.

The music was furnished by Harrison D. LeBaron, director of music, Alabama College ,and Mrs. J. K. Steele of Birmingham, vocalist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a Chantilly lace gown. Her fingertip-length veil of imported illusion fell from a Juliet cap of lace to match her seed pearls from her mother's wedding dress. She carried a white prayer book showered with orchids.

Miss Betty Ann Smitherman was maid of honor. Bridesmaids included Miss Iris Kirkpatrick, sister of the bride groom, Miss Julia Kennerly, Miss Barbara Johnson and Miss Dorothy Davis of Montgomery.

E. G. Smitherman was best man. Ushers were Jerry Mosley, Bobby Dyer of Birmingham and David Stanley of Anniston.

After the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in Reynolds Hall on Alabama College campus.

Serving were Mrs. Ehney Camp, Mrs. Earle Martin, Mrs. Ida Hendrick, Mrs. Howard Latham, Miss Virginia Hendrick. Mrs. Jerry Mosley kept the bride's book.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Wales W. Wallace Jr. and Shirley Wallace spent the week end in Atlanta.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Williams will spend this week end in Cleveland, Ohio.

. . . Thanks to Mrs. W. H. Moon of Columbiana who stated she eagerly looked forward to the "Home Paper" each week and then, renewed her subscription for another year.

. . . Lewis Blackerby of Chelsea, handed us the price for a ringside seat in our news arena for 1952. We are grateful for these evidences of continued interest in this journalistic enterprise.

. . . Wilma Fore, in the post office, was handing a box of candy to Henry Chapman when we walked in on St. Valentine's day. We asked Henry, "why the box of candy" and he told us it was his birthday anniversary, and "somebody had not forgotten to remember". And this remark brought forth the fact that Wilma Fore's birthday falls on the same date that George Washington's anniversary is celebrated. Now, Wilma, according to this date, February 22, and the association it carries with "Cherry Trees" will doubtless be looking for a "Cherry Pie" from someone, who possesses the art of knowing how to make one.

. . . Friends of Mrs. Myra Chandler's will be glad to learn she is convalescing satisfactorily following an illness in her home in Columbiana.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Cull Curry, Nan, Sam and Rosemary Curry of Mobile will spend the week end in Columbiana as guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Miller.

BIRTHDAY DINNER CELEBRATED AT THE RALPH HUNT'S

Mrs. Ralph Hunt Jr. entertained on February 12, in honor of Dr. Ralph Hunt Jr.'s birthday which was also shared by Banker J. I. Harrison whose birthday anniversary fell on the same date. A delectable course dinner was served to the following guests who shared the joyous occasion, the Rev. and Mrs. A. D. Wilson, George McCord, L. D. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Duke and Mrs. R. S. Hunt of Childersburg.

BETTY DOROUGH AND ALVIN BIRD WED IN EVENING CEREMONY

The marriage of Miss Betty Joyce Dorough and Alvin Nelson Bird was beautifully solemnized Friday, February 8 at 7:00 p. m. at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Felman Dorough. The Rev. Allen D. Wilson officiating.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. N. Y. Horn, pianist and Mrs. W. R. Carter, vocalist.

Miss Patsy Dorough and Michael Dorough, brother and sister of the bride, lighted the candles.

Miss Mary Ann Dorough, sister of the bride, was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a beige suit with purple accessories and an orchid corsage.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Leon Dorough, wore a slate blue suit with navy accessories. She carried a white prayer book, centered with a white orchid and showered with white carnations.

Maurice Bird, cousin of the groom, was best man.

The bride's mother wore blue crepe, and the mother of the bridegroom wore brown faille. Both had yellow rosebud corsages.

The bride and groom left immediately following the ceremony for a wedding trip to Chattanooga, Tenn.

BENTLEY-RASCO WEDDING SOLEMNIZED

In a quiet but impressive ceremony in the Daphne Methodist Church, Daphne, Alabama, Mrs. Mary Rasco and Mr. W. E. Bentley were married Saturday evening, February 16, at six-thirty o'clock, the Rev. Zellerman, pastor of the church reading the wedding vows.

Mrs. Bentley was a resident of Columbiana, and has been active in all church activities for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Bentley will make their future home in Daphne, where Mr. Bentley is employed. Mrs. Bentley's son, Donald Rasco, who is stationed in Cecil Field, Jacksonville, Florida, was present at the wedding and a few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony.

NOT BAD.... EH?

A gentleman seated in our office recently, exclaimed when a bit of "cheesecake-model '52" passed the window. "Lives there a man with soul so dead who's never turned his head and said H-u-mm-mm- not bad!" And the "cutie-pie" with the "poodle cut" tripped on down the Main Drag oblivious to the curbstone comment.

FEBRUARY BIRTHDAYS

Saturday, February 16, Frances T. Lewis and Earl Riley celebrated birthday anniversaries; Wallace Glenn, deputy Sheriff held the "birthday cake" in his home Sunday. Tuesday it was time to say Happy Birthday to Earl Morris; February 20, Billy Evans was the honoree and Saturday, February 23, Ted Riley will be "candle-puffing". Frank Ellis comes in for his share of "Many Happy Returns of The Day" on February 24.... Sally McCord, on February 25, and February 27, made famous by Henry W. Longfellow, will be celebrated as a date for the Vignettes to get together, and birthdays will be observed by Muriel Mullins and Sara Nell Lightsey. February 28, the Culture Club and Kiwanis Club will hold regular meetings, and Jeff McCord will receive birthday greetings from his friends and classmates.

And, that ends February's "red letter days" to remember.

LETTERS TO GLADDEN THE DAY

Lackie Posey now resides at 2909 Highland Avenue, Birmingham, but is a native of Shelby County, therefore continues personal interest in people and things in this section. We have just received a letter which we share with you....

"Dear Editors Of The Reporter-Democrat:

"I am enclosing check for $2.00 for another year's subscription to my county paper. One of my father's greatest pleasures was Politics in his county and I am now glad to see politics 'warming up' in old Shelby County....

"You are giving us an A-1 paper. Best wishes to you.

"Sincerely yours,
Lockie Posey"

(No one thing peps a fellow up on Monday morning, more than a swell letter like the above. Thanks!)

WILLIAM HODO NAMED TO ALABAMA BOARD OF ED.

William Hodo, 32, of Alexander City, has been named to the Alabama Board of Education.

Hodo, who is a car dealer, last year was selected as Alexander City's outstanding young businessman. He succeeds Virgil Pittman, Gadsden, who resigned to accept appointment as a circuit judge. The term expires October 1, 1955.

An API graduate, Hodo is the son of the State Finance Director David W. Hodo. He saw army service in France and Germany and was discharged as a major in late 1945.

DR. H. C. HOPKINS GUEST SPEAKER BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY

Dr. H. C. Hopkins, Extension Director of Howard College will address the congregation at the Baptist Church next Sunday morning and evening. Dr. Hopkins is bringing an outstanding series of messages to this town and the public is cordially invited to share them with the Baptists during his occupancy of the pulpit until a permanent pastor may be chosen.

The Baptist Choristers will offer as their part of the service, "Let All The People Sing" and "Anywhere With Jesus"....

. . . We appreciate a letter from Cecil Lucas, who resides in the Magic City, but who keeps up with the news happenings in Columbiana thru the "Home Paper" each week. Cecil asks of course, that his upholstered chair in our reading circle be reserved for another year, and we joyously tell him, that this is about the best news that ever comes in this office. It is a confirmation of loyalty to the "old home town and county", and we love telling folks about it.

. . . Mrs. Frank Miller of Birmingham was the week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Miller in Columbiana.

. . . Sgt. Warren Duke of Ft. Jackson, S. C., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Duke.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Barger have sold their property on the Calera Highway, and have taken an apartment in the Hubert Kirkland residence in Columbiana.

. . . If it is an evening filled with laughs and unusual entertainment, you have been looking for, just make your arrangements to be present at the "Womanless Wedding", which will be presented on the evening of February 23, 1952 at Mt. Tabor Church, beginning promptly at 7:30 o'clock. Your presence will be appreciated.

. . . Mrs. Jack Dorough and son, Larry, of Birmingham, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bolin Cooper. Little Larry, not yet one year old, is sporting a broken arm in a cast, but seems to be enjoying the novelty of hitting the cast and hearing it "go boom". It seems Larry tumbled out of bed and had the misfortune of breaking his arm, but he is in no way concerned over it. Fact is, proudly pointed to it, while we had a curbstone chat with his mother and grand-mama.

. . . If anyone finds a pair of glasses in a case, lost near the Methodist Church Sunday, please notify me and I will see that the owner receives them.

. . . We are grateful for a renewal subscription just received from H. C. Johnson of Ensley.

. . . Glad to learn that Pfc. George H. Smith who is a member of the Air Force and stationed in Tuscon, Arizona, will be numbered among our weekly readers from now on.

. . . Charles Scott of Wilsonville who is in the Air Corps, has been transferred from his former camp, to Camp Rucker, and we are glad Charles is that much nearer "home".

. . . Mrs. A. E. Norwood of Calera, and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Norwood of Walnut Ridge, Arkansas, were in Columbiana Tuesday greeting old friends during their visit to the Norwoods in Calera.

. . . The Culture Club members will soon make an important announcement concerning the Cancer Drive, which will begin next month. Watch this paper for details.

WASHINGTON EPITAPH

An epitaph appropriate was found on the back of a picture of Washington sent to the family from England. It is quoted here in part.

The defender of his country—
The founder of liberty,
The friend of man,
In the annuals of modern greatness
He stands alone.
Born the benefactor of mankind,
He united all the greatness necessary
To an illustrious career.
Nature made him great,
He made himself virtuous.

PARKER CIRCLE MEETS

The Parker Circle of the Columbiana Baptist W. M. U. met Monday, February 18, with Mrs. W. C. Spivey.

The Devotional was given by Mrs. Robert Holliman. Then the business session was presided over by the leader, Mrs. W. N, Calloway.

All were glad to have Mrs. L. B. Riddle, our President, with us.

Delicious Pie and Coffee was then served by the hostess to 15 members and 2 children.

MRS. LILY GADDIS PASSES

Friends of Mrs. Lily Gaddis (Mrs. Clark Sturdivant) regretted to hear of her death which occurred in Birmingham last Friday.

W. M. U. MEETING

The Sallie Circle met with Mrs. M. L. Warren, Monday, February 18. The Devotional was given by Mrs. Nolen Barnett. There were twelve members present. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Garrett have returned from a vacation spent in Mobile attending Mardi Gras and visiting the famed Azalea Trail.

. . . Monday morning opened on an exceptionally happy note this week marked by a visit from Jimmy Wyatt of the Montevallo Times. It is always a pleasure to chat with Jimmy, so interested are we in mutual-muddled-happenings in our county, state, and incidentally, Nation!

. . . Mrs. Jimmy Harrison has returned from a delightful vacation spent in Orlando, Florida.

. . . June Harrison of the University of Alabama spent the week end in Columbiana as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Harrison.

. . . Thanks to Elbert Miller of Montevallo Route who came to Columbiana Monday and during his short stay on Main added his name to the ever widening list of weekly readers of the Reporter-Democrat.

. . . Donald Rasco D. K. 2, of Cecil Field, Jacksonville, Florida, came by our office Monday and asked that his name be reinstated on the "Home Paper's" list of weekly readers, for which thoughtful courtesy we say, "Thanks a million".

. . . We appreciate renewal subscriptions from Mrs. E. A. Grantham and Mrs. J. A. Holmes of Wilsonville Rt. 1. And we enjoyed talking with them during their visit to Columbiana, Tuesday.

MRS. LEON MEYERS ENTERTAINS WITH DESSERT PARTY

The lovely home of the Leon Meyers in Columbiana was the setting for a Dessert Bridge Party Tuesday evening when five tables of congenial players assembled in the spacious living room to participate in this all time high popular past-time.

Following a delectable salad course, the bidding began, and at the close of the games, Virginia Fowler was awarded high score prize. Sonya Lefkovits came in for the low score trophy, and the floating prize was won by Mary Nell Skelton.

Mrs. Meyers, as usual, proved a gracious hostess and those who shared the happy event acclaim this evening "tops" on the February calendar of social activities in Columbiana.

TELEPHONE RATES UP

Have you noticed your last telephone bill? Did you see that beginning next month your basic bill for the privilege of having your phone in your commercial office would be $8.34? I believe $6.90 has heretofore been the rate. Just wondering how much more Old Man Public can stand and how far mediocre salaries can be stretched to cover the continuous rise in cost of living and operating a business.

Telephones are essential toward carrying on a business. Mailing cards is a quick way to get an idea across, but even the lowly postal card, has been upped to two cents. Not much, you say, and think, but by the time all these "little items" are added together, plus your grocery bill and other "essentials", life insurance, auto insurance, health and death insurance, there is a "hushed silence" where nickels formerly jingled happily in a fellow's pocket. What I want to know is, where is it all going to end?

MR. AND MRS. L. B. RIDDLE JR. HOLD OPEN HOUSE IN BIRMINGHAM

The following persons from Columbiana attended "The Open House" Sunday afternoon, February 1th of the new home of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Riddle Jr., and son Ray Neil.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Curlee, Miss Dolly Jones, Misses Gertrude and Irene Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Homer J. Walton, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Clark and daughter, Mrs. Myra Chandler, Miss Nancy Horn, Judge and Mrs. L. B. Riddle and others.

This beautiful new home is located in Howard College Estates at corner of 77th Street and Queenstown Avenue, South, Birmingham 6, Alabama.

CHORUS CLASS THURSDAY EVENING

Do not fail to meet your Chorus Class assignment promptly at the hours scheduled Thursday evening. Ladies at 6:30, the Male Chorus members will assemble at 8 P. M. The place, Methodist Church. Attendance is the main idea now in rounding out the plans for Spring program presentations and it is up to each individual to make an earnest effort to be in his or her place at the hour designated.

CONGRATULATIONS

Sincere congratulations are being extended by classmates and friends of talented Betty Stinson of the Fourmile Community who walked off with first honors in the Gulf States Paper Corporation Contest. Thomas Walton won second place and Joe Stone was awarded the third place. All Essays were credits to Shelby County High School Students.

. . . Mrs. E. R. Robinson of Wilsonville says.... "It seems a shame to send the paper to our son Ralph Robinson, now stationed at Albuquerque and not have the paper in our own home", And with these words, the kind lady gave us her subscription and extended Ralph's, which is about the nicest thing that has happened to us on this rainy old day. We are duly grateful for this courtesy.

NOTICE

In The Probate Court of Shelby County, Alabama.

Shelby County, a Body Corporate,
vs
Mrs. Floy M. Carr, et. al.

You are hereby notified that Shelby County, a body corporate, has filed in this court its written application seeking to condemn lands, rights and interest therein described for a right of way and borrow pits for the purpose of constructing, improving or maintaining a public road or highway in said county by the county and the State of Alabama, as located and staked out by engineering personnel of the Office of the County Engineer of Shelby County, Alabama, and designated as Project No. SACP 432, which said road or highway is located between Vincent and Arkwright in Shelby County, Alabama ad which is called the Vincent-Arkwright road; and said lands owned by you are situated in Shelby County, Alabama, and are described as follows:

Parcel I: Beginning at Station 64/15 of Project SACP 432 at a point two feet West of and at a right angle to center line of said project; thence Easterly along the property line of said railway a distance of 21.0 feet; thence Southeasterly along said property line a distance of 140.0 feet to point of intersection with East 40 foot right of way line of said Project; thence South 29 deg. 58 min. East along said right of way line a distance of 108.0 feet; thence Westerly across the North abuttment of existing overpass a distance of 60.0 feet; thence Northerly along property line of said railroad a distance approximately 251.0 feet to the point of beginning.

Parcell II: Beginning at a point on centerline at Station 69/13 of said project thence Easterly along property line of said railroad, a distance 16.0 feet; thence Northerly along property line of said railroad a distance 103.0 feet to point of intersection with East 40 foot right of way line ofsaid project; thence Northwesterly along said right of way line a distance 30.0 feet; thence Westerly across the South abuttment of existing overpass a distance 60.0 feet; thence Southeasterly along property line of said Railroad a distance 126.0 feet; thence Easterly along property line of said railroad a distance 9.0 feet to the point of beginning.

It is the intention that these two parcels of land as above described shall include any land that may be lying within 40 feet on each side of centerline of said project up to the abuttments of the said overpass.

Said strips of land lying in the SE¼ of the NW¼ ,Sec. 23, T 19 S, R 2 E.

The above description is as shown on the right of way map of Shelby County recorded in the Office of the Probate Judge of Shelby County.

You are further notified that the hearing of said application has been set by the court for Friday, the 7th day of March, 1952, at ten o'clock A. M. on said date and notice of said application and of the day so appointed for the hearing thereof, are hereby given you.

This the 11th day of February, 1952.

L. C. Walker, Judge of the Probate Court of Shelby County, Alabama.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Mark 9:2; 10:35-45; 14:32-...; Luke 8:41-42, 49-56; 9:28-36; Acts 4:13-22.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 91.

Secret of Courage

Lesson for February 24, 1952

THERE are different kinds of courage. One is physical, either enduring pain or enduring the prospect of it. Another is moral, enduring ridicule and slander, or the prospect of it. Some occasions call for both kinds.

Dr. Foreman

Just as there are different kinds of courage, so there are different causes of it. Physical courage may be in some cases no more than the result of ignorance.

A passenger on a boat during a storm said to an old salt: "I'm not a bit afraid." The old Irish seaman sniffed. "Them as knows nawthin' fears nawthin'," he said.

Men who have been in combat can recall some character who lacked all the virtues but one; he was never afraid. Physical courage can even be instilled by drugs or by rum. But moral courage cannot be induced by drugs, alcoholic or otherwise.

It takes more than a tough nervous system to stand up against slander, hatred and ridicule. Some men who can take a razor-blade and calmly operate on themselves for snake-bite, cannot stand the sight of human snakes who try to hiss them down.

The Inner Circle

JESUS was always on the lookout for brave men. Indeed, he made brave men.

There were three men in his innermost circle—Peter, James and John. They were men of quite different temperaments; tradition reports that they differed widely in age also. But for whatever reasons, Jesus treated these men differently from the other nine.

That is, he kept them close to him on certain occasions when the rest were left behind or shut out. These three were his only companions at the mount of transfiguration. They were the only three he allowed in the room where he brought Jairus' little girl back to life. They were the three he took with him into the garden of Gethsemane to share his agony. They failed him there—they failed him at other times as well. But the point is that Jesus kept on with them, he did not give them up as hopeless cowards, he gave them more of himself than he gave to any other mortals in his time.

It was as if the Master had said to himself, these men, at least, shall know me. And though they failed him, the time came when they did not fail.

Our story in Acts shows how these men stood up against odds; against all the weight of popular opinion, all the force of law, all the attack from the leaders of society, these men stood up with a simple courage. They showed both physical and moral courage at the same time.

And even their enemies, surprised and baffled and blind as they were, understood the secret of their courage: they knew that they had "been with Jesus."

Heroes Without Medals

NOT all heroes wear medals. To this very day there are Christians who show the same kind of courage made famous by Peter and John. When a minister in Louisiana or Kentucky speaks out against the gambling which has become an octopus in his community; when he not only risks a dynamite bomb on his front doorstep from the gambling lords, but the name of "crackpot" from his neighbors; when the ministerial association of Gary, Ind., dares to stand up against powerful business interests in that city in the name of decent housing for the poor; when a Frank Graham of North Carolina dares to stand for Christian fairness to the Negro even when it means continual slander and political defeat; when Kefauver dares to stand up against corruption; you can be sure that the secret of such courage is the old one: these men have been with Jesus.

The story of Christian missions is full of such things. More than fifty years ago a heathen mob was about to tear a missionary named Pitkin to ribbons. They asked him if he had anything to say first, "Yes," he said, "tell my son to come out here and finish my work."

They killed him; but the son did come. And one of his first converts was a man who as a boy had seen the elder Pitkin die. He had never been able to forget that kind of courage,

In our own time another missionary, with the axe literally above his head, was asked: Aren't you afraid? —Afraid of what? he said. If you kill me I shall go straight to heaven.

ACTIVITIES REPORTED AT THOMPSON HIGH

Betty Morrow is "Miss Thompson" for 1951-52.

She was declared winner at 12:00 Friday. Betty is a Senior at Thompson High School and is very active in her school and club work. She is secretary of the Beta Club, President of the Tri Sigma Chi, Vice-President of the F. H. A., Reporter of the 4-H Club, and Senior class, member of the Annual Staff, Newspaper staff, Quill and Scroll and also the F. B. L. A.

Betty was elected cutest girl by the seniors. She attended Helena Jr. High before coming to Thompson as a sophomore. She is 17 years of age and is the daughter of Mrs. T. O. Fore.

Miss Pitts Hughes, Student Secretary at Alabama College will speak to the high school assembly during Brotherhood Week, February 17-24. The National Conference of Christians and Jews is sponsoring this observance nationally with a slogan of Brotherhood for Peace and Freedom: Believe it! Live it! Support it!

The Sixth Grade will present a playlet in line with this observance on Thursday at 8:30 to the entire elementary school. Mrs. Ulmer Fancher is school Chairman.

The Future Business Leaders of America Club has sponsored a number of visiting speakers to the school in the fields of engineering, beauty work, aviation, business administration, and plans to include others in science, modeling, and entertainment. About half of the members will receive their Leader Degrees this month.

The reference section of the Thompson library is now complete and contributions for more than $1400 have been received by a P. T. A. committee headed by Mrs. W. J. Mathis and Mrs. Albert Scott for the purpose of replacing books in the library that was completely destroyed by the fire last January. Robert Johnson, Principal, stated that an additional thousand dollars will be necessary to meet minimum requirements in this area and he further stated that he is confident that the able leadership of Mrs. Mathis' committee will complete the library fund in a short time.

Miss Dorothy Schoel of Livingston, Alabama, has come to the Thompson High staff replacing Mrs. Louis Douglas. Miss Schoel completed requirement for the M. A. degree in secondary education at the University of Alabama on February 1, of this year. She also received her B. S. in mathmatics at the same institution.

Miss Schoel was a member of the B. S. U., German Club, Women's Spirit Committee, and past treasurer of Delta Zeta.

This week final clean-up crews are doing last minute paint jobs, lock adjustment, etc., by way of completing the new Thompson School plant which was started a year ago. The new building includes class rooms, home economics department, cafeteria, office suite, and gymansium.

The sound of electric drills and cement mixers will now give way to grounds-machinery noises at P. T. A. committees now take over to do a landscaping, sidewalk, and playground and drainage program.

Chuck Harris was voted "Man of the Week" due to his efforts in securing an electric score board for the new gymansium which is now in use and will be dedicated on Monday, February 18, at ten o'clock with State Superintendent W. J. Terry as Key-note speaker.

Chuck has worked consistently for the boys' athletic program and this latest contribution will add greatly to the enjoyment of the games played in the Thompson gymnasium.

Jo Ann Thompson, Edrel Aldridge and Betty Mae McGuire will represent the Thompson seniors in the Honors Scholarship Contest at Alabama College on March 13-15. These girls are Beta Club members and hold major offices in numerous campus clubs.

Mrs. Mary Kroell will be Chairman of the Founders' Day Program at P. T. A. on Monday evening, February 18, in the auditorium of the High School.

Betty Mae McGuire, daughter of Charles T. McGuire of Helena, Alabama, is participating in a scholarship contest offered by the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church. Betty plans to take a pre-med. course.

HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT STATE-WIDE

Governor Gordon Persons said this week that each of Alabama's 67 counties will receive a road project under the $25,000,000 road bond program.

"Surveys are being drawn up," Persons said. "We are getting to them as fast as we can on a basis of need."

The governor said the overall program is still in the planning stage.

State Highway Director W. Guerry Pruett said no definite list of projects has been drawn up.

"We won't have a complete list for some time. We are holding periodic conferences with federal officials clearing several million dollars at one time."

Muskrat is found throughout the State and is thought to have extended its range in southern Alabama in recent years.

VETERAN,S COLUMN

E. J. SULLIVAN, VSO

UNCLAIMED MONEY FROM THE 1948 DIVIDEND

I am wondering if there are any veterans in Shelby county who never applied for dividend money payable on National Service Life Insurance policies for ,the period of 1940 to 1948. There may also be some widows or children of deceased veterans who would be entitled to some of this money. I am sure there are some veterans or survivor of veteran is due this dividend. All that is necessary to do is to write a card or letter making application for the benefit.

DIRECT HOME LOAN

You veterans who have not been able to get a home loan from various lending agencies may take a little encouragement by learning what the Big Four Major veterans organizations are doing to help you.

You will remember that sometime back, Congress passed a bill making available $150,000,000 to make direct loans to veterans who were unable to get their homes financed at 4% under the G. I. Bill. A good portion of that money was made available to veterans in Alabama, but it all ran out some months ago, with large number of applications still in the VA Regional Office in Montgomery.

The four major organizations are making a request that the VA's Direct Home Loan authority be doubled to provide an additional 25,000 loans to veterans in areas where private 4% financing is not available. The four major organizations told a House Veterans' Affairs Sub-Committee that the present $150,000,000 of direct loan should be doubled in order to meet the home buying needs of veterans. These four major organizations supported a bill which would increase the present fund from $150,000,000 to $300,000,000. In order to raise additional money to lend to veterans, the VA, last December, offered $96,000,000 worth of mortgages it now holds, to investment concerns. However, the results of the sales will not be known until sometime in February.

GROWING
Here's what we did to meet Alabama's telephone needs during 1951 . . .

Installed 85,913 New Telephones for a gain of 30,840—10,000 of them in Rural Areas

Installed large amounts of new pole lines, cable, switchboards and other facilities.

GOOD AND GROWING telephone service is essential to National Defense and to the growth and progress of this state. The needs are huge. The job is great and costly. But progress has been fast and sure. Some materials are scarce, but we'll get along with the job in 1952 with the same determination that has more than doubled the number of telephones in 5 years. — Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

COUNTY 4-H BOYS PLANTING GOOD CORN-COTTON FOR 1952

(G. C. Moore, Jr.)

One of the most outstanding programs and best planned 4-H Boy's demonstrations this month so far has been the Camp Branch club under the leadership of Mrs. Lula Shirley, Sponsor, and Mrs. Wilson Durden, Principal.

The outstanding President of this club is Lyle Roach, who does a masterful job of presiding, but on this occasion led the 5 boys in a splendid discussion of Corn and Cotton varieties for Shelby county.

Other boys participating were: Cecil Bennet, Jerry Mayhew, Charles Myers, Don Whitfield and Grady Stewart.

The boys told the club to plant D.P.L. on average land or Coker 100 Wilt on land subject to Wilt Diseases and stated where seed might be obtained.

Also on the program was the best recommended Hybrids in White Corn, "Dixie 11" and "Pfister 631", the latter a large-cared type. Yellow hybrids doing best here are "North Carolina 27 and N. C. 1032."

The better and most popular Open-pollinated varieties were: White Corn (Mosby's) and for Yellow Corn (Indian Chief).

Congratulations to these leaders and boys on a well-presented program this month.

EBENEZER H. D. C. MEETS

Mrs. Jessie Faust entertained the January meeting of the Ebenezer Home Demonstration Club at her home on Siluria-Montevallo Highway the following members present:

Madams Ferman Albright, Amos Davis, W. A. Jones, H. A. Pauly, Earl Swinford, T. S. Hill, Jessie Faust, Glady Allen, Frank Green, James Wyatt, Nathan Frost, Frank Faust, R. H. Davis, Grady Wyatt, and Misses Ivey Swinford, Minnie Haynes and Julie A. Boysworth.

Six new members, Madams Williard Williams, Robert Butler, Lawson Johnson, Burley Greenhill and John Harper, one visitor, Mrs. Carl Edfelt.

Mrs. W. A. Jones presided. There were reports for plans for the year made by a committee.

Assignments made for cookies to be taken to Service Men's Center at Terminal Station in Birmingham, a project of the club.

Mrs. Frank Frost presented a most interesting program as follows:

A Poem for 1952, Outstanding Birthdays for January, and an open discussion on the subject "Would a Woman Make A Good President".

Mrs. Julia Ann Boysworth gave the Demonstration "The Band Around The Can of Food".

WILSONVILLE H. D. C. MEETS

The Wilsonville Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Barney Nichols, Friday, February 15. Mrs. Bill Smith, president, was in charge of the meeting.

After the business session, an interesting discussion on the importance of family recreation was led by Mrs. Bill Smith. Miss Marian Cotney, Agent, gave the demonstration on family games.

Delightful refreshments were enjoyed by Mrs. Paul Smith, Mrs. Bill Smith, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. N. E. Revis, Mrs. O. F. Lokey, Mrs. Jim Batson, Mrs. Nora Payne, Mrs. Joan Carlson, Miss Cotney and the hostess.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. O. F. Lokey and the demonstration will be "Making the home tasks lighter."

WEST CALERA H.D.C. MEETS

The West Calera Home Demonstration Club met January 15, 1952, for their regular monthly meeting, at the home of Mrs. P. A. Garrett. The meeting was called to order by President Mrs. C. A. Lucas.

After the business session Miss Marian Cotney gave the demonstration on "The Band Around The Can of Food'. Mrs. W. R. Lindbloom told of work being done on her home. She had painted the interior throughout. Built cabinets in kitchen and bothrooms. Is putting cork Tile floors throughout her house, and is building a fireplace.

Mrs. P. A. Garret showed us her floors she had just refinished. Several other members told of improvements they plan to make on their homes.

ON THE FARMS IN SHELBY COUNTY

B. F. Hatchett and G. C. Starcher

Sericea lespedeza has a place on almost every farm in Shelby County.

For ground cover sericea is one of our finest crops. As much as 4,000 pounds per acres of dry leaves fall to the ground during a normal growing year when not mowed or grazed. This accumulation, plus the deep root system and the thick stand of stems, protects the soil from erosion and builds up the productivity of the soil. It is ideal for water disposal strips, field borders, eroded slopes, and over cropped areas.

However, sericea on good soils pays off in hay and grazing. Cut at the right stage, fertilized sufficiently, and cured quickly, sericea makes one of our most nutritious and palatable hays. Poorly fertilized, late cut, and slowly cured sericea hay is very poor quality hay and this type of handling has caused some unfavorable reaction.

Grazing sericea needs proper management, too, since older growth is fibrous and stemmy and bitter to the animals, while fertilized sericea stands mowed after or grazed heavily enough is well liked by cattle and horses.

It is nearly time to plant sericea. Deep plowing is not necessary, but thorough surface preparation is needed. Thick stands are best, so 40 to 50 pounds of scarified seed should be used per acre. Cover very shallow. Innoculation of seed seems to pay, and is inexpensive. 0-14-14 or similar fertilizers at 500 pounds per acre: or Basic slag 100 pounds per acre and 100 pounds muriate of potash make good annual fertilizer application.

A few copies of USDA Famrers bulletin Number 2033, "Sericea in conservation farming" are available in the S. C S. office for more detailed information and our next column will list some users of sericea who are making good use of this crop.

If you have sericea stands that have not seemed satisfactory, try fertilizing and other suggested good management practices.

Fxes, both red and grey, are fairly common in Alabama, as are raccoons and 'possums. Hunting the 'possum, the only marsupial or pouched animal in North America, is a favorite sport among rural people.

The Only Thing Different About This Advertisement is the Faces

When this advertisement first appeared about a year ago, five other fine young men appeared in it. They were the state officers of the Future Farmers of America. Their terms of office have expired—five other splendid young rural gentlemen have succeeded them. So only the faces in this advertisement have changed—it is published again during this 23rd year of the FFA to help publicize the praiseworthy creed of the organization.

"I Believe . . ."

This is "FFA Week" when 12,100 Alabama members of the Future Farmers of America will observe the organization's 23rd anniversary. They will re-affirm their faith in a creed which states:

"I believe in the future of farming, with a faith born not of words but of deeds . . . in the promise of better days through better ways . . .

"I believe that to live and work on a good farm is pleasant as well as challenging . . .

"I believe in leadership from ourselves and respect from others . . .

"I believe in less dependence on begging and more power in bargaining; in the life abundant and enough honest wealth to help make it so—for others as well as myself . . .

"I believe that rural America can and will hold true to the best traditions in our national life and that I can exert an influence in my home and community which will stand solid for my part in that inspiring task."

The membership of Future Farmers of America consists of boys and young men 14 to 21 years old who, under able educational leadership, are studying vocational agriculture in approved high schools throughout the Nation.

The foundation upon which Future Farmers of America is built includes leadership and character development, sportsmanship, cooperation, service, thrift, scholarship, improved agriculture, organized recreation, citizenship and patriotism.

We are happy to publish this advertisement in recognition of the fine efforts of the membership of the Future Farmers of America and their leaders and teachers. They, too, are "Helping Develop Alabama."

LIBERTY NATIONAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY HAS STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING

Liberty National Life Insurance Company held its annual stockholders' meeting on February 19th in the auditorium of the recently completed addition to its Home Office in Birmingham. President Frank P. Samford released the following statement:

"1951 Marked the greatest growth in any year since the Company was incorporated by a special act of the Legislature of Alabama in 1900. Growing continuously with Alabama, the progress of the Company has accelerated in keeping with the forward development of the State. A new milestone was passed in the history of insurance in Alabama in that, for the first time, there is now an Alabama life insurance company with more than $100 million of resources, the total resources of the Company at the end of 1951 being just over $109 million. This pooling of capital available for investment in Alabama by an Alabama insurance company is of interest to every citizen of this state and adds a measure of stability to the entire economy of the state.

"A substantial portion of the resources of the Company are invested in Alabama in the form of loans to buy or build homes, apartments and commercial buildings, loans to construct water systems and electric, gas and telephone lines, loans to cities for all purposes and loans to many types of Alabama businesses. Liberty National Life Insurance Company is not only providing sound and safe burial and life insurance to the people of Alabama at a reasonable cost but is also playing its part in building Alabama into one of the great states of the nation by providing capital for worth-while enterprises. This capital is in turn obtained from the citizens of Alabama and other states who have selected Liberty National as "their life insurance company".

"I call your attendtion to the detailed financial statement of the Company which you will find in this paper."

FOREST FIRES DESTRUCTIVE LAST YEAR

Thomas A. Ford
Department of Conservation

Shelby County was one of the five hottest spots in Alabama during the calendar year 1951 with a terrific toll having been taken on its woodlands by forest fires, it was announced by Conservation Director Earl M. McGowin.

The area damaged by forest fires amounted to 4.30 per cent of the 358,600 forested acres under protection in the county. This figure is a decrease from the 1950 loss of 4.71 per cent. It is in excess of the state's general average of 2.06 per cent damage done the 18,111,598 forested acres under the statewide protection program. Alabama is the only deep South state to extend fire protection to all its forest lands and one of but two in the entire South to do so.

Records of the Department of Conservation's Division of Forestry reveal that during 1951 there were 346 fires that burned 15,412.9 acres of forest land. During the previous year 290 fires burned 16,869.5 acres.

"Although the 1951 forest fire loss report showed slight improvement over that of the previous year it should cause great concern to all the citizens of Shelby county. While it showed a decrease, it greatly exceed the statewide percentage figure. This means that somewhere along the line there just isn't sufficient forest fire prevention effort. It is true the long dry spells increased the fire hazard but apparently precautionary measures were not increased accordingly. I appeal to the good people of Shelby county to join with the Department of Conservation in making a determined effort to reduce this fire loss in 1952 to as near the absolute minimum as is humanly possible," Mr. McGowin

DEALER ANNOUNCES 1952 DODGE TESTS

The 1952 Dodge Coronet sedan has received a "standout" rating for its brakes, riding comfort and driver vision in scientific tests conducted by Motor Vehicle Research, an independent testing laboratory, of Boston, it is announced by R. E. Bowdon, Jr., Bowdon Motor & Implement Co., Calera.

Results of the tests, which involved both road and laboratory work, are published in the February issue of the magazine "Science and Mechanics."

"On at least three points which are important in a family automobile, the Dodge is a standout," says "Science and Mechanics".

"Whereas average braking efficiency of 60 per cent is considered acceptable and safe, this Coronet model registered 94 per cent in braking to a stop from 50 mph, and that at a pedal pressure of only 44 pounds! Normally you have to apply as much as 80 pounds pressure in emergency stops; a woman's pedal pressure would be somewhat less. At any rate, the Dodge braked to a stop smoothly from 50 mph in only 87-88 feet, which is well under what is judged to be a safe stopping distance...."

"Another point of excellence was the smooth ride. Over the roughest road surfaces, the Coronet was exceedingly comfortable, due of course to the ride control, Oriflow shocks, in which the bouncing action resulting from hitting bumps is controlled by the metered flow of hydraulic fluid through shock absorbers."

IMPORTS THROUGH MOBILE TOTAL $3,080,048 IN NOV.

Imports through the Mobile Customs District totaled $3,080,048, in November.

The figure represented a decline from $4,775,409 for October. The Republic of Panama was the largest single importer with cargoes valued at more than $500,000. From Germany came almost $200,000 worth of creosote oil.

ALABAMA GAS SERVICE CORP. GIVES REFUND

The Alabama Gas Service Corporation has been ordered to refund some $116,000 to around 36,000 customers, in a ruling by the State Public Service Commission.

The refund checks will average about $3.20, amounting to six per cent of the customers' bills for all of last year.

Officials of the utility consented to the refund, an APSC spokesman said after the commission had called their attention to what it regarded as "substantial excess earnings" for 1952.

One of the early editors of "The Hot Blast", Anniston's first newspaper was Major James Ryder Randall, author of the song "Maryland, My Maryland".

WORDS - WORDS - WORDS

Each week, our present varied assignments deal in "Words".... Thousands of them, but, we see by the papers, that the great messages which have lived thru centuries are ones most simply told. For instance, did you know that the "Declaration Of Independence" contains only 300 words? The "Ten Commandments" only 297 words? Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" only 266 words? The "Lord's Prayer" only 56 words? And the two Commandments that comprise the whole law of God contains only 23 words?

In comparison take a look at the OPS order setting the price of cabbage; it contains 26,911 words. And who wants a cabbage anyway?

DEADLINE FOR CANDIDATES TO QUALIFY

March 1, next Saturday is the dead line for candidates to qualify for any political office.

At the present writing, as far as we know, the following candidates are lined up. For Circuit Judge, P. O. Luck, Frank Head of Shelby County, A. L. Crumpton, Circuit Solicitor A. L. Hardegree of Clay County. For Judge of Probate: L. C. Walker, incumbent, Homer J. Walton of Columbiana and Owen Bridges of Montevallo; Candidates for Member of Board of Revenue and Control include Tom Nash, District Number 3, (Helena), Offie Stinson, C. R. Falkner, and Yeager Horn (District Number One); Candidates for Member of Board of Education include Solon E. McGraw of Vincent and John Foshee of Montevallo; Ed deGraffenried our present member representative in congressional halls has drawn no opposition.

The political arena will be, by far, the most active spot in the county from now until after the Primary Election which will be held on May 6th.

SUPT. ELLIOTT CONDUCTS EDUCATIONAL TOUR OF LOCAL SCHOOLS

One of the finest things we have heard of this week and certainly, we believe, a history-making event, is the tour of the county schools recently made by Superintendent of Education Woodrow Elliott, and his Board of Education members. No one thing brings more vividly home to our "official family" than a personal "look-see' at the needs of the people whom they are elected to serve. A fellow can sit down and hear about "needed improvements" here and there, but, the appeal to the eye is more powerful than just an "ear" full. So, Mr. Elliott, in his enthusiasm to do a bang-up job as our Superintendent of Education, invited his co-workers to tour the county schools and see the condition some of the buildings, and the inadequate supplies with which many instructors are now trying to educate little Mary and Johnnie. We hear from some of the members, after their return, that they "had no idea" certain things existed. The point with us is, that now they know it, we believe they will do something about remedying it.

This brings up another thought. The school contingent is vitally concerned in our coming elections, but few of them know the duties of the Probate Judge, Tax Collector, Tax Assessor, Circuit Clerk, etc, right here in our own court house. We hope to get these elected officials to write us a brief article explaining these key positions in our county, believing they will be not only instructive, but enlightening and, incidentally, entertaining. And perhaps will go one step further in keeping young America interested in these offices, which, no doubt, some day they will assume.

It should aslo promote a more enthusiastic interest on the part of "stay-at-homes" who refuse to go to the polls when election day comes around. At any rate, it's worth trying. We have already obtained a promise from one official to write an article and we hope to present a series of these articles at an early date. Watch for them.

Solicitor Hardegree Candidate For Circuit Judge

Mildred White Wallace

This week the Reporter-Democrat carries the formal announcement of A. L. Hardegree, Circuit Solicitor of the 18th Judicial Circuit, of his candidacy for the Judgeship of this Circuit.

Mr. Hardegree has been Circuit Solicitor of the 18th Judicial Circuit for the past 25 years, hence he is well known throughout the section it embraces. He is a native of Clay county where he now resides. He is a graduate from the University of Alabama Law School and has been successful in the official position he now retains. His present term as Circuit Solicitor does not expire until January, 1955 but, if he should be successful in his ambition to serve as Judge, he would, necessarily be forced to resign and a Circuit Solicitor would be appointed by the Governor of Alabama.

The writer has not seen Mr. Hardegree, so cannot give you a detailed article regarding his plans for this race nor a more complete personal history. However, we feel sure he will wage an active campaign in Clay, Coosa and Shelby Counties and will appreciate the consideration of the electorate of his candidacy when choosing the man who will serve them in this highly responsible position.

The entry of Mr. Hardegree in this race brings the canditorial list for the Judgeship up to four prominent attorneys. All are well known. They include: Frank Head, Paul O. Luck, of Columbiana; A. L. Crumpton and A. L. Hardegree of Ashland. It now remains for the electorate to decide which man is best qualified for the honor of representing you as Judge of the 18th Judicial Circuit.

REVIVAL SERVICES AT SHELBY

Rev. Jesse Mitchell, pastor of the Church of God at Shelby announces that they are holding revival services each night this week at 6:45 P. M. Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Myers are conducting the meeting. The public is invited to attend.

Notice To All Veterans

There is being circulated all over the country a petition headed "Veteran Roll Call" with the following heading, asking for the signature of veterans: "I am a veteran of the Armed Forces of the United States of America, and I believe that the administration of veterans' benefits should be carried out more efficiently and economically; and to that end, I urge Congress to give fair and full consideration to the recommendations of the bipartisan Hoover Commission."

Urge veterans to refrain from signing such a petition because of the dangers involved in getting veterans' benefits out and the counteraction to the policies of the National organization. We are not a petition signing group of men and this petition has been known to contain, many, many names of people who are not bona-fide veterans It does not express the sentiments of the veterans as a whole.

All veterans are urged to be present at our next regular meeting, March 4th.

Yours in comradeship,

NEW BOOKS ADDED TO CALERA SCHOOL LIBRARY

75 Volumes of new books were presented to Calera High School library recently.

E. M. Smith, principal, said every effort would be made to improve the library this year.

The new additions are a set of reference books given by the P. T. A., a set of Classics uniformly bound by Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Smith, a set of world books by Le Clair Cowart, a seventh grade student, and additional selections were given by Gloria McRae, Rebecca and Laura Edwards, Tommy and Wayne Lambreth.

The principal stated the library this year was subscribing to twenty different magazines which give the students a wider range of reference and free time reading.

4-H CLUB BANQUET

The 4-H Clubs of the county will hold their annual banquet in the High School on the evening of March 4. Regret we have an out of town engagement that will prevent our accepting their very thoughtful invitation to be present.

V. P. L. GETS HEAVY PENALTY

A young man by the name of Long was brought before Judge Riddle Monday to plead guilty to two charges of violating the Prohibition law. In the first he was given a fine of $200.00 and in the second, he was given a like fine and 90 days hard labor in the county.

Long was arrested the first day C. J. Falkner took office with a car load of liquor. Bond was made and in exactly one week arrested him a second time with another car of liquor.

CLEAN UP COLUMBIANA

We people of Columbiana ought to put on the biggest and most thorough Spring Clean Up Campaign the old town has ever seen. It is our town, let's make it as clean as we can. Then, let's plant some Crepe Myrtle.

ELLIS AND LUCK GIVEN RECESS APPOINTMENTS

Both Senator L. H. Ellis and Representative P. O. Luck were appointed to serve on the recess committee on Judiciary, representing their respective houses. This is one of the most important committees appointed. It will begin its work about March 15, 1927.

NO PAROLES YET

Not a single permanent parole has been granted by Governor Graves since he was inauguarated a little over a month ago. A number of applications that had been approved by the old Pardon Board were left on the desk by Governor Brandon, but no action will be taken on these until they have been passed upon by the new Board. The members of this Board are Charlie C. McCall Attorney General; John Brandon, Secretary of State; and S. H. Blan, Auditor.

COMMUNITY NEWS

Mrs. Garvin Baker and Miss Lillian Cox spent the week end in Birmingham.

E. E. Wallis, a substantial farmer of Vincent community called Monday to renew his subscription to the Reporter and to leave an order for job printing.

A traveling man who visited the Reporter office this week was very much surprised to learn that Columbiana had an eight page paper. He stated that he visits a number of towns over the state, and that many towns much larger than Columbiana had only four page papers.

Thompson High is one of three accredited High Schools in Shelby County. It has an enrollment of 263 with a good daily attendance record. M. B. Slaughter is Principal. His faculty is as follows: Willodeen Richardson, Mary Sparks, Verther Long, H. G. Steely, Olivia Young, Daisy Ross, Rosa Patterson, Claude Alice Kirkland and Sudie Ozley.

Mrs. Annie Lou Snow of Helena visited in Harpersville during the past week end.

Misses Sara Holcombe and Pearl Bristow spent part of last week with Mrs. G. P. West at Bethel.

Miss Mary G. Stallworth, Professor of Art, was the originator of College Night, which is put on annually at Alabama College.

A. A. Lauderdale has bought the Averytt home on Main Street from Mr Atchison and will move there with his family in a short time.

Mickie Says: "Times change. Editors were once so doggone modest that they would trade subscriptions for pumpkins, cordwood or 'what have you'.... and then crack jokes about their patched pants. Them days have gone forever and the editor packs as much of a swagger as the banker now-a-days."

Yeager Horn Candidate Member Bd. Of Rev. And Con.

Mildred White Wallace

The Reporter-Democrat this week has the privilege of announcing the candidacy of Yeager Horn, successful and widely known business man of Columbiana, as a candidate for Member of the Shelby County Board of Revenue And Control.

Mr. Horn is most favorably known throughout Shelby County. He was born and reared in Montevallo, and received his early educational advantages in the schools of his native county. Following completion of the High School course, Mr. Horn enrolled in Auburn, from which college he was graduated in Engineering in 1924. In 1926, he joined commercial circles in Columbiana, where he and his family have since resided.

Mr. Horn owns and operates the Horn Service Station, in Columbiana, but has found time from his personal business ventures to give his attention to many civic and educational projects. He is not a new comer in the field of public service. He has served Shelby County in a most creditable manner as a Member of the Board of Education, where his administrative and executive ability has been acclaimed by his co-workers. He is known as a man vitally interested in the future progress of this county, and is a tireless worker on any assignment he undertakes. By experience, education and native ability, Mr. Horn is exceptionally well qualified to creditably fulfill the obligations and the responsibilities the Board of Revenue members should possess.

The writer had only a few minutes before press time, after learning of Mr. Horn's entry into this field for public service as a candidate, therefore, the interview we had with him was of short duration, but, we have known and worked with Yeager Horn for a number of years on various projects where the welfare of the people was at stake, and in every instance, we have found him to be honest, conscientious, and at all times keeping in mind the "good for the greatest number".... with no favoritism" on his calendar of activities.

Mr. Horn says he believes in the permanent development of this county, but he also believes in "obtaining full value for every dollar of the people's money expended". He regards a public assignment as a public trust, and the official who receives this "vote of confidence" from the people should ever keep in mind that he is only the custodian of their affairs".... and should therefore be on the alert, at all times, to serve their best interests.

Mr. Horn further stated, that if he is honored with this office he now seeks as a Member of the Board of Revenue and Control, he will, to the best of his ability strive to merit the approval of his administration. He will, he states, fully cooperate with his co-workers, and believes in operating fairly and squarely under existing laws and regulations especially specified for this responsible task.

Mr. Horn will be grateful for the serious consideration by the electorate of his qualifications for the position he seeks. And, after carefully weighing same, if the voters believe he is the man for this administrative job, he will appreciate their support, influence and vote on May 6, 1952.

TRAFFIC FATALITIES INCREASE OVER THE STATE

Alabama Safety Commission members have been warned that unless the states do something to cut down on the number of traffic fatalities, there is a possibility the federal government may step in.

The warning came from Alabama Asst. Atty. Gen. William N. McQueen, legal adviser to Governor Gordon Persons. McQueen spoke at a meeting last week called by Safety Commission Chairman Earl McGowin.

Declaring that the states do not want the federal government setting up rules of the road, and police the highways, McQueen said it was up to the states to cut down the accident rate.

Representatives from the Highway Agriculture, and Education Departments were named by McGowin, to a committee to plan the scope of Safety Commission work. State officials at the meeting agreed to create a co-ordinating committee that will do the planning for the safety program.

'Miss F. H. A.' Is Crowned At S.C.H.S.

Miss Annette Davis, a popular member of the Senior Class, was crowned "Miss F. H. A." by Mr. Rogers, Principal of Shelby County High School, and presented with a bouquet of red roses by Miss Pattie Merrell, Miss F. H. A. of last year, February 22, 1952.

The crowning of Miss F. H. A. ended three weeks of intensve work for the busness managers. The candidates are selected by the club and the one receiving the largest number of penny votes is crowned "Miss F. H. A."

The proceeds from this contest go to the club. Congratulations go to Annette Davis and her business manager, Pattie Merrell.

AMERICAN LEGION SPONSORS SHOW AT HIGH SCHOOL MONDAY, MARCH 10th

Coming to Columbiana on Monday night, March 10th, is one of the best-liked radio groups over the south, at which time the American Legion Post 131 here will be happy to present the Carter Sisters with their mother, Maybelle, from station WSM, Nashville, Tenn.

The hour of the show will be 7:00 P. M. Admission prices will be 30 and 60 cents say Legion Officials. High School Auditorium is the place.

Mother Maybelle Carter is one of the original members of the Carter Family, a group which will be remembered as long as there are country folks. She made records with them in the first days of country records. The Carter Family records for RCA Victor, Columbia and Decca and millions of recordings have been sold of the Carter family.

Today, Mother Maybelle and her three daughters, The Carter Sisters, make records for RCA Victor and are featured on the Grand Ole Opry. Helen Carter is the oldest daughter. She plays accordian and has written several good songs which have been recorded. June Carter is the one who makes the people laugh. She has a recording contract with RCA and has made several solos as well as some tunes with Homer and Jethro which were quite successful. She plays the auto harp and does a little country dance which certainly is "country indeed". She has an art for making people laugh and enjoy themselves. Anita is the youngest and has recently signed a contract with RCA Victor. She has made several recordings and shows great promise. She plays the bass fiddle and sings the songs with a style all of her own.

The Carter Sisters have been singing for years on numerous radio stations and have transcriptions on several stations at this time. They have appeared on all major radio networks and are now featured on the Grand Ole Opry and on WSM-TV. A few of the Carter's latest releases are, "God Sent My Little Girl," "Little Orphan Girl," "Got to Find Me Someody To Love". Two of June's latest recordings out are, "Bashful Rascal," and "Crocodile Tears". They have a novelty show offering almost any style of singing and comedy that will bring enjoyment to any group.

MRS. MARY JANE VICK PASSES AT SILURIA

Mrs. Mary Jane Vick passed away at 10:20 o'clock Monday, the 11th of February.

She was a precious mother and dearly beloved grandmother, was loved by everybody who knew her.

She was a member of the Rocky Ridge Church at Columbiana.

She was born at Brierfield, but lived most of her life around Columbiana. She first married Will Barnett. They had one son, James Barnett. Later she married Robert Vick, having two sons, Dewey and Charlie Vick. Mr. Vick passed away in 1917. Mrs. Vick was almost one hundred years of age. Her exact birthday was unknown.

Local Legionaires Hear Department Commander

(G. C. Moore, Jr.)

One of the best district conventions,bad weather notwithstanding, that has been held in Alabama during this series of conferences was held in Columbiana last Sunday afternoon. Alabama is divided into nine districts, Columbiana and surrounding area being designated as the Fifth district.

Some 75 Legionaires and Auxiliary members attended, some as far as Tuscaloosa, Brewton and Tuscumbia.

Highlighting the conference was a visit by Department Commander, Joe Starnes, of Guntersville, Alabama, who is a former congressman in Washington and who is a lawyer by profession. His was the "Keynote" address of the many short talks.

Presiding officer was Ed Yeargen, Thorsby, 5th District Vice-Commander, in the absence of commander McCrary of Birmingham. The convention was welcomed by Post Commander Frank Head and immediate past Commander M. E. Smalley.

Other distinguished visitors present, in addition to Mrs. R. E. Wooley, Montevallo(5th district Auxiliary president were: Joe Lovett, Department Jr. Vice-commander, Brewton, Ala.; Joseph Dickerson, the ever lovable "Joe Dick", Department Adjutant, Montgomery; George Huddleston, Jr., Immediate Past Commander, Alabama Department, Birmingham; Red Massingale, Central Area Commander, Tuscaloosa, (Columbiana is in this area); John Foster, Department Judge - Advocate, Birmingham; Dave Vess ,our new Department Chairman of Americanism; Dave Sisson, Southern Area vice-commander, Montgomery, Ala.

About ten to 12 members of the local post were present.

We are indebted to the local Auxiliary unit under the leadership of Mrs. Thelma Glenn, for some delicious refreshments served the group at the courthouse following adjournment.

These district meetings are high points in the Membership Drive now on, called "Over The Top By New Year's Day", February 29th. All honorably discharged veteran's are again invited and urged to see some member of the Local Post and sign up before the time runs out.

Let's Go Over The Top By Leap Year!

NOTICE

No. 3256 In the Circuit Court of Shelby County, Alabama, In Equity.

Ada Atchison Spain, Complainant,
Vs.
Vester Spain, Respondent,

In this cause it being made to appear to the Register by affidvait of Ada Atchison Spain, the complainant in this cause, that the Respondent is over 21 years of age, but his place of residence is unknown. That respondent has secreted himself so that process of summons cannot be served upon him. The officers of Shelby County and officers of Jefferson County, where respondent resided for a while, have made effort to serve summons in this case upon him but have been unable to do so for the reason he could not be found in those counties; that respondent evades the Sheriff and his deputies and as stated they have been unable to serve process upon him. It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Shelby County Reporter-Democrat, a newspaper published in Columbiana, Alabama, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring the said Vester Spain to plead, answer, or demur to the Bill of Complaint in this cause by the 4th day of March, 1952, or in thirty days thereafter a decree pro confessa may be taken against him.

Done at Office in Columbiana, Alabama, this the 4th day of February, 1952.

NOTICE

In The Probate Court of Shelby County, Alabama.

Shelby County, a Body Corporate,
vs
Mrs. Floy M. Carr, et. al.

You are hereby notified that Shelby County, a body corporate, has filed in this court its written application seeking to condemn lands, rights and interest therein described for a right of way and borrow pits for the purpose of constructing, improving or maintaining a public road or highway in said county by the county and the State of Alabama, as located and staked out by engineering personnel of the Office of the County Engineer of Shelby County, Alabama, and designated as Project No. SACP 432, which said road or highway is located between Vincent and Arkwright in Shelby County, Alabama ad which is called the Vincent-Arkwright road; and said lands owned by you are situated in Shelby County, Alabama, and are described as follows:

Parcel I: Beginning at Station 64/15 of Project SACP 432 at a point two feet West of and at a right angle to center line of said project; thence Easterly along the property line of said railway a distance of 21.0 feet; thence Southeasterly along said property line a distance of 140.0 feet to point of intersection with East 40 foot right of way line of said Project; thence South 29 deg. 58 min. East along said right of way line a distance of 108.0 feet; thence Westerly across the North abuttment of existing overpass a distance of 60.0 feet; thence Northerly along property line of said railroad a distance approximately 251.0 feet to the point of beginning.

Parcell II: Beginning at a point on centerline at Station 69/13 of said project thence Easterly along property line of said railroad, a distance 16.0 feet; thence Northerly along property line of said railroad a distance 103.0 feet to point of intersection with East 40 foot right of way line ofsaid project; thence Northwesterly along said right of way line a distance 30.0 feet; thence Westerly across the South abuttment of existing overpass a distance 60.0 feet; thence Southeasterly along property line of said Railroad a distance 126.0 feet; thence Easterly along property line of said railroad a distance 9.0 feet to the point of beginning.

It is the intention that these two parcels of land as above described shall include any land that may be lying within 40 feet on each side of centerline of said project up to the abuttments of the said overpass.

Said strips of land lying in the SE¼ of the NW¼, Sec. 23, T 19 S, R 2 E.

The above description is as shown on the right of way map of Shelby County recorded in the Office of the Probate Judge of Shelby County.

You are further notified that the hearing of said application has been set by the court for Friday, the 7th day of March, 1952, at ten o'clock A. M. on said date and notice of said application and of the day so appointed for the hearing thereof, are hereby given you.

This the 11th day of February, 1952.

ON THE FARMS IN SHELBY COUNTY

B. F. Hatchett and G. C. Starcher

Recently there have been published articles telling of increased food value and flavor of grazing and hay produced with proper fertilizer.

Near Harpersville G. I. Farm Trainee E. A. Newman showed us a fine example of this last week when we began making a conservation farm plan on his 160 acre farm for the North Central Soil Conservation District.

Newman has three stacks of hay made last summer and stacked at his barn. Cattle have free access to all three stacks, all Johnson grass hay.

One stack of hay, Grown on an area fertilized for cotton, is just about eaten up. A second, unfertilized, but cut early, is now being eaten. The third, unfertilized and cut late, is hardly touched.

This would be even more true in the case of sericea hay, as sericea has the ability to grow on ground with less natural fertility than Johnson grass will. If you feel your cattle will not eat enough sericea green or as hay, try fertilizing and cutting OFTEN.

Recent conservation farm plans include those on farms of: R. E. Brannon, Wilsonville, 310 acres; Lloyd Mason, Calera, 41 acres; Robert Hall Calera, 83 acres; Jack Russell, Dunnavant, 1310 acres; and Arthur Wood, Wilsonville, 120. Places named are nearest towns to location of farm.

Do you weep over gold articles which have lost their glitter? Still weeping, rub the articles with onion juice. Let dry thoroughly and rub with a soft cloth.

All Take Part In Activities At Thompson High School

The math department is displaying some attractive geometric designs in color and some interesting puzzles appear on the bulletin board.

A group of first grade children in Mrs. Butler's room have a real farm in their room ... complete with animals, barn, and home. They made their animals and buildings of clay and cardboard. They are also making a book of pictures showing how the family can have fun together.

The advanced typewriting classes are doing some interesting research on the job interview. They have completed booklets on this subject and have also made personal data booklets to accompany application letters.

The students worked out a rough draft, each using the style he preferred and after reworking the material, final forms were decided upon and the work completed.

They are now making plans for an assembly program to be presented to all the students based on right and wrong techniques for the job interview.

Eight new members have become eligible for membership in Quill and Scroll and have received their pins: Ruth Naish, Carol Nunnally, Carlene Webb, Frankie Hale, Mary Honeycutt, Edrel Aldridge, Ellen Arnett, Betty Morrow.

Tired of the smell of cigarettes left half burning in ash trays? Sprinkle a little baking soda in the bottom of the ash trays. It acts as a quick fire extinguisher, and helps make tray-cleaning easier, too.

VETERANS' ORGANIZATIONS

More than 300,000 students in 46 states are taking part in the American Legion's 1952 HIGH SCHOOL ORATORICAL contest. This is the fifteenth year that the American Legion has sponsored this program with the idea that high school students learn more about the Constitution of the United States and the BILL OF RIGHTS. Various contests are held in high schools throughout the nation. The county winners have an opportunity to go to the District contests, and from there to Area, State, Regional and National competition. Valuable cash prizes are awarded the winners of each contest, with the national winner receiving a $4,000 scholarship, good at ANY University or College, according to the winner's choice. Second, Third, and Fourth prizes will be $2,500, $1,000, and $500 scholarships.

The Disabled American Veterans has started the distribution of the Dav's Study Unit. This Unit is being distributed to 175 high schools in Maryland at the present time, and are available to ANY high school without cost. The Purpose Of The UNIT is to impart information about Disabled Veterans and their problems and to develop in future citizens an understanding of the continuing obligation of society to the handicapped veteran. The UNIT discusses Types of war-disabled veterans; history of disabled veterans; the Disabled Ex-Serviceman in a Democratic Society; rehabilitation of the disabled veteran and disabled veterans' legislation. It seems that all of our veterans organizations are engaged in some sort of activities which will make our nation a better place in which to live. These are just a few of the activities of our veterans organizations. All of them are constantly sponsoring programs for the good of the entire nation and not just veterans.

Shelby County 4-H Adult Leaders will be honored at a Banquet and Folic Tuesday evening, March 4.

Mothers Get Further Education At Thompson

The mothers of some of our boys and girls have returned to school for further education. They are enrolled in the adult business classes, authorized by the Smith-Hughes Bill, and meet after the regular school day, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Clara Cook's mother, Mrs. Elvia Cook, is taking bookkeeping and typewriting. Mrs. Elizabeth Nabors, the mother of C. W. and Ann, is taking shorthand and typewriting. Mrs. Ellen Grey, the mother of Donald and Wayne is enrolled in bookkeeping and typewriting, and Mrs. Will Etta Smith, Buck's mother is taking the complete course.

Mrs. McDonald who's son Mickey is in elementary school is taking shorthand and typing. Othella Garret's mother is taking bookkeeping and typewriting.

Thompson alumni enrolled are: Hazel Davidson, Mrs. Estelle Abbott, Mrs. Jo Henderson, Mrs. Doris Johnson, Mrs. Virginia Johnson, Mrs. Billie Baker and Mrs. Annette Cardwell and Mrs. Nadine Pate.

Mrs. Bernice Cagle, Agrethia Kimbrell, Mrs. Carl Bailey, Mrs. Edna Fulgham, Sue Hassel, are enrolled along with two members of the faculty, Miss Lavada Harper and Miss Iris Kirkpatrick.

Before beginning a shampoo, grease the area around your eyes with petroleum jelly or cold cream. It will keep the soap out of your eyes.

If your sewing needle gets blunt, try sharpening the point by running the needle through a piece of steel wool.

Mrs. W. G. McLendon will direct the activities of the newly organized Helena Home Demonstration Club.

CHICK CHATS

PROPER FEEDING OF BABY CHICKS

As soon as your baby chicks arrive from the hatchery they'll be ready to feed. And from that time on, feeding will be one of your major chores.

Here are some feeding pointers which should prove helpful during those important first few weeks of brooding.

It is usually best to move your chicks to the brooder house in the afternoon. In this way, they'll have a little time to eat, plus a nig sleep, before their first full day activity.

To prevent chicks from eating too much at one time, feed them three or four times a day for the first few days. Also, feed chicks on newspapers the first several days to help teach them to eat and prevent them from picking at the litter.

Warmed Water

It is advisable to give chicks warmed drinking-water the first day or so, spacing water containers evenly around the hover.

Since chicks grow and feather out better in cool room temperature, it is best to move them away from the heating unit gradually to the cooler part of the brooder house.

Feed hoppers may be supplied on the first day so that chicks will become accustomed to hopper feeding as early as possible. When chicks are eating from the hoppers pretty well, allow the hoppers to be empty for a brief period every afternoon. In this way, chicks appetites will be kept on edge, feed will remain cleaner, and less feed will be wasted. Starting on the fourth day, give some sort of grit to chicks. This aids digestion.

Starting Mash

Some poultry-raisers prefer to feed one-half chick scratch and one-half starting mash the first day or two to help keep chicks from pasting up. Poultrymen are urged not to feed only scratch at first because chicks need the vitamins and minerals provided by the mash. The grower can feed starting mash without scratch the first six weeks. After that, some grain may be fed.

Coccidiosis is often a troublemaker with chicks. There are poultry drinking-water medications available crol. It is considered good practice to help keep this disease under conto protect chicks in this way.

Influx of Atomic Plant Workers Crowds Town

LIVERMORE, Calif.—Livermore boasted a 51.3 per cent population increase in 1950 over the 1940 census, but village officials report a steady influx until now the population numbers about 5,000. The 1940 census was 2,885 and the 1950 count 4,364.

Chamber of Commerce officials report the recent population growth is due to an influx of workers at the California Research and Development Company's atomic-energy plant and because of the reactivation of Parks Air Force base which will employ a permanent staff of 4,000.

Two other communities in the area have shown great population increases in recent years. Pleasanton's count increased 75.6 per cent and Hayward showed a population rise of 111.9 per cent.

Thanks to all our friends for every kind word, or deed given through the illness and death of my sister, Mrs. E. B. Ogburn.

Especially to the Siluria Methodist Church and Baptist people for their hospitality and service, also the beautiful floral offerings.

May God bless every one and keep your lives a channel of blessing for His service and glory.

Her sister,
Mrs. C. H. (Piety) Edwards

WHO IS OLDEST MAIL CARRIER IN SHELBY COUNTY?

Last week, we thought we had been reliably informed, and stated that T. C. Rush Sr., had returned to his work as rural mail carrier, after a spell of illness. Also that he was the "oldest in years of active service, now on the road", or words to that effect.

This statement is challenged by our good friend Elmer Falkner in Sterrett, who steps forth and claims to be the "oldest Mail Carrier, in years of service in Shelby County". So we beg his pardon, and correct our records.... so, when folk read this paper "25 years from now", Elmer Falkner's name will head the list of "oldest in years of service in Uncle Sam's Rural Mail Carriers in 1952". Mr. Falkner has served in this position since April 1, 1910.

TOMMY KING, GRIT SALESMAN DE LUXE

For salesmanship with a smile, we refer you to Tommy King, who is salesman de luxe for "Grit". Now, if you do not subscribe for this interesting weekly document, you should contact Tommy As far as we are concerned, we enjoy talking with this bright young American busiman as much as we enjoy looking over the periodical he sells. Splendid chap. We shall watch his future career with keen interest.

. . . Sue Spearman has returned from a trip to visit husband Charles Spearman who is stationed in Camp Gordon. Sue reports a "most wonderful time".

. . . Those two happy people you see motoring along the highways after months and months of separation are Sue and Jimmy Brooks. Jimmy is home for a brief respite between military assignments. Wish it COULD be "for keeps"! Maybe however, this dream of a peaceful world will soon come true, and all these brave young people just starting life together can be reunited and together build a better world than the one now boosting an all time high in "confusion".

DEBORAH LEE DICKINSON

Mr. and Mrs. George Dickinson (Marie Cosper) of Birmingham, are happy over the arrival of a little girl in their home whom they have named Deborah Lee Dickinson. Friends of the young couple will join me in extending congratulations and best wishes. Little Debbie was born last Wednesday, February 20, 1952.

. . . Mrs. Emma Pitts was made happier on her 85th birthday on account of the number of cards, gifts and mementos sent her by former friends and neighbors in Shelby county. Her daughter, Mrs. Era Clinkscales writes me, that she had about the happiest birthday she has ever experienced, so many thoughtful people made it possible by remembering her in so many beautiful ways.

CONGRATULATIONS LEONARD ROGERS

There are few people who have moved into this town that have been more unanimously acclaimed than the Rogers family. Mr. and Mrs., and the two little "Rogers".

When Leonard Rogers was elected principal of the High School in 1951, he moved his family here, and since that time, they have been a vitally important part of our community life.

Mr. Rogers is recognized as one of the best High School Principals in the State, and next week will find this "up to the last minute" educator, in Prattville, Alabama, where, for one week, he will visit the Prattville High School in the capacity of an "Evaluator" of the methods of teaching, the needs of the school in the various departments, and all matters and things pertaining to reaching a certain standard which will, when met, make this school eligible for further recognition and perhaps elevate them on the educational scale leading toward higher achievement as members of the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges.

No better qualified man for this assignment (in the humble opinion of this writer), could have been chosen than Leonard Rogers.

It is an honor he richly deserves. We proudly join others in extending our congratulations.

VIGNETTE CLUB MEMBERS COMPLETE HOME NURSING COURSE

DAVIS-PORTER WEDDING SOLEMNIZED

In the presence of relatives and a few chosen friends, on the evening of Friday, February 22, at eight o'clock, the marriage of Horace Almont Davis and Gladys Virginia Porter of Shelby, was impressively solemnized at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. T. K. Roberts, Mr. Roberts reading the wedding vows.

After a brief motor trip, the young couple will make their future home in Birmingham.

CONGRATULATIONS BAKER ELLIOTT

"We see by the papers" that our good friend and former co-worker in this journalistic enterprise, Baker Elliott, of the University of Alabama, has received a promotion in the R. O. T. C. to the rank of Captain. So, next time we see this personable, happy-go-lucky fellow, we shall give him our greetings and salutations, and address him as "Captain Bake" and he will be a good one, too.

REV. CURTIS BEAN RETURNS SUNDAY

The guest speaker for Sunday, March 2, in the Baptist Church, is the Rev. Curtis Bean who has just completed his ministerial course in Louisville, Kentucky.

He will speak at the eleven o'clock hour and at seven o'clock P. M.

The Choristers will sing at the morning service, "Prayer Penitent", and preceding the morning message Betty Lyon Rush, will give her vocal interpretation of the much beloved solo, "Teach Me To Pray"....

The Youth Choir, directed by Bob Holliman, will have charge of the musical presentations at the evening service.

CULTURE CLUB MEETS

The Culture Club met with Mrs. H. J. Walton for its regular meeting on February 14th. Narcissus and Camellias were used in decoration.

The program was a very special one with Miss Mary Mims in charge. A Musical Program was enjoyed, which included solos, special numbers, trios, as well as group singing by the members and a large number of guests.

At the conclusion of the program the hostess served delicious refreshments with Valentine motif.

HIGH SCHOOL TO STAGE MOCK PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

There is one thing certain in my mind! Several years from now, the voting contingent of Shelby County is going to know more about candidates, voting procedure, voters qualifications etc., for Principal Leonard Rogers, working in close cooperation with Mrs. W. Y. Johnson (who has long sponsored a more intelligent approach to this responsibility), and the Seniors of S. C. H. S., are going to make it so.

For instance, we have just talked with alert Carlos Moorer, one of the brightest youngsters we have met in a long time, with a personality to match his keen wit. Carlos tells me that soon, the date will be announced in this paper, a Mock Presidential Preference Election will be held in this School, and every qualified voter in this town will be asked to join the students in expressing his or her preference for a President. The names of the twelve most potent candidates for this exalted position will be printed on a ticket and a fee of five cents will be charged the students for the privilege of participating in this election. This fee, represents the "poll tax" required to vote.

If further plans go thru, and the Board of Revenue and Control of this country, can cooperate and help them get a Voting Machine installed for this occasion (eventually, we hope Shelby County will find ways and means of installing these expensive, but O, so accurate, machines), then you and I will cast our votes, secretly, and the winner will be known by a quick tabulation, after the polls close.

Carlos further told us, that those of us, who are tied to a desk, and want somebody to take our places, while we go to the High School to vote, that this live group of future qualified citizens, would send someone in to "look after things while we are gone". Thats a fair enough proposition. We thought, however, after talking with Carlos, that personally, this scribe had better "get on the ball" or we might lose this editorial chair to one of them.

It is a heartening thing to realize that understanding instructors, find time to really devote a part of their busy hours toward fostering facts and figures, regarding our Elections while these young people are still fledgings, so to speak, entrusted to their keeping and we offer our sincere congratulations to teachers and pupils who are making possible this definite step forward toward a goal much to be desired.... not only in Shelby County but throughout the state.

SHARON NANETTE OAKES

The Rev. and Mrs. John Oakes announce the arrival of a little girl whom they have named Sharon Nanette Oakes. She was born on February 21, We join her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Waldrop of Sterrett Route in sending congrtulations and best wishes.

BABY TALK

It's "baby-talk" time in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Jones, of Columbiana and friends of this popular young couple extend a warm welcome to Danny Ray Jones who was born on February 22 in Clanton, Alabama.

To prevent steel wool from rusting, try keeping it, between uses, in a jar of soda water.... three tablespoons of baking soda to a cup of water.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Conrad M. Fowler spent the week end in Tuscumbia, where they attended the Heflin-Carmichael wedding Saturday evening. Their "young hopefuls", Randy and Connie, enjoyed their week end at the home of their grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Fowler, and we will wager there was not a dull minute in the Fowler household during the time these "live-wires" were around.

. . . Fonza Jackson, of Harpersville, was in town Friday. He is most enthusiastic over the development of the livestock industry in Shelby County. Mr. Jackson is possibly the most successful cattle dealer in the county. Judging by our conversation with him, he buys and sells these pedigreed quadrupeds, known as Angus and Herefords by the herd. He travels around quite a bit and says, the future potentialities of this county in this business are unlimited.

. . . The "Varsity" is a popular meeting place for the ten o'clock Coffee Clubbers, where pretty Martha Falkner is hostess. This week sees a new department opened in this emporium. "Storkland", where everything that little King or Queens of Hearts might need is to be found. Chase by and see it, and, don't leave without trying one of those famed "Sundaes" Martha Falkner stirs up. Delicious is the word for them!

. . . Mrs. A. B. Barger has the agency for a new gadget "Defroster", which you hitch to your electric refrigerator and it automatically does your "de-frosting" job for you. It is truly worth your money. We would not take anything for the one we have.

. . . Mrs. Fay Miles Benton and Miss Myrtle Miles spent Sunday in Gadsden, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam A. Benton.

. . . Regret to learn of the illness of Jane and Elizabeth Isbell, Peggy Hill, LeAnne and Dedee Rush, Mrs. T. C. Rush Sr., Mrs. Bill Evans, Mrs. Robert Holliman, Ronald Holliman, N. A. Jones, Mrs. Hugh Sims, and perhaps others we have not heard from.... "King Flu" continues his knockout invasion.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Shaw of Route One, Wilsonville, have been notified that their son, James Hubert who is now serving his country with the Eighth Army in Korea, has been promoted to Sgt. At the time of his promotion this young man was commended for his excellent service rating. He had only 13 months military service at the time of his most recent promotion. This is a record of which anyone could be proud.

MONTEVALLO SENIORS PRESENT PLAY

The Senior Class of Montevallo High School will present "The Man Who Came To Dinner", Tuesday night, March 4, in Palmer Hall.

The play, a comedy in three acts, concerns the strange antics of Mr. Sheridan Whitside, famous critic and lecturer, after he finds himself the unwilling guest of a surprised couple in a small mid-western city. Ed Givhan will portray the role of Mr. Whitside.

Other cast members include Emily Vest, Lacy Herron, Peggy Nix, Ted Allen, Jane Steele, Joe McGaughy, Martha Cox, Sarah Pat Baker, Wanda Robinson, Harry Klotzman, Clarice Chism, Mike Mahan, Dick Dixon, Ken Rochester, Bobby Saunderson, Gloria Gilbert, Bobby Jarvis, Jack Ingram, Dolan Small, Lola Peete, and William Pickett.

Curtain time will be at 8 P. M.

. . . The pupils of Robert Holliman, in Chelsea Music Department are missing him this week, but there is a good reason, he is "floored by Flu".

. . . Mrs. William A. Johnson of Birmingham was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Johnson over the week end. Billy is stationed at Ft. Lee, Va., and his wife and parents were together to receive a phone call from him Sunday, that being his birthday.

PFC. MURPHY STINSON

Private First Class Murphy T. Stinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Offie Stinson of Wilsonville, Alabama, has arrived at Craig AFB, Alabama, and has been assigned to the 3615th Supply Squadron.

Pfc. Stinson enlisted in the Air Force in December, 1951, and completed his basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, before being sent to this installation, where aviation cadets receive advanced single engine flying training.

Murphy Stinson is a graduate of Shelby County High School. His wife, Helen, lives in Columbiana.

Good Morning

SHORT SHORT STORIES

From Granny's house on the hill to Mrs. McMillan's house I would go down past the muscadine vine in the tall trees and through the gap and up a trail of stomped-down grass that led into her back yard. This was the trail I used, on my way back from driving Mrs. McMillan's cow to the dipping vat on the hill behind Mr. Laney Isbell's sawmill, with a brand new quarter in my hand and a thousand dreams popping in my mind. You can buy a bucket full of dreams for a quarter when you're ten years old.

But that was a lot of years ago, and the muscadine vine and the gap and the trail of stomped-down grass are just little faded pictures in the back of my mind. That is, they were until yesterday, when I went back up there again and traveled the trail from memory, searching every inch with wide eyes. For I had lost my quarter one day, and though I had looked in vain a thousand hours when I was ten, and eleven, and twelve even.... I just wanted to go back once more, to be certain, plum certain, that I hadn't missed a single blade of stomped-down grass. Or did I still believe, maybe, deep down in my heart, that, if a guy could find it somehow, he could still buy a bucket full of dreams for a quarter!

It's just over the hill to yesterday, past a few robins maybe, and a scattering of rooster head violets. But the way isn't long, and loveliness and laughter and calico are as pretty as a guy can stand. The same as always.

I had followed the basketball team half way across the country with such lovelies as Charlie Goodwin and and Peggy Stokes and Betty Watts and Gwen Farr adding lustre to a bright February. A mad breathless night for us all. We fought with the score keeper, drank cokes out of bottles without straws, fussed at the referee, climbed on the clouds when the second team came from behind to win by three points,, and wallowed under the seats when the first team lost the second game of the whole season. Until the whole mad evening was over and we had made our way outside.

"Who's the little squirt," somebody asked, "with more pretty girls around him than Solomon had?"

"That's Skillett Bird," another answered.

And after a long moment. "There was another Skillett Bird up around that neck of the woods thirty years ago. Wonder whatever became of him?"

"Oh, he's got fat and fifty," the other laughed, "the same as us."

And on the way home it suddenly dawned on me: That it's just over the hill to yesterday, past a few robins maybe, and a scattering of rooster head violets. And that the way isn't long, and that loveliness and laughter and calico are as pretty as a guy can stand. The same as always.

Sliced corned beef, thinly shredded green cabbage, the Russian dressing make a flavorsome filling for a rye bread sandwich to pack into a lunchbox.

Baking a smoked pork shoulder butt? About half an hour before it's finished mix a tablespoon of prepared mustard with three tablespoons of brown sugar and a couple of tablespoons of orange juice and spread the ham with this mixture.

It's a good idea to apply a thin coat of oil or grease to an iron skillet after it is washed and dried and before it is put away. This will insure against rust.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Acts 4:32-37; 9:20-27; 11:19-30; 13:1-4; 14:8-15; 15:1-6, 22-39.

Talent for Goodness

Lesson for March 2, 1952

Dr. Foreman

MANY people can paint, or swim, who have no special talent for painting or swimming. So, many people are good who do not seem to have a special talent for goodness. This talent is not so common as we all wish it were. Goodness, real goodness, has many limitations. Two of the commonest are goody-goody-ness and good-for-nothing-ness. Goody-goody people rub normal people the wrong way. Good-for-nothing-ness is not so irritating, but it is far from satisfying. Don't we all know persons of whom it is said, "He is good, but —"? Now of a really good person you never say "He is good, but—." You say, "I only wish there were more like him."

He Chose to Help

SUCH a man was Barnabas, one of the leaders of the first Christian church. He was called "our beloved Barnabas" not by a single congregation but by a great church council. The whole Christian family of his time thought of him as "our Barnabas," and they loved him.

He was not what you would call a specially gifted man. He was very impressive in personal appearance, for we know that among superstitious people he was taken for Jupiter or Zeus, the most powerful of the Greek gods. But he was no gifted speaker, and if he wrote anything we do not hear of it.

His one great gift, his God-given talent, was goodness. He is described as a "good man, full of the Holy Spirit and of faith." He is first heard of as a property-owner who sold his land and turned over the proceeds for the benefit of his fellow Christians. He was one of those who "called not anything their own" but contributed all they had.

He Could Take a Back Seat

IF I can't be corn I don't want to be shucks" is a proverb Julius Caesar might have thought of if he had been a farmer instead of a general. Once that famous man was marching through a miserable little mountain village and one of his aides said something about "this hole." The general turned on him: "I would rather be first in this village," he said, "than second in Rome."

Most of us know how old J. C. felt, because most of us are not very good. But a really good person never feels that way. Your imitation-good person will take a back seat hoping soon to get his invitation to come up higher, and if he doesn't get it he will feel very peevish about the whole business.

A truly good person will be just as contented with the back seat if there is an abler man in the front seat. Now Barnabas was a good man, and he could take a back seat gracefully, could even do what is most difficult, resign from the front and slip into the rear.

He and Paul were the first missionary team in Christian history. During the time of their work together in the city of Antioch, and at the time the church commissioned them as missionaries, they are mentioned as "Barnabas and Saul." But, when they came back from that journey they were "Paul and Barnabas" and so they remained.

Paul was Barnabas' protege, his pupil, his assistant; and some men would be mightily irritated if their smart young assistants push into first place; but not Barnabas. He had that talent for goodness which includes being glad to play second fiddle to a better musician.

He Could See God

BARNABAS had another rare quality found in pure goodness: he could see good in others that was not on the surface. When Saul had just been converted everybody in Jerusalem thought he was faking; but Barnabas was the first to take him by the hand and believe in him.

When the church at Antioch, an inter-racial experiment, was worrying the old-line church at Jerusalem, Barnabas was sent up to look the situation over. Where others saw only a doubtful experiment, Barnabas "saw the grace of God and was glad."

Barnabas was the leader who recognized he could not do everything alone; he was the one who went after Paul and gave him his first real chance to become a Christian leader. Later on, when Paul wanted to fire young Mark as a quitter, Barnabas believed in him—and turned out to be right, too. It takes the truly good to see goodness!

SHELBY HIGH RECEIVES RECOGNITION FROM COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY

(Leonard Rogers)

If we are to preserve democracy as a system of government, ways must be found to teach realistically and meaningly the principles underlying our democratic political system. If citizens in large numbers continue to abdicate their responsibilites in our democratic society either because of apathy or lack of understanding, or lack of know-how, then our democratic system will break down at its most vital point namely, the participation of the people in decision making.

So reasoned the Carnegie Foundation which several years ago issued a challenge to anyone who could come up with a promising program for improved citizenship education. So reasoned Dwight D. Eisenhower, whose experience in World War II led him to believe that too few soldiers understood or appreciated the reasons for which the war was being fought. So reasoned President William F. Russell of Teachers College, Columbia University, who for many years had been interested in the problems of citizenship education.

Citizenship, like democracy, means different things to different people. An aggregate of definitions would describe a very broad area ranging possibly from holding public office to being kind to children. A narrow approach must concern itself with the most important, the central elements of citizenship. Democracies have failed when people have ceased to exercise control over policy formation. Therefore the heart of citizenship may be viewed as the degree and quality of influence exercised by the people over their leaders and over policy formation.

A grave weakness among people today lies in their lack of grasp of the core values of our democracy.... of our premises of liberty. One of the aims should be to establish within the minds of pupils meaningful and habitual understanding of these premises.

Knowledge is a requisite for good citizenship. A citizen must be armed with the necessary knowledge in order to make an intelligent decision or to influence his leaders to make that decision. But just having knowledge is not enough. Action must accompany it. This idea of typing knowledge and action together is not new, it came into focus around 1900 as a result of Dewey's writings and Thorndike's research. Schools since then have been experimenting with the approach in subjects other than citizenship and have further proved its soundness. However, in citizenship education schools have been content to emphasize the knowledge aspect with little or no emphasis on the action aspect. Proper attitudes and skills for making use of the knowledge have been neglected.

Citizenship education without the mention of character does not necessarily deal almost exclusively with large adult problems, sometimes controversial in nature; but it might unless the very adult-sounding term of citizenship is somehow tempered with the idea that for a topic to be suitable for discussion there should be something about it which the teacher has to share with his students. Granted that a teacher may share many things, including facts about the problem and a method and spirit of attacking it! But the point is that by virtue of the fact that an issue is still considered controversial, he cannot normally share with youth the demonstrably correct solution, else he should have already convinced adults by the power of his knowledge, rightness, and logic. What terms shall we use then, to convey the thought that we have a spirit to share and not an axe to grind? Character and citizenship education may not do it fully, but it does imply perhaps more than citizenship education that we are concerned with problems which have value to them, and in which we as teachers have something superior to share.

Citizenship education without the mention of character does not necessarily mean training in techniques of finding what the majority (or the in-groups) wants, and going with the crowd; but it might, if the volitional ingredient of courage of one's convictions is not kept alive by its careful and consistent development in childhood and youth. It is easy and requires little education to learn to stand with the crowd and be counted; it is hard and requires much education to stand for a person or principle which is right but unpopular.

LEONARD ROGERS

Citizenship education without any sarily omit the consideration of ethical values ,but it might unless those raise their voices who belive that citizenship without the touchstone of personal values is rudderless. In the thick of political discussions and actions of his day Edmund Burke saw the need for bringing "the dispositions that are lovely in private life into the service and conduct of the commonwealth." He gained too few followers in the great legislative halls of the mighty England in the last half of the eighteenth century to proceed on his principles of right rather than of mere might in dealing with the American Colonies. But was his principle not right, and is not his character emphasis in citizenship needed in the legislative halls and in the classrooms of America today?

The Citizenship Education Project sponsored by Columbia University and the Carnegie Foundation has developed resources which promote the typing together of knowledge and action. On the knowledge side, they have developed a Material Card File containing full bibliographical data and annotations of books, pamplets, periodicals, films, and recordings concerned with citizenship. At the present time there are some 1100 such cards filed according to premises, and more will be added. The object of the file is to provide the teacher and pupils with a rich source for making a wider choice of pertinent materials related to citizenship education.

We here at Shelby County High School feel that we have been highly honored in that we have been invited to participate in the above mentioned program. This is a project that is only open to schools by invitation from CEP. We feel that Mrs. W. Y. Johnson is doing a splendid job in directing this program in the local school and we are expecting many benefits from the program.

On the action side the CEP has developed Laboratory Practices which are descriptions of activities in which students can engage to get actual experience in citizenship. These Practices are the heart of the CEP program. Although they emphasize the action or "doing" side of learning, they also demand that the students have a rich knowledge to tie-in with their actions.

It has been reasoned that most new ideas have been tried by some teacher somewhere. The task was not so much one of invention as it was of discovery, indentification, and try-out. With the help of social studies teachers from eight pilot schools a thorough study was made of educational literature. Thousands of ideas were contributed by teachers across the country. Twenty-six Practices were developed. The pilot school teachers accepted the responsibility to try-out and test them. Since then additional Practices have been developed until there are well over sixty now, each one having been used successfully in at least one school.

The term "Laboratory Practice" comes from the conviction that, like vocational and science subjects, citizenship must be taught with Laboratory methods. The school, community, nation and world provide the laboratory for citizenship education. In this laboratory students get real experience in dealing with a real situation requiring the use of citizenship skills. The students may deal with a real problem, but the emphasis is not on their solving that problem, but rather on the process through which a good citizen works. For instance, in one Practice, Observing Labor-Management Relations the students seek to get all the information they can about labor and management, they talk to the people involved.... they check the laws and regulations as now existing. Their purpose is not to solve a problem which adults solve, but rather to get all the information so that eventually they can make wise decisions. In doing the Practice they learn not only what the issue is but also how to get the necessary information about it.

One practice proposes a way by which students may be delegated authority and responsibility for planning and taking over the management of some school affairs. They decide upon a plan and put it into action.... they have a written budget of power given them by the school administrator.

The challenges to character and citizenship education at all grade levels are many and varied in our day. But perhaps none exceeds the demand for a breadth of understanding of our problem and leadership which will make the most of our opportunities for cooperation with home, school, church, and other agencies of our communities in the development of moral and spiritual values to undergird the character and citizenship of our children and youth.

LABORATORY DEDICATED TO CARVER

A new $250,000 research laboratory has been dedicated to the memory of the late Dr. George Washington Carver, at Tuskegee Institute.

Dr. Henry Gilman, professor of chemistry at Iowa State College, was the main speaker in the ceremonies last week.

The new building, which houses some 20 different laboratories to be used in various research fields, was dedicated to Dr. Garver, on Lincoln's birthday. Dr. Carver was the son of a slave. It is a part of the Carver Foundation program named for the famous negro scientist who taught there until his death in 1943.

The building was financed by private subscription. Dr. F. D. Patterson, Tuskegeee president, said the Bradley Foundation, Columbus, Ga.; Russell Manufacturing Company, Alexander City, Ala., and the late D. L. Metcalf were among the principle contributors.

Patterson added that a saving of $50,000 to $75,000 was made by the the use of student labor in the construction.

To the People of the 6th Congressional District of Alabama

I hereby announce my candidacy for re-election to Congress from the 6th Congressional District of Alabama.

As your Congressman, I shall continue my earnest endeavor to serve all of the people of our District effectively and to the best of my ability, and to further in every way the program and stability of our District, our State, and our nation. I recognize fully the responsibility of representing you in the Congress at this time of continued crisis in the history of our nation. I shall appreciate sincerely your support and cooperation, which I have had in full measure since I have been your Congressman. I shall continue to represent you in Committee and on the floor of the House to the best of my ability to give full and personal attention to every problem which you may see fit to bring to my attention as your Congressman.

I will appreciate your suggestions with reference to any matters or legislation in which you are interested. I am deeply and sincerely grateful for all of your past help and support.

FARM NEWS

LEGUME CROPS REQUIRE FERTILIZER ANNUALLY

Perennial legume crops, such as alfalfa, kudzu, and lespedeza sericea are expensive to establish, points out D. R. Harbor, A. P. I. Extension Service agronomist.

For this reason and others it is important to maintain good stands and high production of these perennial legume crops by making the proper annual applications of fertilizer.

"If these crops have not been fertilized within the past year, now is a good time to apply fertilizer before rapid growth starts in the spring," says the specialist. "Alfalfa should receive a fertilizer containing phosphate, potash, and boron. Sericea should receive a fertilizer containing phosphate and potash but no boron. Kudzu responds to phosphate. Fields of lespedeza sericea which have not been limed in the past five or six years should limed at the rate of one ton per acre if the sericea is to be used for frazing."

FRUIT AND NUT TREES NEED FERTILIZING, TOO

Fruit and nut trees need fertilizer just as cotton, corn, and other farm crops if they are to produce satisfactory yields.

John Bagby, A. P. I. Extension Service horticulturist, states that it is a good practice to apply one-half of the fertilizer in the early spring before growth starts and the other half just after the fruit has set.

"One and one-half pounds of 6-8-4 fertilizer per tree for each year of age up to a maximum of 25 pounds for apples, 15 pounds for peaches and plums, 20 pounds for pears, and 50 pounds for pecan trees, is a good standard to follow," says Bagby.

IT PAYS TO TOP-DRESS OATS BEFORE MARCH 1

For those who want to make good yields of oats, here are some tips for J. C. Lowery, A. P. I. Extension Service agronomist.

To get high yields there is an important job to do right away. That job is top-dressing oats with nitrogen, using up to 48 pounds per acre. This amount of nitrogen can be supplied by using 300 pounds of nitrate of soda or equal nitrogen from other sources, such as ammonium nitrate or sulphate ammonnia.

"To get the best results from nitrogen it must be applied between February 15 and March 15" says Lowery. "By all means the job should be done by the first of March. Test after test, over a period of 30 years or longer, show that less returns are obtained for each week nitrogen application is delayed after March 1. In other words don't let March 1 get by without top-dressing oats."

Tests made by the A. P. I. Agricultural Experiment Station at Auburn show that 48 pounds of nitrogen applied to oats before March 1 gave an increase of 32.9 bushels of oats per acre over a 10-year period.

PLANT COTTON EARLY

Highest yields for four years were obtained by the A. P. I. Agricultural Experiment Station when cotton was planted at Monroeville, March 26; LaFayette, April 2; Aliceville and Prattville, April 10; Tennessee Valley Substation, April 11; and Sand Mountain Substation, April 16.

SHELBY COUNTY HOME GARDENS STRESSED BY FHA SUPERVISOR PIERCE

"It is planting time," said Stephen S. Pierce, FHA County Supervisor for Shelby County on a visit to this office today, "so let's get ready now for better gardens in 1952.

Pierce further stated that a family growing their own vegetables not only assure themselves of the necessary vitamins and minerals, but also saves several hundred dollars each year as a good year-round garden for a family of five is worth about $1,000 at farm prices today. It is hardly possible to estimate the value of a home garden in the health and pleasure acquired from having fresh vegetables for your table from your own garden.

"The Shelby County FHA program this year emphasizes increased food production and home gardens make up a goodly portion of this," said Supervisor Pierce, "and our goal this year is 100 quarts of canned food per person, an adequate supply of stored food, and plenty of fresh vegetables. Now is the time to plant cabbage, onions ,turnips, radishes, carrotts, beets, spinach, lettuce, irish potatoes, sweet corn, and some varieties of beans It is most important that every family buy their garden seed, fertilizer, and insecticides well in advance of the date they are to be used."

"Let's plant vegetables now and get ready for Better Gardens for Better Living in 1952." Pierce stated and stressed these points - (1) grow a better garden, (2) store and preserve more food, and (3) eat better, the key to better health. All families cooperating with the Farmers Home Administration are expected to have a full garden in '52 and some fresh vegetables growing every month of the year, Pierce pointed out, and further stated that he is ready with all necessary information for carrying out good garden practices.

REMEMBER THESE TIPS WHEN BUYING GARMENT

The chance of securing a good fit is surer in a garment slightly too large than one too small.

Levice Ellis, A. P. I. Extension Service clothing specialist, reminds the buyer that fabric for alteration must be available. Always remember that garments fitted too snugly wrinkle more easily and show wear sooner than those properly fitted. A snug-fitting garment reveals both good and bad body features, especially the bad features.

USE SLIP COVERS TO CHANGE STYLE

It's easy to change the style of furniture when slip covers are replaced, according to Alice Peavy, A. P. I. Extension Service home management specialist.

For example, the same chair can be styled early American, modern, or Eighteenth Century, depending on the choice of material, style, pattern, and cut of the slip cover. Seam finishes and trimmings help to express style.

Miss Peavy says that slip covers will protect furniture from dust and soil, provide seasonal changes in style and color, give a new color plan for a room without changing furniture, and reduce the cost of furniture upkeep.

"To be sure slip covers give all of these advantages," asserts the specialist, "one should know how to buy good fabric for long wear; put colors together to make the room bright and attractive; select patterns and textures to make the room restful and interesting; and make a slip cover, or know where to have one well-made."

YOU DO BUSINESS BY THE TRUCKLOAD...

that's why this message about America's first 2½-ton Diesel may be the most important you've ever read!

IF yours is like most businesses today, medium-weight transportation enters many times into the cost of your product — from procurement of raw materials to delivery of the finished product.

For the first time, these "average" loads can be moved at spectacular savings—at a cost far below anything you've ever paid for medium-weight transportation in the past!

The efficiency and economy of Diesel power become available to every user of trucks rated as low as 2½ tons (19,500 GVW — 35,000 GCW). It's the latest advance from the world's largest producer of Diesel trucks.

It's an entirely new kind of GMC truck-tractor—powered by a revolutionary, lighter-weight, more compact model of the famous General Motors two-cycle engine that is first choice among Diesel truck users today. It offers the advantages of more miles per gallon and lower maintenance in hauling operations where there has been no choice but gasoline power in the past.

Before you waste another cent in your largest hidden cost of doing business—transportation—check the important role this new GMC 2½-ton Diesel truck-tractor stands ready to play in your own operation.

As your GMC dealer, we extend this invitation: if you are a processor, manufacturer, retailer, distributor, farmer or commercial hauler using 2½-ton equipment — come in and see why this new GMC Diesel will mean extra profits to you every mile of the way.

DEGRAFFENRIED DRAWS LAST MINUTE OPPOSITION

Before the final dead line for candidate qualification was reached, Congressman Ed deGraffenried drew an opponent, namely Armistead J. Selden Jr., of Greensboro.

L. G. FULTON UNOPPOSED FOR CIRCUIT CLERK

L. G. Fulton will again be a candidate for Circuit Clerk and is unopposed for the third time. This sets some kind of a record of which we feel sure Mr. Fulton is justifiably proud. We join other friends in extending congratulations.

MRS. LEONARD THOMAS DEM. COMMITTEE-WOMAN TO BE OPPOSED

Before mid-night Saturday, March 1, had passed, Mrs. Leonard Thomas, National Democratic Committee-woman, had received two opponents in her race to retain this position. They include Mrs. Henry B. Gray, Birmingham and Mrs. Louise B. Demmig of Montgomery.

The men running for National Committee representatives from Alabama include: Aubrey M. Cates Jr., Montgomery; Frank J. Mizzell Jr., of Montgomery; Jim Smith, Tuscumbia. They are running to succeed J. Marion Ruston, incumbent, who is not a candidate.

ARMY TO SEND 85,000 HOME FROM EUROPE

Army authorities in Germany have announced that about 85,000 of the Unted States' quarter million ground troops in Germany would be replaced and sent home for discharge in the next ten months.

The huge turnover will begin this month and the out going troops will range from 3,000 to 14,000 men a month. A corresponding number of new men trained in the United States will be brought in.

U. S. CASUALTIES TOTAL 105,992

American battle casualties in Korea now total more than 105,992, an increase of 151 in a week, the Defense Department reported on February 27. The over-all total included 18,384 dead; 75,184 wounded; 999 captured; 10,000 missing and 1,389 previously reported missing who have been returned to duty.

MOTORISTS LOSE LICENSES

Twenty-five Alabama motorists have lost their driving privileges for failing to report accidents resulting in personal injury or property damage of $50 or more.

Under Alabama's new law.... the operator of every vehicle involved in such accidents is required to submit a written report to the State Public Safety Department.

Drivers involved in accidents have 60 days to prove financial security by liability insurance or posting a cash surety bond under the new law. Failure to do so means that their driver's license and car tag must be surrendered.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

Attorney General Silas Garrett, III, has ruled that if you have a relative, either by blood or marriage, holding public office you can't be a member, or work for, a county welfare board.

Garrett said it made no difference how distant the kinship is, relatives of office holders cannot work for welfare boards. Under a 1951 Legislative act, he ruled, "the phrase 'related by blood or marriage' includes persons related to both spouses. And there is no limitation as to the degree of the relationship."

SYLACAUGA MAYOR ENTERS RACE FOR PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSIONER

Ed Howard, Mayor of Sylacauga, has tossed his snap-brim Stetson into the race for Public Service Commissioner, and if Mr. Howard's record as Mayor of Sylacauga is an indication of what the ever whimsical public might expect from the Public Service Commissioner may be taken as a guide-post for future activities in a wider field for public service then they should immediately make up their minds to approve his candidacy for this important state assignment. Mr. Howard is well equipped for this position and, if elected, would fill this responsible post of duty with dignity and distinction.

Cecil Cowart Candidate Member Board Of Education

Cecil Cowart, prominent druggist of Calera, Alabama, has entered the race for Member of Board of Education for Shelby County.

Mr. Cowart is a native of Greenville, Alabama, but moved to Calera in 1916, where he has since resided. He is a veteran of World War One, having served his country as a member of the U. S. Navy. He is a member of the Calera Town Council and has been for 25 years, which speaks well of the high regard in which he is held in his own town. Mr. Cowart states he is interested in the school improvement program of the county, and believes this section of Shelby county deserves representation on the Board. He is a Southern Democrat, he states, and proud of it. Mr. Cowart is also a registered pharmacist and owns and operates his own drug business in Calera.

Mr. Cowart will appreciate your consideration of his candidacy when choosing your representatives on the Board of Education.

BETTY STINSON WINNER GULF STATES PAPER CORP. FIRST PRIZE

Betty Stinson has been named first prize winner in the Annual Conservation Essay Contest sponsored by the Gulf States Paper Corporation at Shelby County High School.

Second place honors went to Thomas Walton and third place to Joe Stone.

The awards were made last week by Frank Parham of the paper mill's public relations staff and were as follows: Frist Prize, $25 U. S. Bond; Second Prize, $10 in Cash; Third Prize, $5 in Cash.

The Gulf States Conservation Essay Contest has been conducted in rural high schools over a large portion of the State for several years. Students are asked to write on timely conservation subjects and all papers are judged by local school officials. The topic of the essays this year was, "Let's Reforest Our Idle Acres."

In addition to the prizes awarded, each of the students above will have his or her name inscribed on a plaque to hang in the school, and will receive a trip to Tuscaloosa during the next few weeks. They will take a tour through the huge Gulf States Paper Corporation plant, and will be entertained at a luncheon as guests of the paper mill company.

S. C. H. S. Juniors Will Present Play March 18

The Junior Class of Shelby County High School will present "Act Your Age," a comedy in three acts at the Shelby County High School Auditorium, Thursday evening, March 13, at 7:30 o'clock.

This is a story of two teen age girls, Jerry, (Flora Mae Bozeman) and Angie, (Billie Sue Averette) who try to act grown up with two sailors, (Leonard Woods and Hugh Sims, Jr.) whom they have never met. The sailors arrive on the scene and complications occur. The ingenuity of one of the sailors adds to the confusion. Other characters in the play are:

Cora, the maid and wrestler, Mary Fancher, Helga, a neighobrs maid, and also a wrestler, Lanelle Moore. Sandra Stone, Dorothy Joiner; Western Union Messenger, Pauline Sims; Commander Stone, Charles McGhee.

You can't afford to miss thishilarious comedy. The proceeds will be used to help finance the Jr. Sr. Banquet.

Mark Thursday evening, March 12 on your calendar!

WHITTEMORE AND LOWE

DUO PIANISTS TO APPEAR IN MONTEVALLO

Whittemore and Lowe, widely known duo-pianists, and Metropolitan Singer Rose Bampton are two coming attractions of the Concert and Lecture Series at Alabama College, Montevallo.

Whittemore and Lowe, coming March 7, are nationally known through concerts, records and on the radio. The two young men are often hailed as a "musical double treat," their classic offerings having brought praise, and their popular numbers having earned them a bobby sox following.

The success of the duo-pianists with the classics is shown by engagements with major orchestras, including NBC, CBS, Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnaati, Denver, Oklahoma City, and the New York Philharmonic-Symphony.

The latest hit of Whittemore and Lowe' has been the recording of the Poulenc Concerto for Two Pianos with Dimitri Mitropoulos conducting.

Miss Bampton, coming to Montevallo March 13, is an American-trained soprano who has sung with great success in each of the Forty-eight States and on the concert stages and opera houses of almost every country in the world. She has been engaged often by Lepold Stokowski to appear with the Philadelphia Orchestra.

During the current year Alabama College Concert and Lectures Series has presented: The Birmingham Symphony, The Barter Theatre, and the violinist Giovanni Bagarotti.

4-H Clubs Commended By Gov. Persons

Alabama's 128,000 members of 4-H Clubs have been commended by Governor Gordon Persons for their contributions to the states agricultural program.

In a proclamation setting March 1-9 as National 4-H Club Week in Alabama, Governor Persons said farm boys and girls have pioneered in those farm and home practices that are now accepted methods on practically every farm.

"Leadership in better agriculture and homemaking," the governor said, "has been developed through work done by 4-H Club members in crop and livestock production leaders in 2,938 communities in Alabama."

Clubs in every community in the state are to have special programs during National 4-H Club Week.

LAND PREPARATION AND SEEDING DEMONSTRATIONS

All farmers should be interested in attending a land preparation and seeding demonstration scheduled for March 12 and 13. Many of our failures in establishing pasture sod have been due to poor preparation and seeding practices.

Mr. J. T. Gaillard, Extension Agricultural Engineer will be here to conduct the demonstrations.

The first demonstration will be held on the J. H. Thompson Farm, Vincent, Alabama, March 12 at 1:00 P. M. The second demonstration will be held on the Earl Swinford Farm Montevallo, Alabama, March 13th at 1:00 P. M.

Plan to attend these important demonstrations as they will mean much to you.

MRS. ALICE LYON PASSES

Mrs. Alice Lyon, age 74, passed away Wednesday, February 27, 1952, at 12:45 A. M. at her home in the Blue Springs Community. Mrs. Lyon had been in poor health for several years. She was seriously ill two weeks before her death.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. L. Fincher and Rev. J. D. Prickett at Blue Springs Church on Thursday, February 28, at 2:00 P. M. Interment in the Fourmile Cemetery, Walton-Bolton in charge.

Mrs. Lyon is survived by one daughter, one grand-daughter, one great-grand daughter, one brother, and two sisters.

COMMUNITY IS MADE CHRISTIAN THRU INDIVIDUAL LIVES

In beginning his lecture to the Bible Class in the Methodist Church last Sunday morning, Bro. Tom Roberts called attention to the fact that his class is made up in part of fathers and sons.

The idea, he said, of father and son sitting together in Sunday School class each Sunday, if properly developed will be the safest insurance policy as to the boys' future that could be provided. No boy would ever go from an influence like that to a penitentiary.

"Following Christ In Making The Community Christian" was the topic he impressively discussed.

CITY WATER PLANT A POSSIBILITY

Mayor D. S. Lightcap, who watches closely the progress other small towns are making as well as development of his own town, Columbiana, states that a number of the smaller towns of the state are putting in water works. He is of the opinion that Columbiana could have a water system that would provide water service for the entire town as well as furnish fire protection. He is at work on this idea.

WHAT ABOUT HOG PRODUCTION

At a farmer's meeting recently, this question was asked: "How many farmers have enough meat to supply their own needs?" Just a few hands went up. Then this question was asked: "How many have enough meat to supply themselves and their tenants?" Not a single hand was raised.

(Compare the situation in Shelby county today and note the difference).

COMMUNITY NEWS

CLUBS OBSERVE 4-H CLUB WEEK

By Hanchey E. Logue
State 4-H Club Leader
A. P. I. Extension Service

As Alabama 4-H Club members celebrate National 4-H Club Week March 1-9 they look back on 43 years of growth and progress.

Beginning with 392 boys and girls in 1909, the Alabama 4-H Club membership expanded to an all-time high of 128231 in 1952. Alabama 4-H Club work got its start when Boy's Corn Clubs were organized in Calhoun and Tuscaloosa counties in 1909. As the corn clubs grew, the girls became interested in organizing clubs, so in 1911 Girls' Tomato Clubs were organized in Pike and Walker Counties. The first tomato club was organized at the Union School, near Troy, in Pike County.

In 1914 Congress passed the Smith-Lever Act setting up the Extension Service, the corn and tomato clubs were placed under its supervision and the official name was soon changed to 4-H Club. The four-leaf clover was adopted as the official 4-H Club emblem and an "H" was placed on each of the leaf's four sections. They stand for Head, Heart, Hands, and Health.

One of the unique and most interesting features of this largest state youth organization is that it is made up of both boys and girls. This system was followed because the early leaders realized the need for a rural youth organization that would not only train boys and girls in agriculture and home economics, but would train them to work together, play together, and live together. This idea has been practiced all the way; both boys and girls serve in county 4-H Club Councils and participate in 4-H camps, talent shows, county rallies, livestock shows, and National 4-H Club meetings.

The 4-H Clubs were the first rural youth clubs organized and promoted on a national basis. They were organized to serve the needs of rural boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 21. The primary purpose of 4-H work is to teach rural youth through their clubs to love country life, to appreciate nature, to learn the best in agriculture and home economics, and to apply this knowledge in making the farm and home more profitable and enjoyable.

4-H Clubs have become a familiar part of rural life in practically every neighborhood and community in Alabama. To date 5,974 communities have 4-H Clubs which meet from seven to 12 times each year. Each county has a 4-H Club Council which is comprised of the officers of local clubs. Through the county council special projects, shows, rallies, picnics, and county camps are planned and carried out.

In 1951, 67 county 4-H Club rallies were held with 59,969 members and others attending. Seventy-one county 4-H camps were attended by 4,603 boys and girls. Picnics were held by 728 4-H Clubs with 19,234 boys and girls enjoying the fun. Three hundred thirty-six neighboraide training meetings were held with an attendance of 5,114 members. A total of 2,786 4-H Clubs observed 4-H Sunday. Beef cattle shows were held in 52 counties with 1,066 entries and 11,081 club members attending. Forty-six counties held dairy cattle shows with 1,371 animals entered and 10,689 boys and girls attending. One hundred twenty-four tractor maintenance clinics were attended by 2,569 4-H members.

Individual projects have always been the hub of 4-H Club work. And the state's 128,231 4-H'ers carried out a total of 213,974 projects last year. The projects and number of members participating are as follows: corn, 9,904; peanuts, 624; cotton, 3,628; home gardens 12,199; truck gardens, 750, poultry, 9,051; dairy cattle, 6,828; beef cattle, 4,103; sheep, 102; hogs, 13,713; rabbits, 717; home beautification, 7,187; forestry, 1,715; wildlife, 433; agricultural engineering, 1,675; farm management, 83; baking, 9,868; food preparation, 24,108; food preservation, (canning), 8,947; health, 4,910; child care, 1,715; clothing, 24,518; home management, 4,517; home furnishings, 7,284; home industry, 545, and junior leadership, 756.

Fire Fighters

Designs Flying Water Wagon

PORT SULPHUR, La.—The Mississippi river is close at hand, but the Port Sulphur Volunteer Fire Department takes no chances of being caught without water.

Because the firemen ferquently respond to alarms from other communities, some of which are too far inland to make stringing of hose lines to the river feasible, they take their water supply right with them.

It's carried in a "flying water wagon," specially designed in the shops of Freeport Sulphur Company here. The apparatus consists of a 2500-gallon tank mounted on a truck and is operated in conjunction with another mobile unit known as a "front pumper." The pump sends water from the tank through the hose at a rate of 400 gallons a minute.

A 25-mile area is served by the fire company, most of whose personnel are Freeport employees who live with their families in a model townsite community developed by the company when it opened its nearby Grande Ecaille sulphur mine 18 years ago.

Shells from hard-boiled eggs will be easy to remove if after they are cracked they are rolled between hands to loosen shell. Start peeling at large end of egg. Dipping in a bowl of water helps ease shell off.

High School Students Serve as Town Officials

ALBANY, Wis.—As a part of a better citizenship program and a practical example of how a community operates, Albany high school students recently took over the duties of village officials for two full days.

Ballots were prepared and an election held in the high school. Offices filled by the youngsters included village president, board members, the justice of the peace, chief of police and policemen.

COLUMBIANA H. D. C. MEETS

The Columbiana Home Demonstration club met at the home of Mrs. Francis Leonard with Mrs. John Green co-hostess, on February 19, 1952. Mrs. F. E. Williams presided over the meeting.

The devotional was given by Mrs. Leonard, after which the group sang "Tell Me The Old Old Story." Mrs. Bob Bolton gave the classic story of the month.

Sixteen members answered roll call. Mrs. Myra Chandler was welcomed as a new member. The attendance prize was won by Mrs. H. T. Seale. Eighteen club members are qualified voters.

Mrs. Williams urged all members to let it be known just what improvements are being made around your home. And requested that your hostess be notified if you are unable to attend the club meeting.

The club subscribed to the "National 4-H News" for Mrs. Hugh Sims, who is Rural Youth Leader, and to "National Magazine" for Mrs. Francis Leonard, who is citizenship leaders.

The demonstration, "family games and the importance of family recreation" was led by Mrs. L. B. Riddle assisted by Miss Cotney.

The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Riddle, after which refreshments were served by the hostess.

The meeting was adjourned to meet with Mrs. S. S. Pierce March 18th.

Tall Tales

As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Grateful Rattlesnake

C. M. TATHAM, editor of the Sabine County Reporter at Hemphill, Texas, doesn't agree with most people that the rattlesnake is always cold-hearted. That's because of an experience of a farmer in his community.

This farmer found a rattlesnake caught in a steel-trap. Taking pity on the snake, he released it and it quickly slid away in the chaparral.

But imagine his surprise, upon returning home, to find that the rattlesnake had followed him. The reptile acted so friendly that the farmer didn't have the heart to drive it away and it soon became one of his favorite pets.

That winter the farmer moved from his ranch into town. The snake again followed him and made its home under the house. One cold night it coiled up on the doorstep and looked so pathetic that the farmer allowed it to sleep under the stove in the kitchen.

The next morning the farmer heard a commotion downstairs. Rushing into the kitchen he saw a strange sight. A burglar was trying desperately to release himself from the grip of the snake which was coiled tightly around his neck with its tail stuck out the opened window and rattling frantically. A moment later a squad of police burst into the kitchen door. They had heard the snake's burglar alarm and had come to capture the culprit and lead him away to jail.

FARM NEWS

MARLIN H. BRUNER SPEAKS IN COUNTY

High School students and farm men and women of Shelby county had the opportunity of hearing Mr. Marlin H. Bruner, Southern Manager, Public Relation Department, E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Company, speak on "Progress In Better Living." Over 1400 people attended the seven lectures held in Shelby county. One interesting feature was the comparison of our standard of living to that of the rest of the world. He also pointed out that the consumption of cotton and wool had increased faster since the induction of artificial fibers. Many plastic and artificial fibers were exhibited during his talk.

He was sponsored in Shelby county by the County Agents Office and the L. & N. Railroad Company.

PLANT RIGHT CROPS ON ROLLING LANDS

Too many farmers are still waging an uphill fight in growing cotton and corn on very rolling and steep lands on their farms, according to S. R. Daughty, A. P. I. Extension Service soil conservationist.

Such lands can be used to grow sericea, kudzu, and grass-legume mixtures. The forage grown can be harvested by cattle and sold in the form of beef and dairy products.

"When this is done," says Doughty, "sod crops serve a three-fold purpose. They provide the most economical source of feed for cattle, furnish ground cover to protect soil from erosion, and furnish organic matter that enriches the soil and increases waterholding capacity."

Place unwrapped soap in an empty suitcase or traveling bag to help prevent musty odors.

BANKERS AND GINNERS SPONSOR COTTON PROJECTS

During the past few years 4-H and FFA boys have not been too interested in the production of cotton. Since it is the No. 1 cash crop of Alabama and one of the largest sources of income in Shelby county, it was felt that more emphasis be placed on projects that can be used as demonstration plots for 4-H, FFA and Adult farmers. Years ago we had the shortest staple length of any state. Today we lead the southeast in staple length. It was accomplished by good demonstrations and one variety cotton communities.

The Ginners, Bankers, County Agents, and Vocational Teachers met and formulated the following program. It was decided to offer as an incentive for these projects some form of an outing during August and also a Banquet after the crop is harvested. The August meeting will be a Barbecue and Cotton Tour.

Ginners are obtaining Breeder seed for the boys and will hold Gin Days to keep them pure for planting in 1953. This will give an excellent source for planting seed in 1953. Bankers are assisting with the financing of these projects.

Boys interested in such projects should contact their vocational teacher or 4-H club agent and get the details.

MILK

If Alabamians consumed the national average of over one pint of milk per day, the state's fluid milk industry could be increased 40 per cent.

D. H. I. A. TESTS

Dairy herd improvement testing offers a complete record on every cow in the herd. This testing gives the amount of milk and butterfat produced, amount and cost of feed, breeding and calving record, and many other useful facts.

EARLY PREPARATION OF COTTON LAND ADVISED

Many farmers over the state are busy cutting stalks and breaking land to get ready for this year's cotton crop.

"There's no doubt," says O. N. Andrews, A. P. I. Extension Service cotton improvement specialist, "that these farmers have learned it pays to get cotton land ready early so the soil will settle before planting time. It is much easier to get a stand on land prepared in this way."

A firm seedbed also allows farmers to plant on time. This results in higher yields at no extra cost.

Andrews says one good way to prepare land is to break and disk it. Then lay off rows. Apply fertilizer and bed on it at least seven to 10 days before time to plant. Drag down beds with harrow or drag just ahead of planting, adds the cotton expert.

COMPARED WITH WAGES, FOODS ARE A BARGAIN

Using the period of 1910-14 as a base of 100, wholesale food prices are now 293, retail food prices 299, and average weekly factory earnings are 569.

"The 1910-14 period was a time when most economists agree that a desirable balance existed between farm income, industrial income, and prices paid," explains Austin Ezzell, A. P. I. Extension Service distributor marketing specialist.

MENTAL HOSPITALS NEED STATEWIDE HELP

A statewide drive to interest the people and the Legislature of Alabama in the needs of the state's mental hospitals has been launched by the Young Men's Business Club in Birmingham.

A preliminary report released by Committee Chairman, Llewellyn Johns, showed that Bryce Hospital is:

"Without sufficient funds to operate properly. Shockingly understaffed, and unbelievable overcrowded" with patients. Most of the present buildings are "in desperate need of repairs and some are nothing more than firetraps". "There is a pressing need for occupational therapy and a nursing school".

The committee was organized to investigate needs of mental institutions and patients. Its first report dealt only with Bryce Hospital, but Mr. Johns said he had been advised that Partlow State School, also at Tuscaloosa, and Searcy, at Mt. Vernon, have many of the same problems.

Other findings of fact will be issued from time to time.

As a next move, the committee will meet with patrons of Partlow State School in the Jefferson County Courthouse in Birmingham at 2:30 P. M., March 2nd.

It also has requested that anyone with information, good or bad, pertaining to the institution write to Mr. Johns c/o the YMBC at 801 Frank Nelson Building.

In its first report, the committee recommended that the Legislature increase its appropriation to mental hospitals.

They now receive $11.00 weekly for each patient. The committee said it found that for $17.50 weekly per patient, the institutions could hire more personnel, make some repairs, give patients better food and clothing and arrange for occupational therapy.

It also requested that money be appropriated to enable the hospitals to erect new buildings accommodating at least 2000 more beds.

Bryce's Hospital is 109 percent overcrowded, the worst condition prevailing in any mental institution in any state in the Union. At Bryce alone more than 4000 are crowded into recommended for only 2000.

The YMBC committee urged that editors of newspapers assist it in relaying findings of conditions to the people throughout Alabama. It also noted that the public, in the past, has shown too little interest and the Legislature too little action in the care of the mentally ill people.

Churches, civic groups, labor unions and similar organizations, clubs and individuals should aid in awakening public interest in the necessity of aiding the mentally sick, the committee reported. In this way many States have in the past few years been aroused to great progress in this phase of their responsibilities.

"Mental institutions should be the concern of all the people of all counties of the State of Alabama because it is designed to house, care for and administer to the mentally ill of the entire State who, unfortunately, cannot care for themselves, and by the very nature of the case cannot be concerned about themselves," the committee declared.

WILD LIFE WEEK IN ALABAMA

Governor Gordon Persons has proclaimed the week of March 16-22 as National Wildlife Week in Alabama.

In the proclamation the governor appealed "to all of our citizens to recognize the importance of the problems of conservation of these assets in wildlife and to work with one accord for their proper protection and preservation, and to reflect upon America's riches of natural resources and the importance to our future well-being of perpetuating them."

Persons declared that "wasteful practices and slovenly habits" are robbing the nation of productivity of its soils and water at an "exceedingly rapid" rate.

The same practices are depleting certain species of native American wildlife disastrously, he added.

"There is a greater need for more intelligent planning of developments to secure the greatest possible values from all resources," the governor said, adding:

"The continued growth of human population forces us to give increasing attention to conservation until every American is aware of his vital dependence upon natural resources and acts intelligently to manage them."

MARCH MADNESS

Each year I buy a silly hat
And when the March winds blow
It perches there upon my head,
Precariously so.
If I were sensible I'd wear
An old one and not mind
And yet when silly hats appear
Can spring be far behind?

So wrote somebody, some time ago. Have forgotten where I read this 8 line Ode-to a Spring Hat, but, it is true enough as far as the feminine contingent is concerned, and a very good sign of Spring, when mi-lady begins thinking of her Easter Bonnet. The hats get sillier and sillier looking each year. However, after donning one of the miniature models there is a certain lilt in a fellow's spirit, especially, after a pair of new pumps is obtained to match the top-piece. All of this pre-amble is just bringing me up to the point, that stores all over town are featuring new milinery, and new ideas for a Spring costume. If you are numbered among the fortunate ones who can successfully wheedle a needle, you can really "sew your own" and save a lot of money. Take a look at the down town stores on Main which are observing "sew and save" this week displaying the prettiest materials we have seen anywhere in a long time.

But, its time to turn from clothes now, and watch Mr. and Mrs. People and all the little Peoples go by our window....

. . . That is personable Oliver Head you probably saw going up and down Main Saturday, greeting his friends during a brief visit home from the University.

. . . The pretty little "Miss" with the curly top in the P. O. holding a group of people under her charming spell, was none other than petite and friendly, Deetsie Spires.

. . . That fellow crossing the street to say "So Long" for a while was M. E. Smalley, who with his family has moved to Ft. Payne, Alabama, to accept a promotion from the Brown-Service Company. Mr. Smalley is now Superintendent of this area.

. . . The group of men on the corner, are not politicians, as you assumed, but are interested individuals in keeping the Male Chorus going. Looks as if, this Community Chorus is about to fall apart, due to non-attendance! Thursday evening will decide the issue once and for all. Unless at least 20 men meet and band together to be present each week and support it financially, the last meeting will be held. It is up to members of this organization regarding its future activities.

. . . Mrs. G. R. Weldon made Saturday a day to be remembered for us. She came by and renewed her loyalty to the Home Paper for another 12 months. We enjoyed a personal chat with this lovely lady, too.

. . . Two people were evidently having a family altercation along the Main Drag this morning. We heard the following conversation as we swung by.... He: "What do you think I am, a Man or a Mouse?" She: "You are a Man, I am afraid of Mice". Wonder how that little matter ended?

. . . Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Lovett celebrated the passing of their 50th wedding anniversary last Sunday. Friends and neighbors called to offer congratulations and best wishes for many more sunlit years together.

. . . T. A. (Tommy) Wallace may not be as frequent a visitor in Columbiana as he has been, and his friends will be missing him. At the same time, they will, I am sure, join me in extending congratulations to Mr. Wallace, who has assumed the position of Postmaster of Helena.

. . . Mail time in the P. O. always brings a lot of Main Streeters together, and sometimes, the merry banter behind those closed doors furnishes a laugh for those who wait for Skillet Bird, Dick Ozley, Bill White and Wilma Fore to get the mail up. This morning we heard the following: Skillet Bird's singing voice rendering the song .. "O for the wings of an angel". Mims Roberts, getting ready to leave on his rural route, remarked as he came thru the door, "Better sing now Skillet, and keep on dreaming about those wings, for you won't even rate pin-feathers UP Yonder." Mims continued on his way, and Skillet never did miss a single off key note of his morning ditty.

. . . Folks talking about "thunder in February" and its significance. Many people put a ring around the date this occurs, for, they say, on the same date in April, the weather will be cold! This being true, better get ready to button-up-your-overcoat on April 14th, as this is the date thunder was heard.

. . . W. D. Walton, who resides about a mile out on the Columbiana-Chelsea Highway was the center of attraction on Main Street Saturday, as he displayed a Mushroon he had found on an oak tree in his yard which weighed 5-3/4 pounds.

. . . Tura Gantous, pretty secretary in the Ellis-Fowler law offices in Columbiana, has accepted a position with the Sanders Company in Birmingham. Friends and co-secretaries in town will miss Tura but join us in extending congratulations and best wishes as she enters a wider field for future development in her chosen career.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cross and their two "adorables" have been visiting Mr. Cross' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Connie Cross in Wilsonville. They will return to their home in Athol, Pennsylvania this week end. So sorry we did not get to meet Mrs. Cross and those manikins, but, we saw Paul and heard all about how much we had "missed" in not having the pleasure of a personal introduction. Better luck next time..... Sure, they take the Reporter-Democrat. How could they know so much about what is happening, did they not read this "home paper" each week. Fact is, Paul renewed his subscription for another year during his brief visit in my office, for which courtesy, I say thanks a million!

(Well luck was with us, after all, for we ran into Mrs. Cross, Paul and Michael Cross, the two young hopefuls, just before they checked out for Pennsylvania, and we hope during their next visit, the many friends of Paul Cross will have the privilege of meeting his lovely family.)

. . . Friends of Peggy and Jerald Edwards will be delighted to learn that they are moving back to Columbiana at an early date.

. . . Thanks to Sam Kelley of Wilsonville for a renewal subscription to the Reporter-Democrat just received.

. . . Mrs. Dorothy Hume of California, Mrs. Perry McCormack and Mrs. Pat Mansfield of Birmingham were Sunday guests of Mrs. Eula Carter.

. . . Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. William Clark were extended Sunday when they celebrated the passing of their tenth wedding anniversary.

. . . Citizens interested in livestock in Alabama, especially in Shelby County, will be motoring to the Circle-J Ranch of W. L. Jennings at Snowdoun, to take a look at the famed $50,000 bull he recently purchased in Greenville, Mississippi. Fifty thousand dollars worth of meat standing on all four feet we presume would be worth seeing, but, my fifty thousand dollar-dreams do not look like we imagine this bovine does! However, Mr. Lauderdale, will doubtless come back and say, "It was the prettiest thing I ever saw"....

GOOD NEWS FLASH:

Captain James Bohannon is on his way home from Korea. We know this is true, for pretty little Jenny Kay has just flashed her sweetest smile, and in her own baby lingo told us Daddy Is 'Tommin' Home! Naturally, Florence Bohannon, who has been one of the bravest members of those who "remain at home to sit and wait and watch for the mail," thru months and months of weary loneliness, joined little Jenny Kay in echoing the joyous news.

I should like to be stationed somewhere near, when that boat arrives and "Captain Bo" gets his first glimpse of this little "talking picture" of loveliness. He has not seen Jenny Kay since she was four months old.

Here's a heart wish sincerely expressed for this little family that there never be another separation caused by the ruthless god of war. This is the second time Captain Bohannon has been called to foreign service. Surely, this is enough for one man to give to his country.

PATTON-MOONEY ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mooney of Columbiana announce the engagement of their daughter, Ann, to James C. Patton of Birmingham.

The wedding will be solemnized in March.

STONE-WEATHERSPOON WEDDING SOLEMNIZED

The wedding of Peggy Stone, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Stone of the Fourmile Community and Jack Weatherspoon, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Weatherspoon, of Waverly, Tennessee, was impressively solemnized in the First Baptist Church of Columbus, Mississippi, on February 12, the Rev. S. R. Woodson officiating.

Following a visit with the groom's parents, the young couple left for Caruthersville, Missouri, where they will make their future home.

Classmates of Peggy Stone will remember her as a popular High School student and member of the graduating class of 1950.

The wedding culminated a "love-at-first-sight" affair which occurred when Mr. Weatherspoon accompanied Peggy's brother, Hugh Stone home for a visit. Both Hugh and Jack were "buddies" in the Army and when Jack saw Hugh's pretty sister, Peggy, well, that was that! Cupid with his little bow and arrow stepped right up, and put an end to long time separations regardless of how many wars are being fought. And now, all their friends are just hoping the war will soon be over, and that Peggy and Jack will live happily forever after, together!

VIGNETTE CLUB MEETS

Mrs. Gerald Fulton and Mrs. Bruce Alverson entertained members of the Vignette Club on February 27, and presented Representative Karl C. Harrison as guest speaker. His subject was : "Red Cross in Shelby County". Guests included Mrs. Harold Lewis, Mrs. Dick Ozley and Mrs. Cecil Duke.

Following the social hour, officers for 1952 were elected which included President, Mrs. Norman Lefkovits, Vice-President, Mrs. George McCord and Secretary Treasurer, Mrs. W. W. Wallace Jr.

GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATED

In the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Lovett of the Kingdom Community on the afternoon of February 25, friends and loved ones answered a cordial invitation to "Open House" which was held from two o'clock until five o'clock.

Guests were greeted by their daughter, Mrs. Hugh McDanal and registered by Miss Thelma Jo Lovett, who was also in charge of the beautiful gifts this widely beloved couple received.

The bride's table was covered with a band-embroidered linen table cloth, centered with a crystal bowl of yellow roses flown from California. Yellow roses were used throughout the home as this rose is Mrs. Lovett's favorite flower. With her afternoon costume she wore a shoulder corsage of yellow roses tied with gold ribbon. Mrs. James Creel and Mrs. Thelma Miles, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lovett, were in charge of the Tea Table, from which Russian Tea, mints and nuts were served. Mrs. Miles cutting the traditional Bride's cake, which featured gold embossed roses. Golden tapers burned from crystal holders, and Mrs. Milton Ruston, Joyce Creel, Paulette Lovett and Mrs. Edwin Pitts, grand-daughter of the Lovetts assisted in serving.

One hundred guests called during the afternoon to wish for Mr. and Mrs. Lovett every happiness thru all the years to be.

Mr. and Mrs. Lovett's four children James T. Lovett Jr., Mrs. Thelma Mles, Mrs. Hugh McDanal and Mrs. James Creel were present to share the happy occasion.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY 'UNCLE LANK' CRUMPTON

Have just heard from Shelby County's E. L. (Uncle Lank) Crumpton, who passed his 86th birthday on February 2.... and is still "going strong", even though this colorful political figure for so many years on Main, now has a crutch and a walking stick to help carry him along. However, he refers to one as his "horse" and the other as his "mule" and laughs about his method of locomotion. "Uncle Lank's" many friends in Shelby county, we feel sure will be sending belated "best wishes" and his address is 1030 Fairfax Avenue, Bessemer.

MRS. CUTLER HONORED WITH SHOWER

The home of Mrs. Mary McWilliams was the setting for a miscellaneous shower Saturday, February 16th, 1952, honoring the bride, Mrs. William H. Cutler, formerly Miss Barbara Walton of Columbiana.

Jonquils and brides wreath were arranged throughout the house. The hostess for this occasion were Mesdames Mary McWilliams Lonnie Brown, Wallace Glenn, Frank Johnston and Misses Dorsy V. Payne and Peggy Johnston.

The guests were met at the door by Mrs. McWilliams and the receiving line consisted of Mrs. Wallace Glenn, Mrs. William Cutler, Mrs. A. C. Walton and Mrs. Lonnie Brown.

Mrs. R. Q. Harper, sister of the bride, presided over the bride's book in which forty-three guests were registered.

Miss Mary Bradberry directed the guests to the gift room where Miss Dorsey Payne displayed the gifts.

The unusual feature of the shower was the large heart decorated with pink and white crepe paper, with a poster of happy couples. Miss Mary Bradberry explained to the guests that each picture illustrated every woman's hearts' desire and she invited each friend to "make a heart desire wish" for the bride.

The color scheme of yellow, green and white was shown in the table appointments centered with yellow rose buds. Miss Patsy Brown and Miss Peggy Johnston served at the table assisted by Mrs. Frank Johnston.

The music presented during the afternoon was given by Miss Fay Wilson and T. C. Rush Jr., who sand "Because Of You."

Among the out of town guests were Miss Rene Jones, Miss Bebe Sloan of Birmingham; Mrs. S. E. Cates and Miss Betty Price of Shelby.

CULTURE CLUB MEETS

Mrs. J. P. Miles was hostess to the Culture Club on February 28th. Artistic arrangements of early Spring flowers made decoration.

Business included the election of officers to serve for 1952-53. Mrs. W. R. Carter and Mrs. H. L. Hall were reelected to serve as President and Vice President, respectively. Mrs. L. H. King was elected to serve as Seceretary.

Business finished, Mrs. L. H. Curlee gave a most interesting report on "Vacations". She pointed out some of the high lights to be seen at a few of the many historic and interesting places she has visited over the country in the past few years.

During the social hour a delicious plate with Russian Tea was served.

SHORT SHORT STORIES

I guess there isn't anything so sad but that a real pretty girl won't make a guy forget about it. Or is there anything worse than a dead battery? The seven-year itch was, when you were a kid, and the guy in the next seat turned up with it, just about the time you put on your new long underwear for the winter. It took weeks to find out for real that it was the underwear and not the itch.

Well, George Holcombe was busy as a birddog pup in a briar patch exchanging my battery and I was crying in my Coca Cola, great hunks of water and salt that leap-frogged down my cheeks and splattered onto the ground. I hadn't felt this bad since that long-ago day when they found me on the top of Mount Dixie with an arrow two inches from my heart and folks like Jim Kirkland's papa and Will Davis' grandpa and Will Page's great uncle standing around, in a bawling sort or fashion, wondering whether this meant the end of the little village in the valley below.

But George went right on with his work, and I with my moaning, when suddenly, from her grandmother's house down the street, pretty enough to eat Yoby Sims came waltzing up, sprinkling enough loveliness around to fill a whole peach orchard with blossoms in early December.

"Hey," she warbled, as a blue bird might in the morning with the sun rays and the dew all mixed up on the sycamore leaves.

"Hello," I said. George began to whistle.

"It's a pretty day," she cooed, looking up at the sky that was as blue as her eyes.

"Uh-huh," I said, "it is." My heart clinbed up in my throat and fluttered. George's whistle got a little louder.

Then she was gone, on up the street. And after a little I was heading down the road where tall misty pine smooched with a blazing red sky. George's tune was still in my ears and I began to hum the melody. Then, suddenly, I wondered if I had paid George for the exchange. Or if he had said anything about it. I had forgotten. Maybe George would remember. I would have to stop by tomorrow and find out.

Advice is like castor oil.... any guy you know will give it, but the guys who'll take it are always up around Bessemer route 9 piddling for gold. I guess that's why Oscar Oates stood there in front of the post office rattling with his mouth open and caught his vest and overcoat pockets full of walking pneumonia. When we got him inside and sort of thawed out he kept mumbling something about Handle Bar Hank Bierly peddling advice like it was candy made out of air and water.

He and Handle Bar had parted early that morning.

"I'll tell you what you do," Handle Bar had said.

"What." Oscar pulled his coat up around his ears. The wind was pedaling up the horizon back of the court house, heading straight for Lester's Chapel, and all the guys who hit Main around six-thirty knew it wouldn't be long before old man wind would be coming back with his overcoat on.

"You stay out here and talk until the truth runs out," Handle Bar had added, "and then hush."

But that had been early in the morning. Three full hours by Handle Bar's watch before the wind whistled out of the north pasture, sprinkling pneumonia germs in everything that was open and exposed to the elements.

Balance Sheet

Lesson for March 9, 1952

IT is not every man who at the close of his life can look back and say that life has brought him more than it took away. Death, or the approach of death, is a reminder it is time to balance our books. There was a man named Paul sitting in a Roman prison. He was to be tried on a capital charge, and there was no certainty that he would be acquitted.

Dr. Foreman

Yet if the Romans had only known it, that solitary prisoner, whose very food was provided by the charity of friends, was the happiest man in Rome. He looked back over his eventual life and in a letter to his friends, while admitting that he had lost much, counted everything well lost in comparison to what he had gained. The balance sheet of Paul's life showed no deficit, but an enormous balance on the credit side.

• • •

Losses Written Off

PAUL gave several thumbnail autobiographies, some of which are included in the Scripture readings for this week. So we know pretty well what he had to give up.

What would strike most of us today is his loss of comfort and security. Modern Americans want above all to be comfortable and secure.

Probably Paul missed comfort and security as much as any man, for he was born to both. But as an "ambassador of Christ" he had had to give all this up.

He had long since exhausted whatever money he may have had; he had to work at hard manual labor to support himself; he was a constant traveler, which in those days did not mean Cadillac cars, Pullmans or even foam-rubber bus seats; it meant dirt and fleas and bad food and seasickness and wrecks (we know of four he had); it meant sometimes being half-starved, sometimes robbed and always in danger of armed robbery.

His Worst Losses?

BUT there was worse. A wise man does not count hardships his heaviest losses. To lose freedom is more serious. And Paul (when he wrote to the Philippians) had been under arrest for more than four years. He had been jailed at Jerusalem first, then for two years in Caesarea, then a journey in chains to Rome, and then in Rome for we don't know just how long.

Paul was just the temperament that feels imprisonment most keenly. Active, vigorous, always on the go, the four walls of a cell or even the four walls of a house must have galled him terribly. But perhaps worst of all was loss of standing in his home community.

He was born both a Jew and a Roman (as a Jew today may be a good American or a good Frenchman too); but the Jews looked on him as a traitor to his race, a man not fit to live; while the Romans regarded him as a crack-pot at best, a subversive agitator at worst.

Whatever advantages Paul had had at birth or by education, he had definitely lost long before the end.

Credit Balance

YET Paul, in writing up the balance sheet of his life, calls everything he had lost so much trash, in comparison with what he had gained. To his mind it was like losing a truck-load of ashes and finding one diamond.

We ourselves, not being, alas! saints, if we had fixed up his balance sheet, would have put some items on the credit side that he does not mention. After all, he was then and still is Christendom's first citizen.

For many of us, and all of us call him Saint, which means he belongs to God's aristocracy. You can afford to lose a good deal for that; He was also, and still is, close to the top, if not at the top, of the list of the most influential men in the world's history, aside from Christ himself. He is this, because almost half the books in the New Testament were written by him. Yet he does not say, speaking of his life's hardships, "I count these things as nothing in comparison with my position as leader . . . the fact of my sainthood . . . my contribution to the Bible."

We know what his life-ambitions were: "to testify the good news of the grace of God"; "to gain Christ—to know him—to share the power of his resurrection, the fellowship of his sufferings"; and "by all means to win some." These things he did; these things no hardships and no enemies could keep him from doing. With these things on life's credit side, the debits were trifling.

4-H Club Week Being Observed This Week

By Ann Barr,
State 4-H Club Leader For Girls
A. P. I. Extension Service

Alabama salutes her 128, 231 4-H members and 7,000 local leaders this week, with the observance of National 4-H Club Week. Every community in rural Alabama will take part in this celebration.

National 4-H Club Week affords the 4-H'ers a chance to tell their story to the public. This week is of special interest to the people of Alabama because it calls attention to the opportunities offered rural boys and girls. And it will point out the progress they are making.

The 4-H Club reaches out over the the entire state with a program of improved agriculture and homemaking and the development of leadership and citizenship. And during this week, club members everywhere will be taking inventory of their project work and making plans for a better program for the year ahead.

"Serving as Loyal Citizens Through 4-H" is the 1952 theme. And with the nation facing the present crisis the theme is very fitting. Carrying out the theme the nation's club leaders are fostering a program aimed at helping these young people understand the facts about their nation's greatness and the forces that seek to overthrow it. Citizenship has always been stressed in 4-H Club work and this years 4-H theme offers Alabama 4-H'ers a challenge for greater work and service.

Parents Encourage 4-H Work

"My parents have encouraged 4-H work in the Bamford Community and have been Adult Leaders for 5 years," says Iris Helen Martin, president of the Helena Jr. Club.

Iris Helen has completed 10 projects in foods, personal improvement, and sewing. She won first place in the girl's Lamp Contest last Spring. In sewing, she has made skirts, pillow cases, dish towels, pot holders, dresses, blouses, baby's slip, dress, and bonnet and has made over several garments.

In the Helena Club, Iris Helen has serve das President for two years, Secretary, for two years and Neighboraide in the Bamford Community for 5 years. She is now Vice-President of the County 4-H Council.

"4-H work has meant pleasant association with other girls and boys, stimulated interest in project work, encouraged recreational activities during the summer, and a lot of real enjoyment for me," says Iris Helen. Her parents are the J. R. Martins, Maylene Route 1. Teacher Sponsor for the Junior Club at Helena are: Mrs. Mary Owens, Mrs. Ruth Duncan, and Mrs. Judy Ingram.

4-H'er Learns To Take Responsibility

"4-H has taught me to take responsibility in holding 4-H offices and in completing projects," says Joe Mooney, 4-H County Council Treasurer.

Joe says, "I have carried 4-H projects for 9 years an have completed projects in beef animals, dairy animays, poultry, corn, pig, and forestry. This year I have planted 2000 pine seedlings. I have a pig projcet and 3 beef calves." He has served his club 2 years, a vice-president; and as president. He was on the Executive Committee of the Shelby County 4-H Council and is now serving as Treasurer. He has been a Neighboraide in the Kingdom Community for 4 years.

My parents have helped me with my projects, with neighborhood, 4-H work and with other 4-H activities," says Joe. His parents are the B. B. Mooney's, Columbiana Route 2 and his Teacher Sponsor is Miss Mamie Hill.

A bronze tablet is affixed to the General James H. Lane House on College andThach Sts. in Auburn, Alabama, stating that General Lane, soldier and educator, lived there from 1833 to 1907. He was the youngest brigadier general in the Confederate Army and taught at Auburn after the war.

To eliminate the noise of slamming doors, tack o rglue a narrow piece of car inner tube, about one-half inch wide, to the doorstop at the point where the door touches first, and notice the mild, deadening thump instead of the "Bang!"

Gloria McRae Learns To Organize Work

"4-H work has helped me in organizing home work, school work and other activities," says Gloria McRae, Calera Senior Club.

Gloria has been President, Reporter and Song Leader of her club. She has been Song Leader for four years in The County Council and has served 4 years as neighboraide. She has completed projects in sewing, foods, kitchen, and personal improvement.

Gloria's mother has served 4 years as Adult Leader of The South Calera Neighboraide.

Gloria has been generous in sharing her talent as a soloist at many 4-H programs. She is the daughter of the B. M. McRae's, her Teacher Sponsor is Miss Mamie Bishop.

4-H'ers Make Good Oatmeal Cookies

Shelby county 4-H girls have donned aprons and are making oatmeal cookies.

"Making Oatmeal Cookies," has been the subject of the demonstration in all clubs during February. The girls have learned that the secret of making these crisp delicious cookies is in using correct measurements, following directions for mixing ingredients, and baking at the correct temperature.

A contest is being held in each club to find the best cookie maker. Each girl will make cookies at home and bring them to school to be judged by the Teacher Sponsor of her club.

Later the winners from each club will compete in a County Baking Contest. The winner will represent Shelby County in the State Baking Contest.

4-H'er Very Active In Club Work

"I have been President of the Wilsonville Club for three years and served one year as Neighoboraide in the Fourmile Community," slated Jimmie Lou Bishop in reviewing her 4-H activities. She is also Secretary of the Shelby County 4-H Council.

Jimmie Lou is very businesslike in conducting the monthly meeting of her club, reflecting the fine leadership of her Teacher Sponsor, Mrs. Bertha Cosper.

In her sewing project she has made pot holders, dish towels, aprons, skirts, shoe bag, pillow cases, dresses, for self and mother and made over two skirts. In foods she has prepared egg dishes, meats, vegetables, salad, dressings, and desserts.

Jimmie Lou' parents are the J. H. Bishops, Wilsonville Route 1.

Improved Potato Crop Will Help N. Y. Town

RIVERHEAD, L. I.—Improved crop reports in Nassau and Suffolk counties, New York, was good news recently to merchants of Riverhead.

Potato production, chief crop of the area, was estimated at 14,640,000 bushels, a little over two million bushels more than produced in 1950. About 44,000 acres in the two counties was planted to potatoes in 1951.

The total agricultural income in Suffolk county in 1950 was approximately $25,000,000 the New York state department of commerce reports.

Town Wants U.S. Loan To Raise Employees' Pay

ITHACA, N.Y. — The mayor of Ithaca, Stanley C. Shaw, has asked President Truman for a million dollars to give city employees a wage boost.

"Of course, this request is ridiculous," the mayor said in a letter to the president. "However, it is no more absurd than the report of a promised loan to a country (Iran) that is destroying one of the world's greatest sources of oil."

"We also have been informed that Prime Minister Churchill will be seeing you for the purpose of getting another loan for England," the letter said.

He then asked for the loan to give the city employees a raise so they can meet the increased income tax that "you just had the congress to enact."

On his way to Montgomery to be inaugurated as President of the Confederate States of America, Jefferson Davis stopped at Auburn to review the Auburn Guards on February 17, 1861. A monument at the railroad station in Auburn commemorates the review.

Tiling Spades Are Made Exclusively in Iowa Town

WEBSTER CITY, Iowa — Three small towns in Iowa have been the home of the only tiling spade manufacturer in the world.

Today the only manufacturer of the implement is located in Webster City. It was invented over a half century ago near Anamosa, Iowa, and the first factory was located there. Later a plant was started in Perry, Iowa, and still later the plant at Webster City was started.

According to A. G. Osmundson, head of the company manufacturing the spade, it is strictly an Iowa product—a bar or skeleton type spade. It is used where the soil is wet, muddy and sticky, such as drainage of swamps and sloughs. Being a skeleton type, it is easier to push into the soil and there is less surface for the mud to cling to and the air gets behind the load so it is easier to release it.

Project Work Stressed By 4-H Club

The Shelby County 4-H Council which represents the 800 odd members in Shelby county are stressing 4-H projects and project reports for 1952. An effort is being made to get 100 per cent completion on all projects. Home garden leads all projects in number of enrollments. This is due to having a number of boys enrolled from non-farm homes. Dairy beef, poultry, corn, and cotton are the other leading projects. During 1951 Shelby County had the first place dairy exhibit in Montgomery and Birmingham Show and also Grand Champion female in both shows. We had the state Showmanship Contest Winner at the State Beef Calf Show. Our Calves averaged 41.5 per cent per pound which was the best in the Birmingham Show. It was the first year that we showed animals that Graded Prime. Two animals graded prime, eight graded Choice, and others were good.

Corn averages were good. Yields were reported as high as 88 bushels per acre. The average for club members was 52 bushels, and 1951 was considered a bad corn year.

The second Annual Poultry show was conducted in August 1951. We will have the same show in 1952. Also during August 67 4-H calves were exhibited at the County Fair.

Prospects for 1952 projects looks better than ever before.

Six boys and girls have entered the Junior Dairymen Contest. Winners will be announced in November. They are checking actual production, cost, of production on animals owned by them.

About 1770, the first white rivermen paddled into the region of Muscle Shoals and established a trading post there. They named the rapids Muscle, or Mussel Shoals, suggested either by the abundant shellfish or the strong arm muscles requiring to paddle a boat through the rapids.

4-H Achievement

A Good Reason for Celebration

As ALABAMA 4-H CLUB members celebrate National 4-H Club Week March 1-9, they look back on 43 years of growth and progress. The 4-H Clubs were the first rural youth clubs organized and promoted on a national basis.

Beginning with 392 boys and girls in 1909, the Alabama 4-H Club membership expanded to an all-time high of 128,231 in 1951. Alabama 4-H Club work got its start when Boys' Corn Clubs were organized in Calhoun and Tuscaloosa Counties in 1909. As the corn clubs grew, the girls became interested in organizing clubs, so in 1911 Girls' Tomato Clubs were organized in Pike and Walker Counties. The first tomato club was organized at the Union School, near Troy, in Pike County.

In 1914 Congress passed the Smith-Lever Act setting up the Extension Service; the corn and tomato clubs were placed under its supervision and the official name was soon changed to 4-H Club. The four-leaf clover was adopted as the official 4-H Club emblem and an "H" was placed on each of the leaf's four sections. They stand for Head, Heart, Hands and Health.

This largest state youth organization is made up of both boys and girls.

The primary purpose of 4-H work is to teach rural youth between the ages of 10 and 21 to love country life, to appreciate nature, to learn the best in agriculture and home economics, and to apply this knowledge in making the farm and home more profitable and enjoyable. Both boys and girls serve in county 4-H Club Councils and participate in 4-H camps, talent shows, county rallies, livestock shows, and National 4-H Club meetings.

You may find these details of 1951 4-H activities interesting:

71 County 4-H Camps held
338 Neighbor-aide meetings held
2,786 4-H Clubs observed 4-H Sunday
Beef Cattle Shows held in 52 counties
Dairy Cattle Shows held in 46 counties
124 Tractor Maintenance Clinics conducted

"Learning by doing" is an important practice in 4-H Club work. This is accomplished through "projects" which the boys and girls select each year. Here are some of the 1951 projects with the number of participants:

Corn	9,904
Peanuts	624
Cotton	3,628
Home Gardens	12,199
Truck Gardens	750
Poultry	9,051
Dairy Cattle	6,828
Beef Cattle	4,103
Sheep	102

CALERA SCHOOL NEWS

"Progress in Better Living" was the subject of Marlin H. Bruner, widely known speaker on chemical advances, at the assembly Monday afternoon at Calera High School. He demonstrates some of the recent developments in modern industrial chemistry and showed why industry in the United States has been able to give the people of America the highest standard of living in the world.

Mr. Bruner is Southern manager of the Extension Division of E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company and maintains his headquarters in Clemson, S. C. During the past 12 months he has talked at scores of meetings in the South.

Mr. Bruner graduated in forestry from Pennsylvania State College and has a master's degree from the Yale School of Forestry. He took additional graduate work at Yale, specializing in soils, botany, plant physiology and pathology. He has had experience with the U. S. Forest Service in North Carolina, Tennessee, and Louisiana, and with the Agricultural Extension in Arkansas and South Carolina.

He is a member of the Society of American Foresters, is past chairman of the Forestry Section of the Association of Southern Agricultural Workers, and is active in other scientific and agricultural organizatons.

ATHLETIC ADDITIONS NEARING COMPLETION AT CALERA

Calera High School's $7500.00 physical Education and Athletic Dressing Rooms are nearing completion, E. M. Smith, Principal, announced today.

Smith stated the showers were installed and in use. The plumbing material has been bought, blocks and mortor for the partitions have been delivered also. Paint for doors, ceiling and walls will arrive this week.

Coach Britt Watters has been in charge of construction and most of the work on the building has been done by members of the Physical Education Departments.

Watters said the building will be practically paid for when the doors and ceiling get their last coat of paint.

"I don't believe we will owe more than $300.00," he declared. "We needed some lumber, wire and shower heads plus commodes, blocks, paint. This will come to approximately $140.00 and we had $160.00 worth of bills outstanding on completed construction," Watters explained.

Smith again praised the loyalty of the students and citizens for their help in getting this much needed additions to the school.

FERNETTA WALTON NEAR CHAMP

Miss Fernetta Walton, Senior at Calera High School, fulfilled all our expectations of her when placed third in the Birmingham News Oratorical Contest District finals held last week at Alexander City. Fernetta's oration was truly wonderful and all who had the pleasure of hearing it agreed that she should have been placed first.

Fernetta is a mighty popular girl on the campus at Calera. She is a little shorty, has light blue eyes, pug nose, naturally curly hair and sunny disposition. Last year she was an attendant to Homecoming Queen and head cheerleader. This year she surprised us by writing in rhyme the leadout for the Homecoming Dance. She is a member of the Beta Club and active in all school and church activities.

Fernetta will compete in the Civitan Oratorical Contest some time in March. The title of her speech is "Freedom and Fear."

706 ALABAMIANS DIE FROM HEART DISEASE IN DECEMBER

Alabamians died from heart disease in December at an average rate of nearly one an hour.

The State Department of Health announced today that 706 Alabama deaths were contributed to this single cause during that 31-day (744 hour) period. No other form of illness even approaches it in killing power, the Department emphasized.

Alabamians who succumbed to heart disease in December included 448 white people and 258 negroes.

A MESSAGE

L. Gerald Fulton Sends Message To Shelby Countians

To My Friends and Voters In Shelby County:

I should like to take this opportunity to extend my sincere appreciation to my friends and the voters in Shelby County, for their expression of confidence in me as Clerk of the Crcuit Court, evidenced by no opposition to my candidacy for this office in the primary Election to be held on May 6, 1952.

The fact that I have drawn no opposition for this office of public trust, will make me even more diligent in my efforts to efficiently and promptly discharge the various duties this office carries, so that my record, as your public servant, will, at all times, fully justify the honor you have conferred on me by allowing me the privilege of serving you for another term.

I assure you I shall always remain grateful for this expression of your approval of my administration of this office, and I shall, to the best of my ability, continue to conduct this office in a manner that will always reflect credit on Shelby County's official personnel and on the electorate.

Again thanking you and with best wishes to you and yours, I beg to remain,

Very truly yours,
L. Gerald Fulton

HAVE YOU EVER SEEN A HUNGRY CHILD?

Listen Folks, here are some facts that maybe you did not know about. Facts which should be brought to your attention and done something about. I am sure, you will do your best and remedy it, just as soon as you read this article.

There are children who come to the schools in this very town, Columbiana, who are actually hungry! They will have to go without food, probably from the time they leave their homes early in the morning until they return in the late afternoon. Have you ever stood and watched a little fellow look at a more fortunate child eat a well prepared, well balanced lunch? If you have ever seen this non-understanding gaze in the eyes of a little child, you won't need to read much further without picking up your phone, and letting me know that you are willing to adopt one of these children for the rest of the year as your own and send me $5.00 per month for his sustenance. This fund will provide a child for one month with a hot lunch at noon. I doubt if you can spend $5.00 for a more worthy cause. There are many childless couples in this town, who, I feel sure will want to do this. There are church circles, club departments featuring Underprivileged Children and their needs, but I know you did not realize this situation to be true, in this town! I certainly did not, until I verified these facts brought to my attention only yesterday...

Now, please phone me 2731, if you or your family will donate $5.00 for the next three months, a total of $15.00 payable $5.00 per month, and allow this condition to be cleared up immediately. I am sure you will do it! School authorities have gone their limit. There are 23 children now being fed free each day, from the meager funds allotted for this purpose. This fund has long since been exhausted. There are still more children who need to be looked after.

I want to congratulate the Vignettes for "adopting" one of these helpless and unfortunate ones, who, thru no fault of their own, or their parents, who are doing the best they can to comply with compulsory education rules and regulations, but, please tell me, what good or what meaning have A. B. C.'s or 'readin'-'ritin' and 'rithmetic to a hungry child? Not the first thing! We are called upon to give to various drives, all worthy no doubt, and necessary, but first, above them all, in the heart of this scribe, comes a little child, and its needs right here in this community. Please phone me, 2731. Call, if necessary any members of your organizations together and lets see how many little ones, we can have the privilege of taking care of thru the proper authorities at the school so that there will be no embarassment to those whom we shall attempt to serve.

Speaking for the Baptist Choristers whom I know will join me, in "adopting a little one" for the rest of the term, we hasten to join the "Vignettes" who have already done so. Now, who will be next?........ Delay not this call!I will personally see that this money is channeled thru the proper sources, and that some little child will be happier, as well as the inner satisfaction which you, yourself will receive from this donation. It should be counted a privilege, in which many will hastily come forward to perfect. The need is urgent. Answer today. Only $5.00 per month, for the next three months. Where better could you spend this small amount? To what better advantage could you use this sum, than making glad a little child's heart by allowing him to join others at the lunch hour. Better work will result, and possibly better citizens be made.

ALABAMA DRAFT CALL FOR APRIL, 1,158 MEN

Alabama's induction call for April will be for 1,158 men, according to Col. J. T. Johnson Jr., acting state director of Selective Service. The national call is for 19,000 men. Shelby county has been called on to furnish 45 men as her share of this number.

4-H LEADERS ENJOY BANQUET; SQUARE DANCE

Shelby County 4-H Adult Leaders were entertained at a Banquet and Square Dance Tuesday evening. 150 Teacher Sponsors, Neighborhood Leaders, and 4-H Presidents were honored.

Taking part on the program were: Director of the Alabama Extension Service, P. O. Davis, 4-H Council President, Ashley Jeter, Joe Mooney, Iris Helen Martin, C. M. Fowler, Rev. A. D. Wilson, A. A. Lauderdale. Gloria McRae, Martha Rose Askins, Miss Mary Mims, Ann Shaw, Betty Jo Knowles and Catherine Walton entertained with vocal numbers during Dinner. W. D. Jackson, Ass't County Agent, St. Claire County, was assisted by Miss Wren Motes in directing the Square Dance.

This event was sponsored by the Columbiana Kiwanis Club, Calera, Siluria, and Wilsonville Civitan Clubs, Harpersville Exchange Club, Montevallo Rotary Club, Shelby County Farm Bureau, Home Demonstration Council and the 4-H Council.

Food was prepared by Columbiana, Bethel, Fourmile, and Mt. Era Clubs. Mrs. F. E. Williams and Mrs. J. H. Crawford were Co-Chairmen. Other assisting were: Mrs. Harold Morris, Mrs. E. L. SHELBY FARES WELL IN PROPOSED ROADS

The Reporter received Tuesday from the State Highway Department a map which shows road work in the state that has been planned by the commission during the coming four years.

The map shows that Shelby county's interests have been well provided for. Roads from Calera to Columbiana to Sylacauga, from Columbiana to Talladega and from Columbiana to the Highway near Longview will be built.

AUBURN ANNOUNCES WIND MILL WEEK

The Week of July 11-16 will be known as "Wind-Mill Week in Alabama". The chief object in setting aside the week for this purpose is to popularize windmills as a power for pumping water for farm homes and for livestock.

Mr. Barnes, in charge of this movement, says without waterworks, getting water into farm homes and for livestock, requires much work and entails a lot of drudgery which frequently falls upon women and children instead of letting them do it he insists that the wind should, and the wind makes no charge for its work.

Miss Floyce Mae Griffin of Montevallo, won the prize in the oratorical division of the High School meet in Montevallo last week. The contest was held in Alabama College.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Atchison moved this week into the home of J. L. Peters. They will begin soon to build a new home on the lot recently bought from Mr. Peters.

Mrs. Henry Milner, Mrs. W. H. Milner and little daughter of Birmingham and Joe Milner, who is Mayor of Gulfport, Mississippi, visited Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Christian, Sunday.

Mrs. Luther Fowler had as her guest Sunday, her sister, Mrs. W. T. Murphree of Gadsden.

Mrs. Marvin Young of Sulligent is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Chapman.

Frank Fulton of Siluria is visiting friends in Columbiana.

Mrs. W. C. Benton of Siluria is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Letson.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Holcombe of Birmingham spent the week end with home folk in Shelby Springs.

Misses Sara Holcombe and Pearl Bristow of Shelby Springs visited Mr. and Mrs. G. P. West in Bethel last week.

T. A. Walton, R. 1, City, was in town Wednesday. He stated that his daughter, Miss Ethel, who has been ill for so long, is now at home and improving.

Jemmie Slemp Says: He understands the Harpersville Congress is speaking of preferring charges against the Mayor for allowing the girls to paint their faces during preaching hours. It embarasses the the preacher and is very unbecoming to girls.

MARGERY SHAFFERMAN RESIGNS WITH WELFARE DEPARTMENT

The Welfare Department this week is losing one of its most efficient workers. We have known Margery Shafferman for several years, and have talked with her many times over the many problems that confront the duties of a conscientious case worker. We have never found a more earnest, interested worker than Mrs. Shafferman. We regret to see her leave this important work in Shelby county, and hope her successor, whoever she may be, will be as faithful to each assignment as Margery Shafferman has been. The Welfare Department of this county has lost a valuable worker! In the opinion of this writer, her place will be hard to fill.

If there are any graduates in Shelby county interested in Welfare Work and can qualify for same, it might be well to file your application with the Welfare Director. There is definitely a need for more case workers in this county, judging from the reports we have received as a Member of the State Board, and if there are those interested in this humanitarian effort, contact Mrs. L. G. Fulton, local director. M.W.W.

CULTURE CLUB TO SPONSOR CANCER DRIVE

The Columbiana Culture Club has as its project in public health the sponsorship of the annual educational meeting of The American Cancer Society, Alabama Division, for Shelby County. This meeting is called Investment Day and will be held on the afternoon of March 19 at 2:30 at the Shelby Theatre in Columbiana.

The purpose of this meeting is educational; contributions to the American Cancer Society will not be solicited at this time. Education that results in early detection of cancer can cut mortality from this disease to a great extent. Perhaps against no other disease is information such a powerful weapon. That is why the educational phase of the work of the American Cancer Society is so strongly emphasized.

A valuable and interesting program is planned. A film, "The Traitor Within" will be shown and Dr. Sam Shafferman will discuss the nature of Cancer.

The meetnig is open to all residents of the county who are interested.

Rev. C. Bean Called To Serve Baptist Church

Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock hour, the congregation at the Baptist Church went into an executive session. After hearing a favorable report from the Board of Deacons, who recommended the Rev. Curtis Bean of Louisville, Kentucky to the Church as its Pastor, unanimously accepted the recommendation.

Mr. Bean will complete his ministerial studies at Louisville Seminary April 1st, and will preach his first sermon as postor of the Baptist Church on Easter Sunday morning, April 13.

The Easter Cantata, "The Song Of Triumph," with Mr. Bean reading the devotional, will be given by the Baptist Choristers Sunday evening, April 13 at 7:30 P. M.

DON'T MISS THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL OPERETTA

The annual presentation of the Elementary School Operetta will be on Tuesday evening, March 18, at 7:30 in the High School Auditorium under the direction of Miss Mary Mims. This year the operetta is "The Obliging Clock." Among the boys and girls featured are Frank Ellis as Santa Claus and Billy Frank Knowles as the Obliging Clock. Come and find out what happens when the children want Christmas to come every day. You are sure to enjoy it.

Admission will be 25 cents and 50 cents.

NEW HAMPSHIRE PREFERENTIAL ELECTION

The eyes of the nation were turned on New Hampshire last Tuesday, when the first Preferential Presidential Election was held. Gen. Ike Eisenhower won a majority over Senator Taft, and Sen. Estes Kefauver, of Tennessee won over President Harry Truman. The battle between the Eisenhower Jacket and the Coonskin Cap, may be watched more closely from now on out.

G. C. MOORE, JR. ACCEPTS POSITION WITH BROWN-SERVICE

G. C. Moore Jr., Assistant County Agent for the past two years, has resigned his position with this department and accepted a position with Liberty National Life Insurance Company, effective March 10, 1952. Mr. Moore will succeed M. K. Smalley, who recently left Columbiana, to accept a position with the same company in Ft. Payne, Alabama.

Mr. Moore is a former employee of Liberty National, having worked for them prior to the consolidation with Brown-Service. His territory included Monroeville and Georgiana, Alabama and he was, for a while, located at Defuniak Springs, Florida. He has worked with the Alabama Extension Service during the past eight years at Wedowee, Alabama, and at Vernon, Alabama, serving Randolph and Lamar counties, respectively.

Mr. Moore expresses his appreciation to all the 4-H Club members, with whom it was his privilege to work in Shelby county for their cooperation and splendid programs in which they all participated, and wishes for them continued success.

Mr. Moore and his family will continue to reside in Columbiana. Mrs. Moore is manager of the High School Lunchroom and his two daughters, are members of the High School contingent. The entire family is active in social, civic, educational and religious work. Mr. Moore is a Deacon in the Baptist Church, a member of the Kiwanis Club, Director of Baptist Training Union work and a member of the Building Committee for the Baptist Church. His friends wish for him pre-eminent success in his new field of endeavor.

Public Helping Crippled Children Thru Easter Seals

The American public today has undergone an almost complete reversal of attitude toward crippled children and adults as a result of the work of voluntary agencies offering care and treatment to the handicapped.

This is the statement of W. W. Elliott, Chairman of the Local Society, today in pointing out the changes that have come with widespread public support of the cause of the crippled. The Society sponsores each year the Easter Seal campaign to raise funds for work with the crippled.

"Thirty years ago a crippled child or a handicapped adult was an unusual sight." Mr. Elliott pointed out, "Not because there weren't any, but because of ignorance, poverty, shame and indifference surrounded the handicapped with barriers which neither they nor their families could penetrate. They were literally hidden away from the public.

"Today that is all changed, and the crippled are a useful part of our world, making their contribution to the professions, to business and to industry. We have discovered that they are a tremendous national resource, waiting only for the magic touch of scientific rehabilitation and human understanding to make them productive human beings.

Thanks to the efforts of voluntary organizations, among them the Alabama Society for Crippled Children and adults, the crippled and handicapped are being given a chance to share a full life with their fellow citizens.

"The adult handicapped are filling vital posts for which they are especially selected and trained and in filling them are making a very real contribution to our country.

The Easter Seal Campaign opens March 13 and continues through Easter Sunday, April 13. A quota of $2000 has been set for Shelby county. Contributions should be mailed to Mr. Roy Downs, Calera, Alabama, Treasurer of the Shelby County Chapter.

SCHOOL BUS DRIVER CLINIC TO BE HELD IN COLUMBIANA MARCH 17-21

Superintendent W. W. Elliott announced today that a clinic for school bus drivers would be held in Columbiana beginning Monday, the 17th of March at 9:00 A. M. and continue through March 21.

Mr. Elliott has arranged for qualified instructors to come to Shelby county from the University of Alabama to teach the course. The latest devices will be used in the course to test vision, coordination and other physical qualities which are required of prospective drivers.

First consideration will be given to those receiving certificates of proficiency of the employment of drivers for the 1952-53 school term.

All High Schools of the county are cooperating in this program and it is expected that a very large group will report for the first class on Monday, March 17.

Three Act Comedy At High School

"Act Your Age," a comedy in three acts will be presented Thursday evening, March 13th at 7:30 P. M. in the High School Auditorium. The proceeds will be used to help finance the annual junior-senior banquet.

Don't miss this evening of fun!

MEYERS CONTINUES SHOE SALE

By popular demand, the sale on new shoes featured in the recently opened Shoe Salon at Meyers is continued. Go by this department the next time you are in Columbiana and select your new Spring footwear for dress and sports wear. Lovely colors and all sizes and styles.

SUMMERHILL CHURCH

On the third Sunday, March 9th, Brother Walter Walton will preach at Summerhill Church, and Sister Walton will teach a Bible Study from 10:30 to 11:00 o'clock. Everybody is invited to attend.

RURAL HEALTH

School Sets Up Plan to Train Rural Doctors

DURHAM, N.C.—The rural health of North Carolina is benefiting from an exchange program for medical students and country doctors sponsored by Duke University.

In their senior year, Duke medical students are permitted to take a minimum "time-out" of two weeks to serve a tour of duty with a small town or country doctor in the state. In turn, the physicians to whom the students are "farmed out" all are instructors in general medical practice at the University.

The program was instituted by Dean W. C. Davison, who began to pioneer in this field 20 years ago. "The program gives an insight into the problems of the country doctor on a give-and-take work basis," he said. "These students learn to examine, diagnose and treat, thus meeting the principal problems confronting a doctor in rural practice."

Dean Davison reports that students taking part in the program have written from the rural areas expressing their satisfaction with the lot of the modern country doctor.

Important Work

"You realize the importance of what you are doing after you have seen a family of nine children, none of whom has been immunized against anything," one letter said. "Doctoring is teaching and you have to be something of a philosopher out here; but you've also got to be right up to the minute on recent advances," another said.

One student reported his typical day consisted of seeing 30 to 50 outpatients, treating in-patients at the clinic and spending three to four hours at night making house calls.

A typical clinic in the rural areas consists of a one-story brick building with a business office, waiting room, examining rooms, laboratory, X-ray room, delivery room, kitchen and beds for six or seven people.

Pay in Produce

Remuneration from country patients covers a wide range. One clinic reported being paid four bushels of apples for delivering a baby. It is not uncommon to be paid in hams, chickens or produce, one exchange student wrote.

One of the most satisfying aspects of the country doctor's career is the spirit of cooperation among the people served, Dean Davison said. Frequently the local people are unable to contribute financially to building a clinic, but often they supply lumber and labor and make the clinic their own public project.

A student recently wrote to the dean, "You can't help but catch the infectious community spirit, and it is surely a field where love and the skill of healing go hand-in-hand."

Entire New York Town Is Quizzed About Health

ONEONTA, N.Y.—Columbia University is making a health survey—mental and physical—of an entire town. The community is Oneonta, N.Y.

The survey, which will include the entire adult population of the town, is for the purpose of measuring the health status of adults in a representative American community. It is believed to be the first of its kind.

Prof. Irving Lorge of Columbia, survey director, said the Public Health Service will be able to determine the approximate effect on a community of such emergencies as epidemics, floods and bombings as a result of the survey.

The investigation started as a random sampling of 600 families. The response to questionnaires was so overwhelming that it was decided to distribute them to every house in Oneonta.

The local hospital is encouraging citizens to cooperate in the survey and high-school and college students are helping with the work.

The questionnaire is self-administered, with 195 items relating to physical and mental illness. A blue form is provided for men, a pink for women. The information they provide is confidential.

Lorge explained the work will provide evidence of the "frequency of physical and emotional disability symptoms in a representative population."

"Since this is primarily a method study," he said, "it is expected that it will become another device for health screening. The data would lead to inferences about the requirements for medical care for the normal population."

Ohio Town Celebrates Premier in Big Way

BELLAIRE, O. — The town of Bellaire was the scene of a movie premiere recently that turned the community upside down.

Mrs. Anne Kuchinka, a dentist's wife, wrote a letter for the contest: "Why I would like to have 'My Favorite Spy' premiered in my home town." She won and more than 40 Hollywood performers and officials, including Bob Hope, Gloria Grahame, Jan Sterling, Rhonda Fleming, Jerry Colonna and Les Brown and his band invaded the town.

ON THE FARMS IN SHELBY COUNTY

B. F. Hatchett and G. C. Starcher

S. A. Murray, of Siluria, is handling "annual" crimson clover as a reseeding grazing crop. For the fifth year he has turned under crimson clover after it goes to seed. Thsi "stored" seed is disced back to light and air in August and fertilized with 500 pounds of 0-14-14 per acre.

The 14 acre field has a dense stand, was ready to graze by October 10, and has furnished a remarkable amount of grazing. However, bloat is a problem since there is no grass in the clover. At writing thirty cows graze only two hours per day, eat three bales of hay per day, and have to be treated occasionally for bloat.

On October 10 thirty 250 pound stocker calves were placed on the clover for four to six hours per day. On October 14 thirty additional cows began a two hour grazing period daily. The first lot grazed for forty days. The second lot is still grazing the clover, haying lost only ten days grazing since Christmas due to weather conditions, another problem on ground prepared annually.

Mr. Murray, and his next door neighbor J. W. Street are turning to Fescue-clover mixtures for all-year all weather pasture on suitable ground. Both men are watching nearby Chapel Hill Rescue grass plantings and last week expressed favorable opinions of this new S. C. S. introduction to the county.

Two neighbors, Floyd Hawkins and R. W. Kent are using the new strain of Rescue this year. Last week the Kent seed patch was two feet tall, had nine head of heifers on it. A heavily grazed planting was looking good, too, as was a big pasture of Fescue-Orchard grass-ladino experimental mixture.

All four men are active cooperators of the North Central Soil Conservation District.

One of those little booklets prepared by the telephone company says its repair department has found that much trouble is caused by banging the phone receiver down. How true, especially if your wife happens to be on the other end.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

Notice is hereby given that, WHEREAS, default has been made in the payment of the debt secured by that certain mortgage executed by Henry K. Bagby and Vivian Belle Bagby to Pearl Bush on February 25, 1937, which said mortgage is recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Shelby County, Alabama, in Mortgage Book 221 at page 213, said mortgage having been transferred by the said Pearl Bush to Mattie L. McFarland by written instrument dated September 25, 1940, and recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Shelby County, Alabama, in Deed Book 109 at page 260, and transferred by the said Mattie L. McFarland to the undersigned W. H. Haynes on January 8, 1952, by instrument recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Shelby County, Alabama, in Deed Book 150 at page 387.

NOW THEREFORE, I, the said W. H. Haynes, transferee of said mortgage, will proceed to foreclose said mortgage and sell the land described therein at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in front of the Shelby County Courthouse door in Columbiana, Alabama, during the legal hours of sale on April 14, 1952, said land being described as follows:

The Northwest half of the Northwest Quarter of Section 7; the West two hundred and sixteen feet of the Southwest Quarter of the Southwest Quarter of Section 7; also the following lands in Section 7: Commence at the Northeast corner of the Northwest Quarter of Northeast Quarter and run South 42° 30' West, 1875 feet to the Southwest corner of the Northwest Quarter of the Northeast Quarter; thence continue South 42° 30' West, 550 feet; thence North 47° 30' West 1025 feet; thence North 42° 15' East, 1410 feet to the North line of the Northeast Quarter of the Northwest Quarter; thence North 87° 30' East along said North line 1430.5 feet to the beginning corner, being a part of the Northeast Quarter of the Northwest Quarter, Southeast Quarter of Northwest Quarter and Northwest half of Northwest Quarter of Northeast Quarter of Section 7, all of said lands being in Township 18, Range 1 East, mineral and mining rights are not conveyed to the foregoing lands; Also the Southeast Quarter of Section 12, Township 18, Range 1 West, in fee simple.

The proceeds of said sale shall be applied as follows: First, to the expense of advertising, selling and conveying, including a reasonable attorney's fee; second, to the payment of the amount that may have been expanded or that it may then be necessary to expend in paying insurance, taxes or other incumbrances, with interest thereon; third, to payment of said indebtedness in full whether the same shall or shall not have fully matured at the date of said sale, but no interest shall be collected beyond the date of said sale; and fourth, the balance, if any, to be turned over to the said Henry K. Bagby and Vivian Belle Bagby.

GROWING

Here's what we did to meet Alabama's telephone needs during 1951 . . .

Installed 85,913 New Telephones for a gain of 30,840—10,000 of them in Rural Areas

Installed large amounts of new pole lines, cable, switchboards and other facilities.

GOOD AND GROWING telephone service is essential to National Defense and to the growth and progress of this state. The needs are huge. The job is great and costly. But progress has been fast and sure. Some materials are scarce, but we'll get along with the job in 1952 with the same determination that has more than doubled the number of telephones in 5 years. — Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Something New In Shelby County To Be Presented

A pioneering step in combining talents of townspeople, students, and faculty in dramatic productions of a small college town is being made at Montevallo.

Dr. Walter H. Trumbauer, professor of dramatic literature at Alabama College at Montevallo, is directing an operetta with a cast made up of housewives, businessmen, merchants, teachers and students.

Such a production has long been the dream of this zealous College Theatre Director. It is an effort to bring better plays to the community and to bring the college and community closer together.

This is the first attempt in drama to promote a project of better relationships between the college and town.

Dr. Trumbauer, who has directed the College Theatre for 24 years, is a favorite with both students and townspeople.

Fondly called "Trummy" by his drama students, the director is beset by many problems in producing this operetta.

Rehearsals, of course present great difficulties. To secure a time when students are free of classes or homework ,and when the townspeople can arrange to rehearse is quite a difficult task.

Nothing is more distressing than to have one of the professors or students in the midst of repeating his lines when the class bell rings, summoning him back to class.

Despite all the difficulties involved in using talents of local people along with those of the students, Dr. Trumbauer is determined to present one of the best productions the town has seen.

The Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "Iolanthe," will be presented in Palmer Auditorium at the college on April 4.

The operetta contains a cast of fairies composed of persons from many different occupations. The chorus of fairies is composed of students, a local minister's wife, a housewife, the college supply store manager, and faculty members.

The chorus of peers is made up of radio and speech instructors, high school students and teachers, an art instructor ,a barber, a printer and a postoffice employee.

The chorus of fairies: Ethel Marshall, Mrs. Marie Triplett, Barbara Burr, Mary Frances Collins, Martha Womack, Mrs. Lois Dennis, Mrs. F. P. Givhan, Mrs. Sara Cairns, and Mrs. Mary Hood.

MRS. LILLIE GATTIS BURIED IN OAKLAND CEMETERY

Mrs. Lillie Sturdivant Gattis, former resident of Columbiana, died at her home in Wylam on February 15, from an heart attack. She was a member of the Garden Club of Wylam, and on this date made a trip to Shelby county with Mr. Gattis to procure some Crab-Apple tree cuttings to give her neighbors. After reaching home and delivering these cuttings to her friends, she complained of not feeling well, and died suddenly during the afternoon.

Funeral services were held up until February 19, awaiting the arrival of her two sons, Russian and Wallace Sturdivant, both members of the U. S. Navy. Wallace was in Japan, Russian stationed in Cuba. Due to a delay in necessary releases for Russian, he did not get to Birmingham until after the funeral, but Wallace was present, and her daughter, Mrs. Bernice May from Detroit, to share the sad hour with her husband, Mr. Gattis.

Friends in Columbiana called many times to get some information regarding the funeral services, but we were unable to give this information. Mr. Gattis was in town Monday, and we learned the above facts, which we record for the benefit of Mrs. Gattis' many friends in Columbiana, who remember her faithful work in the Methodist Church as long as she resided in this county.

Delaware Towns Expand as U.S. Steel Constructs New Mill

MORRISVILLE, Pa. — Growing pains are bothering the small communities on the Delaware river between Yardley and Bristol a short distance from the $400,000,000 steel mill being constructed by United States Steel company.

The most pressing needs are increased traffic facilities, enlarged local government services, expanded school operations, hospital accommodations, new business centers and more public transportations.

Two major development corporations, currently engaged in constructing self-contained towns for some 60,000 persons, are expected to keep pace with housing requirements. barring a sudden influx of workers to the steel plant and allied industries in the area.

One company will soon complete the first 1,100 home unit of Fairless Hills. The town is rising on 1,250 acres of rolling farm land at Oxford Valley, four miles west of the new steel plant. Ultimately it is to have from 3,500 to 4,000 prefabricated houses, plus more than a score of custom built dwellings.

Another company is busy with the initial construction phase of "a complete city of 16,000 homes" on a 3,000 acre tract.

Erection of the Fairless works, which began last March, has gone well. At present, some 6,800 construction workers are engaged in the project in the river front flat lands south of Morrisville.

When completed next year, the plant will employ 6,000 persons and turn out 1,800,000 ingot tons of steel a year.

The new community of Fairless Hills, when completed next year, will have at its hub a civic center, schools, modern shopping area, fire station, dispensary, parks, playground and swimming pool. In the same area, sites are being set aside for churches and the erection of a high school.

The other modern Bucks county community will be known as Levittown.

Consolidation Forces Sale of School Plants

NORBORNE, Mo.—Sixteen school buildings, some land, and numerous miscellaneous items were auctioned recently in Norborne. The sale, made necessary because of the consolidation of school districts, attracted a large crowd but very little bidding. The total sale amounted to only $7,833.34.

The land did not sell with all sixteen buildings because some of it reverted to the owners when the property was no longer used for school purposes.

In addition to buildings there were some miscellaneous items such as pumps, stoves, toilets, coal houses, seats, doors, used lumber, pianos, sewing machines, and tools from a high school building.

Dyersville Called Ideal Location For Small Industry

DYERSVILLE, Ia.—While many small town industries in the midwest are busy turning out swords, one small factory in Dyersville continues its peacetime production of implements for turning the soil so important to its area and the people of the community.

The Silver Streak Manufacturing Company has one product—a new edge for worn plowshares. A hard steel sleeve with a sharp new cutting edge, it comes in sizes to fit over any standard plowshare, from 10 to 18 inches long.

When the company started in 1939, half a dozen employees, using hand methods, turned out 125 to 150 edges a day. Now 33 employees are keeping a lot of automatic equipment busy, filling orders from dealers in 35 states and bringing added prosperity to the community of 2,100.

Leo Osterhaus, partner in the firm and in charge of production, reports the small community is almost an ideal location for this growing business. "We're close to Chicago, where we get our steel, and we're on two main rail lines. A big motor express company has a dock right across the street, and a number of truck lines go through town. But most important, we're close to the farmers, and that's where we need to be, with our product."

In the last twelve years since the business began, farmers from coast to coast have seen fit to change their habit of taking dull and battered plowshares to the blacksmith to be hammered back into working sharpness.

The Silver Streak edge can be installed in the middle of the field, if necessary—no welding, no bolts, no lost time. Spring in the steel holds it on the old edge; pressure of the soil pushes the V-shaped sleeve tighter on the original share as it plows.

The main concern of the company that has become so important to Dyersville is obtaining high-carbon steel necessary for a sharp, long-lasting edge.

"We're running about 30 per cent behind our needs," says Osterhaus. "With luck, we'll come close to getting our requirements in the next few months."

39 COUNTIES REDUCE FOREST FIRES

State Conservation Director Earl M. McGowin says that in 1951 forest fire losses in 39 Alabama counties were reduced, dropping the state loss to 2.06 per cent of its forested areas.

McGowin said this figure compared to 2.30 for 1950. He also said that Alabama is one of two Southern states that extend fire protection to their entire forested area.

Limestone county, with 08. per cent, again had the state's smallest fire loss, McGowin said. The county had three fires which burned 71,5 acres. Clark county was next with .10 per cent and Madison followed with .18 per cent.

Jefferson led all counties with 696 fires, which burned 25,898.5 acres. Counties losing more than 10000 acres by, fire also included Baldwin, 22,431; Mobile, 20,656; St. Clair, 17,377; Escumbia, 15,847; Shelby, 15,412; Talladega, 10,880, and Chilton 10,392.

AMERICA NEEDS MEN!

Bring us men to match our mountains,
Bring us men to match our plains,
Men with empires in their purpose
And new eras in their brains.
—Sam Walter Foss

Mildred W. Warner, president of the Gulf States Paper Company in Tuscaloosa, and staff writer for its official publication.... "The News Bag".... has said what we have long thought, so much better than we can say it, we are taking the liberty of reprinting a timely article she wrote and which we think is worth reading and re-reading. We quote:

We need men:

Not know-it-alls, not influence peddlers, not politicians of the Pendergast or Hague or Kelley stripe—just real men ready to do a job and give it all they have.

Somewhere, for every need, there is a man of purpose and of brains.

He may be the scientist who works on a defense project at the risk of his health.

He may be the doctor in a community where doctors are few.

He may be the business man who sticks to the job where he is needed and leaves his "pleasure" plans on the shelf.

He may be the employee who offers a new idea that labor and management should be partners in business enterprise by tying production and pay together.

He may be the volunteer who gives time and enthusiasm to helping with Hi-Y or Scouting—and builds character in our future citizens.

He may be the average good neighbor who gives heed to the needs of his town or state and does his part—but isn't quite big enough for a top place in the civic sun and is glad to serve wherever he can be of use.

Or he may be one of the few who can rise to heights "yet keep the common touch." From among these can come leaders to turn us away from fancy fair-dealing (or unfair dealing) and guide us back to a plain square deal.

America is tired of second-raters in high places.

America is tired of temper and temperment.

America needs statesmen who are above influence and who do not fear either the lies or the leeches about them.

America looks for a George Washington or an Abraham Lincoln in 1952, to lead us out of a wilderness of doubt and debt toward a promised land where our best effort will gain our daily bread for both our souls and our bodies.

America seeks men of keen brain and high purpose to move her mountains of confusion and corruption.

America Needs Men!

SENATOR PHILLIPS CALLS

Senator J. T. Phillips whom we had not seen in a long, long time, called by Saturday during a brief visit on Main. It is always good to talk with "Senator Tom".... and he looked like a million dollars on this occasion and his optimistic chatter matched his looks. A nice way to end the routine of a busy day in a newspaper office and I enjoyed every minute of his visit. Further political honors will likely come his way, due to his outstanding record of achievement as our Senator.... and when the opportunity comes a-knockin' for further services to his "own folk" we hope we shall be around to tell you about it.

TURKEY DINNER MARCH 21

Members of the Methodist Missionary Society in Columbiana will serve a delectable Turkey Dinner, March 21, at the High School Lunchroom, and you are invited to dine with them, for $1.00 per plate.

The hours of the dinner will be from 5 to 8 P. M.

. . . Like a breath of Spring came Alice Harris of Vincent in our office Thursday and with this bright and breezy personality came another request that she be re-instated in our coterie of interested readers each week. It is good to know that we will again enter her home as a welcome guest each week. Now, if we can get some one interested enough in promoting this up and coming town to send us in the news happenings each week, we shall all have additonal reasons for unfolding the "Home Paper."

. . . C. T. Hughes of Wilsonville is a friend of long standing, and we were delighted to have a personal talk with him during his thoughtful call in our office Friday while in Columbiana. Mr. Hughes made the visit more memorable by again subscribing to "The Home Paper." He stated he did not want to miss a single issue now that the political pot was boiling hot.... and we shall see that he doesn't.

. . . Little Mary Wayne Gilmore, personable daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gilmore of Montgomery is gladdening the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Lauderdale this week. A happier two-some would be hard to find that Mary Wayne and Lady Lauderdale whom we saw down town this morning on a shopping tour.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. G. R. McNeil and son of Birmingham spent the week end in Columbiana, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Turner.

. . . Leonard Rogers has returned to Columbiana after spending a week in Prattville where he evaluated the High School activities.

. . . Friends of popular Betty Lyon Rush are glad to learn she is improving after a week in the Land of Counterpane.

. . . The Baptist Choristers extended a cordial welcome to Peggy Edwards who has joined them. Mr. and Mrs. Jerald Edwards and babette will soon move back to Columbiana from Birmingham, and their friends are delighted to learn this piece of good news.

. . . Mrs. R. L. Veazy of Twin Oaks and Mrs. William Eddins of Gadsden and young son Bill Eddins, were visitors in Columbiana, Sunday afternoon.

HOWARD HILL, TEMBO AND SHELBY COUNTY FOLK

There is something wonderfully fine about the loyalty Shelby County people feel for each other, and this fact was never more obvious than when Howard Hill, native born Shelby countian and world-famous archer, brought his newest film production, "Tembo," back to his beloved Alabama for approval.

The Shelby Theatre, presented this unusual cinema in Columbiana last week, and each show booked "standing room only"...! We have never seen larger crowds on Main. Cars were parked throughout the business section and in some of the residential sections. Friends and neighbors of Howard Hill came to pay him the homage he has merited, and, knowing Howard and Elizabeth Hill as we do, I am quite sure, that had it been possible for them to be present, they would have thrilled to this hometown recognition more sincerely than to any other demonstration in any town or city, no matter its size, nor the number of people who viewed this educational and entertaining film. When a fellow makes good, he naturally, looks to his home-folk for their re-action, and Shelby county has the reputation thru blue skies or gray, of staying with "her own". No where else on God's green earth are to be found friends more true, nor more cherished, than those who knew Howard "way-back-when," as a boy he was roaming around with his miniature bow and arrow among his native hills.... and they took this opportunity to tell him so!

No such interest has been manifested in a movie in this part of the country, since the late Henry B. Walthall made "The Birth Of The Nation" famous. We shall never forget how happy Henry was on his last visit with us, to meet and greet his boyhood friends in Shelby county. He never forgot them, nor his old friends, even though his profession, as a character actor, took him to California to make his home. He loved returning to Shelby County and was as unaffected and modest as a shy school boy, when folk gathered to acclaim his brilliant successes. A mark of true greatness!

Howard Hill and Henry B. Walthall have both brought fame to Shelby county in theatrical circles. They have received world-wide acclaim for their outstanding artistic achievements but greater far than this distinction, and perhaps a richer compensation for their efforts, is the fact that their own people, Shelby county folk, whole-heartedly take pride in and honor them for their personal triumphs.

Neither bright lights, fame nor fortune ever dimmed the bond of friendship that lay between Henry B. Walthall and his Shelby county friends. It was so as long as he lived, and we know it will be so with Howard Hill.

As stated above, this loyalty to the "tie that binds" Shelby county folk together, is ever lasting. It is something tangible a fellow can always cling to in a fast spinning ball of a world, and who, please tell me, would like to go thru life without it? No one from Shelby county, I'll wager.

CANDIDATES ON THE RUN

It is hard to find a Shelby county candidate these days. All are out "running" and all are "optimistic" over their chances for election. The spirit among them is splendid. Good sportsmanship is marking these races, and the way these well known fellows greet you these days, reminds me of the Christmas Spirit. Let's hope it continues, after the first lap of the journey ends May 6, when the elimination contest is completed.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Tom Tinney, Tommy and Johnnie Tinney of Wilmington, North Carolina, are vacationing in Columbiana with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Tinney and are receiving a warm welcome "back home" from their many friends.

. . . Mrs. A. A. Bragg of Anniston has returned to her home following a brief visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Gould. Other guests in the Gould home included, Mr. and Mrs. O. Meyers of Michigan and children, Gene and Joan, and Mr. and Mrs. I. Crumpton and children of Birmingham.

. . . If Dame Rumor is correct, wedding bells will soon tinkle for Sgt. Jim Duke, and the way he was smiling during the past week end when we saw him made us give some credence to "what we heard."

CONGRATULATIONS BARBARA HORN

Barbara Horn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Horn has just returned from Durant, Oklahoma, where she was a member of the debating teams from the University of Alabama. This Savage Tournament held at Durant is considered one of the top debate meets in the U. S. A.

The University of Alabama entered four teams in debate and won 22 out of 26 contests. That is, they won the highest score records. Barbara Horn from 'Bama came forth with flying colors with the highest speaking ratings. Southern Methodist University won 2nd, and Kansas 3rd. Barbara also won "Superior" rating in Debate; won 2nd place in Oratory; 2nd place in Discussion and 3rd place in Story Telling; and 3rd in Bible Reading.

This decision makes the team of Janet Quartin, Miami, Florida, and Barbara Horn of Columbiana, twice winners of "Superior" with an earlier win in December which took place in Jackson, Mississippi.

Barbara as 'Bama Representative, defeated S. M. U., Oklahoma A. M., Arkansas State, Abilene Christian, Texas Christian University, L. S. U., Louisana College, Kansas State, Stephen F. Austin, Oklahoma, Baptist University, Baylor, Texas, etc.

Congratulations from a host of friends were showered on Barbara Horn Horn when she visited her parents during the past week end, and all are pulling hard for her to win one of the six places as Independent Representative in the Student Government official race now in progress at the U. of A.

. . . Mrs. Luke Wheeler, former resident of Columbiana, now lives in LaFayette, Alabama, and has asked us to send her paper to her new address which change we promptly make with our thanks and best wishes for the Wheelers in their new location.

MALE CHORUS DISBANDS 'THE SONG IS ENDED'

The Columbiana Male Chorus has disbanded until further notice. Following a business meeting Thursday evening at which time there were not enough men interested in continuing this work regularly, the organization disbanded.

Individual and collective expressions of thanks and appreciaton were extended the hard working Director, Clarence Cook.

This unfortunate loss to this community and to individuals goes to prove that no one thing can succeed without the team-work necessary to make it succeed. You cannot have a well balanced choral club, without numbers.

No one has worked more faithfully with this organization than Clarence Cook, but the group of men who came regularly to rehearsal, was not large enough to warrant continuing the weekly meetings.

. . . Mrs. R. D. Crim (Miss Minnie McGiboney to those of us who have known her thru many years) was a guest in Columbiana Thursday and we are indebted to her and Mrs. George Scott Sr. for a most delightful visit during their sojourn on Main. Mrs. Crim also took this opportunity to renew her subscription to the home paper of her native county.

. . . Mrs. W. M. Johnson of Bessemer, Alabama, came to Columbiana Thursday, and during her visit came by the office to get her name back on our ever widening circle of readers. Mrs. Johnson stated she had "missed the Home Paper" since it had stopped coming and wanted to be sure and have it begin again this week. We thank her for this courtesy, and it is a pleasure to welcome her back into our ranks.

. . . J. C. Walton, Courthouse caretaker, is back on his job this week after an enforced absence due to illness.

. . . Miss Myrtle Miles of Columbiana was guest speaker at the meeting of the Rotary Club in Montevallo Wednesday evening.

. . . Mrs. Annie Meyers of Galveston, Texas, spent several days in Columbiana last week with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Gould.

. . . A congenial party of music lovers from Columbiana enjoyed the concert given by Arthur Whittemore and Jack Lowe, famed Piano duo, at Alabama College March 7. They included Mrs. Yeager Horn, Mrs. Henry Nichols, Mrs. C. E. Niven, Miss Jeanette Niven, Mrs. Homer J. Walton and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Harrison.

. . . Popular Patsy Brown has been ill, but is now safely on the road to "Get-Well-Again."

Good Morning

By Milton Bird

His name is Paul Bailey and he's about the size of a nickle bar of soap and his face is as bright as a whole peck bucket full of dreams. Every week he comes in and I buy him a box of bee bee shot and he goes out in the woods back of his house on the Shelby Road to hunt field sparrows. He hasn't killed one yet, and maybe he never will. But he'll never give up.... and, somehow, in a world of war and fraud and futility, this seems terribly important....

Up at Granny's House if you climbed over the fence at the hog pen, or walked with your hands down the oak limb and dropped over the fence, you could follow a trail that carried you to the dewberry patches on the side of Longshore Hill. The dead grass along the trail was soft as velvet and a guy could crawl all the way on his stomach in the warm sun.... if he was ten and had a whole peck bucket full of dreams sparkling in his eyes.

This was where the field sparrows lived, darting about in the grass and under the dewberry bushes, always moving so that a fellow couldn't get a decent shot. But a guy wouldn't give up, and the trail led on, past the red-haw tree on the fence row, and down the pasture lane, and over the hill to the washhole where the wild plums grew.

You stopped to eat haws and wild plums, and lay flat on your stomach to drink the icy water from the creek where the redhorses played. And dreamed of Indians along the trails the cows had made, and on the top of the hill where the rocks were piled high in a mysterious sort of fashion. You stretched out on your back in the pine straw and rested, and looked up at the sky, and watched the clouds, and buzzards that sliced out great hunks of blue with their wings. You hadn't killed a single sparrow, and maybe you never would. But you wouldn't give up....

Tomorrow, or the next day, Paul will be back and I will get him a box of bee bee shot and he will go out in the woods back of his house to hunt sparrows. And I will go on peddling stamps and money orders in a sort of mechanical fashion, and I shall talk with a hundred folks about this and that. But I will be out in the warm sun, too, under a high blue sky, hunting field sparrows with Paul Bailey. For, somehow, in a world of war and fraud and futility, things like not giving up seem terribly important.

Clara Belle

Town's Population Zero

CLARA BELLE, Canada — Clara Belle must be considered a "railroad town" because it has a station and is well known to mining equipment manufacturers in the United States and Canada, but it has no inhabitants.

There are conflicting stories that the town was named for a woman or a cow. Although the town is known to railroad men and shippers in this country and in Britain, few persons in the near-by town of Sudbury, in northern Ontario, have heard of it.

The five-man station that comprises the town is tucked behind the International Nickel Company's smelter at Copper Cliff.

Railroad lines funnel into Clara Belle from seven directions, and because the cars from the smelter often carry such high-priced items as platinum, Clara Belle does a business valued at millions of dollars a year.

BOOM TOWN

Mine Granted Loan; Village Plans for Boom

ONTONAGON, Mich. — The 2,500 people of Ontonagon are bewildered and a little breathless. They are expecting a boom that will pour millions into the community.

The reason is the announcement by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation of a 57 million dollar loan for a copper mine near the community, a sum equal to six times the official assessed value of all Ontonagon county.

The loan is to the White Pine Copper Co. which will produce an estimated 75 million pounds of copper a year. The company will build:

An entire new town for 5,000 people, with stores, a hospital, theater and everything else a community of that size needs.

A multi-million-dollar steam power plant in Ontonagon that will employ about 100 men when finished.

A smelter, a copper mill and mining installations.

A 20 mile railroad extension to the mine site.

Improved harbor facilities to handle coal for the power plant.

Three Years to Build

During the three years all this is going on the village of Ontonagon expects a boom that will probably mean new homes, restaurants and stores for the community. Many of the comunity's merchants believe the effects will be felt much longer than the three years of the construction program because of the nearness of Ontonagon to the mine.

Businessmen also agree that the town will face numerous problems during the coming years from the influx of workers.

At the present time there is hardly any vacant houses and unemployment is almost nonexistant. The village has a large paper and pulp mill employing more than 300 persons. There are two smaller mills and another small one is being built.

Three years ago the community suffered an economical reverse when the biggest lumber company, employing up to 600 persons, closed down. Some of the workers moved away, but most stayed and were eventually absorbed by other firms after being without jobs for some time.

Faith in the Town

Ontonagon's seven restaurants, one theater, two hotels and eight taverns will feel the pressure of expansion.

"It's going to turn the town upside down," said John J. Clark who runs the theater. He added that he would show movies all day and all night if there were enough customers.

For over a year people of the community knew the mining company was seeking an RFC loan and most of them held on to their property. They are still holding on until they see what the real estate market is going to do.

Old timers of the community report they have seen mines and lumber mills come and go during the years and it hasn't made much difference. "Something always takes their place," said C. J. Crooker.

If something unforeseen should happen to keep the boom from developing, people of the village would probably shrug it off. It has happened before and the town has kept on an even keel, even in the depression.

As one man said: "I got a lot of faith in this town. When the lumber mill pulled out I thought Ontonagon would fall on its kisser, but it did not."

And it probably won't.

Local Communities to be Asked to Support School

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Local communities, particularly small towns, will in the next few months be hearing a lot about two great projects—the united appeal for world relief and reconstruction, popularly known as "One Great Hour of Sharing," and the Interrnatiional Christian University of Japan, better known as "ICU."

Both of these interdenominational, international and interracial movements are headed by the Rev. Stanley I. Stuber of New York.

The aim of "One Great Hour of Sharing" is to receive on Sunday, March 23, an offering of several millions of dollars in local churches all over the nation. A large part of this offering will come from small churches in towns nd villages.

This is also true of the International Christian University of Japan. This new educational institution, which will open in April, 1952, is depending heavily upon the interest, prayers and financial support of hundreds of small churches which are interested in great international projects.

California Village Has Record Building Requests

VISTA, Calif—Building permits for the community of Vista, population 1,000, reached an all-time high during October. Building permits for the month aggregated $219,854.

The permits included 21 one-family dwellings, 47 additions or alterations, 16 private garages, 12 barns or storage places, 2 commercial buildings, 3 repairs to commercial buildings and 5 duplexes.

WELFARE COMMISSIONER
DOROUGH ISSUES REPORT

State Welfare Commissioner Bill Dorrough says that in four months 918 persons have been dropped from Alabama welfare rolls because relatives were able to help support them.

Dorrough added that 166 new applications for relief had been denied for the same reason. The action came under a new law which went into effect last October 1. It requires relatives who are financially able to help support needy relatives, before they can get state aid.

Welfare checks were reduced in 415 other cases during the period, Dorrough said, because relatives were required to help take care of those getting them.

Dorrough said effects of the new law are just being felt because it took some time for his department to get statements on the financial status of those involved.

At least 283 additional cases were dropped off because of another new law, making names of welfare recipients public. They gave up their checks rather than have their identities disclosed.

Of the total dropped under the relatives responsibility law, 857 were drawing old age pensions. The other were mostly handicapped persons.

Dorrough said that in January the Welfare Department had 105,817 cases receiving assistance payments, 957 less than in December.

A total of $2,509,611 was paid out in January, $12,906 less than in December. The average per case payment last month was $23.72, an increase of 10 cents over December.

The welfare commissioner said that in January 76,867 cases received old age assistance payments amounting to $1,630,226. In December 77,833 cases received $1,647,090. The January average case payment was $21.21 and in December $21.16.

VETERAN,S COLUMN

VETS COLUMN
THE TEAGUE BILL

Mr. Olin, a Representative of Texas, has been heading a committee to investigate the abuses under the GI Bill of Rights. Mr. Teague has come up with his own version as to what kind of a GI Bill should be passed for those in the service at the present time.

Mr. Teague's bill would limit new benefits to Education and Training, and All Allowances, including those for Subsistence, Tuition, Books and Supplies, be paid in cash to eligible veterans at the end of each month. Such Cash Payments Directly to the VETERANS, would by-pass the schools and Colleges, take the Veterans Administration out of school business and probably save the taxpayers large sums of money wasted on paper work, bookkeeping and other expenses. The bill would also limit veterans in service since June 27, 1950 to a maximum of 36 months of education or training. All Korean Veterans who served Honorably for 90 days would be entitled to training equal to the number of days served. The Teague Bill would allow the same amount for subsistence allowances as is now being received by War Two Veterans, that is, from $75 to $120 per month. In addition, tuition, books and supplies would be figured on an average cost, based on current prices. All of these allowances would be paid Directly to the veteran and it would be up to him to foot his own bill. All trainees would receive the same, amount, whether enrolled in the Harvard Law School, or one of the less expensive Universities.

On The Farm Training Program would not be allowed for a person employed by another person. And this type of training would not be allowed if the veteran trainee did not have a farm and a farming program of sufficient size to support his family and provide him with full time employment. In addition, a veteran would not take farm training if he was considered already as proficient as other successful farmers in his community. There are no loan provisions in this bill, nor is there authorization for unemployment allowances.

Boys' Village

Unsung Village Aids Boys

CHELTENHAM, Md. — The oldest boys' village in the country is located at Cheltenham. It is known as "Boys' Village of Maryland," a home for wayward Negro youngsters of the District of Columbia.

It was started as a school for Negro boys in 1872 and was re organized as a village by the Maryland legislature in 1949.

It is set in the middle of 1,265 acres of good farmland. There are 350 youngsters in the village and every one has something to keep his hands busy. Some milk the cows. Others till the soil with tractors. About a quarter of the land is planted in truck and grain crops. A herd of 94 purebred cows supply milk to the village.

After Five Years Illinois Village Gets Water System

MENDON, Ill.—It took five years, but the village of Mendon, population 700, finally has its water system.

The move to secure a water system for the village started back in 1946. The state of Illinois had set up a fund whereby municipalities might receive a sum to enable them to begin some project of benefit to the entire community. Mendon used its portion of the fund to conduct a survey to locate possible water sources within the village.

The next step was to gain 150 property owners who would guarantee using the water if and when the system was completed. In November of 1947 a special election was held for approval of selling general obligation bonds in the amount of $20,000 to help defray the cost of building the system. The balance was to come from the sale of water revenue bonds.

That Mendon wanted the system was demonstrated on election day when the proposition carried, 140 to 16.

The contract for building the system was awarded to the Rees Construction company of Quincy. A well digger from Batchtown moved his rig into the village and tried several locations, but failed to develop a well supplying the required amount of water to meet state specifications. Later, another company tried without much better success.

Despite discouragement the people of Mendon, in a mass meeting, gave the mayor and village council a vote of confidence. A well digger from Kansas City was contacted in the summer of 1950. He moved into Mendon, prepared to stay until he was successful. During the winter of 1950 he was able to develop four wells in the south part of the village.

In the meantime, construction costs had increased above the limits of the $20,000 bond issue previously approved. Local voters again went to the polls on March 3, 1951, this time to get approval on a bond issue of $40,000. The issue carried by 276 to 6.

The Rees company went to work early last spring and completed the project which had taken the determined people of Mendon five years to achieve.

Harvard Officials Plan High School Safety Class

HARVARD, Ill.—As result of complaints and a petition to the town council by residents living in the vicinity of the high school, Harvard will conduct safe driving classes before the entire student body.

The petition was presented at a recent meeting of the council by residents who charged that many high school drivers were speeding or were reckless during the noon hour and after school. Residents in the high school area said that with some 75 grade and pre-grade school children living in the locale, the situation had become serious, and it was feared some child would be either injured or killed.

The council decided that the police chief and city attorney would appear before high school students to go over the rules of safe driving, and at the same time warn that unless the violations ceased there would be wholesale arrest and heavy fines.

The council agreed, also, that the talks would be the last warning and after that convictions and fines would be sought.

Harvard, a community of 3,200 has been plagued in recent months with increasing teen-age traffic violations, especially at night.

Mayor John McCabe blamed the parents for allowing children to stay out late at night and drive cars at high speeds. He reported special duty police, in private cars, would be hired in order to stop the recklessness if necessary.

Illinois Village Sets Blood Doners' Record

ST. LIBORY, Ill.—St. Libory with a population of only 324 persons, according to the 1950 census, recently set a record for blood donors of St. Clair, Ill., county and possibly the state. Sixty persons from the village, nearly a fifth of its population, reported to the Red Cross bloodmobile to give blood for the armed forces.

SOUTH ALABAMA
BIG SALT DOME 'MOTHERS' MULTI-$-MILLION MELON

(Montgomery Advertiser)

A giant salt dome found in an unsuccessful search for oil is mothering a multi-million dollar industrial development in McIntosh, Alabama, a southwest Alabama timber country.

Springing up near this historic spot where Aaron Burr was captured prior to his treason trial are half a dozen chemical, rayon, and power plants costing an initial 55 million dollars. Their completion cost may run twice that figure.

The building spree started last year with Mathieson Chemical Company's 10 million dollar plant to manufacture chlorine and caustic soda.

This announcement was followed by one from Alabama Power Company that it would construct the 35 million dollar Barry Steam Electric Generating Plant at Salco, 20 miles down the road. The utility said its power would feed industries related to oil and salt by-products.

Two months later Courtaulds, Ltd., British rayon manufacturers, began putting up its first American rayon plant to cost "greatly in excess of 10 million dollars."

Courtaulds said it would use the chlorine made by Mathieson in its viscose process manufacturing rayon. The Courtaulds firm said the plant would increase viscose rayon production in the United States by 25 per cent.

Since January 1, three more chemical plants have been announced for the McIntosh-Salco areas.

One of the firms, the Geigy Chemical Co., developed DDT in its Swiss laboratories. The plant near McIntosh will be its first in this country.

The other two, Calabama Chemical Co., and Stauffer Chemical Co., both plan to make insecticides and other items using products of the Mathieson plant. Courtaulds will use some kind of the carbon bi-sulphide made by Stauffer.

The 4,500 workers employed in building the plants happen to be more than the combined population of the entire Salco-McIntosh area before the industrial boom.

Much of the labor will come from surrounding farms and from Mobile, 40 miles south of McIntosh.

The McIntosh salt dome contains at least 10 cubic miles of salt estimated at 100 billion tons.

Dewitt Reams, of the Mobile law firm representing the four chemical companies and Courtaulds, said that salt was not the sole reason for the industrial boom.

The accessibility of rail, highway, and water transportation was contributing factor. Two rail lines, a highway, and the Mobile river almost parallel to each other through this section.

A natural gas line recently extended to Salco, an adequate power supply, a supply of pure surface water, favorable climate, and a river system capable of taking care of waste matter were big inducements.

County and state governments cooperated in granting exemptions from ad valorem taxes during the construction period.

The capture of Burr, a former U. S. vice president, by a company of calvary came in the early 1800s, when this section was part of the great Louisiana Territory.

At his trial Burr was freed of a charge that he committed treason in organizing an expedition into Mexico.

CHICK CHATS

FOLLOW THESE GOOD BROODING PRACTICES

Our healthy chicks — that's the aim of every poultryman. But getting good healthy chicks is something else. Unless the poultryman starts with good stock and exercises good brooding practices, he is likely to fail. The care given to chicks should be the best, even when the raiser must devote much time and labor to the project.

There are many brooding pointers which advise the raiser what to do before the chicks arrive, when they arrive, and after they get started. Here are a few recommendations considered particularly important:

HEATING THE BROODER HOUSE

The day before you expect your chicks, start a fire in the brooder stove or turn on the electric brooder. The house should be warm before chicks are brought into thei rnew quarters.

Keep the humidity in the brooder house high for the first several days. A pan of water placed on the stove should help provide extra moisture. Remember that chicks will dry out if the temperature is high and the humidity low.

During the first day and evening keep a close watch over your chicks. Make sure they find feed and water. If chicks are too close to the stove, they probably are cold. If they push, against the chick guard, they are too hot. Adjust temperature to keep chicks warm and comfortable.

OTHER SUGGESTIONS

It is also a good idea to provide chicks with a small amount of light during the night. It helps the chicks bed down evenly. However, the light should not be too bright or the chicks will begin eating. A 5-watt bulb is satisfactory under most conditions.

Fresh air and sunlight are also important to growing chicks. There should be some circulation of air at all times, but avoid drafts. Sunlight is not only a source of vitamin D, but it also serves to some extent as a disinfectant.

Green feeds, such as lawn clippings, sprouted oats, and vegetable greens, may be fed to chicks after the first week.

You will also want to teach chicks to roost. Early instruction on this point will save you trouble later on.

Range may be provided for the chicks when they are from 10 days to two weeks of age. Permit them to run out on warm sunshiny days, but only for a few hours, until they become accustomed to the change.

HOMEMADE MIXES

Dry mixes for biscuits or other quick breads are time and labor savers in getting meals, as every modern homemaker knows. Mixes made at home using milk powder can be especially helpful in putting more milk into family diets, Miss Sara Nell Lightsey, Vocational Homemaking Teacher at Shelby County High School suggests. She explains that breads often contain less than a cup of milk to each cup of flour but may offer much more milk nourishment if dry milk is included. Such mixes are inexpensive for the milk value they give.

Here are two recipes for mixes which can be made up and stored in the cupboard, ready for use in a jiffy.

Biscuit Mix. Ingredients: 8 cups sifted flour; 1 cup dry milk, whole or nonfat; 1/4 cup baking powder; 3 teaspoons salt; 1 cup fat, a kind that needs no refrigeration. To make: Sift dry ingredients together three times. Cut or rub in fat until thoroughly mixed. Lift mix lightly into glass jars or tin cans without packing. Close tightly and store on shelf.

A cup of this mix is enough for 6 medium size biscuits. To make, measure 1 cup of mix and add enough water or fluid milk to make a soft dough, about 1/3 cup. (Evaporated milk, diluted half and half with water, may be used). Turn onto a lightly floured board and knead a few times. Pat or roll to the desired thickness and cut with a floured cutter. Bake in a hot oven (450°F.) 12 to 15 minutes.

Quick Bread Mix for muffins, waffles, griddle cakes. Ingredients: 6 cups sifted flour; 1 cup dry milk; 1/4 cup baking powder; 2 teaspoons salt; 1/2 cup sugar; 3/4 cup fat, a kind needing no refrigeration. (For extra milk value double the measure of dry milk.) To make: Sift dry ingredients together three times. Cut or rub in a fat until thoroughly mixed. Lift mix lightly into glass jars or tin cans without packing. Close tightly and store on shelf.

One cup of the mix makes 5 small muffins, or 2 large waffles, or 7 medium-sized griddle cakes by the following recipes:

Muffins. Measure 1 cup of mix. Add 1/3 cup water or fluid milk and 1 beaten egg. Fill greased muffin tins two-thirds full. Bake in a hot oven (400° to 425° F.) about 20 minutes. Makes 5 small muffins.

Waffles. Measure 1 cup mix. Add 3/4 cup water or fluid milk and 1 beaten egg yolk. Fold in 1 beaten egg white. Bake in hot waffle iron. Makes 2 large waffles.

Griddlecakes. Measure 1 cup mix. Add 2/3 to 1 cup water or fluid milk and 1 beaten egg. Drop batter by spoonfuls onto a hot greased griddle. Cook slowly until surface is covered with bubbles. Turn and brown on bottom. Makes 7 medium-sized griddlecakes.

Dont press coat lapels with an iron. It is much more effective to dampen them slightly with a moist cloth, mold them into shape with your fingers, then put the coat on a hanger, and let it dry thoroughly before it's worn or put in the closet.

FARM NEWS

SMALL FARMERS AIM AT HIGHEST PRODUCTION EVER

Greater production than ever before is the goal of farmers cooperating with the Farmers Home Administration this year, Mr. Stephen S. Pierce, FHA supervisor for Shelby County said today.

To achieve the new record, agency borrowers are planning better balanced crop and livestock programs, analyzing ways to keep family members more fully employed, adopting systems for better land use and more productive or "bigger acres", increasing farm efficiency through proper machinery and equipment, and improving inadequate housing.

In this area, special stress will be put on raising more poultry, livestock, dairy products, food, and feed crops.

The aim of higher yields from present land and labor is a part of the national production campaign for 1952, in which all farmers and agricultural agencies are participating.

The Farmers Home Administration makes supervised loans to qualified applicants, unable to obtain suitable loans elsewhere, to own, improve, or operate farms, or acquire better houses and farm buildings. Approximately 65 families, including 30 veterans, are now on the program in Shelby County.

"Because of the general shortage of manpower," Pierce pointed out, "numerous farmers are coming to us to learn how they can make fuller use of under-employed labor in their families. Systems followed on many small farms in this locality as well as elsewhere, give employment only part of the year, and should be improved. The problem can often be handled by converting from cash crops alone to a combination of cotton, hogs, cotton-beef cattle, or poultry and dairying."

Pierce added that a number of local farmers are requesting enlargement and development loans to enlarge or improve inadequate farms. These loans are made to enable farmers to purchase additional land, improve buildings, land clearing, and drainage, and fencing. Also an increasing number of borrowers are participating in programs of other agricultural agencies.

"As for farm equipment," he continued, "this agency is helping borrowers plan maximum use of machinery to produce more on the same acreage."

Families are also obtaining funds to construct or repair farm houses and buildings which directly or indirectly help step up production. Farm owners may borrow to provide safe and comfortable homes to live in, and necessary buildings to house their livestock and store farm products.

The actions being taken are in line with the organization's long-time key policy of helping families farm better so they can live better and produce more of the Nation's needed food and fiber.

"As small farmers do everything they can to adjust their farming systems to full, year-around productive and profitable employment," Pierce said, "families and communities alike will gain and their teamwork will further strengthen American agriculture."

TIMELY HINTS ON CARE OF PLANTERS

All planters should be kept in good alignment and first-class mechanical conditions throughout the year, according to J. T. Gaillard, A. P. I. Extension Service farm mechanization specialist.

He advises that shelter for planters be provided if at all possible. When storing, protect planter frames from being bent and rest furrow openers on boards away from the damp soil. Keep livestock away from the implements, and do not let chickens roost anywhere about or on machines and implements.

"Also," adds the specialist, "coat all bright or land polished surfaces with grease or rust preventative when not in use. Always remove any protective grease before taking planter into the field. Check operation with seed in hopper. If ground driven, jack-up drive wheel and turn it by hand; if driven from rearwheel of tractor, jack-up tractor drive wheel, and check."

For calluses and rough hands, try adding a spoonful of salad oil to a paste made of soap and water, then apply to the hands and scrub briskly with a nail brush. Do this as often as you can, and your hands will get smoother in short order.

LOAN RATE SET FOR 1952 UPLAND COTTON

The U. S. Department of Agriculture announced recently that the loan rate for 1952 crop Middling 7/8-inch cotton will average not less than 30.91 cents per pound.

The 1951 crop average loan rate for Middling 7/8-inch cotton was 30.46 cents per pound. The increase is the result of the rise in parity prices. The average loan rate for Middling 15/16-inch cotton, the base quality, was 31.71 cents per pound in 1951. An appropriate differential between Middling 7/8-inch and Middling 15/16-inch cotton will be in effect again this year. The guaranteed loan rate for Middling 15/16-inch will be announced at the time the schedule of premiums and discounts for other grades and staple lengths is announced.

It was announced on November 29, 1951, that 1952 crop upland cotton would be supported at 90 per cent of parity at the beginning of the marketing year, August 1, 1952. The minimum level announced today is 90 per cent of the present parity price. In the event that 90 per cent of parity on August 1 is higher than the level announced today, the loan rate will be increased accordingly. Differentials for grade and staple and for location will be announced later.

GROCERY BARGINS LISTED FOR MARCH

Those who buy groceries should keep in mind foods that are abundant at the time of purchase if they want real bargains.

A. W. Jones, A. P. I. Extension Service marketing specialist, says eggs and broilers are expected to be among the most plentiful foods in the Southeast in March. Other foods on the list include Spring greens, peanut butter, dried beans, and dairy products.

HYBRID CORN VERSUS OPEN-POLLINATED

Alabama farmers are still planting about 75 per cent of their corn acreage to old open-pollinated varieties, even though they are inferior to the better hybrids not only in yields but in other desirable characteristics.

WAYS TO KEEP SOIL AND WATER ON FARM

Contour farming is the operation of farm machinery across a sloping field rather than up and down the slope.

"When this method of farming is practiced," says S. R. Doughty, A. P. I. Extension Service soil conservationist, "each crop row forms a small ridge across the slope which aids in checking the flow of water, reduces the movement of soil, and increases the amount of water absorbed by the soil."

AMERICAN LEGION MEETING WEDNESDAY NITE

All Legionaires please remember that Wednesday Nite, March 12, (tonite) is the time of our regular monthly meeting.

GOOD NEWS FROM DIXIE DIVISION

Members of the 31st Dixie Infantry Division, and their loved ones, this week have received news which was enthusiastically welcomed by all.

Army Chief of Staff Gen. J. Lawton Collins, says he does not believe the Division, made up of Alabama and Mississippi National Guardsmen, will be sent overseas.

The division was federalized in February, 1951, and has been on duty at Fort Jackson, S. C. since that time. However, a large number of the personnel from the division has been sent overseas individually and the units have been rebuilt with draftees.

On March 9, the 31st left for maneuvers in Texas. After that it will go to Camp Atterbury, Indiana, as its new training base.

While maneuvering in the Lone Star State, Dixie Division men will have a new address. It wll be: "Exercise Longhorn, Fort Hood, Texas." Correspondence to soldiers should also contain their name, rank, serial number and their full unit designation.

LISTEN SHELBY COUNTIANS PLEASE CAST YOUR VOTE

Several prominent people in this county have recently been by my office and made this remark: "I have so many friends running this year I am on the spot, and I think now, I shall just go fishing."

No one thing can be more detrimental to our democratic way of preserving the right for individual choice of our officers who will fill the various posts of public service in our nation, state and county, than just this "take-off and go-fishing-attitude".... leaving the final selection of our public servants to the "other fellow".

There are many of us "on the spot".... All of us have friends seeking to serve the people, but, suppose we all neglected to express our preference at this time, and no votes were cast. What then? I believe every qualified citizen should gladly accept this priceless heritage and proudly march to his polling place and make his cross mark by the name of the man whom he or she considers best suited for the position he seeks.

You, or some of you nave come back at me with this: "Well, what the heck difference does one vote make? It won't elect him and it won't defeat him." Well, Brother, it might do that very thing! Take for instance, the last presidential election in Ohio as an illustration of the power of a single vote. Here is the record on that election.

Ohio's 25 electoral votes went to the successful presidential candidate by so slim a margin that a single additional vote in each of Ohio's voting precincts could have reversed the result. One single person who did not vote in each voting precinct thus had the power to change the political destiny of Ohio, and it might have affected the destiny of the nation, or even of the world. That is a recorded factual example.

Harding College is recommending that each voter who casts his ballot in the next election be given a tag on which is written "I have voted. Have you?" It is a good idea! We wish the Kiwanians would adopt it, use it, and let's see the effect of this plan in Shelby county. Many civic clubs in the nation have adopted this idea.

Anything that will stimulate more people taking an interest and having a voice in the selection of public officials, would be worth giving serious consideration and, a trial.

Did you know that, only 50 per cent of the people of voting age, exercised that privilege in the national election last time, and that only 20 per cent vote regularly?

This is a pretty good way to lose our democratic way of life, and, isn't that what our American boys in Korea are now fighting for? If they are ordered by Uncle Sam to fight "over there," surely, with but very little trouble and inconvenience over here, you and I could and should vote, and in this way help, as Drew Pearson says: "Make Democracy Live."

What do you think? The first date you have to settle this question is May 6, 1952. What the answer will be is up to you.

TWO GROUPS OF OFFICIALS TO BE CHOSEN FOR ELECTION

Attorney General Si Garrett has advised that two groups of election officials must be hired for the Primary Election to be held May 6, 1952.

One group will supervise voting in election of political candidates and the other will supervise voting on a propsed Amendment to the Constitution which would prohibit raising salaries for state and county officials during their terms of office.

The Supreme Court has ruled that elector candidates need not take the loyalty pledge as passed by the State Democratic Executive Committee in Montgomery, in order to be eligible to run as Electors.

BLOODMOBILE TO BE IN CALERA MARCH 21

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Calera Friday, March 21, from 9 o'clock to twelve o'clock A. M. and from one o'clock to four o'clock P. M.

Please be on hand to donate a pint of blood for the soldier who is fighting your battle in Korea. The call is urgent. Be in Calera on this date and do your part.

THIS COUNTY WILL BENEFIT from the bond issue bids being studied here by the State Bond Commission, Gov. Gordon Persons, seated, State Finance Director D. W. Hodo, left, and State Highway Department Director W. G. Pruett, right. The $25,000,000 Road Bond Issue went to the First National Bank of New York, representing 45 firms, on a low bid of 1.637 cents. This is by far the lowest price at which similar bonds have ever been sold in the state, and reflects Alabama's excellent financial condition. The entire $25,000,000 issue, authorized by the Dec. 11 statewide ballot, will be sold immediately and the money put in U. S. Government securities until needed. Governor Persons said this will bring the state a net profit of about $65,000 the first year. The $25,000,000 will go to match a similar amount in federal cash, and everyone of Alabama's 67 counties will receive a road or bridge project.

Shelby Road To Be Paved Soon

The Reporter-Democrat this week carries an advertisement for bids for black-topping the Columbiana-Shelby Road which will be financed by State and Federal funds.

Thanks to competent Engineer Parks and his co-workers, the road bed is all ready, and work financed by State and Federal Government may proceed when bids are received and contractor named to "go ahead."

This widely traveled roadway, now on the agenda for completion, is but another obvious step forward under the new Road Law now in operation in our county. Count this new road law one of the county's richest assets toward permanent development of our Highways, and never cease to be grateful to those who made it possible.

Every class of poultry will be received at the car, weighed on standard scales and paid for in cash at the following prices: hens, 23 cents; broilers, 40 cents; roosters, 10 cents; geese, 10 cents; turkeys, 25 cents; ducks, 23, cents; guineas, 30 cents each.

TOWN SCHOOL BOARD PLANS MEETING

W. L. Christian, chairman of the Town Board of Education for Columbiana stated to the Reporter last week, that the matter of a new school building is being given careful consideration. Perfect agreement among the members as to the needs is evidenced. Members of the Board realize they have a great responsibility and are endeavoring to move cautionusly and construct a building that will be a credit to the town.

EACH COUNTY WILL GET ITS SHARE OF ROAD MONEY

Every one of the 67 counties will get its share of the bond issue money for its highways, according to Col. Finnell and his state commissioners. A map has been drawn so that each county will share in this $25,000,000 state expenditure aided by Federal founds for this purpose.

COLUMBIANA HAS BEEN COUNTY SEAT OVER 100 YEARS

According to J. L. Peters, prominent attorney of Columbiana, who has a portion of an old paper in which was carried an article written by him called "Concise History of Columbiana". Columbiana has been the county seat for over 100 years.

It was in 1825 that the question of moving the courthouse from its first location, Siluria to a more central location came up. The election was held in 1826, Columbiana winning over Montevallo by a small majority.

(Next week we shall reprint portions of this article written by J. L. Peters which gives more historical facts regarding the first Courthouse in Columbiana. Watch this column for it.)

WOMEN WORKING TO PREVENT TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

A mother with her arms around her children will symbolize the work women are doing to prevent traffic accidents.

Woman's protective instinct was the theme selected by Berta Margoulies, noted sculptor, in designing the Carol Lane Award, newly-established recognition for the accomplishments of women in the field of traffic accident prevention.

The statue made its artistic debut recently at the Sculptor's Guild exhibition at New York's American Museum of Natural History.

The 16-inch bronze and a $1,000 defense bond will be presented by the National Safety Council at its annual Congress in Chicago next October. The Council is administering the award through grant of the Shell Oil Company, and the award is named for Carol Lane, Shell's women's travel director.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the Council urged women's clubs or other interested organizations and agencies to make nominations for the award.

"If women feel they have had to take a back seat in safety," he said, "here is a chance for them to sit up front where they belong."

NEW HOPE CLUB SPONSORS SHOW

New Hope Matrons lived up to their reputation as good cooks when they served another of their Chicken Dinners at the School Saturday night. These dinners have become famous since the Home Demonstration Club begun serving them several months ago in order to finance the program of building a Recreation Center for the community's youngsters.

Following the dinner, a quilt and four door prizes were awarded to those holding cards. A most enjoyable film "The Penny Seranade" was shown to complete an evening of fun, which also netted a profit of approximately $45 for this organization.

Cooper Drake To Pay With His Life

The case against Cooper Drake, a negro age 20 years, who was tried and convicted in the Shelby County Circuit Court, for the murder of four year old Dale Holley, while in his mother's arms at their farm home near Calera, Alabama, has been affirmed by the Supreme Court and the date of his execution set for April 16.

The jury verdict was death by electrocution and since this trial last summer, the negro has been in the death cell in the State Penitentiary awaiting the final decision of the Supreme Court which was reached last week.

STATE TREASURY BALANCE LISTED AS $38,537,095

The state treasury had a cash balance of $38,537,095 at the close of the fiscal year September 30, 1951, according to the annual report by Director of Finance, D. W. Hodo.

At the close of the previous fiscal year the balance was $42,186,057. The report said that "a great portion" of the money was restricted and unavailable for general use.

DRAFT FOR MAY TO CALL 19,000 MEN

The Defense Department has announced that the Army and Marine Corps will draft another 19,000 men in May.

The Army will get 15,000 of the men; the Marines 4,000. The call for 19,000 is the same number due to be drafted in April.

The May draft will bring to 913,430 the number of young men drafted or called to duty with the armed services since the resumption of selective service in September, 1950. Men 18½ through 25 are now subject for the call.

The Army's share of the summer draft is 832,000, the Marines 81,430.

LIKES REPORTER-DEMOCRAT VERY MUCH

H. T. Allen, formerly of Spring Creek community, now living in Birmingham, writing to give a new address says: "I don't want to miss a copy of my paper, it is like getting a letter from home. While I can't vote in Shelby county any more, I still like to keep up with what is going on down there politically, and other happenings of interest in the county." Mr. Allen's new address is, 2811 North 33rd Avenue, Birmingham 7, Alabama.

COUNTY HAS ONE DEATH IN THREE MONTH PERIOD FROM TUBERCULOSIS

Shelby county was one of the 46 Alabama counties from which one or more tuberculosis deaths were reported in October, November and December. This county reported one death during that three-month period as having been due to that disease, according to the State Department of Health. The state total was 191.

The State Health Department announcement was based upon provisional reports prepared by its Bureau of Vital Statistics. These may differ slightly from the final reports not yet available.

GEN. EISENHOWER ENDORSES RED CROSS FUND DRIVE

"By historic achievement in the field of service to humanity, the American Red Cross has won a unique place in the hearts of all our people. To those of us in uniform, it has always been a warm and steadfast friends. Today, the blood program and other services make it more vital than ever to the welfare of servicemen.

"Material support of the American Red Cross not only makes possible the continuity of its great work, but offers a way for each of us to demonstrate personal endorsement of a greater concept.... that the united efforts of a free people will always prevail against adversity and disaster."

The drive is on in Shelby County. The Rev. A. D. Wilson is Fund Chairman. Do your part today!

MEN'S FELLOWSHIP GROUP MAKING ENVIABLE RECORD

The Men's Fellowship Group several weeks ago at New Hope is making remarkable progress. Although the matrons have enjoyed activities in a number of organizations, this is the first in this community where only men participate. They show unusual enjoyment and keen interest in the work.

T. R. Wynn is their president, and Earl Fallin is the secretary. The meetings are held on the last Friday in each month, beginning with a fine supper. Around the tables in the school lunchroom, these men swap yarns and bits of interesting gossip, while enjoying a sumptious meal.

Bill Sorrell assisted by J. M. Denson plans and prepares these suppers. As a former Army Cook, the former holds an enviable record as a culinary expert, which can be vouched for by all who attend the meetings.

Following the supper these men have a business session, and a religious program or a guest speaker. Thirty seven were present at their last meeting, and the number continues to grow.

NEW PAPER TOWEL FOR WASHING COWS' UDDERS

Sinble-service, strong paper towel for use in washing a cow's udder has been approved by many dairymen.

"It can now be bought in quantity lots at a reasonable cost," says Pete Turnham, A. P. I. Extension Service dairyman. "Those who are using these paper towels to prepare cows' udders for milking seem well pleased. In fact, not many farmers believe they can afford the expense and trouble of supplying a separate cloth towel for use on each cow. Therefore, paper towels solve the problem."

Turnham adds that no difference in the degree of "let-down" of milk has been noted.

To make window panes extra shiny, add a liberal pinch of bluing and a couple of drops of kerosene to a pail of hot soapsuds.

Club Program

Works for Dental Care

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ky.—Elizabethtown is the second small town in Kentucky to fluoridate its water supply in an effort to aid the dental health of the town's children.

The program sponsored by the Elizabethtown Lions Club, was accepted and passed by the state department of health several weeks ago. The chemical has been added to the city's water supply.

The formal presentation of the equipment and materials was made at the monthly town council.

Fluoridation of the water supply was the major project of the club for the past year. This year the group has undertaken a hospital construction program.

Connecticut Village Gives 'Old Settler' Party, Town's Key

NORTH STAMFORD, Conn.—The community of North Stamford turned out recently to celebrate Old Settlers Day and to pay honor to "Uncle John" Saunders, 88-year-old proprietor of the general store and one of the few remaining old settlers.

People came from far and wide to wish "Uncle John" good luck. But for the old merchant it was business as usual during the morning. In the afternoon he closed shop and joined the festivities.

In the evening the front porch of the store was converted to a stage for speeches and the presentation of the key to North Stamford to "Uncle John." The square in front of the store was roped off for the ceremonies and square dancing.

Proceeds of the Old Settlers Fair were set aside for the repair of the North Stamford community house which was erected in 1926 by Charles D. Lockwood in memory of his parents. A $5,000 endowment had been insufficient to meet the cost of the building's upkeep.

The dancing—modern and square—with two bands, lasted until midnight. A chicken barbecue was the suppertime highlight.

"Uncle John," blinking at the electric lights in the square, commented "It was just like Times Square." He had boarded up the front of his store to protect the place, just in case things got out of hand.

Residents of North Stamford and area had contributed home-made cakes, vegetables, flowers and other items for the booths in the community hall.

As for the dancing, "Uncle John" wasn't much interested. "Dancing was different in my day," he said. "We came with our boots well polished and when we put our arms around our partner, our hands were covered with a silk handkerchief so as not to soil her gown."

Most of the 26 descendants of the town's original settiers were on hand for the festivities.

Farm Agencies Sponsor Rural Progress Drive

RALEIGH, N. C.—September 1 was the kickoff date for the Rural Progress Drive sponsored by the North Carolina board of farm organizations and agencies.

The county making the most progress during the next 12 months will be named "County of the Year in Rural Progress" and will receive a $1,000 award. The money must be used to further a project of lasting benefit to the people of that county.

Director David S. Weaver believes the program offers possibilities of becoming one of the most far-reaching movements for the benefit of the home towns of the state and rural communities.

In selecting the "County of the Year," consideration will be given to desirable adjustments made in agriculture, improvements made in agriculture, improvements in homemaking and family living, advances on a community level, provision of opportunities for rural youth, and the cooperation of all agencies, groups, and individuals.

Goal of the adjustments in agriculture, Weaver says, should be to make the best and fullest use of land, labor, and other resources for the highest economic return on a sustained basis.

South Carolina Town Grows With H-Plant

MONTMORENCI, S. C.—This little town, that has been unnoticeable for more than 60 years, under the impetus of the near-by H-plant, soon will be out of the "little" class.

A rapid growth has taken place this year. Residential construction, an increase of business establishments and an upsurge in population are in the offing.

Eight brick homes have recently been completed and two more are under construction. Present plans call for at least twelve more new dwellings as soon as materials are available. These modern homes are being built by J. Wiley Wooodward, one of the town's leading citizens.

Mrs. Ida Ricks, who operates a general merchandise store here, is planning a super-market to furnish supplies for the newcomers. Other small businesses are planning to be enlarged.

VETERAN,S COLUMN

E. J. SULLIVAN, VSO

I know all you War Two Veterans will be interested to know that the House Of Representatives has passed by a UNANIMOUS VOTE, a proposal to make an additional 125 million dollars available for Direct Home and Farm Loans. The bill must now go to the Senate, it will probably be passed by that body. According to the provision of the bill, 25 million dollars will be available to the veterans' administration each three months, less any sums realized by sale of direct loans to private banking institutions, until June 30, 1953. Direct loans cost the Government Absolutely Nothing, because the money is paid back into a Revolving Fund as veterans discharge their indebtedness. As a matter of fact, the Government will actually make money on the deal. You can easily understand why this is so, when you realize that in addition to repaying the Principal, veterans are also paying interest at the rate of 4%.

Direct Loans are made ONLY to those who are unable to get a four per cent loan from a private lending agency.

Here's the latest on what has happened to the Hoover Commission's Recommendations affecting the Veterans Administration. The Hoover Commission was originally set up several years ago to make a study of various government agencies, and to make certain recommendations for changes which would result in a more economical operation of government. One of the recommendations was that all government hospitals would merge. That would mean that Veterans Administration hospitals, would merge with Army, Navy, and Public Health Service Hospitals, all operating under one agency.

Just about all the Veterans' organizations agreed that this would be the first step in completely Dismembering the Veterans' Administration and agreed to fight any such proposal. The Hoover Commission was joined by a private group which called itself The Citizen Committee For The Hoover Recommendations. One of the big four veterans organizations, the American Legion, listed as its main objective for 1952, as Don Wilson, the Legion's National Commander put it, To Defeat, Once And For All, This Vicious Attack Against The Veterans Of Our Country And The Agency Which Is Set Up To Serve Our Veterans. Just about all of the Hoover Commission's recommendations concerning veterans are almost dead issues, and reliable reports indicate that they will remain so for quite some time to come.

Wilsonville

The Junior basketball boys were entertained at a banquet in the school lunchroom recently.

The decorations were gold and black, the school colors, and on the speakers table was a miniture basketball court with all the players.

The program consisted of impersonations of guests present by the basketball boys. This proved to be much fun to all present.

The food was prepared and served by members of the Parent Teachers Association.

The school and town are very grateful to J. C. Curtis, school principal, for the splendid job he has done in coaching and leading these boys in the fine basketball playing they have done this season. The boys played a total of thirteen games and won nine of them. This was the first time for all the boys to play basketball. All they ask next year is a chance to play!

In the last few weeks the Wilsonville School has begun to take on a "New Look". The old rusty fire-escape has a new coat of paint which makes it less conspicious and makes it blend into the other scenery around the building. New locks and new coats of paint on all the front doors have done wonders to the looks of the building.

Thanks to the county road department, soil has been hauled and placed on the grounds to fill in washes and cover rocks so that grass seed could be planted. Patrons of the school gave their time and used their equipment to level terraces, cut the soil, and plant the grass seed. Before many days the school yard will be transformed into a beautiful lawn.

No longer do the boys and girls have to look at drab, grey walls when they have their lunches served to them in the lunchroom. Hard working parents joined with Mr. Curtis to paint at night in order to make the lunchroom walls a sparkling white and to give the floor a new covering of paint. Bright new curtain ruffles at the windows in addition to these other improvements makes the lunchroom an attractive, colorful place for boys and girls to enjoy "visiting" with their friends while eating a well balanced, hot lunch.

Through the help of some friends of the school, swings and see-saws have been added to our playground equipment. This has afforded much pleasure to the various groups using them. Sections of the playground, which were not suitable for the children to play on, were scraped and graded so they have more space for play.

Realizing the importance of a well balanced program of rhythmic activities for young children, the P. T. A. has purchased rhythm band instruments. These instruments have been of much benefit and pleasure to our boys and girls. We have found that rhythmic activities, if done in an atmosphere of freedom and informality, contribute definitely to muscular coordination. We are indeed grateful to the P. T. A. for this worthwhile gift.

Having completed a very successful basketball season the boys of the Jr. High School have been working on baseball for the past two weeks. We have only played one game thus far, this being with Chelsea, which we won. This is the first time in 10 years that Wilsonville has had a team of any kind to participate in scholastic athletics. We are very proud of our boys, especially their sportsmanship conduct.

WILSONVILLE 4-H CLUB MEETS

The Wilsonville 4-H Club met Friday morning, March 14th at 8:30 A. M. The aprons, skirts and dresses were judged by Mrs. J. L. Bates Jr., Mrs. N. E. Revis and Mrs. W. S. Smith. The winners were as follows:

Aprons: 1st, Margaret Ann Mitchell; 2nd, Myrtle Ann Dorough, 3rd, Shirley Ann Hughes.

Skirts: 1st, Jean Strickland, 2nd, Eva Jean Bishop; 3rd, Dorothy Ann Garrett.

Dresses: 1st, Jimmie Lou Bishop; 2nd, Nona Faye Roberson; 3rd, Freida Jane Barnes.

The girls brought in their cookies for the contest. The winner was Shirley Beavers. All of the cookies were good and the girls responded well. We were glad to have Miss Cotney and Mr. Lauderdale visit our club.

Cotton Needs Right Amount Of Fertilizer For Best Results

Neither the grade of fertilizer nor the rate of application is important as long as cotton gets the right amounts of nitrogen, phosphoric acid, and potash per acre.

This is one of several important results coming from six years of testing relatively high analysis fertilizer for cotton carried on by the A. P. I. Agricultural Experiment Station. In these tests, such grades as 9-10-8, 9-12-8, 0-10-12, and 12-10-8 have been compared with 6-8-8, 6-10-8, and 9-10-4. Each grade was applied at 600 and 900-pound rates per acre. All were used at planting time.

Results show further that about 60 pounds of nitrate (N), 50 to 60 pounds of phosphoric acid (P2O5), and 40 to 60 pounds of potash (K2O) per acre are needed for most profitable cotton yields. Test results failed to show the need for extra amounts of each of the plant foods—more than 60 pounds per acre. In other words, 600 pounds per acre was as profitable as 900 pounds per acre of 9-10-8 or 9-10-12.

A need for more than 60 pounds of nitrogen per acre was not shown in these tests. Fifty pounds of phosphoric acid was as profitable as larger amounts in practically all treatments. On the red lands, the results showed that about 40 pounds of K2O was enough, while on some of the gray lands subject to rust, at least 60 of potash was needed.

Based on these tests and in the light of the possible fertilizer shortage in 1952, it is evident that a good fertilizer practice for this year would be to use mixed fertilizers to supply approximately 50 pounds of phosphoric acid per acre and then side-dress to bring the nitrogen to the right amount. This may be done by applying at planting either 500 pounds of 4-10-7 or 600 pounds of 6-8-4 or 6-8-8 per acre. The additional nitrogen needed can be applied as a side-dressing before the second cultivation. If 500 pounds of 4-10-7 is used at planting the side application should be 200 pounds nitrate of soda, 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate, or the equivalent per acre. If 600 pounds of 6-8-4 or 6-8-8 is used, apply 150 pounds of nitrate of soda, 75 pounds of ammonium nitrate, or the equivalent per acre. The 4-10-7 fertilizer probably should be used on all soils where cotton rusts. In this case 50 to 60 pounds of muriate of potash per acre should be mixed and applied with the nitrogen side dressing.

THE FIRST WHITE HOUSE OF THE CONFEDERACY

There are many interesting articles in the First White House of the Confederacy on Washington Street in Montgomery. The house was formerly located on the southwest corner of Bibb and Lee Streets but was moved to the present location in 1921.

President Davis and his family took possession of the house on March 4, 1861.

In the bedroom of President Davis can be found the bed used by him, a case containing an umbrella and walking stick used when recovering from wounds received in the Mexican War, a valise marked with his name and used by him during the entire period of the war, a chair and slippers used in his dressing room, and also the sword which he used in the War with Mexico.

The bronze chandelier in the second parlor is one of the rare and original furnishings of the house. The chair which Mrs. Davis was finally permitted to send to her husband during the last weeks of his two years' imprisonment in Fortress Monroe, to be used instead of the hard bench provided by the United States prison authorities, is in this room.

Upon a rare mahogany desk-bookcase stands a unique drop-light used with candles by the Davis family when Mr. Davis was a little boy, also used here and later at Beauvoir, Biloxi, Mississippi.

Upon the center table in this room rests the large family Bible, taken away during the war by a Northern soldier and returned to the White House by his younger brother years later.

An interesting and historic relic to be found in the dining room is a silver water cooler presented by Miss Otis Cox of Connecticut, granddaughter of Jesse Cox, a steamboat captain in Alabama before the War, to whom it was presented by the citizen of Montgomery in 1858. This cooler, with other silver, was buried by the slaves of Captain Cox to prevent its being stolen by the Wilson raiders. Also in this room is the beautiful silver service used at Beauvoir by the Davis family.

In the President's Study is the table upon which Jefferson Davis wrote "The Rise and Fall of the Confederate Government."

On the second floor in the first bed room is the furniture presented by the Majestic Hotel, New York City from the bedroom in which Mrs. Davis died in 1906. Some of the articles include the bed on which Mrs. Davis died, the folding bed on which "Winnie" slept. On the tea table are the two volumes - Memoirs of Mrs. Davis, written and published by Mrs. Davis when she and Winnie were living in New York City, writing articles for periodicals.

The Silver Chalice from which Generals Lee and Stonewall Jackson took communion while at Fort Hamilton may be found in the guest room, also a fragment of cloth from the uniform worn by Stonewall Jackson when he recived his mortal wound at Chancellorsville.

In a cabinet in this room are personal relics of Jefferson Davis including his dressing gown and a uniform made of cloth woven in Virginia and presented him by General Early.

A tobacco bag beautifully worked by Mrs. Davis and sent Mr. Davis after the physician in charge, Dr. John J. Craven, finally forced the Washington Authorities to allow Mr. Davis to smoke his pipe. Also the pipe itself.

A mounted head of a deer, on the wall of the upstairs hall, was killed by Jefferson Davis, Jr., when only 14 years old. He was the only one of the four sons who lived to maturity, and he died when 21 during the dreadful epidemic of Yellow Fever in Memphis, Tennessee.

Iowa Village Is Home Of Clock Collection

SPILLVILLE, Ia.—The village of Spillville, which became famous in the 1890's as the retreat of Anton Dvórak, noted composer, today is the home of one of the most unique collections of hand-carved clocks in the United States.

A serene little town, snuggled amid rolling hills and on the banks of the Turkey river, it cast a spell over the famous composer and was inspiration for some of his best compositions.

The theme of "Humoresque" was sketched while Dvorak lived there and the "New World Symphony" with its famous "Goin' Home" largo was influenced by the village.

Tourists who visit the town today find the house where Dvorak lived a clock museum with a collection that is unique, all hand-carved by the Bily brothers, two elderly Czech farmers, who have never been more than 100 miles from Spillville.

The favorite clock of the collection is the Parade of the Apostles. On the hour, the apostles in colored garb march as the bells tinkle.

Wisconsin Communities Discuss 'Slum' Problem

EAGLE RIVER, Wis.—Representatives from 10 counties in northern Wisconsin met recently to discuss "rural slum" problems which have developed in the past 20 years in that area.

Counties represented included Oneida, Vilas, Lincoln, Langlade, Oconto, Door, Iron, Forest, Florence and Marinette.

Because of zoning ordinances, and lack of zoning, in some instances, there has been a general movement in the area of night clubs and taverns into rural areas. Many have sprung up next to homes and buildings of all types are going up without regard to relationship. As a result a number of "rural slums" are being created in the counties.

The meeting suggested four zoning areas are needed in the counties:

1. A forestry district to prevent isolated settlements.

2. A rsidential district.

3. A residential-recreation district.

4. A commercial district to service the residential and resort areas.

The group urged zoning ordinances include setback lines for highway improvement and require building permits which would provide a check on development, prevent illegal building and give information for proper assessment.

AGNES MASSEY LIKES TO SEW

Agnes Massey likes to Sew. 4-H Club girls at Pelham agree after seeing the excellent work she has done at their club meeting last Thursday. She exhibited 3 aprons, 8 pot holders, 4 dishtowels, and 2 skirts. She is also busy making 2 other skirts.

Agnes is the 11 year old daughter of the J. S. Masseys at Pelham. Her Teacher Sponsor is Mrs. Mary Kirby.

COLOR OF CLOTHING FOR WOMEN OVER 25

Women who have passed the age of 25 find that light soft colors near the face are flattering.

Levice Ellis, A. P. I. Extension Service clothing specialist, suggests that these light colors be picked up with a very small bit of some bright accessory, such as a flower or a piece of costume jewelry.

"As the weather becomes warmer more pastels will be worn,' 'states the specialist. "It should be remembered that two pastels are lovely together but that they need a punch of introducing one dark color, such as a black, navy, maroon, or green belt, tie, scarf, or bag."

Miss Ellis says that another important item concerning color in the costume is the fact that a color should never be repeated more than three times. For example, avoid a green, hat, green shoes, green bag, green gloves, and green jewelry. Use only two of these with one outfit.

DON'T SKIP THAT NEEDED BREAKFAST

Recent surveys completed at a prominent medical college confirms previous findings that the habit of eating breakfast guards against physical and mental slump during the pre-noon hour.

"For this reason, if for no other," asserts Mary Hulsey, A. P. I. Extension Service nutritionist, "the daily eating of breakfast constitutes a wise living habit."

HUNGRY CHILDREN ARE EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

No sooner had the Reporter-Democrat hit Main Street last Wednesday afternoon telling the people that there were "hungry little school children in our town", than the telephone began its merry jingling and in less than an hour, kind hearted and generous minded folk had subscribed thru cash donations and promised aid, over $200. Several people "adopted" a child for the three months remaining school term, and will pay the required amount of $5.00 per month.

Included among those who answered our plea to alleviate this situation immediately were: Mayor and Mrs. W. W. Wallace Jr., Baptist Choristers, D. H. Bentley, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Skelton, Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Sloan, Women's Missionary Society, Baptist Church, Mr. and Mrs. Tracey Seale, Mr. and Mrs. Paul O. Luck, "A Friend To Little Children" (Preferring that name be withheld), and Mr. and Mrs. Yeager Horn, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie M. Stuckey, and others are awaiting to hear "how much more is needed." There are 37 children now benefiting from Free Lunches served each day.

The sum which came thru the office has been turned over to Principal Leonard Rogers who expressed his gratitude to the people for their timely assistance.

Thank you so much!

MRS. HAP HATCHETT HOSTESS CULTURE CLUB

Thursday afternoon, March 13, Mrs. Hap Hatchett entertained members of the Culture Club at her home in Columbiana. The program, in charge of Mrs. Karl Harrison, was one of the most enjoyable offered the members this season. Misses Helga Stenner of Marburg, Germany, and Miss Olivia Ho, of Hong Kong, China, who are students in Alabama College, were guest speakers. They told in their charming manner, of customs and characteristics of the people in their native lands, and these vivid presentations were outstanding. Both young ladies possess striking personalities and their talkettes were instructive and most entertaining.

Preceding the program, an executive session was held and a donation of $30.00 was sent to Leonard Rogers, Principal of the High School, to be applied on the Free Lunch Fund for Underprivileged Children.

Delectable refreshments carrying out St. Patrick's Day motif were served the members and their guests on this memorable occasion.

YOUNG MOTHERS

The State Department of Health says that during 1949, a total of 15 Alabama girls became mothers at the age of 13.

Also during that year, two girls, one white and one negro, became mothers at the age of 12. The department said six of the 13-year-old mothers were white and nine negroes. Four of the white mothers and one of the negro mothers of age 13 were married. Both of the 12-year-old mothers were married.

ELIZABETH ANN MOONEY

PATTON-MOONEY WEDDING SOLEMNIZED MARCH 7

In the presence of the two families and their immediate relatives, the marriage of Elizabeth Ann Mooney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mooney, of Mt. Era and Mr. James Crawford Patton of Birmingham, was impressively solemnized at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. T. K. Roberts on the evening of March 7, at eight o'clock, the Rev. T. K. Roberts reading the double ring ceremony.

Preceding the pledging of the wedding vows, the Misses Wyatt presented a program of nuptial music.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a navy blue suit with which she wore white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony, the young couple left for a wedding trip after which they will be at home in Birmingham.

Mrs. Patton is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Davis who were present with the grand parents of the groom to witness the wedding. Twenty other relatives and friends joined in extending best wishes for a long and happy journey together.

PFC. WM. LEONARD ROBERSON

Private First Class William Leonard Roberson is stationed at Travis Air Force Base, California.

Pfc. Roberson enlisted in the Air Force in November 1951, and completed his basic military training at Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, Texas before being sent to California.

Leonard Roberson is a graduate of Shelby County High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Roberson of Wilsonville, Alabama.

LYCURGUS LEFTWICH, FORMER RESIDENT, DIES IN TENN.

Friends who can remember "way-back-when" Mr. Lycurgus Leftwich was principal of the Shelby County High School, will regret to learn that he passed away Saturday, February 15, in Nashville, Tennessee, at the age of 75 years. Mr. Leftwich taught in Columbiana in 1916.

STAFF SERGEANT DICK FULTON VISITS OUR OFFICE

Everybody loves Dick Fulton, and his friends in Columbiana will be glad to learn that after receiving his master's degree from University of Alabama, he answered the call of his country and for the past six months has been in the Public Relations Department at Lackland Base San Antonio, Texas, and has completed a history of this branch of the service. Dick is now home on leave for a week before entering Officers Candidate School in San Antonio, and the best wishes for this journalist-soldier-man follow him wherever he may be assigned in the future.

Dick was the guest of his father, Mr. Frank Fulton and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Walton during his sojourn on Main.

. . . Those two Textile-Tycoons you saw in Columbiana last Thursday were Senator J. T. Phillips and Arthur V. Levey of New York. Mr. Levey is the alert Eastern Manager of Valley Mills Converting Department and Vice-President of Phillips Associates Inc., with headquarters in the Metropolis. We enjoyed meeting this interesting gentleman from the "Big Town".

. . . The handsome "candidate" you saw emerging from our office was none other than Ex-Mayor Ed Howard of Sylacauga, now a candidate for the office of President of Public Service Commission. He has long been noted for his keen business and executive ability and is a splendid fellow. I sincerely hope Shelby County will give Mr. Howard generous support in his ambition to direct this field of public service.

. . . Friends of A. E. (Bud) Norwood will regret to learn he has been ordered by his physician to spend two weeks in a hospital due to an attack of Arthritis.

. . . The center of attraction on Main Saturday was Barbara Horn receiving congratulations on being elected by the Independents at the University of Alabama as Representative on the Student Government Board.

. . . The personable little Miss you saw Sunday was Gay Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, returning from a visit in Birmingham with Mrs. Frank Miller.

. . . Mr. Walton, the fellow who brought us the prize Muchroon a week or two ago, was in town Saturday and he had with him a small hen egg. On one end was the perfect replica of a tiny chicken, head, bill and all. The little chick was seated on a perfect V formation. Now, you figure out what it means.

. . . About the time Mr. Walton left our office Saturday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Glover of Columbiana Route 2, came in and brought us the largest New Hampshire hen egg we have ever even dreamed up. It doubtless has three yellows. Mrs. Glover has promised to let us know when she breaks it. Guess the feathery tribe responsible for Easter Eggs are giving us a fancy variety this year. Enjoyed the visit from the Glovers.

. . . We are delighted to inform Roland F. Archer of Birmingham that from now on he will be receiving the Reporter-Democrat, due to the thoughtfulness of his mother, Mrs. Archer, who came by Monday and asked us to include Roland's name on the list of regular subscribers to the "Home Paper".

. . . We have received a new subscription from R. H. Long of Calera for which we are duly grateful.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Felix Chapman III of Birmingham were seen in Columbiana during the past week end greeting their friends in Columbiana, where both formerly resided.

. . . It is rumored that June and P. B. Shaw Jr. and little Trinket Shaw may soon become permanent residents of Columbiana. It will be just another "home coming" for both former residents and their hosts of friends will be hoping the rumor is true.

. . . Peggy and Jerald Edwards and their babette have moved from Birmingham "back to Main" and are now at home to their friends in the Elmer Davis Apartments.

. . . Miss Margaret Stone of Easonville is the guest of her sister, Mrs. T. K. Roberts and Mr. Roberts.

. . . Denton Cook is the District Forest Ranger with Gulf States Paper Corporation and is now residing in Columbiana having taken the place vacated by Bob Freze. Mr. Cook has a generous surprise for the local Red Cross Chapter, and if A. D. Wilson will contact him, the cause of the Red Cross will be richer by $35.00.

. . . Friends will regret to learn that Alvin Lefkovits left Columbiana Wednesday for Veterans Hospital in Montgomery.

. . . Mrs. Ila Gordon and Mrs. Lena Merrell of Birmingham spent Monday in Columbiana visiting old friends.

. . . Clarence Abbott is busily engaged getting all set for his favorite sport, Baseball Games. Ditto for Milton Bird. By the way, Milton takes up his pen this week and travels back thru the years to the time Mary MacMillan was the Welfare Director of this county and a beloved personality who did a swell job. Many of her friends will be delighted with this reminiscent ramble with Milton this week.

SN AND MRS. JOHN F. HELMS

RICHARDS-HELMS WEDDING SOLEMNIZED IN HAWAII

The smiling two-some above pictured was made in NAD Oahu Chapel in Hawaii on February 11, 1952, following the marriage of Wynona Richards to John F. Helms SN, USN. Both Miss Richards and Mr. Helms are from Wilsonville, Alabama, and both are graduates of Shelby County High School.

Miss Richards flew by commercial airlines from Alabama to Hawaii, where she was met by the bridegroom at the airport. Mr. Helms is attached to the Naval Personnel Office at Lualualei Branch.

Chaplain Deal from the Wahiawa Radio Station officiated at the wedding ceremony which was attended by Naval Personnel and other friends.

The bride wore a form-fitted white tailored suit with an orchid corsage, the groom wore his Navy Blue uniform.

Roland Swing, SN, USN was best man, and Mrs. Roberta Marsh was the bride's only attendant.

Following the ceremony, the young couple was showered with the traditional good luck rice shower.

Miss Richards is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Houston Richards of Wilsonville and a talented musician. Mr. Helms is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Helms of Wilsonville. Both young people have a host of friends who join us in extending congratulations across the miles from Wilsonville to Hawaii where they will make their home.

DR. ROBERT PROCTOR TO SPEAK BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY

Dr. Robert Proctor of Howard College will speak in the Baptist Church Sunday morning and evening.

The public is cordially invited to attend these services featuring guest speakers until the regular pastor, the Rev. Curtis Bean arrives April 13th.

THE OBLIGING CLOCK OPERETTA A SUCCESS

J. Pluvious and all his regiment of little rain drop men could not keep interested patrons of the Elementary School away from the annual Operetta, presented by these children under the able direction of Mary Mims on Tuesday evening. A large and appreciative assemblage greeted the little Thespians, and a neat sum was realized from their efforts.

. . . F. D. Parham of Tuscaloosa who is associated with the Gulf States Paper Corporation was a distinguished visitor in Columbiana last Wednesday.

LADIES CHORUS GUESTS OF CRUMLEY CHAPEL

The members of the Columbiana Ladies Chorus were guests of the Crumley Chapel Choir in Birmingham on Sunday evening, March 16, and presented group selections at the evening church hour which included: "The Years At The Spring", "Deep River," "Little David Play On Your Harp."

Following the Evening program of song and devotional activities, the guests were entertained with a dinner served in the Methodist Church by members of the Crumley Chapel Choir. The Rev. William Warren and members of his congregation joined in this social hour and the Choral group presented several semi-classical ballads and popular numbers.

Other programs are being scheduled for this well trained group of musicians, under the direction of Clarence Cook of Birmingham, and accompanist, Mary Mims, who is a talented pianist, vocalist, and director of the Music Department of the Schools of Columbiana.

Mr. Cook will continue his work with the Ladies Chorus each Thursday evening beginning promptly at seven o'clock, instead of the former hour, 6:30 P. M.

New music is being bought to begin this new series and all interested in this type of group singing are urged to begin Thursday evening. The Chorus rehearsal is held at the Methodist Church and all ladies who enjoy singing, in this community and in near-by communities, are urged to join by the president, Mrs. Norman Lefkovits.

WHAT IS THE RED CROSS?

"What is the Red Cross? It is the achievement in our day of a new brotherhood, a new internationalism, a universal conscience. The Red Cross is the marriage of knowledge and compassion, a fabric of feeling rather than a rope of wrath. The Red Cross is science planted in the soil of good will. The Red Cross is a faith.... the faith that man is valuable; that disease is controllable; that society is redeemable. The Red Cross is a dream, and more than that, a plan for a better world in which we shall all work for the blessing of all and the hurt of none; the joy of all and the sorrow of none; the life of all and the death of none. The Red Cross is one of the supreme organizations in the history of mankind." Rabbie Joshua Loth Liebman - Late author of "Peace of Mind."

NEW MEMBERS JOIN BAPTIST CHORISTERS

A cordial welcome was extended Hugh Sims Jr., Ralph Jones, and Peggy Edwards on Monday evening when they joined the Baptist Choristers. Hugh Sims Jr. possesses a natural Tenor voice and Ralph Jones has a Bass voice, Mrs. Edwards, a lyric Soprano. All regular members were delighted to have them join us in our endeavor to promote the best standard selections in music for the religious services of this church.

Following the interpretation of the Easter Cantata, this group of musicians will intersperse their sacred program with mixed choruses from some of the best known Operettas. They have on their Spring schedule musical numbers written by Victor Herbert, Sigmund Romberg, Jerome Kern and others, and they are discussing an Operetta during the summer months.

ADDITIONAL FUNDS CONTINUE FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN'S FREE LUNCHES

There has never been anything more heartening to this writer than the generous response she has received from the article written last week acquainting the people of this community of the need for funds to provide free lunches for the under privileged children in the schools of Columbiana. As we go to press, this message is received.... "I prefer remaining anonymous, as far as my contribution to the Children's Free Lunch Fund is concerned, but enclose my gift of $15.00 to be applied and thank you for telling us about it"....

At this point the telephone rang and Mrs. John Green Sr. told us that the Eastern Star organization would be responsible for the feeding of two children ($30.00) for the remaining semester of school.

These are just a few comments and additional responses which I failed to get incorporated in my first article of appreciation, and the money will likely continue to come thru this channel. It is promptly turned over to the proper authorities and a "little child made happier on account of your generosity and heart-interest."

Again thanks everybody who has answered the challenge.

Soil Misuse Causes Decline of Community; Once Had 1,500 People

FLORENCE, N. Y.—The town of Florence, once a thriving community of 1,500 people, today has less than 500. It consists of a few scattered houses, a one-room school, two churches, a general store and an inn.

This decline of Florence was brought about by misuse of the soil, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture's soil conservation service which is making a study of the community. Soil conservation officials call the town an object lesson in land use-capability.

Early settlers cut the native forests, stripped off hemlock bark for the early tanneries and let the logs rot where they fell. Later they plowed the rocky, thin, unwilling land.

The top soil, unprotected by forests and undergrowth, washed off in layers.

At first the native grass was sufficient to produce fair herds of dairy cattle. Several cheese factories sprang up around the town.

Eventually the cattle found thinner and thinner fare on the barren, acid soils. Poor roads and long distances to the liquid milk markets dropped an iron curtain around the local dairy farms.

There were other factors in the decline of Florence, namely, two wars drained off the young, the dissatisfied and the sunny day farmers. Farm workers preferred the $90 a week pay offered to semi-skilled workers to worrying about sick cows and poor soil for $5 a day.

Basically, however, the fate of Florence was settled by the soil on which the town was built.

Now the land is being replanted in trees under the supervision of soil conservation officials. It may sometime in the future become a prosperous lumbering area.

MEMORIES - FROM THE 'LAND OF USED-TO-BE'

A SHORT SHORT STORY

She came in, as a person will who is only half-sure of what they want, timidity and confusion in her eyes, her words low and broken. "I-I'm looking for Mary McMillan," she said. It was more a hope than an exclamation; breathless, shivering, fastened to the air by tiny quivering strings.

"Oh," I whispered. The suddeness grabbed at my heart in a breathless fashion; as dreams do sometimes, when yesteryear's rose petals flutter against the heart. "Oh," I repeated. And after a moment: "You want to turn at the first corner. There's a big two story building there with a meat market on the first floor. I hope you will go in and see Mr. Carter. He's sincere and he's full of tall tales and he's terribly in love with life. You must go in, for I don't know where you'd ever find him again if you didn't."

I sold a stamp, a money order, and three postal cards; decided against it being a good day for fishing, said the colds were worse this year, and agreed that the weather was likely to remain pretty for another day. And then I turned back to her.

"You must go by to see Mr. Max, too. He runs The Leader across the street, and he's a good friend of Mary's. Honest, like Paul, and full of that stuff that made an Indian's hunting ground the best land on earth."

Her eyes were bright now. The shyness was gone and in its place had crept something that was warm and friendly.

"It's just a narrow muddy street," I went on, "but you can make it all right. And after you have passed five houses on the left, stop where the alley cuts through to Mr. Carter's house in the lane, and listen to the wind coming out of Chelsea. Everybody does. We say there is nothing between you and the north pole there except Mr. Carter's barn and that both doors are wide open. And I hope you will have time to stop at the house with the high paling fence and see Mr. Farley. Syble is a noisy she-dog, and will probably scare you to death, but they will hear and let you in. You will like Mr. Farley.... a kind quiet person who is always too busy thinking of other folks to accumulate much for himself."

People kept coming in and she waited patiently until they were gone, piddling with her hair that was like fine snow in the light.

"And maybe there will be time to see Mrs. John Pitts, in the big house on the corner," I said. "She will take you out in the side yard to see Chapman's flowers. Chap will be busy with his roses and you will love them. You will fall in love with Mrs. Pitts, too. Everybody does. She's as lovely as Chapman's roses, in her quiet simple fashion. Then you will come to the school house, with the steeple and the high front steps. I hope you will stop by to see aunt Louella Nelson. She will be there on the porch, with a bell in her hand and glasses fastened to her blouse She will talk and you will have to be very still to catch her words. They float out like music, soft music that sort of quavers in the air. And don't pass the next house without saying hello to Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson. Mr. Johnson will probably be in town, but Mrs. Johnson will be there. Look in the apple orchard if she's not in the yard. She is out there a lot. She has trouble with a little guy up the street about her apples. But not bad trouble. For on the days that he doesn't slip in the orchard, she has one for him on his way back from town."

She was listening intently now. I watched her eyes. They had little lights in them. Like dew on the petals of violets, early in the morning before the sun has touched them.

"You will pass one more house," I told her, "and then you are there. The house on the hill, with the big tree in front, and the fence around the side that is heavy with honeysuckle. The fragrance will stick in your nose. And when it rains it gets so thick you can feel it pressing your face. But I won't tell you anymore. Mary will show you around from there. She will take you across the street to see Mrs Kate Wallace. Keep very still all the time you are there. And just look at this little lady and listen to her talk. But you will without my telling you. As you would stand before an old old church, or listen to a beautiful old song. And she will take you up on the hill to see Granny and Pop. Pop will tell you they put him on the highest hill so he could look after all the widows around. And his eyes will twinkle, and he and Granny will laugh, and you will feel how good it is to be alive. And all the time you are there, anywhere in the neighborhood, hold on to every second, the same as you would a precious dream. For this is the nearest you'll come to Heaven until you get there in the end."

"But I came down that street," she said, "and ..."

"Yes," I said wistfully, "I know. But Mary has been gone a long long time, and all of a sudden I had forgotten it altogether. I'm sorry."

She didn't leave for a long moment. She just stood there and looked off into space. Until the school children came in and crowded her away from the window.

GENERAL RULES FOR REMOVAL OF STAINS

Treat stains as soon as possible after they occur. After they have dried or have been set by laundering, it may be very difficult or impossible to remove them.

Levice Ellis, A. P. I. Extension Service clothing specialist, advises that the mildest treatment be used first. If the stain is not greasy, try sponging it with cold water. Sugary stains are easily removed with clear water. If the stain contains grease, a dry-cleaning fluid or soapsuds may do the trick.

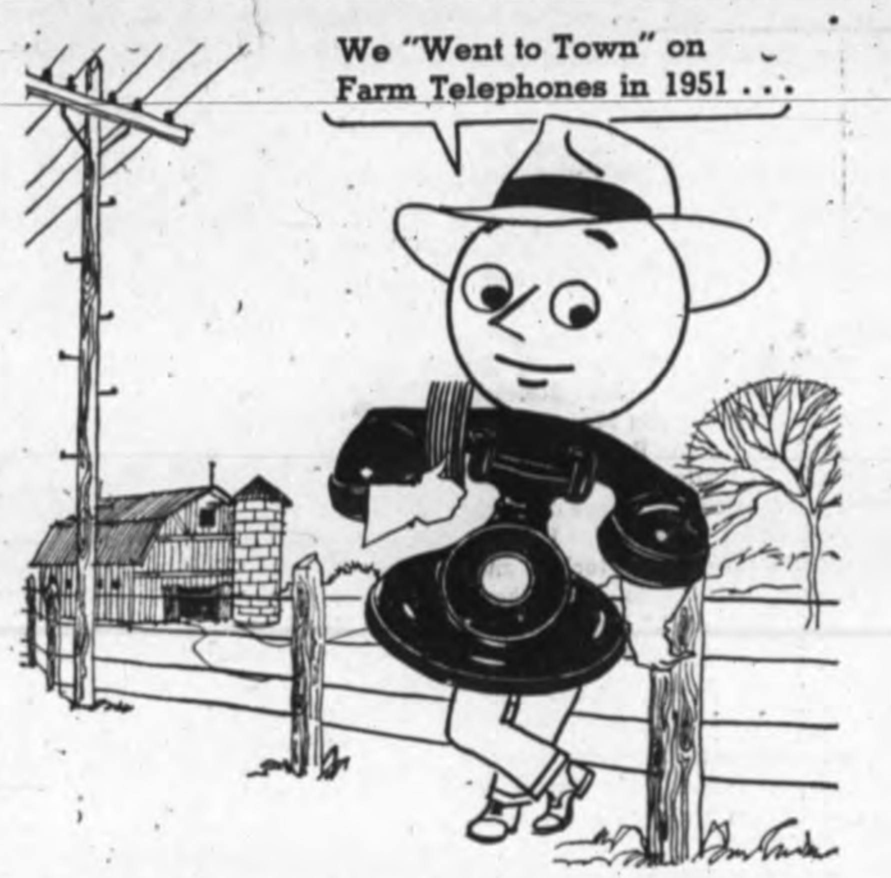
STATE SPEED LAW CHALLENGED

One of the best measures advocated by Governor Gordon Persons, and put into effect by him, is Alabama's Speed regulation for motor and truck transportation. This gubernational edict is now being challenged as unconstitutional. We hope, if the Governor has exceeded his authoritative power that the Legislature may be called back into session and a law be passed upholding the directive. Certainly human beings should be protected as far as is possible by placing a limit on speeding. The death toll taken by automobiles furnishes enough factual evidence for everyone to realize the need for strict enforcement of this measure.

ENLIST IN THE U. S. NAVY

"Young men interested in the U. S. Navy may plan on immediate enlistment," said H. E. Epperson ADC, USN, Recruiter, who spent Friday in Columbiana interviewing Navy prospects. Young men who have received pre-induction examinations may still volunteer for the Navy.

A Recruiter for the Navy will be in Columbiana every Friday until noon. If interested in this branch of the service, make your arrangements to come to Columbiana before noon each Friday and the Navy representative will be glad to talk these matters over with you.



We "Went to Town" on Farm Telephones in 1951 . . .

Southern Rural Telephones Pass the Half Million Mark

THE number of rural telephones served by Southern Bell passed the 520,000 mark in 1951. More than 77,000 were added last year alone.

Even bigger things are planned for 1952, provided we can get the necessary materials. Many more Southern farmers are eager to enjoy the convenience and money-saving advantages of telephone service. We are working hard to fill their needs. And we expect to have another 82,000 rural telephones in service by the end of this year.

Meeting the needs of farm families is a big and costly job. But it's a mighty important job to us—because it's so important to the South's prosperity, in town and on the farm.

Cattle Royalty to South

Royally-bred Polled Shorthorn cattle from 15 states are heading for Montgomery, Ala., for their big annual National Congress show on March 24 and 25. The cream from 40 of the nation's top herds extending from New York to Texas, Florida to Nebraska will provide a demonstration of good Polled Shorthorn type in Montgomery's huge Agricultural Coliseum. Polled Shorthorn numbers have increased 700 per cent in the South in the past decade, and Southern cattlemen are expected to throng the judging ring on the first day and the auction ring on the final day when these cattle will be sold to purebred herds or for crossbreeding with other beef breeds. Polled Shorthorns are known for natural hornlessness plus their ability to outgain and outweigh other beef breeds.

DON'T BURN DOLLARS CLEARING NEW GROUND

I. R. Martin, A. P. I. Extension Service Forester, warns farmers not to burn dollars when clearing new ground.

He says that even in this day of high log prices, some farmers pile and burn saplings and poles suitable for fence posts and low grade lumber for repair work on the farm.

SALE OF MILK ADDS TO THE FARM INCOME

Milking cows is a profitable business, according to J. R. Parrish, A. P. I. Extension Service dairy specialist.

He points out that over a period of 25 years, the wholesale price paid for two gallons of milk a day for 10 months has equalled or exceeded the sale of one 500-pound bale of cotton.

The price of milk in Alabama will keep in line with milk sold in other states. In other words, Alabama now sells milk on a competitive basis with other milk producing states. Enough milk is now produced to supply 20 milk processors in the state, and other markets will be established when production increases.

FARM NEWS

GET GOOD STAND OF LESPEDEZA SERICEA

Every year many Alabama farmers fail to get a good stand of lespedeza sericea.

D. R. Harbor, A. P. I. Extension Service agronomist, advises these farmers that in most cases a good seedbed is necessary to get a good stand. The soil should be prepared by turning the land and harrowing to get a well pulverized, firm seedbed. It is made firm by disking, cultipacking, and rains.

"A good job of planting usually results in a good stand of sericea," adds Harbor. "On a seedbed prepared in the right manner, plant at least 30 pounds of freshly scarified seed. If the germination is under 82 per cent, increase the seeding rate proportianately. Freshen the surface of all soils with a section harrow or weeder, and follow with a cultipacker or roller. Cross-sow the seed to get uniform distribution. Except on heavy clays cover with a roller or leave seed uncovered unless there is danger of drifting when heavy rainsoccur."

Harbor says that the thing to do on heavy clay soils is to freshen the seedbed lightly with a section harrow or weeder and follow with a cultipacker or roller. Cross-sow the seed, but do not cover. Operate the cultipacker on the contour to prevent washing by rains.

SEED SUPPLY AND DEMAND SITUATION

Here is a glimpse at the latest seed supply and demand situation given by Ralph R. Jones, A. P. I. Extension Service seed marketing specialist.

Cotton: An adequate supply to meet normal demands. Quality of seed much better than last year. Corn: Demand in excess for supplies of good seed of the best adapted hybrids for the South. Soybeans: Adequate supply. Cowpeas: Supply short. Ladino clover: Big crop last year plus a carry-over adds up to a large supply. Lespedeza: Demand strong, and a very short supply.

"Regardless of whether the supply of any given crop is adequate or short," says Jones, "purchase seed before the last-minute rush which usually occurs at planting time. The early buyer always gets the pick of the supply."

BEWARE OF BLOAT

In the spring bloat becomes a serious problem to the cattleman. It can often be prevented by having a winter grass growing in the clover and by having a stack of dry feed in the field that the cows are grazing. The dry feed can be any rough hay, such as oat straw.

FARM HOME ADMINISTRATION SHELBY COUNTY PROGRAM 1951

1. Helping Farmers Change From One Crop To Diversified Farming:

Ten Grade A and B dairy farms have been established. Two Grade A dairies were added in 1951.

Six beef herds were established in 1951 and we have four other farmers who have beef cattle to supplement cotton income. Others supplement cotton income with poultry and hogs. Four pure bred beef bulls were purchased during the year.

Four broiler houses and laying houses have been built and equipped.

110 High grade beef stock have been added to county beef herds.

295 Acres were developed into improved pasture. These pastures are a mixture of Fescue Grass and White Dutch Clover; Dallas Grass White Dutch Clover and Lespedeza.

508 Acres have been seeded to Sericea-Lespedeza.

II. Helping Tenants Become Farm Owners:

Six families purchased farms through the Farm Ownership program. Twenty-Six farmers are now indebted for Farm Ownership loans. Twenty-Nine of such loans have been completely repaid.

III. Improving Farm Housing:

Four new houses were constructed and one loan was made for home repair, barn, and dairy barn repair. These are in addition to the six families purchasing farms who will improve buildings by repair or new structures. All loans made for the above purposes were secured by real estate mortgages.

IV. Emergency Loans:

Eleven farmers received Disaster loans to continue in production after being hard hit by boll weevils.

V. Amount Loans Made In Shelby County In 1951:

During the past year the Shelby County office has made Farm Ownership and Farm Housing loans amounting to $70,285.00. These loans are made with a repayment period of 5 to 40 years. During this same year Production loans have been made amounting to $22,375.00. This does not include loans for producing 1952 crops.

The maturities on operating loans for 1951 totaled $22,006.00. During the year $22,783.00 was collected, including interest. Only one Farm Ownership borrower is delinquent on his land payment at this tme.

VI. Local Trade Increased:

Practically all of the $22,375.00 Producting loan amount was spent in Shelby County with merchants and dealers by these Farmers Home Administration borrowers Of the land purchased, housing, and Improvement loans totaling $70,285.00, it is reasonable to assume, that most of this money was spent in Shelby County.

VII. Helping Farm Families Reach The Point Where They Are Eligible For Bank Credit:

From year to year as borrowers become eligible for credit from banks or other lending agencies they are advised to seek this credit.

VIII. Cooperating With Other Agricultural Agencies:

Farmers Home Administration borrowers are assisted in obtaining the services available from the County Agent, P. M. A., S. C. S., and other Agricultural Agencies. The advice and guidance of all Agricultural Leaders are used in helping borrowers work out their Farm and Home Plans.

EATING LIKE A HOG MAY HAVE NEW MEANING

The phrase "eating like a hog" may be out of date since the experts have fixed it so a hog can make pork chops, hams, and bacon sooner on half as much feed.

G. B. Phillips, A. P. I. Extension Service hog production specialist, says that all this costs a hog about two or three months of life, but it puts dollars in the pockets of farmers.

A. P. I. Agricultural Experiment Station officials, who watched the "waistlines" of hogs fed on corn alone under dry lot conditions, found that 12 or more bushels were required to make 100 pounds of pork chops, hams, and bacon.

However, when the formula was balanced with a little protein supplement, green grazing, and mineral mixture, hogs ate only about half as much corn, or about six to seven bushels, to make the same amount of pork.

FIREPOWER V-8 ENGINE

WHAT ARE TODAY'S FACTS ABOUT NEW CAR ENGINES AND POWER STEERING?

LAST YEAR Chrysler introduced its new FirePower V-8 engine, and America's first passenger-car full-time power steering. Both new ideas "took hold" in a big way.

Today, others are announcing "new engines" and "power steering" . . . but with some basic differences worth keeping in mind if you're buying a new car.

First: about "new engines." The fact is, a really new engine design happens only once in a great while. It did happen in the FirePower V-8. Its 180 h.p. was only incidental to its basic new design. Its key idea is a hemispherical combustion chamber, which makes even non-premium gasoline develop more usable power than other designs can get from premium fuel.

Only Chrysler engineering has so far mastered this design. Several cars do have some power increase, in terms of previous designs. The important fact is that FirePower is not a "warmed-over" engine, but brand new in performance, construction, and efficiency.

In power steering, too, there are basic differences. Chrysler uses hydraulic power, always in effect, to do two things. First, it does 4/5 the steering work as you turn the wheel. Second, we've cut the amount of wheel turn needed by over 1/3.

Parking or cruising, you get more and easier control than ever before. In sand, snow, or ruts, the hydraulic power is always there to keep the front wheels from "steering back" at you. You get the same amount and feel of control all the time . . . full-time ease and full-time safety.

Actually, the differences, both in engine performance and in steering safety and ease are impossible to put in words . . . but just as impossible not to feel the moment you get into a Chrysler and drive it! Why not see your Chrysler dealer and do that, soon?

GOOD LAND FOR HIGHER COTTON YIELDS

It takes good land to make high cotton yields. Fertilizer alone will not do the job.

Farmer experience in Shelby county has shown that 600 pounds of fertilizer per acre increase cotton yields by about the same amount on almost all soils. But on most soils the total cotton yield has depended on the natural fertility of the soil.

These facts were pointed out to cotton growers this week by A. A. Lauderdale, County Agent.

He strongly urged farmers to plant on the land best adapted to cotton. "Poorly drained, deep sandy, and badly eroded soils will not produce the best of yields."

The agent said results of 498 experiments conducted cooperatively by the A. P. I. Experiment Station and farmers point out that it pays to plant cotton on good land.

In these experiments, which were on many soil types, 600 pounds of 6-8-4 per acre increased the yield of seed cotton about 500 pounds per acre over the yield on acres that received no fertilizer, except on the very poorest soils that were subject to severe leaching and adverse moisture conditions.

"The best soils," continued the agent, "produced an average of 1,127 pounds of seed cotton per acre without fertilizer and 1,657 pounds with 600 pounds of 6-8-4 per acre. On the other hand, the poorest soils yielded 138 pounds without fertilizer and 51 pounds with 600 pounds of 6-8-4."

If you are sending cookies to Korea, pack them in a metal or wooden box, and line it with waxed paper. Place a cushion of crimpled waxed paper on the bottom of the box.

Fabric lamp shades will last a lot longer if you wash them from time to time. Wipe parchment, heavy paper, or similar shades with a soapy cloth, sponge rapidly, and allow to dry quickly. Keep cloth as dry as possible.

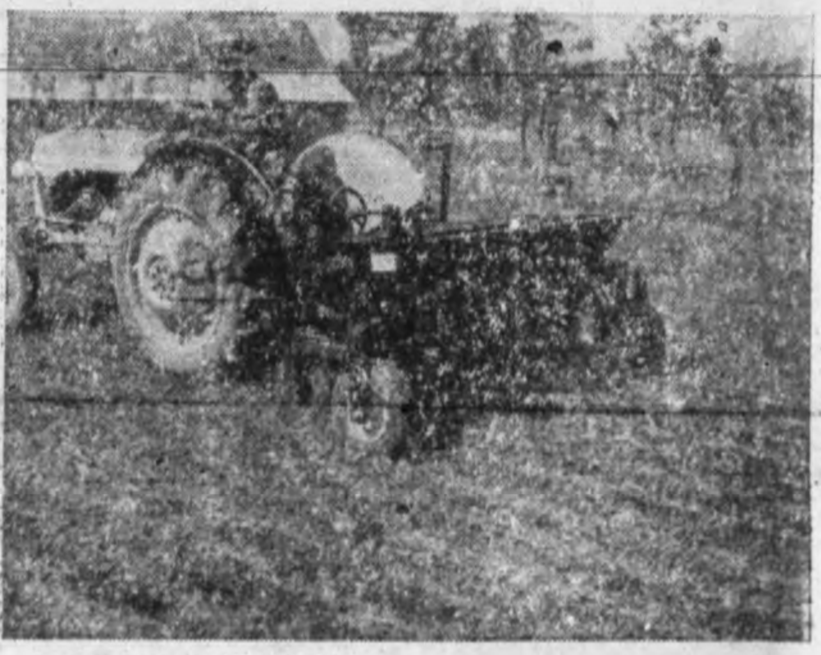
Better Eating for Bossy, Dixie Industry Decrees



FROM THE BOOMING MILLS of Birmingham, Ala., are flowing the products which, when converted into mechanical developments by Southern factories, are taking their part in the surging industrial and agricultural growth of the South. In the top photograph, sheets roll from the production lines in the Birmingham plants of U. S. Steel's TCI division. Converted into many types of customer goods, such as this new pasture planter made in a Mississippi factory, these products, which began in the mills of Birmingham, are moving not only through the South, but into the East, West and North. Ernest W. Blackwell, feeder, of Fairfield, Ala., keeps an eye on the production line in the top photo at the Fairfield Sheet Mill of TCI. Cliff Cox, of Louisville, Miss., demonstrates the new implement.

Revolutionary Pasture Planter Is Developed In Mississippi

The Taylor Machine Works of Louisville, Miss., and the Tennessee Coal and Iron Division of U. S. Steel, have teamed up to produce a new kind of mechanical device to tackle the problem of keeping American pastures green.

This week, TCI, in its Birmingham mills, began production on a large order of sheet steel which the Mississippi plant will turn into a revolutionary new product called "Pasture Dream."

The device is another of the items on the rapidly growing list of industrial products developed in the South by heavy industry, in line with the fast moving tempo of Southern industrial expansion.

The new product has attracted wide attention among agriculturists. The "Pasture Dream" is a tractor-drawn planter which can renovate, plant seeds and spread fertilizer all in one operation, according to its developers, without tearing up the permanent sod as a plow or disc harrow would do.

The planter was designed by Taylor Machine Works at the suggestion of Ward Thompson, nationally known authority on pastures at Mississippi State College. It has been in production only a few months.

Chief advantage of the machine, as described by company officials at Taylor, is that by its use winter cover crops such as oats or clover can be planted in a pasture without disturbing the roots of summer grass; and when spring comes, all the farmer has to do is clear away the winter growth, if his cattle haven't already taken care of that item, and sit back to wait for spring sunshine to bring out the warm weather greenery.

Thus he can fatten more cattle on the same acreage with less work, and more pounds of beef can be placed on the American dinner table.

The tractor-drawn machine is equipped with rolling colters which cut against a long narrow incisor boot thin slits in the ground. Fertilizer and seed or both can then be dropped in the narrow furrows.

Harry Dearing, TCI agricultural engineer, aided the Taylor Company in ironing out production problems. The big tonnage order, which will come from TCI's Birmingham mills, will be in sheets and light structural shapes.

B.F. HATCHETT & G.C. STARCHER JR.

J. W. Street, Siluria, has a date Alyce, in fact, Rugged Alyce. Mrs. Street needn't be jealous, though, because this Rugged Alyce is a clover variety which is being supplied to J. W. Street for trial as a hog pasture. The seed is furnished by the North Central Soil Conservation District.

It is a hay, grazing and summer cover crop, being tried as part of the continued effort to keep cooperators abreast of the latest in soil conserving and grazing crops.

R. W. Kent is making a three acre test planting of Tombigbee grain sorghum on the same basis.

O. M. Perry was in the office today to tell us he wants to plant 6 acres of Coastal Bermuda, following Kudzu, and asking us for a source of stations.

A number of others have decided to plant test areas of this grass, either with stolons furnished by the District or with privately purchased stolons. These include R. W. Kent, J. J. Hinds, Joe Smith, Columbiana F. F. A. Chapter, E. A. Newson and J. C. Farr.

NOW is the time to nitrate Rescue and Fescue seed patches. R. W. Kent has grazed down his Rescue seed patch, fenced it off, and top dressed with 200 pounds ammonium nitrate per acre. This will PAY OFF. Follow this example for real seed crops.

Tall Tales

As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Erratic Gale

SOMETIMES in Chicago it isn't even necessary to go into a restaurant if you insist upon changing headgear.

This will be understood, as well as the reason Chicago is called the Windy City when it is known what happened during the second Century of Progress to the visitor from Kalispell, Mont.

This gentleman strolled blithely through the fair when a gust of Lake Michigan wind lifted the wide-brimmed stetson from his head, slapped it twice against a flagpole and disappeared with it in the dusk.

The dismayed fair-goer almost swallowed his toothpick in his vexation. He had turned toward a nearby hat store to buy a new headpiece when there came a sudden swirl, another stetson dropped from out the sky and settled on his brow.

The second hat was of fine texture in good condition, and fitted perfectly, all these details having been carefully attended to by the second, errant breeze, which fortunately had decided to befriend the visitor.

As he related the experience that night in a Michigan avenue tavern he was approached by an entire stranger who smilingly returned the lost hat, and retrieved his own.

The second man, it seems, had brought three carloads of cattle to the stock yards. As he was marketing them, he, too, was selected by a playful breeze. The hat of each man had been whisked away to the head of the other, even though they were nine miles apart at the time.

WESTERN AUTO PERSONNEL MAKE TRIP TO ATLANTA

James T. Jones, owner of the Western Auto Associate Store, Clifford Jones, Assistant Manager, and their Right Hand Man, Erskin Bentley, attend the Western Auto Major Appliance Show presented in Atlanta, Georgia, Sunday, March 9th, 1952.

Mr. Jones said yesterday that the show exhibited many improved features of the complete 1952 Wizard major appliance line, including Wizard refrigerators, Wizard gas and electric ranges, Wizard gas and electric hot water heaters, Wizard washing machines, Wizard food freezers, and Wizard vacuum cleaners. Purpose of the show was to enable Western Auto Associate Store owners to make early, first-hand selections, and thereby insure stocks for Spring and Summer customers.

"From all reports and present indications," Mr. Jones said, "the 1952 Wizard appliance picture is a bright one. In spite of shortages and other difficulties, Western Auto has forged ahead to improve Wizard Appliances and create new things for better living."

QUESTIONS AROUND THE OFFICE DESK

"For whom will you vote in November?" "Do you believe Harry Truman will run again?" "What do you think the American People Owe Ike Eisenhower?" "Are you going to put Party above Principle?" etc etc.... are the questions that are daily discussed around the office desk....

Confusion reigns supreme. Issues are clouded. Taxes continue to mount higher and higher until the incentive for individual accomplishment is diminishing. Confidence in our national leaders is at a low ebb. Whose names will be on the ballot even in the Primary Elections is not known at this writing. The decision of the Supreme Court judges in Alabama is not sufficient! The Federal Court must be called on to decide who is eligible to run in Alabama. Where do we go from here? Who knows? Your guess is as good as mine.

REPEAL OF POSTAL CARD REGULATION. PHONE RATES STILL HIGH

Patrons of the post office will be glad to learn that the 10 per cent additional charge on volume buying of postal cards has been repealed.

Public Law 279, approved March 12, 1952 has been repealed, effective March 22, 1952. The provision of Public Law 233, requiring an additional charge of 10 per cent on purchases of 50 or more postal cards, is now no longer a legal regulation. In other words, you may purchase as many postal cards as you require for the price of 2 cents per card. This is good news to those of us who use these "quickies".... Fact is, it's like "pennies from heaven" to know that we can buy all we want minus, any additional "tax." Not so, with the art of "speaking".... Mr. Bell's invention continues to be the luxury de luxe as far as "necessities" are concerned, and new telephone rates are making it prohibitive to have one of these ting-a-lings to use for communicating. Let me remind you again we now have only one phone. Call 2731, and we will get the party to whom you wish to speak.

AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON MAY 6

The one constitutional amendment to be submitted to Alabama voters on May 6 is being certified to the 67 county probate judges by Secretary of State Agnes Baggett.

Mrs. Baggett said the proposal will be voted at a special election to be held along with the Democratic Primary in Alabama.

The amendment would prohibit the raising or lowering of the pay of elected or appointed state and county officials during their terms of office.

REV. BILL RIDDLE ADDRESSES KIWANIS CLUB

The Rev. Bill Riddle of Gadsden, addressed the members of the Kiwanis Club last Thursday evening and spoke on the subject of "Simple Faith In A Complex World." Those who heard Bill (Columbiana's own Bill Riddle) say this address by a home-town boy was the most memorable message they have received.

EASTER SERVICES

Easter services are being planned at both churches in Columbiana with special music and appropriate programs. The morning hour at the Baptist Church will introduce the new minister, the Rev. Curtis Bean of Louisville, Kentucky. The Rev. A. D. Wilson will preach at the Methodist church. The evening service at the Baptist church will be devoted to the rendition of the Cantata, "The Song of Triumph," by a choir of 30 voices The public is cordially invited.

Governor Persons Invites Newsmen to View State Offices

Governor Gordon Persons has urged Alabama newspapers and radio stations to give their readers and listeners a look in on the workings of the state government.

"It is my idea," Persons wrote newsmen and broadcasters, "that the more the people know about the operation of their government, the better."

Pointing out that most Alabamians don't have a chance to see them function first hand, Persons proposed to show representatives of Alabama daily and weekly publications and radio stations on a series of tours covering various branches of the government.

Spaced a month or so apart, these visits would follow the pattern of the inspection trip which they took recently through the prison system.

The governor promised news and radio men that they wouldn't be taken on a "conducted" tour where they would see "only the brighter spots."

"At all times you will be free to discuss any subject with any employe and then put down the bad with the good," he added. The governor said the press and radio, "by pointing out the good things of any administration along with the bad," can do a "great service to the people."

DR. HARRY DENMAN TO SPEAK AT LAYMEN'S RALLY AT ANNISTON

When the initial Methodist Laymen's Rally of the Anniston district is held April 3, Dr. Harry Denman, executive secretary of the Board of Evangelism of the Methodist Church, will be the speaker.

The rally is scheduled at the First Methodist Church of Anniston at 7 p. m. on that date. The Men's Club of the church will be host.

Dr. Denman is a native of Birmingham and is one of the few laymen ever to receive the doctor of divinity degree.

At the April 3 meeting, the first of its type in the Anniston district, dinner will be served. A musical program will follow and special music will include a solo by Henry Rudisill.

Some 300 men from over the district are expected to attend.

Laymen's meetings have three purposes: 1. To inform laymen of the work of the church; 2. To enlist interest of laymen in the over-all activities of the church, and 3. Fellowship.

The idea of the laymen's rally in this district was developed by Dr. C. R. Wood, dean of Jacksonville State College and layleader of the Anniston district, and Assistant Layleaders R. Clarence Williams of Anniston and T. R. Lane of Sylacauga.

The leaders hope to develop the meetings into quarterly rallies.

Dr. Denman is well known in Methodism over the country. He has been executive secretary of the Board of Evangelism for the past 12 years.

Attending the public schools of Birmingham, Dr. Denman received his A. B. and M. A. degrees from Birmingham-Southern College. He was then employed by the First Methodist Church as business manager.

In the following 15 years he busied himself there as social worker, pastor's helper, religious educational director, teacher of one of the church's largest Sunday School classes, and lay reacher.

At the General Conference in 1938 he was elected to the General Board of Evangelism of the Old Southern eMthodist Church as its executive secretary. When the three branches of Methodism united in 1940, Dr. Denman was elected to continue in the same capacity for the united church.

'Miss FHA' Selected For Shelby County

On Wednesday night, March 19, Miss Ann Cox from Montevallo was selected to be "Miss Future Homemaker" and to represent Shelby county in the district finals in Montevallo. Miss Annette Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Davis, Columbiana's "Miss FHA" won second place. These girls were selected according to their beauty, poise, personality, and neatness of dress.

The county elimination was held in the Siluria High School auditorium during a meeting of the County Council of the FHA and FFA. The judges had dinner with the contestants in the cafeteria along with the other county council members, before the final judging.

Those girls who were contestants for the title of "Miss F. H. A." for Shelby county are as follows:

Ann Cox, Montevallo High.
Carol Nunnally, Thompson High.
Annette Davis, helby High.
Ann Teel, Vincent High.

A HISTORICAL SKETCH OF COLUMBIANA BY J. L. PETERS

It was in 1825 that the question of moving the courthouse from its first location, near Siluria, to a more central location. The election was held in 1826, Columbiana winning over Montevallo by a small majority.

For 101 years then, from 1826 to 1927, Columbiana has been the county seat of Shelby county.

The first court house in Columbiana was an old wooden school building that stood near the site of what is now called the "old courthouse". The wooden building served as the courthouse about 28 years. In 1854 while John M. McClanahan was Judge, the commissioner's court made an order for the building of a new courthouse. It was built that same year and consisted of two large rooms with two smaller ones in front as the first floor with one large room above for a court room. The larger offices were used by the probate judge and the circuit clerk; the smaller ones being used by the sheriff and register in chancery.

There were no jury rooms, no vestibules, nothing in front except a small platform projecting out from the upper story on which the sheriff stood to call court. The contractors for the 'imposing structure and temple of justice,' were McCan and Williamson who received $2,500.

The building was not changed until 1881 while James T. Leeper was probate judge when a vestibule was built in front and a grand jury room in the rear.

The following interesting reference is made to the county jail in Mr. Peter's article:

"The first jail was built in 1826, a long building and poorly constructed. A man named Caldwell being incarcerated there bored auger holes through the wall and escaped. This same man afterwards killed an Indian and was convicted of murder and sentenced to hang. He was carried by the sheriff to the hollow, back of the town graveyard and all things made ready for the execution of the crinminal. While crocodile tears were coursing their way down his cheeks, a repreive from the governor was presented and the criminal was set free, much to the disappointment of the immense crowd assembled to witness the hanging."

It is said that in 1850, a new era began to dawn for Columbiana. There was a stage line connecting Columbiana with Montevallo and other places, operated by Ephrain Reinhart. The tavern where the White House stood (Fay Benton and Myrtle Miles' present home), was kept and had been for many years by David Owen. When the stage coach drawn by four large horses, reached the top of the hill, above the residence of Mrs. German (The F. E. Williams now own this property), the driver would make known his approach by blowing a long horn, the number of toots of the horn indicating the number of passengers to be entertained.

The stage line was superceded by the railroad in 1855, and the old stage coach was used for a long time as a hack to carry passengers from the depot to the tavern.

(Ed. Note: Feel sure the above article will be of interest to every resident of Shelby county for its historic facts from yesterday, and unusual news value today. Hence, we reprint it for your scrapbooks and school libraries.)

DeGraffenried Protests Mobilizer's Plan

Representative Edward deGraffenried of the Sixth District of Alabama on March 20th appeared before the Surplus Manpower Committee of the Office of Defense Mobilization to protest plans of the Defense Mobilizer to award defense contracts for textile products to areas of unemployment in the East. The Office of Defense Mobilization has under consideration plans to award such contracts without regard to the lowest bidder and lowest figure for which they can be negotiated.

Congressman deGraffenried cited the movement of the textile industry to the South as a result of the advantages which the South offers for textile production. He charged that the plan was an attempt by artificial means to alleviate a basic problem in the East, which is the movement that has taken place over the years of the textile industry to the South. The Congressman stated, "when you have an area that has certain advantages from location, you cannot offset that artifically for any appreciable length of time. The only thing you can do by artificial means is not to alleviate that problem but merely create distress in some other area, and if this artificial means is used to any large extent in the various enterprises of this country, I am concerned that we may find this whole United States of ours becoming a distressed area, instead of some particular location."

DeGraffenried stated, "If this thing is put into operation, it is going to cost the Government millions of dollars in the things they buy. That means it is going to cost the taxpayers of America millions of dollars, and it certainly means that there is going to be created in the South a distressed area in this locality where the textile industry has to have its permanent operation and where they realize it." The Congressman placed before the Committee a number of telegrams which he had received urging that the plan be abandoned.

SPECIAL EVENTS AT METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. T. K. Roberts will preach at the morning worship service Sunday, March 30. This is his regular 5th Sunday service.

Sunday night "Return To Faith," a fine religious picture will be shown at the evening worship hour.

Mr. R. L. Griffin, Director of Organization for the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation Montgomery will be with us to outline years work, discuss delegates to State Training School in July to be held in Auburn.

At this meeting plans will be made to provide state leadership and state staff with needed information on which state program can be developed to best meet the needs of County Farm Bureau.

All Officers, Directors and Home Demonstration Chairmen are urged to attend on Friday night, April 4th at 7:30 P. M. Refreshments will be served.

More Cases Dropped From Welfare Rolls

Alabama Welfare Commissioner Bill Dorrough said that 868 names were dropped from State Welfare rolls during February.

Dorrough said this made it possible to raise the average payment from $23.72 to $23.82 per case. The new relatives responsibility law affected 701 cases last month, making a total of 2,200 coming under it since the act went into effect last October, he said.

This statute requires individuals who can afford it to help support needy relatives. Otherwise their kinsmen are dropped off the welfare list altogether.

Only four persons asked that their cases be closed because of the new law making public names of welfare recipients, Dorrough said. He added that 30 other cases were closed by request, with no reason given.

WELFARE CHECK LIST DECLINES

The number of persons receiving assistance payments from the State Welfare Department continued to decrease in February, Welfare Commissioner Bill Dorrough said yesterday.

There were 868 fewer payments made last month than in January, Dorrough said, adding that the average per case payment rose slightly from $23.72 to $23.82.

Another 701 assistance cases were affected by the relatives responsibility law in February, the commissioner stated. He said this brought to 2,200 the total number of cases affected by this law since it went into effect last October 1

The 701 cases affected in February, included 58 applications rejected, 512 cases closed and 131 cases where payments were reduced, he continued.

Only four persons requested that their cases be closed in February because they did not want their names published, the commissioner said. Another 30 cases requested closure but gave no specific reason.

Dorrough said that in February 74 more cases were affected by the new requirement that no one owning property of $800 or more net value can receive aid. This number includes 56 cases closed and 18 applications rejected and brings to a total of 629 the assistance cases affected by the reduced property limitation of $800.

During February the Welfare Department paid out $2,499,873 to 104,949 cases compared to $2,509,611 paid out to 105,817 cases in January.

Old age assistance cases — 75,921—received most of the money—$1,615,031 — last month, compared to the 76,867 cases that received $1,630 in January.

Schools

Villages Bar Merger

ARDSLEY, N.Y.—A proposal to consolidate the schools of Ardsley and Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., was decisively defeated in a recent election.

The proposal was intended to effect economy and improve the scholastic, athletic and extracurricular programs for the school systems of the adjoining communities.

In record turnouts, 1,537 of the 1,681 registered voters in Dobbs Ferry downed the proposal by 1,150 to 387. Ardsley voted down the measure by a margin of 619 to 459, with only 191 of its eligibles failing to vote.

With defeat of the merger proposal, the Ardsley Board of Education met immediately to consider the only alternative to consolidation—construction of a new school. Authorization of a new building, however, would require a local referendum.

Alabama Town Has Economic Jitters Over Gambling Ban

PHENIX CITY, Ala.—The national crime and gambling cleanup has given Phenix City officials the jitters and caused an economic hangover in the community.

The community, famous for its honky-tonk economy of the past, and sometimes known as the Las Vegas of Alabama, depended on license-tax revenue from cabarets where slot machines and dice tables flourished.

The lid is on now, and government officials and reform leaders alike have sworn to keep it on. Gov. Gordon Persons and anti-vice crusader, Hugh Bentley, started the cleanup, but the new federal gambling tax has taken its toll too.

Many night-club owners, who contribute heavily to the local government through stiff license taxes, have taken out their 1952 permits in the hope they can make the grade on whisky and beer. Others, however, already have given it up as a bad deal.

Police court fines, which in 1950 accounted for $94,000 of the town's revenue of $494,000, have already dropped off sharply. Last December's total was $3,000 below the figure for the previous December.

That is a fair barometer of what is happening in Phenix City. The gin and gambling atmosphere of the past went hand in hand with public drunkenness, drunken driving, fighting and the other vices.

In 1950, business licenses, largely on the night spots, produced $112,000 for the town; the beer tax $32,000. And the town's share of state liquor store profits added another $66,000.

But property taxes contributed only $91,000.

In the past gamblers have kicked in freely for civic improvements. One slot-machine operator gave $30,000 toward the cost of a park.

The community is located across the Chattahoochee river from Columbus, Ga., and Fort Benning.

Siren Blows at Noon, But House Is Cooking

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis.—For years it has been the custom in Prairie du Chien to sound the town siren at noon. And for years the townspeople have wondered what would happen if the siren should sound exactly at noon for a real fire.

Recently the town found out. One of the telephone operators on duty sounded an alarm exactly at noon and no one paid any more attention to it than to note that it blew a little longer than usual.

A few minutes later the operator let the whistle blow again and the volunteer department responded. but by this time the blaze had a good start and gutted the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Strnad.

Short-Tempered Burglar Scrambles Crime Scene

PICKNEYVILLE, Ill.—The short-tempered burglar didn't like it when he found only 30 pennies in the cash register of a cafe here so he proceeded to:

Smash 10 dozen eggs.

Throw three cream pies onto the floor and hurl hamburger against the refrigerator windows.

Pour vanilla extract on the chili and boiled ham, and on the pork and beef roasts.

Pour flour, tea, and sugar on the floor, then top it off by dumping a sack of sugar on the silverware.

Ailing Shoemaker Finds Friends in Time of Need

UPLAND, Calif.—The fairy tale about the shoemaker who awakened to find all his work had been performed by elves during the night came true, in a manner of speaking, for a local cobbler.

Joe Harvath collapsed of a heart attack while working at his bench one day and was taken to a hospital, leaving behind a large pile of unrepaired shoes.

Joe's wife came to the shop next morning to find all the shoes neatly repaired.

How did it happen? A group of cobblers led by Taz Cochran, Joe's competitor, had pitched in to help Joe in time of need.

EVELYN LEE WARD

Miss Evelyn Lee Ward Becomes Bride Of Lt. (Jg) William Blevins

Montevallo Baptist Church was the scene Saturday afternoon of the wedding of Miss Evelyn Lee Ward and Lt. (jg) William Dean Blevins, USN, formerly of Calera and Birmingham.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. James Skillman Ward, and the late Dr. Ward. Lt. Blevins is the son of Mr. and Mrs William Bell Blevins of Calera.

The Rev. Edward Glover officiated at the 4 p. m. ceremony. Music was presented by Mrs. Francis P. Givhan, organist, and Mrs. Seymour H. Hurt and Mrs. Hanfor M. Henderson, vocalists.

Matron of Honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. William R. Rotenberry. Bridesmatrons and maid were Mrs. Joseph A. Dear IV of Washington, D. C., sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. William R. Barrett of Greensboro, N. C.; Miss Eleanora Reynolds of Gainsville, Fla.

The honor attendant wore a pink taffeta dress with bouffant skirt and brief bolero with standing collar. The other attendants wore identical dresses of pale blue. All carried Colonial bouquets of pink carnations and purple violets. Short white gloves and nose veils which matched their dresses completed their ensembles.

Robert David Ward of Chapel Hill, N. C., gave his sister in marriage. Her dress was of candlelight satin, with Queen Anne lace collar and peplum. The skirt was bouffant, and formed a long train. Her fingertip-length veil of illusion was caught to a lace bonnet, which was embroidered with seed pearls. The bride's bouquet was of white roses and a white purple-throated orchid.

Lt. (Jg) William Grimes, USN, of Sanford, Florida, was best man. Ushers were Lt. (Jg) John Russell USN, of Sanford; Lt. (Jg) George Dent, USN, of Jacksonville, Florida; Charles Oneal Bailey, Groves, Texas; and George Foss of Birmingham.

A reception at Reynolds Hall on Alabama College campus followed the ceremony. Assisting were Mrs. Leslie H. Hubbard, Mrs. M. P. Jeter Jr., Mrs. E. H. Wills, Mrs. Laura Woods, Mrs. William K. Weaver Jr., Mrs. Edwin Phillips, Mrs. Felix Lewis, Mrs. Lowell S. Hamilton, Mrs. Ralph Banks, Misses Bessie McCary, Eva Golson, Lorraine Peter, Sarah Puryear, Nancy Leonard, Joanne Gibbons, and Virginia Harless. Mrs. Ralph Sears kept the bride's book.

The bride's mother wore a soldier blue lace dress with pink accessories. The mother of the bridegroom chose toast crepe with matching accessories. Both had orchid corsages.

For traveling, the bride wore a gray faille suit with navy accessories. Lt. and Mrs. Blevins will be at home in Sanford, Florida, where he is stationed.

Students Give Town A Dozen New Words

LEXINGTON, Ky.—Dozens of new words are beginning to take hold in the vocabulary of Lexington residents.

A group of pre-journalism students at the University of Kentucky have unearthed the "words" which they argue should be in Mr. Webster's famous book.

Two of them are "instantooters" and "blabeads".

A "blabead" is a young man who kisses and then talks, while an "instantooter" is the frequently encountered driver who cannot resist blasting his auto horn the moment the traffic light changes to green.

Who knows, maybe they'll soon be a part of the vocabulary of residents in hundreds of home towns across the nation.

The United States not only produces more cotton than the rest of the world's total, but is also the largest consumer. During the past five years, U. S. consumption has averaged 9,132,000 bales, almost three times as much as India, the nearest competitor.

FREE SCHOOLS

Public School Aid in U.S. Rising, Report

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—To a great extent, "dishonest" attacks on the public schools that have increased recently are responsible for the phenomenal "grass roots" interest in American education.

This was the general belief of about 750 delegates to the citizens assembly on education, called recently in St. Louis by the National Citizens Commission for the Public Schools.

The delegates included community leaders, board of education members and civic-minded citizens. The commission, headed by Roy E. Larsen, was formed three years ago to improve public schools. Since then it has grown until today there are an estimated 10,000 citizens' school groups throughout the country. These groups have done much to strengthen and gain support for their home town schools.

Watch Drastic Steps

Larsen told the delegates to watch for the tendency in some communities to be "stampeded" by minority critics of the schools. And he cautioned that the home towners should not allow one or two extremists to stampede either the school administrators or the community into any drastic steps that will harm the free public schools.

He also warned the home towns not to let their schools deteriorate as a result of the war mobilization program. By bringing school conditions out in the open, citizens generally will rally to support their free public schools.

Leo Perlis, national director of the Community Services Committee of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, told the delegates that this country still had not arrived at its democratic goal of equal educational opportunities for all youths.

Education Put First

"The goal of education for all will not be attained unless all of us, laymen and teachers, parents and taxpayers, labor and management, all citizens join forces to look at the problems, to face the questions, to try to find the answers," he said.

"If we have to pay more to get the kind of education for all we want, then let us pay more. There isn't anything that is more important."

About 100 citizens' school groups are being founded weekly in the home town of America, commission officials reported. And their work is beginning to reflect in the public school by better facilities and teachers.

ON THE FARMS IN SHELBY COUNTY

B.F. HATCHETT & G.C. STARCHER JR.

Casual observers might think Elvin Hill's energetic young Future Farmers are planting Watermelons in their old sericea patch.

The boys have opened rows eight feet apart, fertilized well and bedded several inches of soil back on the fertilized row.

However, what went into the rows no watermelon patch could use. About eighteen inches apart in the rows the boys dropped stolons (rooted runners) of certified "COASTAL BERMUDA" that was furnished them by the North Central Soil Conservation District.

When growth begins, a heavy application of nitrogen will be made, and before runners get long, the eight foot middle between the rows will be thoroughly prepared with a disc harrow. That is the 'why' of the spacing of the rows. The bermuda can easily cross the 8 foot gaps in the summer, and the discing will allow the runners to lie on the earth and root all along their length. When the ground is covered, the grass turns upward, and often reaches a height suitable for hay cutting in a single season.

Should the boys do as well with this new crop as they have with the "Chapel Hill" Rescue grass seed patch across the road, this should be a beautiful sight by the end of June, and furnish a good crop of stolons for sale next spring.

Seed patches of these and other new grazing and soil conserving crops are creating interest in modern farming methods in the youths, as well as helping finance worthwhile activities of the club under the able guidance of their teachers, Hill, Columbiana, Thornton, Montevallo, and Lansford, Vincent.

J. J. Hinds, mentioned last week planning to plant coastal bermuda is hauling as much manure to his 2 acres as he would if he were planting melons. Cahaba valley farmer Earl Morgan is going to use the grass on some hills, and is gathering all information he can find on planting requirements.

Our general suggestions are: Lime or slag heavily, mix at least 500 pounds per acre of 6-8-4 or richer fertilizer into the rows, drop stolons at rate of about 4,000 per acre, cover two inches deep, and run tractor tire on row. When up, sidedress with 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate or equivalent. Keep middle clear of competition until runners cross too far for cultivation. Keep stock off until sod forms. In fall mow close or graze close, add subterranean or reseeding crimson clover, caley peas, or rescue grass. The rescue grass will require nitrate. Additional manures, fertilizers, or nitrate will pay off, as this crop can use much fertilizer economically.

Spring Creek

June and Ann Ingram were hostesses last Saturday evening honoring their brother, Jackie on his 18th birthday. Sixteen young folk enjoyed this courtesy.

Mrs. William Goad was hostess for the regular March meeting of Spring Creek-Valley Grove Home Demonstration Club on Wednesday, March 12th from 1:30 to 4 o'clock. The program "Landscaping With Vegetables" was given by Mrs. R. D. Ingram after the devotional by the hostess. The demonstration "Making Home Task Easier" was presented in a delightful way by Mrs. Ashley Jeter. Miss Cotney was present and as always, brought helpful information for everyone. In the social hour four ladies were honored with a shower of gifts honoring their birthdays. Mrs. Goad served delicious refreshments to fifteen members, Miss Cotney and several visitors. Two new members were added to rool. The April meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Lawson Ingram.

On March 19th Mrs. Jesse Frost and Miss Lois Alexander held the "extra" club meeting in Mrs. Frosts' home. This was for purpose of teaching the ladies to make nylon flowers. Only a few availed themselves of this opportunity. But, the few who attended declared it the best demonstration of all. Mrs. Frost and Miss Alexander had roses, sweet peas, violets, daises, begonias and many other flowers made for samples. The afternoon was spent teaching the art to others and many new ones were made by them, both corsages and ear bobs. The ladies were served delicious punch and cookies.

Mr. Edgar Frost was carried back to Carraway Methodist Hospital in Birmingham last week. His many friends are wishing for him a quick return to good health.

Miss Ann Ingram who is employed by Moffet Bearing Company in Birmingham enjoyed a week of her vacation last week.

Saturday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ingram were Miss Doris Clemons, Tech. Sgt. Clyde Bradford of Cullman and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ingram of Montevallo.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Knowles and Lewie and Mr. and Mrs. Chick Knowles spent Sunday in Birmingham with the Norris Allens.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ingram visited the Gradys in Montevallo Friday afternoon to bid Miss Rebecca Grady good-bye for now, as she left Saturday for Washington where she had a job waiting. Miss Grady has been Secretary for Dean Napier at Alabama College for past eseveral years. Mrs. Ashley Jeter will take over that job now.

The people of Spring Creek were delighted to have Mrs. Chestnut and children accompany Bro. Chestnut Sunday night. It was their first visit down here.

Mrs. William Goad and Mrs. Charles A. Knowles spent Wednesday in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Knowles and children of Shelby Springs and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Knowles and son were last Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Stacey.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ingram, Jean Ingram and Houston Ingram spent last week end in Excell with Mrs. Ingram's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Brantley.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McClusky Jr., and children of Calera were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Yeager, of Fairview visited her sister, Mrs. W. L. Ingram last Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Hitt, of Whitfield, came up for a short visit last week.

Last Sunday visitors of Mr. W. L. Ingram were Mr. and Mrs. Lynne Atkinson and daughter Patricia, and Jennie Sue Harkins of Ensley.

Mrs. Bobby Ingram and bobby Ingram spent the week end with the R. D. Ingrams.

Mrs. J. R. Frost has returned from Birmingham where she attended the wedding of her daughter, Martha Jo to Cpl. Eddie Hancock. They were married in the home of the Rev. Chestnut with only the immediate families present. Cpl. Hancock has recently returned home after many months of active duty in Korea. He leaves this week for his new assignment with Uncle Sam.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Ingram, Jean and Houston Ingram spent Sunday afternoon visiting with Mrs. Ingram's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Scoggings near Bessemer.

Mrs. Cary is spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Ned Cary in Grant.

Mrs. Lawson Ingram spent Tuesday in Birmingham with her sisters, Mrs. O. W. Yeager and Mrs. Charles D. Parker.

Small Town Florida Bank Just 'Gives Up'

GREENWOOD, Fla.—The town of Greenwood—population 300—will soon be without a bank. The Bank of Greenwood, which has served the rich peanut and livestock community for 43 years, is going out of business.

"We're old, we're tired, we've got the money to pay everybody 100 per cent, so we're going to do it while we can and rest some," said R. A. Willis, president.

"We were born 30 years too soon. We can't fight the battle like it is. Conditions are too fast for me."

It was the first Florida bank to close for any reason in eight years. Deposits amounted to $400,000.

STATE TO ADVERTISE TO ROUTE TOURISTS THROUGH ALABAMA

The state's attractions for tourists will be broadcast in a series of spot announcements over Florida radio stations in an effort to route tourists through Alabama.

The state advisory board for the State: Bureau of Publicity and Information approved a plan to spend $600 for the radio announcements.

The board is considering use of about $50,00 0in a large-scale advertising campaign, but no decision how to use it has been announced.

A board meeting scheduled for Tuesday will give further consideration to use of the legislative appropriation.

Thus far, the board has been unable to decide what proportions of its funds to put into magazine, newspaper, radio and follow-up advertising.

The state has missed out in the past on tourist trade from the flow of tourists to Florida and the Gulf Coast. The plan is to attract some of the traveling tourists through Alabama.

While there about six per cent fewer farms today than in 1900, the average acreage per farm has risen from 146 to 203, according to a Bureau of Agricultural Economic survey.

Superior resistance to fading due to either acids or alkalies, plus high wet strength, makes cotton fabrics especially suitable for overcoming problems caused by perspiration.

GMC GASOLINE & DIESEL TRUCKS ½ TO 20 TONS

OVER THE ROAD or OVER THE ROUGH —you can't beat a GMC!

KNOW why, more and more, GMC's are becoming first choice of so many cost-watching truck operators in every type of hauling?

One of the big reasons, they will tell you, is they can always get a GMC that's exactly "engined" for their particular kind of work.

There is no need for a GMC owner to strain away with an underpowered truck—or lose profit to a gas eater unsuited to its job.

That's because GMC builds the widest range of truck engines in the industry —GMC famed valve-in-head gasoline engines from 100 to 200 H.P.—GMC exclusive 2-cycle Diesels from 110 to 225 H.P.

And it's the kind of power you don't have to pamper!

Each GMC engine is specially lubricated against wear, specially ventilated against acid-forming fumes even when idling—specially designed for truck duty!

Why not let us recommend the GMC truck, tractor or six-wheeler perfectly powered for your job? It will be a real truck all the way—exactly the right combination of engine, axle, transmission and frame blended by the world's largest exclusive manufacturer of commercial vehicles!

FARM INCOME

Wright County Farm Income Hits 18 Million

CLARION, Iowa—The community of Clarion, population 3,000, took another look at the preliminary report on the 1950 census of agriculture and quickly revalued the importance of agriculture to the community.

The report revealed the value of farm products in Wright county rose from $15,620,000 in 1942 to $18,287,000 in 1949.

The report also shows that 57 farms in the county had income of more than $25,000 for the previous year. There were 48 which ran between $10,000 and $25,000; 795 were in the $5-$10,000 class and 243 reported incomes between $2,500 and $5,000.

Farms Number Same

There has been very little change in the number of farms in the county during the 1940-50 period. There were 1,983 in 1950, as compared to 1,977 in 1945 and 1,987 in 1940.

Average size of these farms is 182.6 acres, compared to 184.7 in '45 and 180.5 ten years ago. When land values are considered, the ratio of change is much more appreciable. The average value of land and buildings in 1945 was $27,113 or $148.81 per acre. In 1950 the average farm value had zoomed to $42,883 —or $217.72 per acre.

Value of all farm products showed a very considerable increase in the five-year period. Wright county farm products sold in 1949 for $18,287,000; in 1944 the aggregate value was approximately $15,620,000.

Whether the explanation was better times or mainly the post-war availability of automotive equipment, there was a large increase in the number of farm trucks and tractors in the years between 1945 and 1950. In the earlier year, Wright county farmers owned 444 trucks and 2,329 tractors; in 1950 the numbers had increased to 644 and 2,898.

Yield Per Acre Drops

An interesting contrast in yield is provided by the corn and oats crops of 1944 and 1949. In 1949, 147,614 acres were planted to corn —or slightly over 2,600 more than in '44. But the 1944 yield exceeded that of '49 by over 1,900,000 bushels! No doubt the "big blow" in the autumn of '49, plus some borer damage, accounted for the drop in average yield per acre from over 53 bushels to slightly under 41.

Oats yields in the two years were just the reverse, although the discrepancy was not so great. In 1949, a total of 2,655,000 bushels were produced on about 61,700 acres; five years earlier, only 2,387,000 bushels were produced on 68,000 acres. The '49 yield averaged over 43 bushels per acre, while that of '44 was slightly under 40.

That modern conveniences are part and parcel of the 1950 Wright county farm was plainly evidenced by the census report. Of the 1,983 farms, telephones are possessed by 1,666; electricity 1,836; electric water pumps 1,426; electric washing machines 1,756; corn-pickers 1,109; grain combines 859.

CALERA SCHOOL NEWS

Thirty seven new books were added to Calera High School Library this week, E. M. Smith, principal, told students at assembly today.

The new titles are "Voyages of Christopher Columbus"; "Landing of the Pilgrims"; "Pocahontas and Captain John Smith"; "Paul Revere and the Minute Men"; "Our Independence and the Constituton"; "California Gold Rush"; "Pony Express"; "Lee and Grant at Appomattox"; "Building of the First Transcontinental Railroad"; "Wright Brothers"; "Pre Historic America"; "The Vikings"; "Sante Fe Trail"; "A History of the United States Marines"; "Lewis and Clark Expeditions"; "Monitor and the Merrimac"; "Explorations of Pere Marquette"; "Panama Canal"; "Laffettee and the Battle of New Orleans"; "Custer's Last Stand".

Mr. Smith said these were all Cadmus books special bound for library use.

Among the other 17 titles are some outstanding books including "History of Mobile" and "F. D. R. My Boss."

A new magazine rack is another recent addition t othe library.

Charter members of Calera High School Monogram Club were entertained at a dinner Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Smith.

After dinner was served members discussed plans for improving school interest and spirit.

Members present were: James Warren, President; Jerry Adams; James Findley; Billy Lucas; Donnie Jacks; Hugh Tomlin. E. M. Smith, principal of the school, is the club sponsor.

Calera Junior High chool boys organized a Stamp Club Wednesday at Activity period.

A constitution and by-laws were drawn up by E. M. Smith, principal, who has been a stamp collector for years. The Constitution and laws set forth the purpose of the club and duties of the officers.

Those becoming charter members of the club are: Wayne Lambrecht, Joe Don Woods, Don Johnson, Jimmy Milstead, Ted Wells, David Hadaway, and Sidney Godfrey.

The club will meet weekly.

The Seniors have selected and are working very enthusiastically on their Senior Play. The title is "The Bride's Stand-In." It will be ready for production Friday night, April 18. We believe you will be highly entertained. When two sisters decide to marry the same man and the hour for the wedding arrives, what is the bridegroom going to do in such a matrimonial mixup? The answer is given in this delightful comedy, in which there is a laugh in every line.

Robin Brian, a selfish and fickle-minded girl, played by Gloria McRae, is engaged to marry Kurt (Billy Lucas), a very wealthy and attractive young man whom she recently met at Palm Beach. After they are engaged Kurt becomes blind as the result of an aeroplane accident. From a sense of duty Robin plans to go on and marry him even though she thinks she is in love with Bob (James Warren), an old friend.

The scene opens two days before the wedding when Kurt is momentarily expected to arrive. Robin suddenly becomes panicky and tells Lynn her sister, she is going to run away and Lynn must fix things up. Lynn is played by Eleanor Crim. When Kurt arrives Lynn is left to assume the role of Robin. Amusing situations arise, with all the family trying to help Lynn in the deception. The maid is Delores Cadle, who says nothing, but does she entertain? Lynn really falls in love with Kurt and decides to do just what Robin suggested. The Butler, played by Peggy Johnson, lends a helping hand. Aunt Elsie, (Fernetta Walton) makes things worse. Mr. Brian, the father of the girls, is played by Harold Edwards. Poor old Mr. Brian is more worried over his golf than two girls marrying one man. When Mrs. Southy, played by Patsy Eden, arrives on the scene she really gives us something to think about. She is treated so rude, but she stays until she delivers her message and receives her demands.

Complications begin to follow in swift succession, reaching a climax when Lynn appears in Robin's wedding dress for the wedding. A fight almost ensues between the girls. Just at this point Kurt comes in dressed for the wedding. The way he meets the situation and the final solution come as a great surprise to the family and the audience as well. Don't miss this exciting comedy. You'll be sorry if you do. Come join us for a full evening of entertainment.

A Lenten Meditation

"And they all forsook him and fled." — Mark 14:50

When the weather is fair and the sea placid, sailing is easy. The test comes when the storm breaks and disaster threatens. Patriotic songs are sung with much gusto in the piping time of peace, but the craven heart fails when the call to the colors is heard. It is crisis that reveals character. The parade ground is a long way from the front line. Between the two, pale resolution tempts the weakling to seek safety under the easy philosophy:

"He that fights and runs away,
May live to fight another day."

"They all forsook him and fled." It was the hour in which humanity's destiny hung in the balance. Roman soldiers had arrested him and by official order were proceeding to drag him into tribunal, where by an ex parte verdict of a corrupt court, he would be sentenced to death. And yet his most intimate friends.... the very men who had assured him of their undying loyalty.... were abandoning him to unmerited maltreatment, and eventual death. The words of the prophet were finding fulfilment: "He was despised and rejected of men."

Speaking of crisis, let it be remembered that committal to the Christian profession creates a constant crisis. To one who has declared his fidelity to Jesus Christ, the test presents itself every day. Shall I compromise on this or that issue, or shall I follow the Master regardless of consequences? Shall I demonstrate my loyalty to the Lord, or shall I surrender? Shall integrity regulate my conduct, or shall I permit mere expediency to dictate my behavior? Ever-recurring decisions compel me to vote for or against the revealed purpose of him to whom I have declared my allegiance Therefore we repeat that Christianity is a creator of crisis.

Contemplation of that tragic scene in the Garden of Gethsemane provides every professing Christian with food for solemn thought. The compelling conclusion is that if I fail to defend him in my daily contacts now, I would have deserted him then. Day by day I must face the test. Ever-recurring crises are continually challenging my loyalty. Over against the inconstancy of the disciples in that fateful hour we have the apostolic exhortation: "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong."

How to avoid taxes: Don't smoke, don't drink alcohol, don't drink soft drinks, don't use gasoline, don't buy a cook stove, don't buy a refrigerator, don't live, don't die.

SPRINGTIME IN DIXIELAND

"There's a blackbird whistling on the fence,
And a red throat down the lane,
And a thrasher drowns the fragrant eve,
In a golden throated rain.
And a brown lad halts in the yellow road,
And thrills with the coming Spring,
And catches a bough from an Old Grape Vine
And swings in the "Grape Vine Swing."

There's a skylark climbing the sunbeam drift
To the heart of his leafy thatch,
And a bob white calls to his tardy spouse
From the door of his clover patch.
And the brown lad puckers a trilling lip,
While gaily he whistles along
And across the cotton fields so white
Comes the plaintive call of an old love song"—
It is Springtime in Dixieland—

It's Spring all right, and "the old rockin' chair's got me." The only thing that worries me in these modern homes, I can't find a rocking chair! As far as I am concerned.... A front porch and a rocking chair are two essentials. Not so, with the new home furnishings. Straight upholstered chairs or Davenports are used for folk who have time to sit down, but no rocking chairs! But, down our way in that old fashioned home of ours.... Rocking Chairs are plentiful, and nothing more restful at the close of a long day, than the rhythmic rocking of the old porch chairs, unless it be the hammock under the Magnolia Tree!

THRU THE EDITOR'S WINDOW

. . . It is the beginning of Spring all right. A chorus of "chicks" greet us every time we go in the post office and, those colorful seed catalogues that are now in progress of reaching the addressees, will make you wish you never had seen a typewriter, and you work doubly hard, so you can get out and enjoy planting your favorite flowers. If you don't believe me, drive down our way and see how eagerly Frances and Alvin Stinson get home, grab their hoes and shovels, and hit for their lawn, and more flowers!

. . . Marie Brown Shogren running thru town like "winged Mercury" last Thursday was not on her way to a fire, but rejoicing over the contents of that telegram she had in her hand which ended the suspense she has endured for several weeks, regarding the sailing date determined for her, Sandra, and Carl Shogren to join Lt. Shogren, of the Air Corps, who is stationed at Okinawa. The date this attractive little family will leave Columbiana, where they have been the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Brown, has now been set by Uncle Sam, and from San Francisco, California, April 10, on one of the biggest liners, Marie, little four year old Sandra and 18 months old Carl will sail to meet Lt. Shogren. What a joyous reunion that will be!

. . . Touring cars are no oddity on Main as many motorists now pass thru our town on their way to Florida. Two large touring cars and one station wagon were parked in front of our office today, with New Jersey tags on them. Cute little kids hopped out to exercise their legs a bit by our door and made friends with "Rusty."

. . . The Joe Horsley family from New York also motored thru Main Thursday, and stopped long enough to visit with some of their old friends They were on their way to Florida for a visit with Evelyn, Charles, and Beverly Horsley.

. . . The lady you saw presenting us with a hand made corsage was Mrs. Schaeffer, and how delighted we are to have this lovely accessory to brighten up a dark suit!

. . . Mrs. A. B. Barger is having many calls for that De-Frost-O-Matic I told you about, and it is really a gadget everyone should have attached to their electric refrigerators. It works for you and thats exactly what we are always looking for when the culinary department is mentioned.

. . . Folk still droping in to exclaim over the wonderfully fine Turkey Dinner served by the Methodist Ladies last Friday night at the High School Lunch Room. Who are we to doubt it? We have never more thoroughly enjoyed that old Bird of Cranberry, than on this occasion. Wish they would feature these dinners more often.

. . . Woodrow Elliott, with his Camera, making some pictures of the recent graduates in the Driving Class, taught by Buck Stringer. Piloting an automobile correctly is essential these days before a license can be granted, and we saw many youthful licensees proudly lining up before that camera at the old Court House as we passed by. A splendid step forward toward a much needed safe-driving program along our Highways.

. . . From Floyd Nabors comes the following greeting: "Please send me the Reporter-Democrat. I am here at Sewanee, Tennessee, and hungry for "home news". So, right out the window we go, on our way to the University of the South to greet Floyd Nabors, and thanks for the opportunity!

. . . Monday morning George Epperson of Siluria Route stopped by the shop to renew his allegiance to the Reporter-Democrat stating he was "trying to keep up with the politicians and politics in Shelby county, and he presumed the 'Home Paper' was doing that very thing"....

(We are trying our best to keep up with the candidates, but between the inclement weather and an invasion of Flu all over town, it has been a rather fruitless quest. However, the last we saw of them, they were in good running form, and sprinting along toward their respective goals in record quick tempo.)

. . . "Jiggs" Mooney says he can't get home to personally call and subscribe for the "home paper" but sends in his $2.00 and asks that we continue sending it to him at his home in Wetumpka. Thanks!

. . . Believe it or not on this date March 24, thru our office window a flurry of snow flakes are tumbling down, but even the little snow men do not seem to stop that never ending down pour of raindrops. So, put this down on your almanac for 1952. Snow and Rain on March 24, 1952.

. . . We were remarking to Alf McClannahan about the snow falling in March and thinking it an unusual occurence. Alf, who says he is 72 years old told us that he remembered a heavy snow in April many years ago. The snow storm occurred at the funeral of the late Rufus Lester he said and he had never forgotten it.

. . . Little Danny Ray Jones, age one month made his first appearance in the Baptist Sunday School and whats more "took his bottle" and remained for the church service. A tiny little replica of his Dad J. T. Jones, and he looked mighty sweet all bundled up in his little blanket safely nestled in his Mommie's arms on the above mentioned occasion.

. . . Mrs. Nelle Davis is enjoying a trip to Sarasota, Florida, the guest of the Ehney Camps of Birmingham.

. . . Friends who have been deeply concerned about Mrs John Thompson will be delighted to learn that she is recuperating satisfactorily following surgery last Monday. She is in Highland Baptist Hospital in Birmingham.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Rux Carter, Judy, Ileen and Kathy Carter enjoyed a trip to Mobile last week and were also numbered among hundreds of folk who viewed "Holliday On Ice" in Birmingham Saturday.

. . . Friends of Jack White regret to learn he is in Highland Baptist Hospital in Birmingham and will undergo surgery this week.

. . . Personable little Pam Tillery celebrated the passing of her first birthday anniversary March 24. Little Pam frequently accompanies her mother Ruth Shaw Tillery to Choir Rehearsal and all visitors vie for the honor of amusing Pam during rehearsal hour.

. . . Elizabeth Bearden and Irene Tinney held the spotlight for Happy Birthday Greetings last Sunday. Pretty Peggy Hill came in for her share of "Birthday Cake" with candles on it March 25, and March 26, Phillip Dale Littlefield, E. M. Young and Emery Walton were honored, (Emery is now in the Navy.) March 27, Bobby Ray Oakes and Mrs. Howard Hall will be candle puffing, and closing the month for birthday anniversaries will be Master Jimmy McDow who will celebrate March 28, as the lucky day that brought him our way.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Newt Smith of Leeds Rt. 1, were visitors to the Reporter-Democrat Office Tuesday. They came by to enter a subscription to the "home paper."

MRS. J. O. LUTTRELL ELECTED REGENT ALABAMA DAR UNIT

Mrs. J. Oden Luttrell was elected State Regent of the Alabama Society Daughters of the American Revolution at the annual conference in Birmingham March 13th and will be confirmed in Washington during Continental Congress April 19th. This is the first time in State or National History of D. A. R. that a daughter has followed a mother as State Regent. Mrs. James H. Lane, Mrs. Luttrell's mother, having served as State Regent 1926-27-28. Mrs. Luttrell is also a member of the Colonial Dames-Daughters of American Colonist; Daughters of Colonial Wars; Daughters of 1812—Past Regent Sylacauga Chapter nine years; Member of Alabama Society D. A. R. Official Board; during term as Registrar, and Compiled Membership Roll and Register of Ancestors of the Alabama Society D. A. R.

The above write-up of these two distinguished Alabamians is of special interest to Shelby county. Mrs. James H. Lane and Mrs. J. O. Luttrell of Sylacauga, are sister and neice of the Rev. T. K. Roberts of Columbiana. Mrs. Lane is the daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. T. P. Roberts. Mr. Roberts served the Methodist Church of Columbiana for a number of years and was a widely beloved pastor in Shelby county.

The Reporter-Democrat is indebted to Sylacauga News for the above picture.

. . . Nancy Horn has returned to Columbiana after spending a week end at the University of Alabama with her sister, Barbara Horn.

. . . Jack and Marie Atchison enjoyed a week end in Panama City, flirting with the finny tribe. I hear they caught 40 of the "monsters."

. . . Friends of popular Cecil Duke, rated as one of the "best Board of Revenue Clerks" in the State, was seen today receiving congratulations upon the passing of another birthday anniversary along his useful pathway.

. . . Donald Jones of the University of Alabama, a frequent guest of the Cecil Dukes will leave for Japan to serve Uncle Sam on or about April 1st.

. . . Congratulations from a host of friends to Lt. James Crawford Jr., who has received his "Wings" and is visiting with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. James Crawford. Lt. Crawford completed his course as a Pilot at Enid, Oklahoma, and will leave for Valdosta, Georgia, for several weeks advance training and from there to Tyndale Air Base in Florida. Then, who knows? Perhaps the Far East, but, wherever this young "birdman" goes, he has the assurance that Shelby County folk are following his career with pride in each "mission accomplished" and with their pride go the hopes and dreams of his friends and loved ones that soon he may wing his way 'Home' for keeps!

. . . Mrs. Wales W. Wallace Jr. entertained the Monday Evening Bridge Club with a "Varsity Dessert Party".... Following the delectable 'Sundaes'. Bridge was enjoyed with Virginia Fowler copping first prize for high score and Nell Sloan winning the low score trophy.

. . . Yes, it is true what you heard about happy-go-lucky Jim Duke. Cupid, with his little bow and arrow has felled him, and he and Sue Daniel of Gadsden have decided to cast their future, come weal or woe, together! Happiness, we feel sure awaits them!

. . . A. L. Crumpton, prominent attorney of Ashland and candidate for the office of Judge of the Circuit Court, was a visitor in our office, Tuesday. Mr. Crumpton is waging an active campaign for this responsible post of duty and seemed to be enjoying the friendly contacts along the way.

. . . Last Sunday in the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Coy Stone, in Columbiana, Mrs Mary Stone, was co-hostess with the Coy Stones in holding Open House in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Shucraft and family from Jackson, South Carolina. During the atfernoon relatives and friends numbering 45 called to share this happy occasion. Mrs. Shucraft formerly resided in Columbiana and is a sister of Coy Stone.

. . . Wednesday afternoons mark the closing of practically every store in town. Candidates hoping to contact citizens of Columbiana on this day, better pass it up until Thursday. We saw one disappointed out-of-town candidate in town Wednesday, and he was "wishing he had thought of it before leaving home", some miles distant.

PAYNE-CATES WEDDING SOLEMNIZED

A quiet but impressive wedding ceremony was solemnized Friday in the Columbiana Methodist Church at seven-thirty o'clock when Dorsey Vaughn Payne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Payne, of Columbiana, and Jack Cates, of Shelby, spoke the wedding vows. The Rev. A. D. Wilson, pastor of the Methodist Church, officiated.

The bride's only attendant was Peggy Sue Johnson, and the groom's best man was "Sonny" Payne, brother of the bride. Miss Payne wore for her wedding a brown tailored suit with shoulder corsage and Miss Johnson wore a blue tailored suit with white accessories.

Immediately following the wedding ceremony, the young couple left for a motor trip thru Tennessee. They will make their home in the McWilliams Apartments in Columbiana.

JAMES ROBERT GARRETT

We had heard many wonderful things about six months old James Robert Garrett from his grand-dad Roland Lester, but we thought, like all grand-dads, he was exaggerating, until we saw this handsome manikin when his pretty mother brought him to town for an interview with his Doctor Tuesday. And now, since we have met young James Robert, we are prepared to say that Grand-dad Roland didn't tell us the half of it and I can't find an adjective to describe this little "bundle of joy".... You will just have to see him to get what I mean!

MRS. ALVIN BIRD JR. FETED

Mrs. Alvin Bird Jr., bride-elect, was the lovely honoree of a miscellaneous shower, 3 to 5 P. M., Saturday, March 15, at the home of Mrs. James Crawford with Mrs. Forgus Williams, Mrs. Houston Davis, and Mrs. Cecil Duke as co-hostesses.

Arrangements of pink and white gladiolas, spirea and hyacinths formed an exquisite background for the receiving line which consisted of Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Davis, the bride-elect, the brides mother, Mrs. Leon Dorough and the groom's mother, Mrs. Alvin Bird. The bride-elect chose pink net over taffeta gown, strapless bodice with bouffant skirt for this occasion. Her flowers were an orchid corsage. Mrs. Dorough wore white embroidered dress and Mrs. Bird wore rose beige. Both had corsages of gladiolas.

The brides book was presided over by Miss Mary Ann Dorough, sister of the bride, who was gowned in blue lace over taffeta. Eighty-five guests registered during the receiving hours.

Gifts were beautifully displayed, interspersed with bouquets of gladiola, by Betty Jean Dill, Barbara Horn, Peggy Johnston and Patsy Brown who wore full length pastel dresses. Their corsages were glads tied with pastel ribbons to match dresses

The party table was covered with white madeira banquet cloth centered with pink and white mixed bouquet in crystal bowl and burning white tapers held by crystal candelabra.

During the afternoon, cookies, nuts, mints and punch were served. Miss Marcia Buck presided at the punch bowl and was assisted by Mrs. Forgus Williams, Mrs. Cecil Duke, Miss Margaret Ann Hatchett.

All hostesses were gowned in becoming spring colors and their corsages carried out the pink and white color scheme.

Appropriate musical selections for the occasion were given by Misses Faye Wilson, Bunny Crawford and Patsy Guin. They wore floor length dresses of blending spring hues and corresponding gladiola corsages.

Out of town guests were: Mesdames Bill Mosely, A. C. Cooper, and Miss Patricia Guin of Birmingham, Misses Margaret Ann Hatchett and Marcia Buck, Auburn, Misses Barbara Horn and June Harrison, Tuscaloosa, Mesdames J. E. Avant and Wm. Black, Dadeville, Miss Mamie Bishop and Mesdames Sidney Bird and W. N. Miner, Calera, Alabama.

'GIVE GOD A CHANCE'

'ONE TINY CANDLE'

An old proverb, "Better light a candle than curse the darkness," might apply to the problems of "Hungry Little Ones" in our midst. From one little article in this "Home Paper," purse strings were loosened and hearts generously poured out their desire to help solve this problem. Letters and calls continue to come in bringing money necessary to feed unfortunate and helpless children in our schools in town.

In addition to those names published last week who donated to this cause, I should like to add Josephine Meyers of Columbiana, and acknowledge with sincere appreciation a lovely letter containing a donation from P. F. Buelke, who resides in Waldo, Wisconsin, and owns extensive timber lands in Shelby county. We especially thank Mr. Buelke for his kind response. We have asked the school authorities to carefully check each room so that no child will be left out who needs this timely assistance. Somehow, I believe everyone who answered this call is happier for the privilege of serving these little ones. As far as this writer is concerned, I hope from now on that every "little tummy is full" at the noon day hour!

Avoid mop shaking by slipping a cotton flannel top on your mop, and washing it in hot soapsuds after use. Mop "slipovers" are sold in pairs so you'll always have one clean and ready to use.

Waffle toast is delicious to serve with creamed chicken, peas, or salmon. To make waffle toast, remove crusts from slices of bread; margarine the slices lightly on both sides and toast in a waffle iron.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

Notice is hereby given that, WHEREAS, default has been made in the payment of the debt secured by that certain mortgage executed by Henry K. Bagby and Vivian Belle Bagby to Pearl Bush on February 25, 1937, which said mortgage is recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Shelby County, Alabama, in Mortgage Book 221 at page 213, said mortgage having been transferred by the said Pearl Bush to Mattie L. McFarland by written instrument dated September 25, 1940, and recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Shelby County, Alabama, in Deed Book 109 at page 260, and transferred by the said Mattie L. McFarland to the undersigned W. H. Haynes on January 8, 1952, by instrument recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Shelby County, Alabama, in Deed Book 150 at page 387.

NOW THEREFORE, I, the said W. H. Haynes, transferree of said mortgage, will proceed to foreclose said mortgage and sell the land described therein at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in front of the Shelby County Courthouse door in Columbiana, Alabama, during the legal hours of sale on April 14, 1952, said land being described as follows:

The Northwest half of the Northwest Quarter of Section 7; the West two hundred and sixteen feet of the Southwest Quarter of the Southwest Quarter of Section 7; also the following lands in Section 7: Commence at the Northeast corner of the Northwest Quarter of Northeast Quarter and run South 42° 30' West, 1875 feet to the Southwest corner of the Northwest Quarter of the Northeast Quarter; thence continue South 42° 30' West, 550 feet; thence North 47° 30' West 1025 feet; thence North 42° 15' East, 1410 feet to the North line of the Northeast Quarter of the Northwest Quarter; thence North 87° 30' East along said North line 1430.5 feet to the beginning corner, being a part of the Northeast Quarter of the Northwest Quarter, Southeast Quarter of Northwest Quarter and Northwest half of Northwest Quarter of Northeast Quarter of Section 7, all of said lands being in Township 18, Range 1 East, mineral and mining rights are not conveyed to the foregoing lands; Also the Southeast Quarter of Section 12, Township 18, Range 1 West, in fee simple.

The proceeds of said sale shall be applied as follows: First, to the expense of advertising, selling and conveying, including a reasonable attorney's fee; second, to the payment of the amount that may have been expanded or that it may then be necessary to expend in paying insurance, taxes or other incumbrances, with interest thereon; third, to payment of said indebtedness in full whether the same shall or shall not have fully matured at the date of said sale, but no interest shall be collected beyond the date of said sale; and fourth, the balance, if any, to be turned over to the said Henry K. Bagby and Vivian Belle Bagby.

Good Morning

Milton Bird

When Annie Ree Kelley came in, out of a day that was as full of March as a March Hare, the wind came along too, in turbulent gusts that twittered the papers on the window.

"It's rough out there," I said.

She peeked back out the door. I think she didn't want the wind slipping up on her unaware. She had prayed, all the way up the dusty street. You could tell by looking at her that she had. And now she was determined to watch, too.

Then she was gone and I didn't see her again until the next day. A whole night that was crammed full of bluster and noise and uncertainty. As March nights sometimes are. I guess if there hadn't been any March winds I would be about twenty now, filled to my ears with stuff like moonlight and music and laughter. But March manages to hustle Time along at an unconsionable pace. And before you know it the years have piled up and you are fat around the tummy and sort of squeaky in your bones. Or dead, and buried, with a rose vine or a tiny gardenia bush blowing over your head.

When she came in the next day I said: "It was rough all night."

"Man, hush your mouth." She was so sincere it stuck out of her eyes. Along with a naked fear that still fluttered in her throat.

"Were you afraid?" I asked her.

"Afraid. Man, all night long I was so scared I was just tipping."

Harry Roberts had bedded down with the flu. The same as every other guy on Main who was in style. It seemed the proper thing to do, so a lot of the guys gave the old girl a whirl. Norman Lefkovits gave up a whole week of crappie fishing on the river just to be near her. Judge Walker turned his campaign over to her for a few days. And Gene Young let the tax equalization program go by the boards for a whole week just for a smile from the old wench. But Harry got tired after a few days and decided letters and money orders and parcels were his best bet to keep the wolf away.

But a guy dreams up some strange dreams, lying on his back for days, looking at the same old pictures on the wall, and counting the same old cracks in the ceiling. They are startling dreams. Especially to a guy who has been going on about his business, paying taxes and dreaming of steak and eating hash. Things like never getting warm again, or not wanting chocolate ice cream anymore, or finding a cigarette again that tastes like tobacco. I guess that's why the office seemed so hot to Harry when he came in. He stood around a while, little beads of persperation flirting with his eyes and his nose. And he looked strange too. As if maybe he had gained twenty pounds during his rendezvous.

"Boy, it's hot in here," he said. And he pulled off two sweaters. But the little sparkling drops continued to torment his eyes. "Boy," he repeated, "it's really hot." And he took off two more sweaters. And he kept on, until half the sweaters between Joe Fultons and Charlie Tinneys were dangling over the back of Dick's chair.

Yep, a guy can dream up some strange dreams, lying on his back for days.... things like never getting warm again....

Thirty-three years are a lot of years. You can fill a basket with a lot of goodies in that many years, and you can lose a lot of goodies out of your basket too. Folks can, who are always striving and getting and losing. And then they get old, and before age lassos them altogether they have one last fling in one fashion or another. Folks do.

But this is the story of a few old trees. Four or five old gnarled pear trees, that haven't striven much or got much or lost much in the last thirty-three years. They have just been busy having their last fling.

Now I got a letter from Mary McMillan one day last week. Mary used to live down the hill from Granny's house, across the pasture and over a winding wood fence. But she went to Colorado around thirty-three years ago and turned her heart over to such things as aspen trees that always seem frightened at the sound of your footsteps in the mountains; and stars you can reach out and touch with your hands from the lofty peaks; and a breathless unbelievable coloring that floods the sky and spills over on the hills.

"I was wondering about the old gnarled pear trees in the pasture," she wrote, "that were trying to produce a few more scrubby pears as a sort of last fling. . ."

So I walked up to the pasture the next day to be certain about the old trees. They were still there, gnarled the same as then, with a scattering of snowy blossoms glistening in the sun. Sometimes, for trees, the last fling is almost eternity. Beauty gets mixed up in it, somehow, and it's a breathless thing to behold.

News Of Service Men From County

It's sea duty aboard the aircraft carrier USS Valley Forge for Robert H. Rich, fireman apprentice, USN, son of Mrs. Kate Roper of Siluria Route 1.

The Valley Forge, serving its third tour of duty in the Korean area, was the first carrier to launch air strikes against the North Koreans in July, 1950.

Attached to Patrol Squadron 49, one of 15 units of the Atlantic Fleet Air Wings now engaged in Atlantic Fleet convoy exercises, is Melvin T. McGaughy, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. McGaughy of Bessemer, Alabama, and husband of Mrs. Lucile McGaughy of Helena.

The exercises, ranging from Long Island to Panama, are for training in the protection of merchant shipping under wartime conditions.

Transports, tankers and cargo ships are sailing from East coast ports in the same manner as Allied convoys in World War II. Opposing them will be "enemy" forces of submarines, surface raiders and squadrons of land based patrol bombers.

The Convoy will be protected by blimps, long range patrol bombers, destroyer units and carrier based hunter-killer teams.

"It's a long way to Tipperary," but that's nothing compared to the 60,000-mile ocean trip made by Navy men serving aboard the destroyer USS Porterfield, such as Lt. Cmdr. Fred F. Mullins, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred F. Mullins, Sr., of Helena, Alabama.

The Porterfield has covered the 60,000 miles since it left for Korea in July of 1951. In Korea, the Porterfield has taken part in bombardment of the Songjin-Chongjin area in Communist east coast territory, as part of the United Nations Blockading and Escort Force, Task Force 95.

In the near future, the Porterfield will return to the United States after completing its present mission of protecting friendly islands off the western coast of Korea.

Along with other crewmen serving aboard the heavy cruiser USS Helena Claude B. Turner, storekeeper seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Turner of Route 1, Sterrett, Alabama, and husband of the former Miss Verdia M. Wright of Birmingham, Alabama, recently participated in the largest Pacific Fleet training exercises held since the Korean outbreak.

The exercise, called "Lex Baker One," took place off the coast of Southern California. Over 70 ships and 15,000 men of the Navy and the newly activated 3rd Marines participated.

Reality was added to the mock war games by assuming that lower California and several islands off the shore had been captured by an "aggressor" enemy. The Navy's problem was the retaking of the enemy-held islands through amphibious assaults.

Ships of all types were used in the exercises including submarines and aircraft carriers.

"Aggressor" submarines and planes made repeated "attacks" in harassing the task force, adding even more reality to the operation.

UNUSUAL SLEEPING BAG GETS BIGGER WITH BABY

Now, Baby can wear his covers to bed with never a fear of kicking them off in the night.

A new sleeping bag, called "Slumber-Gro" is bieng marketed with a patented "grow" feature, so that one such garment may be used for a three-month-old to a three-year-old child.

Available in sanforized cotton flannelette or cotton blanket cloth, among other fabrics, the bags are made for both summer and winter use. Easy to launder, quick to dry, they provide lightweight-warmth.

The growing powers of the bag are three six-inch folds stitched in the bottom to be let out as needed.

They come in a variety of colors and zip on for easy diapering.

Pennsylvania Town Prospers on Hunch Of Once Poor Farmer

RENOVO, Pa.—Dorcie Galhoun, two years ago an impoverished farmer, today is the Horatio Alger of the booming community of Renovo.

He was the man who believed there was natural gas in the area and he drilled a 5,000 foot hole into the ground 20 miles northwest of the community. It turned out to be the discovery well for the Leidy field, Pennsylvania's biggest natural gas strike in many years.

Now, the farmer-turned-natural-gas-expert drives around town in a custom-built sedan, which he replaces regularly. His pockets bulge with new contracts.

Calhoun's good fortune, however, was not without its trials. For two years he tried to persuade other persons to buy stock in his venture—a hunch hole he planned to drill. A few listened and agreed. Those who did have received $1,350 for every $100 they invested.

There are 65 producing wells in the field now. One has been measured at a flow of 150 million cubic feet daily, thought to be the largest in existence.

Other drilling outfits have moved in seeking to tap the rich natural gas from its bed in the layer of Oriskany sands which spreads in five directions through the area. Four cross-country pipelines are sucking the gas to distant cities for fuel and heat.

Although the entire town of Renovo has benefited from the find, investors and land owners have reaped the greatest rewards. Some people who owned wilderness camp sites or almost barren farmland have struck it rich.

Geologists estimate there's enough gas to flow for seven more years. And meanwhile, more well derricks keep going up throughout the region.

PENTAGON REDUCES STAFF IN PUBLIC RELATIONS

Secretary of the Air Force Finletter has ordered a sixty-five per cent slash in the air arm's public relations staff at the Pentagon by May 1st. This action by Secretary Finletter immediately follows an investigation by the Procurement Subcommittee of the House Armed Services Committee, of which Representative Edward deGraffenried is a Member. The Subcommittee had charged that a great number of excess personnel involved in public information activities were carried by the Armed forces.

SUDAN GRASS PRODUCES SUPPLEMENTARY GRAZING

Growers who need a quick-growing crop for supplementary grazing this summer will do well to think about planting Sudan grass.

According to D. R. Harbor, A. P. I. Extension Service agronomist, it may be seeded any time after danger of frost is past until July 1. It is a summer-growing plant that looks like Johnson grass, and it must be planted each year. It doesn't become a pest because the roots don't live through the winter.

"Sudan grass fits well after such crops as blue lupine, crimson clover, or other winter legumes harvested for seed," says Harbor. "It may also be grown in rotation with reseeding winter legumes, such as Crimson clover, bur clover, and Caley peas."

NEED FOR MORE MILK

Milk production in 1952 is not likely to exceed that of 1951 since there were slightly fewer milk cows on January 1 than a year ago. Total stocks of dairy products on January 1st were considerably below the beginning of 1951.

COTTON LAND

Concentrate your cotton on the best cotton land available. A deep, well-drained soil with a fair amount of organic matter content is desirable. It should respond to higher rates of fertilizer and good management.

GARDENS

Grow more, conserve more, eat more, and waste less. Grow a year-round home garden in 1952, not just a spring garden. Have something green from the home garden every month during the year.

Don't press coat lapels with an iron. It is much more effective to dampen them slightly with a moist cloth, mold them into shape with your fingers, then put the coat on a hanger, and let it dry thoroughly before it's worn or put in the closet.

ATTRACT QUAIL AND CONSERVE SOIL, TOO

Farmers who want to attract quail to their farm and conserve soil at the same time will find that bicolor lespedeza will do the job.

S. R. Doughty, A. P. I. Extension Service soil conservationist, says the crop is a preferred quail food. It may be established from either seed or seedlings, and now is a good time to get the crop started.

"On most farms," says Doughty, "there are non-productive, eroding woodland borders that should be established in this crop. It withstands shade and competition from trees, and, when well established, controls erosion and improves the soil in addition to providing an abundance of food for quail."

The specialist adds that since livestock relish bicolor, it should be planted in borders and areas where grazing is excluded.

WILSONVILLE H. D. C. MEETS

Mrs. O. F. Lokey and Mrs. N. E. Revis were hostesses for the Wilsonville Home Demonstration Club Friday, March 21st. Mrs. Bill Smith, president, presided over the business, after which club members took part in a group discussion on helpful house hints. Miss Cotney, home agent, gave the demonstration on making home tasks lighter.

St. Patrick colors were carried out in delicious refreshments. The following members were present: Mrs. Bill Smith, Mrs. Annie Smith, Mrs. A. A. Thornburg, Mrs. O. P. Ray, Mrs. G. H. Eastis, Mrs. Nona Payne, Mrs. A. P. Lovett, Mrs. L. P. Lovett, Mrs R. V. Brown, Mrs. Dellie Stone, Mrs. Sam Stoudimire, Mrs. A. M. Lokey, Mrs. Jim Batson, and the two hostesses.

The next demonstration will be held at the home of Mrs. Nona Payne.

For calluses and rough hands, try adding a spoonful of salad oil to a paste made of soap and water, then apply to the hands and scrub briskly with a nail brush. Do this as often as you can, and your hands will get smoother in short order.

SKIRT REVUE WINNERS FROM MAYLENE ....

Donna Rae Arnett and Margaret Ann Booth were winners in the Maylene Apron and Skirt Revue, Friday.

Donna Rae is the 8 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Arnett, Route 1, Maylene, and won the Apron Revue with her apron of green and yellow flowered print. Other girls entered were: Jean Arther Abernathy, Nelda Jean Scott, and Claudia Cox.

Margaret Ann Booth winner of the Skirt Revue is the 9 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Booth, Maylene. Other girls entered were: Mary Alice Abernathy and Carolyn Majors.

Donna Rae and Margaret will compete for county honors at Columbiana Wednesday, April 2nd and will model them at the Rally at Alabama College, April 11th.

COLUMBIANA CLUB HAS 'KNOW HOW'

The Columbiana Elementary 4-H Club really has the "Know How" when it comes to putting across their 4-H club work.

How to keep an effective list of girls who have made oatmeal cookies in their club was the problem. Here's the way they solved it. They divised a poster to hang in the school hall showing the names of the girls who had made cookies. The poster was made by Diane Bentley. Little brown gingerbread men are the post and hanging from the line are the letters c-o-o-k-i-e-s. Below are listed the names of these girls: Helen Harrison, Diane Bentley, Glenda Joseph, Linda McGiboney, Jane Moon, Alma Jean Jones, Marthe Walton, Mary Walton, and Judy Horn, who have brought in cookies to be judged.

Mrs. Christine Ellis and Mrs. Effie Sims are Teacher Sponsors for the club.

Home Town Goes All-Out To Welcome Carlsen

WOODBRIDGE, N.J.—The home town of Capt. Kurt Carlsen couldn't match the ticker tape blizzard that poured on the reluctant hero in New York, but it still welcomed him home with the biggest celebration in its 238 year history. Nearly 100,000 persons—friends, neighbors, well wishers—crowded into the community to welcome the skipper of the Flying Enterprise.

They trimmed the town in candy striped ribbons, staked out flags, waved balloons and banners, closed the stores and cheered the skipper as he rode through the quiet, tree lined streets.

During the parade, which lasted an hour and a half, factory whistles screamed, bells tolled and people lined the parade route to see the man who fought the Atlantic for 15 days in a futile effort to save his vessel.

At the municipal building on Main Street the governor of New Jersey, Alfred. E. Driscoll delivered the welcoming address.

During the parade, Carlsen said: "I've never seen anything like it. The parade in New York was terrific, but this is something special. This is my home town. These are my people."

Sixteen bands and many other marching units joined in making the welcome the best officials could produce in the community which once won the title of "typical American town."

NEW HOPE

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Sorrell have returned to their home in Birmingham after spending the week end visiting Mr. and Mrs. Claude Bishop and other relatives in the community.

Mrs. Carol B. Armstrong of Chattanooga, is the house guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Allen this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Patton Rutherford of Helena, were Sunday guests of his brother, James Rutherford and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Self of Birmingham visited the Dud McGuires here recently. Mr. Self was engaged in the dairy business in Shelby county before going to Birmingham.

Miss Evelyn Cross of Bessemer has spent the past week as the house guest of her Uncle, Garland Cross and family.

Mrs. W. E. Sorrell spent several days in Altoona recently, when she visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Gable.

George W. Collins is improving at The East End Memorial Hospital, where he was carried for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Mullins of Birmingham, were Sunday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cross.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Davis visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Davis in Oak Grove, Friday.

Friends here are delighted with the report that three of the community's "favorite sons" are on their way back from Korea. These boys are: Mal Davis, Robert Cross and Tommy Edwards.

Miss Grace Cross continues to improve at her home here. She was a patient at the Jefferson Hospital for two weeks, after having been severely injured in a collision of a car and a motorcycle.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hilley and little daughter, Carol, were guests of relatives in Gadsden Saturday and Sunday.

One bale of cotton will provide material enough for 7,500 handkerchiefs.

APPLESAUCE TREAT FROM DRIED APPLES

Dried or evaporated apple rings on the market today.... a modern version of the apple grandmother used to dry.... contain more moisture than most dried apples; therefore, they will make dishes just as delicious as the ones made with fresh apples.

A recipe which gives good success with dried apples is one recommended by Mary Hulsey, A. P. I. Extension Service nutritionist. Here are the ingredients: 2 cups of dried or evaporated apple rings, 4 cups of water, pinch of salt, 2 tablespoons of sugar, and 1/4 teaspoon of lemon juice. To prepare the dish, wash apple rings and place them in salted water. The next step is to cover apples and boil gently for 5 minutes or until transparent. The cooked apples should be pressed through a colander while hot.

After sugar and lemon juice are stirred in, the result is about 4 cups of delicious applesauce.

GENERAL RULES FOR REMOVAL OF STAINS

Treat stains as soon as possible after they occur. After they have dried or have been set by laundering it may be very difficult or impossible to remove them.

Levis Ellis, A. P. I. Extension Service clothing specialist, advised that the mildest treatment be used first. If the stain is not greasy, try sponging it with cold water. Sugary stains are easily removed with clear water. If the stain contains grease, a dry cleaning fluid or soapsuds may do the trick.

"Some stains are combination of several types and may require several kinds of treatment," says the specialist. "For example, a fruit-flavored, ice cream stain should be treated as a sugar, egg, grease, and fruit stain."

To make window panes extra shiny, add a liberal pinch of bluing and a couple of drops of kerosene to a pail of hot soapsuds.

Newest Drug Rids Oregon Town of Rats

HALSEY, Ore. — Halsey, located about 85 miles south of Portland, once plaugued by rats, today hasn't a rodent in the community. It is all due to a new drug called Warfarin.

The village of 400 is a shopping center for surrounding farms, mostly producing grass seeds. And it had six combination seed store-mills which arrtacted rats. Of 181 buildings in Halsey, 147 were infested.

In fact, rats just about had a free swing in the town. Twelve of 18 business establishments were infested; the town's four restaurants and grocery stores had rats; all six seed store-mills had many visitors; 106 of the 130 residences were plagued and of 23 other buildings, such as churches and lodge halls, 19 supported rodents.

For this reason the community was chosen for a six-month field test to see if the drug Warfarin would clear out rodents. Warfarin is obtained from a chemical called di-cumoral. It keeps blood from coagulating.

Buffer Strip Set Up

Given to a rat the rodent's small blood vessels start to leak and eventually he dies of internal hemorrhage. Since no nerves are involved the rat doesn't get the idea he's been poisoned after he has eaten Warfarin. He just becomes weaker and weaker and generally goes back to his burrow to keep warm and then dies.

The Halsey campaign started by making a buffer strip around the town with bait stations under all outside buildings.

Six or seven old barns, out of use, were torn down to reduce nesting places. Rubble was cleaned up; chicken feed was covered. One feed store cleaned out a big blackberry patch which had been a hiding place for the rats.

Milton H. Buehler, Jr., the rodent control expert, recalls, "Why, before we started our experiment, you could stand in the door of one feed mill and see the rat runways for a block and a half away. They had worn the grass right down into a path."

After the first 30 days, only one rat was sighted and by late fall no rats or traces were found for several months.

Check System Established

Now that the community is rat conscious, it has set up a watch system. The night watchman checks the buffer strips to see they are baited. That's to keep out all out-of-town rats. But if anybody hears a rat or sees any traces inside the buffer zone, he notifies one of the town's three grocers or the mayor. Then the night watchman baits the spot.

As a result of the experiment, rat-fighters belive that in Warfarin they have a weapon that can be widely used. It is very effective on rats and mice, but is not too toxic on humans and other animals.

Mr. Buehler reports each rat will do $20 to $30 damage a year and will eat up $3 in feed. He stresses the importance of vigilant control, emphasizing the fecundity of rats. A female rat starts having litters of six to 10 young when three and a half to four months old. And if well-fed with good harborage, she will have from six to eight litters yearly.

Rip and Tuck Former Name of Small Town

EVERETT, W. Va.—The 200 residents of Everett have a feud with the United States Post Office department. It's all over the name of their town.

To the inhabitants the community is known as "Rip and Tuck". That was the official name until a few years ago when a group of residents petitioned the post master general for the change to Everett. The situation remains static. The natives calling the town Rip and Tuck and the Post Office calling it Everett.

Old residents have two main theories about how the little community originally got its name.

One says that after a flood around 1900, an old man described the rampage of the local creek thus: "The creek came-a-rippin' and a-tuckin' down through this here valley."

However, a more fanciful explanation concerns two well-known old maids, one tall and the other short, who once lived here. It is said they had only one good dress between them. When the tall one wanted to wear it, the hem had to be ripped out. When the short one used it, the hem was tucked up.

Town Orders Picture Windows in All Bars

HENRYETTA, Okla.—The people of Henryetta are determined to know what's going on. The town council recently passed an ordinance requiring all tavern and pool-hall owners to install picture windows in their establishments.

The council took that action after Police Chief Tom Liddell was knocked unconscious and hospitalized after walking into a Main Street tavern.

"We want to know what's going on in there," Liddell said. "If they're not ashamed of what they're doing they'll co-operate with us."

PEN POINT PARAGRAPHS

Mildred White Wallace

TO THE FELLOWS WHO LOSE

Not all candidates after May 6, 1952 will have their efforts crowned with the glorious halo of victory. When success triumphs and victory is won, courage is easy, but the losing man rarely ever gets the ready plaudits of a whimsical world, the "vanquished banners never are unfurled".... and it is of those vanquished ones I think today as I raise my penpoint to praise the man who can lose with a smile.

Let others cheer the winning man
There's one I hold worth while
'Tis he who does the best
he can,
Then loses with a smile.
Beaten he is, but not to stay
Down with the rank and file;
That man will win another day
Who loses with .... a smile!

'I SHALL NOT BE A CANDIDATE'

"I shall not be a candidate" spoken emphatically by Harry S. Truman, president of the United States at the Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner, March 29, in Washington, D. C., will doubtless become as famous as the statement once made by President Calvin Coolidge, when he relinquished any further ambitions to preside over the nation. Mr. Coolidge said: "I do not chose to run"....

When President Truman made the statement at the close of his address to the Democrats, on the occasion above mentioned, it came as a complete surprise, the President continued with a few remarks in substance like this.... "I do not believe it is my duty to spend another term in the White House. I have served my country long and I believe honestly and efficiently.

"I shall not accept a renomination. I do not feel that it is my duty to spend another four years in the White House.

"We must always remember the things the Democratic Party has done, and the high ideals that have made it great" etc etc....

It is said tears of happiness streamed down the face of Mrs. Truman as she heard the president's remarks, and that she had more to do with the final decision made by Mr. Truman, than anyone.

So, with a part of the Democratic picture for 1952 clarified, people naturally are talking about who will head the Democratic ticket. There are several outstanding possibilities, all distinguished Americans possessing the necessary qualifications that would tend to inspire confidence in their leadership. Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, Senator Dick Russell of Georgia, Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, appear to be among those most universally discussed as Democratic potential candidates for the presidency.

At any rate, the Democratic Donkey has perked up his ears and is getting ready to give somebody a merry chase up Capitol Hill.

STOCK MUST BE FENCED IN BY MAY 1 UNDER LAW

After May 1st, Bossy and Ferdidand cannot legally walk contentedly along chewing their cuds on Alabama Highways. Alabama cattlemen and farmers have two more months to fence their livestock off the roads and highways before the new statewide stock law goes into effect.

After May Day, any cattle found just roaming around or ambling along on the Highways may be picked up and impounded and the owners penalized.

The Highway Patrol has the responsibility of enforcing this law and they are making arrangements in every county to have stray animals picked up and held until claimed by the owner.

This stock law was passed by the last Legislature and the date fixed for May 1, 1952 to give farmers time to put up their fences. The law applies to all livestock.

RELIGION IN ACTION

The Red Cross is Religion in action.

There are innumerable reasons for each of us to share in the service of love and helpfulness, through our wonderful Red Cross, and not one valid reason to neglect or refuse, if able, to do our part, can be cited.

The Red Cross makes our faith genuine, our patriotism real, our humanitarianism sincere. Let us all help, here and now.

Chairman McDow Issues Statement On Red Cross

As chairman of the 1952 Red Cross Fund Drive in Columbiana I am happy to report that we hope to go over the top with our quota of $800 this week.

The members of the Columbiana Kiwanis Club, which sponsors the Red Cross Fund Drive in Columbiana each year, realize the increased needs of the Red Cross this year and are working especially hard to meet the quota assigned to Columbiana.

The Red Cross is making every effort to meet the needs of the expanded armed services, the needs of a tremendous National Blood Program, and of course the needs of the many victims of the many many disasters which have struck our country during the past several months. The good people of our community have realized these needs and have been generous with their contributions.

To date, there has been raised in Columbiana $650 of our $800 quota.

I would like to be able to list every individual contribution but of course space will not permit. But, I would like to especially recognize the contributions of the good people who are employees of our local Valley Mills. They have contributed over 12½% of our local quota, for a total of $100.61. The teachers of our schools have contributed $36. The business and professional people of this city have contributed over $500.

In order that every one in residential districts might have the opportunity of giving to the Red Cross, the Kiwanis Club will forego part of its usual program this Thursday evening and each Kiwanian will assist in a house to house canvas from 7:30 'till 8:30 P. M.

The Kiwanians hope thru this method to raise $150 necessary to complete Columbiana's quota. May I take this opportunity to thank, thru the columns of your good paper, each Kiwanian who has worked so hard to make this Drive a success; and every individual who has contributed. I know that, with everyone's cooperation, we shall surely reach our goal this week.

861 LIVES SNUFFED OUT ON STATE ROADS IN '51

Motor vehicle accidents killed an average of one and third more Alabamians a month last year than in 1950.

The State Department of Health said yesterday that 861 deaths in this state were attributed to this cause last year. The 1950 total was 845, or 16 fewer. In 1949 680 Alabama deaths were attributed to this cause.

The State Health Department announcement was based upon provisional reports prepared by the Department's Bureau of Vital Statistics. These may differ slightly from the final reports not yet available.

MRS. ANNA LEE WYATT COUNTY TEACHER, PASSES

With profound sorrow the Shelby County Teachers Association records the death of one of its most earnest and zealous members, Mrs. Anna Lee Wyatt. Mrs. Wyatt for several years had been a faithful teacher in the Shelby County schools. By her death we have lost a beloved associate whose outstanding character as a teacher reflected honor upon our Association and whose memory is worthy inspiration for all times.

Therefore, be it resolved:

1. In the death of Mrs. Wyatt our Association has lost an able, loyal, and useful member; her family a tender, loving wife and mother; her community an honored citizen.

2. That we tender to the bereaved husband and children our sincerest sympathy.

3. That a copy of these resolutions be presented her family, a copy spread upon the minutes of the Association, a copy sent to the Alabama School Journal and a copy to the Shelby County Reporter-Democrat.

UNUSUAL WEDDING IN CALERA

Tuesday night, March 21, in the Baptist Church in Calera, a wedding of unusual interest was held. The bride is the daughter of John Midget, formely connected with Barnum and Bailey's show and the groom is the grandson of Tom Thumb, famous for his tour of the world.

The wedding featured a number of local people and a neat sum was realized for the School Library.

FRANK NELSON DIES

Frank Nelson, prominent citizen of Birmingham, died at his home in that city Friday after an illness of two weeks. He was 64 years old. Mr. Nelson was born in Columbiana. He moved to Birmingham and entered business there and became one of the city's most successful financiers. He was actively identified with the city's industrial life, and at the time of his death was president of the Nelson Coal Co.

Mr. Nelson was the brother of H. W. Nelson of Columbiana and H. S. Nelson of Shelby Springs.

(The Frank Nelson Building in Birmingham today bears monumental evidence of his commercial success.)

John L. Goodwyn

JOHN L. GOODWYN CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED HIMSELF AS ASSOCIATE JUSTICE

Seeking a full term on the Alabama Supreme Court, Associate Justice John L. Goodwyn, of Montgomery, is a candidate to succeed himself in the May 6 Democratic primary.

Judge Goodwyn was appointed associate justice No. 2 on the high court last September of Governor Gordon Persons to take the place vacated by elevation of Associate Justice Ed Livingston to chief justice.

He is asking the voters of the state to give him a chance to serve a full six-year term on the court.

Aside from his legal training and experience as practicing attorney and legal adviser to the governor, Justice Goodwyn is well versed in governmental affairs.

When he returned from overseas at the end of World War II, he was elected Mayor of Montgomery to serve the unexpired term of Mayor David E. Dunn, who resigned. Goodwyn was reelected mayor in 1947 and served until January, 1951, when he accepted the post as legal adviser to Governor Persons.

Justice Goodwyn is a member of a distinguished Alabama political family. His father, the late Robert Tyler Goodwyn, was an eminent lawmaker and chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Pelham J. Merrill

PELHAM J. MERRELL CANDIDATE ASSOCIATE JUSTICE

Only North Alabama candidate for the Supreme Court, Cleburne County Representative Pelham J. Merrill is pushing ahead with his campaign for associate justice in the May 6 Democratic primary.

Merrill, 44-year-old Heflin attorney and speaker pro-tem of the House of Representatives, is running for place No. 1 on the high court being given up by Associate Justice A. B. Foster. Judge Foster is retiring after this year.

While Merrill is the only candidate for the Supreme Court from the northern part of the state, he reportedly has strong support in South Alabama and other sections.

An outstanding legislator, he has been elected four times.... Merrill is serving his second time as speaker pro-tem. He also is chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

He was chosen by the press as the "most resourceful" member of the 1947 House of Representatives. And at the close of the 1951 session, the newspapermen voted him the "most effective House member."

Merrill received his A. B. degree from University of Alabama at 18. He taught school before being graduated in law from the University. He is married to the former Gladys Mae Morrison, of West Blocton.

He is the son of William A. Duke, Siluria.

SUMMER HILL CHURCH

Well, guess who was there Sunday? None other than the Rev. Eliga Horton of Fayette, Alabama. Brought an inspiring message from Gal. 6:14. It was enjoyed by everyone present.

The Bible discussion was taken from Dan. 5. Everyone took part and it was very interesting indeed.

Bible readers please be present next Sunday with any questions you have and we will see what the word of God says about them.

Seek and ye shall find. Knock and it shall be opened. Ask and ye shall receive.

Come to see us and pray much.

PARKS AND HUNTING SEASONS OPEN

The Alabama Conservation Department opened three important seasons in the state April 1 for persons interested in the out-of-doors.

Alabama's state park system were thrown open to the public for the 1952 season. Last year, conservation officials registered an all-time record attendance of 1,401,302 visitors to the eight state parks.

The other two seasons opened April 1 were turkey hunting in two state forests. The William B. Bankhead Forest in Northwest Alabama opened for 20 days from April 1-20.

At the same time the Oakmulgee Division of Talladega National Forest in West-Central Alabama will be open for 15 days from April 1-15.

Permits in each of the two forested areas will cost hunters $2 each. Shooting from an automobile or across roads and highways is not permitted and shell loads are limited to from No. 2 to No. 6 shot.

JOHN BEASLEY, FORMER RESIDENT PASSES

On March 1, 1952, Mr. John Beasley of Route 1, Bessemer, Alabama passed away. The funeral was held on Sunday, March 2, from the Concord Baptist Church, with the Revs. Colburn, Lindsay, and Broomall officiating. Burial was in the adjoining cemetery.

Survivors include two sons, W. M. Beasley of Concord, J. E. Beasley of Woodstock and one daughter, Mrs. Effie Atchison of Route 1, Bessemer, Alabama. Other survivors include ten grandchildren and thirteen great-grandchildren. Two brothers, Kinney C. Beasley of Pell City and O. C. Beasley of Birmingham and one sister, Mrs. Martha Edwards of Bessemer also survive.

Mr. Beasley will be remembered as a long time resident of this county. He and his family lived for years in the communities of Prospect No. 2 and Dogwood, where he is well remembered for his hearty neighborliness and upstanding Christian life.

First Bank Of Alabaster Marks Progress

Kildred White Wallace

The First Bank of Alabaster which opened January 21, 1952, has, since its initial beginning, steadily increased its volume of business both in deposits and in patronage. The goal of this financial institution is $1,000,000 in deposits on or before its first anniversary, and, from the figures we have obtained, there is not a doubt but that their objective will be achieved.

George L. Scott, Jr., the bank's genial and friendly president, states he is "well pleased with this investment in Shelby county," and citizens residing in this vicinity, point wth pride to the unprecedented growth of this banking facility, and tell us that the slogan.... "A local bank serving local people" is being carried out in a most satisfactory manner.

They further state that this financial institution is playing a vital role in the promotion of new enterprises and new commercial ventures in this section of the county. The result of this "faith" in Shelby county and her people will doubtless bring about a permanent prosperity which would not have been possible had not keen business men visioned these advantages and made them available.

We take pleasure in calling your attention to a series of advertisements which will appear in this paper for the next few weeks from the First National Bank of Alabaster and suggest that if you have financial problems, that you consult the friendly officials of this bank, feeling sure they will be glad to assist you in solving them.

Pelham Church Observes 4-H Sunday

4-H Sunday was observed March 23rd, at the Pelham Methodist with 22 children participating. A basket of white gladiolus, snapdragons and Chrysanthemums with suitable greenery, an altar draped in white with green 4-H emblems was a colorful background for the white skirts and blouses of the 4-Hers with their head and arm bands decorated with 4-H emblems. 4-Hers acted as ushers and all the music was youth selections. The Lord's Prayer was led by the 4-Hers. Shelby Dean Shelton led the 4-H Pledge, which preceded the Affirmation of Faith. Billy Cumberland and Travis Bentley took the offering and the group sang as a special, "Living For Jesus." Rev. Willard Jones sermon was fitted to the theme of 4-H "Serving as Loyal Citizens thru 4-H."

Adult Leaders assisting the 4-Hers in this observation were: Mrs. George Bentley, Mrs. Mason Cumberland, and Mrs. Herbert Poole.

Funeral

Ex-Farmer to Repeat

BURLINGTON, Col.—The people of Burlington are in for another show—and many of them don't like it. Jim Gernhard is planning a repeat performance of his own "funeral".

Gernhard, who will be 75 in June, presided over his own "funeral" last year. It cost him an estimated $15,000 which included a $4,000 copper coffin, $2,500 granite monument and incidentals. The coffin is stored in his basement.

"Don't think it will be near as big a blowout as it was last time," he said of this year's event. "Those big funerals are mighty tiring, you know . . . a man can't take just so much of them."

A retired farmer, Gernhard ran into mild opposition last year. He said he held the "funeral" partly to make sure he wasn't buried like a dog, and partly to spend some of his estimated $75,000 fortune before his death "so that relatives won't get it".

New Television Set May Take TV to Country

PLYMOUTH, Ind. — Television, which during the past several years has altered the lives and habits of millions of people in the metropolitan centers, is now within reach of a vast new audience in the smaller towns and rural communities.

This new audience—an estimated 5,000,000 families who live within 100 miles of a broadcasting station, but beyond the range that until now has been the usual limit of consistently good television reception—has been impatiently awaiting the time when they could share with their city friends the entertainment and education offered by TV.

New Set Introduced

John Meck Industries of Plymouth recently introduced a new television set that doubles the distance at which clear, steady pictures can be received.

"The effect of television on the people of the cities has been revolutionary, but it is even more important to families living in the outlying section," John S. Meck, president of the firm, said recently.

Meck points out that since the entertainment and recreational opportunities in the average small town or rural community are limited, the chance to witness the amusements, sports and public affairs that television brings into the home will be doubly appreciated by those now able to enjoy them for the first time.

"With television, rural families can become just as familiar with the world of drama, opera, big-time sports and public activities as the people who live in the cities where these events are staged," he said. "The children, particularly, will love television, and with proper supervision of their viewing time and habits, can benefit enormously from its many entertaining and broadening programs.

Offers New Advantages

"Even more than with city families your first television set will bring about many changes in your family's habits. Your family will spend much more time at home, instead of at their separate outside activities.

But more important, in Meck's opinion, is television's ability to end the relative lack of contact with the rest of the country that has been the only real drawback to small-town and rural living.

"Now another big group of people can enjoy all the advantages of living away from the congestion and confusion of life in the city, and still be able to witness in their own homes many of the major attractions that the cities offer. There is something for each member of the family, whether his interest is in a Broadway play, a major sports attraction, a scientific demonstration or the latest exploits of Hopalong Cassidy," he said.

Machinery Threatens Existence of Old Dobbins

PIERRE, S. D.—Farm mechanization has threatened the existence of old dobbin in South Dakota, a 1951 state assessment survey reveals.

The new survey figures show that state's farmers have more tractors and combines than horses. There are about 98,600 in South Dakota now, a decrease of 21,000 in one year.

There are 85,000 tractors, an increase of 3,000 in one year, and 20,800 combines, an increase of 2,000.

California Village Has Record Building Requests

VISTA, Calif—Building permits for the community of Vista, population 1,000, reached an all-time high during October. Building permits for the month aggregated $219,854.

The permits included 21 one-family dwellings, 47 additions or alterations, 16 private garages, 3 barns or storage places, 2 commercial buildings, 3 repairs to commercial buildings and 5 duplexes.

Hydrogen Plant Is Going Up Where Town Of 600 Once Stood

ELLENTON, S. C.—A little less than a year ago the folks who lived in and near Ellenton were informed the government was taking over their homes and lands and that a gigantic hydrogen bomb plant would be built in the middle of the cotton plantations.

The government acted quickly. The 6,000 natives, who lived a slow, pleasant rural life, were moved out and relocated. And then the government moved in.

Today, former residents of the area would not recognize their homes and lands. Some 25,000 strangers bang around in the area. Out of the peanut and cotton fields have grown curious office buildings, gigantic Quonset huts, shaped like snow crystals and bustling with the work of 2,000 clerks and technicians.

A four-lane highway cuts through what was once some of the best quail hunting grounds in the United States. Bulldozers grunt and rumble and tear up thickets, green pastures are churned into raw, brick-red clay.

Trailer camps have sprung up everywhere and land prices have increased from $20 an acre to $500 or more. While communities such as New Ellentown have grown up from nothing, and old towns as Jackson and North Augusta, dormant for generations, have quintupled in size.

Sharecroppers disappear and show up the following day digging post holes for the government at $50 a week, as much cash as they earned in three or four months as a field hand.

And the landlord moves his shack off the neglected fields to a highway and rents it to plant employes.

All this is taking place at Ellenton, former population 600, where the citizens dozed under the shade trees on Main Street at noon and never a traffic light blinked before

Town Must Investigate Any Proposed Industry

DES MOINES, Ia.—N. Bernard Gussett, president of Iowa Power and Light company, in a speech to the annual conference of the Mid-Continent Development Council, warned that small towns have the right and the obligation to investigate a proposed new industry.

Many communities, eager of a new industry, dare not "look the gift horse in the mouth," but they should do so "because one error can do great community harm," he said.

He cited instances where unsuitable or fraudulent industries had exploited the community support they received and then outlined a few questions the town should consider in its independent investigation.

A few are:

If a plant is to be built, what will be the magnitude and duration of the construction payroll? Will it use local labor or imported crews?

What will be the magnitude, duration and, above all, continuity of the operating payroll? Will it be long-term, or a quick mining of resources?

What influences will work to slow down or shut down the plant? Does it depend on crop conditions? Seasonal shutdowns? Weather?

What about employees—can they be found locally? If they are to be imported, what kind of people will they be? Where will they live? Will they crowd schools, hospitals, other facilities? Or will they be an asset?

"If communities consider these questions, and act accordingly, I am convinced many mis-alliances will be avoided, and many, many happy community-industry, marriages will live on and on," Gussett said.

Are the knobs of your kitchen cabinets and dresser draws always working loose? Make a small washer out of a piece of fine sandpaper, thread it onto the screw, with the abrasive side next to the drawer, and tighten. You'll never struggle with loose knobs again.

Eli Whitney's cotton gin turned out 50 pounds of cotton per day. Modern gins turn out 3,00 pounds of cotton per hour!

SHELBY COUNTY BOYS IN ARMED SERVICES

The aircraft carrier USS Essex has returned to the United States from a nine-month tour of duty in the Korean combat zone.

Serving aboard the Esses is Willard T. Champion, seamon, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford E. Champion of Westover, Alabama.

After a 40-million-dollar modernization job, the 27,000-ton flat top was recommissioned January 15, 1951. In June of 1951 the Essex sailed for Korea carrying the new F2H Banshees.

Air Group 5, attached to the Essex, was the first Navy air group to fly against the North Koreans. The air group flew two tours of combat duty.

There are no powder puffs or lipstick aboard the USS Titania, in spite of the fact that she was named after Shakespear's queen, but the USS Titania has carried a wide range of items since it entered Korean waters with such men aboard as Johnny K. Tisdale, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Nicholson, of Route 1, Sterrett.

At the outbreak of Korean fighting, the Titania was en route from the United States to Guam, but was diverted to Japan where she loaded personnel and Medical units for Pusan, Korea. Shortly after this first voyage to Korea, special bins were installed for carrying ammunition and she shuttled between Japan and Korea for nine months as an ammunition transport before she was converted once again to a general cargo vessel.

The oldest ship of her class, the Titania has been in constant service since her commissioning in 1942. During World War II, she participated in the African invasion and was later assigned to the Pacific where she participated in the invasions of the Solomons, Guam and Saipan.

COUNTY HAS 50 DEATHS IN LAST THREE MONTHS OF '51

Shelby county contributed 50 to the state total of 6,757 deaths from all causes reported during the last three months of 1951. The announcement was made today by the State Department of Health.

The state total consisted of 3,888 deaths of white people and 2,869 of negroes, the Department said. It pointed out that all figures were based upon provisional reports prepared by the Department's Bureau of Vital Statistics. These may differ slightly from the final reports not yet available.

VETERAN,S COLUMN

E. J. SULLIVAN, VSO

Our topic for this week for discussion will be the Class Q Allotment.

Just who is entitled to a Class Q Allotment? First, of course, there is the wife. NEXT, the serviceman's unmarried children under 21 years of age, or an UNMARRIED CHILD OVER 21 years of age if the child is Physically or Mentally unable to support himself and is dependent upon the serviceman for over one-half of support.

An adopted child or a step child may be eligible for a Class Q Allotment, also. Then we have the Mother and Father, whether NATURAL or by ADOPTION, and a step-parent may be eligible unless marriage to the BLOOD parent has been terminated by DIVORCE. And finally any person who has stood in place of a parent to the service member at any time for a continuous period of at least five years during the minority of the enlisted member.

The classes of persons who are not eligible for the Class Q Allotment under any circumstances. Of course the divorced wife of the enlisted member is not entitled to the Class Q Allotment. Children to whom the enlisted member stood as parent; a step-child after divorce from the blood parent; a service member's child who has been adopted by third party; the service members in-laws, grandparents and brothers and sisters.

Parents must prove that they are dependent upon the serviceman for more than one-half of their support. For instance, a mother residing with the husband in a family unit, in which the husband provides over fifty per cent of the expenses of the unit, cannot be considered an enlisted member's dependent, even if the husband is not providing adequately for her needs. For example, if a husband's income was $50 per month and the service member gave them $50 per month, the parents would not be a dependent of the enlisted member, as he gave only fifty per cent to their support. REMEMBER, more than one-half. Those words, MORE THAN ONE-HALF, will answer your question as to whether or not you should receive the allotment.

When you receive one of the allotment forms, carry it to your Veterans' Service Officer, Department Of Veterans' Affairs and have him to help you with it. Before you do this take the form and read the questions and write the answers down on paper, so that when you get to his office you will have everything at your fingertips. For instance, try to get a good idea as to how much money you spend a month for food, rent, clothing, medicine, and other items. Write down the names and addresses, as well as the ages of your other children, if any. Also, know how much other members of the family contribute to your support. All of these questions must be answered, and it will save lots of time if you will be prepared to answer them.

CAMP BRANCH CHURCH NEWS

The W. S. C. S. entertained with a miscellaneous shower at the church Friday night, March 28th, honoring Mrs. James Patton, nee Ann Mooney, a recent bride. Bettye Faye Wyatt sang a group of songs, accompanied at the piano by Ruth Naish.

Mrs. Herbert Fulton and Mrs. Floyd Blankenship conducted a contest on household slogans, useful to any bride. After this, the group enjoyed a social hour during which the bride was assisted by her groom in opening many beautiful and useful gifts. Delicious refreshments, punch, sandwiches and individual cakes decorated in pink and green were served to the guests.

The M. Y. F. under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Fulton, Adult Counselor, enjoyed visiting at Siluria Methodist Church Sunday night. They assisted Siluria M. Y. F. in putting on a program, which was inspirational. After the program the two groups enjoyed a social hour and refreshments in the church basement.

Every phase of church, school and community work is being hampered by much sickness, among grown-ups and children alike. We trust this situation will be cleared up in the very near future.

Alabama's forest furnish the state almost as much cash return as the iron and steel industries, with some 18,000,000 acres, or 8 per cent of Alabama lands in timber. The timber industry in Alabama employes about 100,000 workers.

State March of Dimes Chairman Albert Stapp, of Birmingham, says that Alabama citizens gave more than $500,000 to the campaign in 1951. Preliminary reports this year disclose that a total of $506,617.91 has been received, compared to a former previous high of $351,093.98.

Charlie Hayes, 25-year-old Sheffield negro, isn't at all particular about who he takes money from. Hayes is charged with stealing a cash box containing over $1,500 from the Sheffield Police Station.

Many private and civic organizations are joining the move to have Gadsden's new bridge across the Coosa River called the J. Herbert Meighan Bridge, in honor of the late mayor there, who was outstanding in Alabama political and civic circles.

Among the social activities honoring the bride was a tea shower March 12, at the home of Mrs. W. G. Littrell of Moulton, with Mrs. Everett Mullican as co-hostess.

Mrs. Jasper Holcombe, Jr., entertained with a miscellaneous tea shower at her home in Calera, March 26th Mrs. Charlie Davis, Montgomery, Mrs. D. G. Wallace, Calera, Mrs. M. W. Hammond, Keystone, Co-hostess.

Mrs. Z. S. Cowart, Sr., and Mrs. Z. S. Cowart, Jr., will entertain with a luncheon, April 5th at the home of Mrs. Z. S. Cowart, Sr., for the bride and her attendants.

The bride and her sister, Mrs. R. W. Lockridge, will have a buffet supper April 5th at the home of the bride, just before the rehearsal for the bridal party.

Mrs. J. H. Johnson will entertain with after rehearsal party for the bridal party at her home in Calera, Mrs. Benny Peacock, Bessemer, co-hostess.

Mrs. Z. S. Cowart, Mrs. M. W. Hammond, Mrs. R. E. Bowdon, and Mrs. R. E. Bowdon, Jr. will entertain out of town guests of the bridal party.

Kentucky Community's Growth Is Phenomenal

CAMPBELLSVILLE, Ky. — The growth of Campbellsville, Ky., has been phenominal in the last 20 years, a recent industrial survey by the state government reveals.

Twenty years ago the community had a population of 1,200 people. Today, in the same area, there are 6,000 residents.

For many years, lumber, logs, staves, crossties and other lumber products had been the greatest asset. And to a large extent the payrolls from these timber industries supported the community.

At the end of 1951, the survey showed the community had more than 20 industries employing 800 or more people with a payroll of $2,000,000 a year with plans to expand by additional payrolls of about $2,000,000 within the next twelve months.

Since the arrival of the new industries the community has prospered. New business houses have been erected on Main Street, side streets and in the suburbs. Better looking store fronts and well-lighted show windows have appeared and—more important—there are many more employees behind the counters and desks.

To keep pace with this growth the community has a new water system under construction. There is a new hospital, new buildings for the local college campus, and a new 40-acre sportsmen's lake for fishing and boating.

The community has a new hotel and several motels.

We are not offering this as a proven statement, but we've heard that of all the labor-saving devices invented for women none has ever been so popular as a husband with money.

Bible Comment:

Christ Arisen Gives New Faith to His Dejected Disciples

THE Resurrection of Jesus of Nazareth is the one great ray of light, hope, faith and inspiration in what, without that fact, would be a dark and gloomy world.

It is in the presence of death that we seek some evidence that can assuage its sadness and create some overpowering hope and confidence that can bring light into darkness and tragedy. There is no evidence in nature. life. or history, except, the evidence of the Resurrection of Jesus. It is the one supreme fact.

And what evidence have we of that Resurrection? The evidence of disciples whose own lives, outlook and actions were changed by the fact that they saw Him after His crucifixion.

They were affected by His death just as we all are effected by the death of one we love. They were sad beyond measure, and they were bewildered by the blow that had been struck.

But beyond their sadness was the intensity of a great disappointment and discouragement, the blasting of hopes that had been great enough to induce them to leave everything and follow a Master about to establish a kingdom.

Then suddenly their complete despair was transformed into a revival of faith that, in itself, was as the resurrection of something that had died. In that new-found faith their vain ambitions and their disputations about who should be first were all left behind.

Vision and courage of a new comprehension of the meaning of Christ and His Gospel inspired them to go forth to their spiritual conquest of the world.

The miracle of what happened to the disciples is the miracle of the Resurrection. And faith in the Risen Lord has been the power and inspiration of those who have followed in their footsteps to bring to man God's gift of eternal life.

We've just learned what the average man is: He's 36 around the chest, 40 around the waist, 96 around the golf course, and a nuisance around the house. — Chilton County News.

People are certain to stew about something. Those who aren't fussing about the country being in the red are worrying about the reds being in the country. — The Pipe Line.

INFORMATION REGARDING CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Do you know a crippled child who needs special treatment or help?

If you do, the Alabama Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., wants to know who that child is, so that he may receive the specialized services made possible through the organization with funds collected at Easter.

That announcement was made today by Mr. Carl A. Morring, Jr., Huntsville, president of the Society, who pointed out that Easter Seal time is the best time to reafirm our purpose of serving crippled children.

"This month, when Easter Seals are carrying our message of hope to so many homes in our state, is the best possible time to reafirm our purpose of offering assistance to every crippled child whom we can help," Mr. Morring said. "In line with that purpose, we hope to be able to increase our funds and thus enlarge and expand our service program, ultimately providing all services needed by the Crippled Children of Alabama.

According to Mr. Morring, specific services offered by the Alabama Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., include the following:

1. Hospitalization and convalescent care
2. Braces, shoes, crutches
3. Wheel chairs and other appliances
4. Medicines and drugs
5. Plastic surgery
6. Speech training

Mr. Morring asked that those who know persons needing such services refer them to the Local County Health Department or the State Crippled Children Society in Montgomery.

A MORNING WISH

The sun is just rising on the morning of another day, the first day of the week, and the first day of another month. What can I wish that this day or week or month, may bring to me? Nothing that shall make the world or others poorer, nothing at the expense of other men; but just those few things which in their coming do not stop with me, but touch me rather, as they pass and gather strength; A few friends who understand me and yet remain my friends. A work to do which has real value without which the world would feel the poorer.

A mind unafraid to travel, even though the trail be not blazed.

An understanding heart.

A sight of the eternal hills and unresting sea, and of something beautiful the hand of man has made.

A sense of humor and the power to laugh. A little leisure with nothing to do. A few moments of quiet, silent meditation. The sense of the presence of God.

And the patience to wait for the coming of these things, with the wisdom to know then, when they come. (W.R. Hunt)

. . . Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones upon the arrival of a little girl who was born in Montgomery on March 2, 1952. The welcome mat is out for little Miss Jones when she arrives on Main.

. . . Betty Lyon Rush has accepted a position with the Welfare Department in Columbiana.

. . . Bus drivers in Shelby County will be more proficient in the art of piloting the busses to and from school from now on, as they are required by Superintendent Elliott to pass tests under the supervision of University of Alabama instructors in this field of operation. This safety measure is a wise and essential one for the protection of the lives of hundreds of children entrusted them. We are glad to hear about it. Will try and procure a picture of those who passed the recent examination at an early date.

. . . Oliver Head, from University of Alabama, spent the week end in Columbiana, and thoughtful young fellow that he is, came by for one of those bright and breezy confabs we always look forward to when the college contingent arrives. By the way, they will all be home for Easter Holidays, and thats another event we shall enjoy anticipating.

'HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO YOU'

April 1st, was happy birthday-time in the home of Eunice Jones and Ross Bob Mullins, who celebrated the passing of their annual anniversaries; Thursday, Sheriff A. E. Norwood came in for his share of puffing out the candles on a birthday cake all his own.... Friday, you will have the pleasure of stepping up to popular Myrtle Miles and wishing for this brilliant writer, and much-sought-public speaker "Many Happy Returns Of The Day".... Butch Hall and Gray Goodwin will also celebrate Friday, March 4 as their "special days." April 8, will be memorable for Ted Holland and Jeff Falkner. Wednesday, April 9, Alvin Stinson, Gulf Oil Distributor, will be the center of attraction among his friends as they gather to sing "Happy Birthday To You."

CONGRATULATIONS RALPH HUNT III

March 27 marked Ralph Hunt III's first official pitching for "Ole Miss", pitted against Arkansas in the first baseball game of the college series, and, whats more Ralph won it! Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Hunt Jr., of Columbiana were numbered among the spectators who cheered lustily for the youthful twirler of the horse hide pellet.

Friends in Shelby County are watching with keen interest this former graduate of Shelby County High School now making an enviable record in the University of Mississippi at Oxford.

. . . Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Murphree, of Birmingham, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Fowler. Dr. Murphree is one of the most remarkable men we have ever known. Although eighty years of age, measured in calendar days, he is actively engaged in his professional offices at the National Optical Company each day in the Magic City, and is a most interesting conversationalist. Dr. Murphree combines the gallantry of "yesterday" with "as-modern-as-tomorrow" in his up to the minute thinking. He is a splendid representative of the Old South and I wish each of you had the privilege of knowing him. Dr. Murphree is a brother of Mrs. Fowler's and has many friends throughout Alabama, who visit these offices professionally.

BILLIE JEAN YOUNG OFF ON ANOTHER FLYING TRIP

Billie Jean Young, pretty as a picture, was home from the Magic City for a week end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Young.

Now, this little lady "gets around" about as fast as Eastern Air Lines can fly her. Recently back from a trip to all European countries, she leaves Birmingham Tuesday, representing her employees, (Brownell Travel Bureau) on an inspection trip to New York to view the new Steam-Ship "Brazil" which will cover the Eastern Coast of South America, and she will be numbered among the guests of honor to be presented at the party staged Tuesday evening on the Brazil. Her next assignment is an inspection of the Steam-Ship, "Constitution," which will travel to Italy, and the last assignment includes a "look-see" at the French Liner, S. S. Liberte, bound for France.

GOOD MORNING BIRD

Milton Bird, "Good Morning" chirruper for Reporter-Democrat, continues to "ring the bell" with his Memories, Musings, Moods and Fancies each week. Today, we received a letter from Mary MacMillan Robinson of Denver, Colorado, wanting to know "why Milton Bird continues working in a post office when he should be reeling out-copy at a newspaper office regularly.

She says: "Milton's free, flowing style and items of human interest are outstanding." Now, Mrs. Robinson is fully qualified to know about these journalistic flights Milton takes, for she is a nationally known poet, journalist, and an active member of the Denver Writer's Club.... so, we pass this "orchid" on to Skillit Bird, who truly deserves the praise he receives for his bright and breezy matin rambles. However, in passing the flowers, we sincerely hope.... Milton won't leave the Main Drag.... and Uncle Sam's emporium, for neither would be the same without him!

. . . The three-cornered diaper clad darling known as Danny Ray Jones, 5 weeks old, was in his accustomed place all thru Sunday School and Church Sunday, and whats more, he did not sleep thru the sermon. Mrs. Jones told us, she though maybe he decided to find out this week "what it was all about".... so remained wide awake, but as quiet as a little Mickey Mouse. Some kiddo!

. . . Bob Holliman's solo last Sunday brought universal appreciation from the congregation at the Baptist Church. Bob tells me today he has been asked to bring his Youth Choir to Lester's Chapel for a program and is preparing to grant their request. There has never been a more conscientious, hard working fellow than Bob, nor one who loves music more, and his pupils are reflecting credit on his careful training.

CONGRATULATIONS CHARLES McGHEE

Folks up and down Main are congratulating "Chubby" McGhee this week since learning that he won second place in the Talent Scout Contest sponsored in Siluria uast Saturday evening. Charles won an ovation on his vocal interpretation of "Night And Day". He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton McGhee of Columbiana.

HELEN GLASS WINS FIRST PRIZE IN PHOTO CONTEST

Little Helen Glass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Glass of Columbiana, emerged the winner in a photo contest last week and was awarded a prize of Ten Dollars. We hope soon to have a picture of this personable little 4 year Miss, whom you daily see traveling around after her Uncle Clarence Abbott. Until then, we send our congratulations.

. . . Little Terry Falkner, handsome son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Falkner won third prize, and perhaps, we can persuade him to lend us his photo for presentation. Who knows, you may be looking at a future "Miss America" or the President of the U. S. A.

THRU THE EDITOR'S WINDOW

. . . Teen-agers and the Elementary School contingent are enjoying themselves immensely while "Teacher" attends A. E. A. We suspect, if the truth were known "Teacher" is not exactly sad about the change from the school room routine.

. . . A teacher in a neighboring state comes up with the idea of fostering civic pride in the school children as the best means of making them feel individually responsible for their part in community life. So, she bought each child in her class room a package of seed so they could have a tiny garden spot all their own and beautify the grounds. Children vied with each other in original designs and placement of various flower beds. The result was a thing to behold when those tiny seed brought forth their colorful blooms. Seems like a swell idea.

. . . A speeding motorist evidently failed to see Miss Rena Taylor and her white stick this morning as they sped around the curve at the lower end of Main. A tragedy was narrowly averted. Several passers-by cringed and held their breaths until the brakes squeaked to a sudden stop. As a result of this near-accident, a suggestion that a "No-U-Turn" sign be erected at this intersection seems a good one.

. . . The dapper gentleman you saw leaving our office Thursday was Banker Roy Downs. Wonder why Roy has not tossed that snap brim of his into the political ring for some position that would not take too much of his time. So widely popular is this genial fellow, he could likely get it with but little exertion on his part. Everybody likes Roy and he is certainly an adopted son of Shelby County's in whom all feel a keen pride.

. . . The South Eastern Drug Journal covering Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi, in a feature article this month congratulates "Shelby County's Man Of The Year".... Lloyd Cole, druggist, of Columbiana and J. L. Bedsole of Mobile, who received a similar distinction in his section of Alabama. The Alabama Pharmaceutical Association proudly "salutes" these two distinguished gentleman in the March issue of this official magazine.

Friends are eagerly agaiting the arrival next Friday of Mrs. John Thompson who has been critically ill for several weeks in a Birmingham hospital.

MISS SUNSHINE

Beaming her smile of approval for the new romper sunsuit she is wearing is little Miss Sunshine. Made of sturdy washable cotton seersucker that is gay and charming, this sun and fun playsuit is neatly fastened with a Talon zipper. The National Cotton Council reported the pattern is available for children six months to one year.

STAN EDWARDS PAYS US A VISIT

The "sweetest li'l fellow" who came to make his home with Peggy and Jerald Edwards exactly four months ago, came to see me Thursday, and he brought with him an unforgettable ray of sunshine. No one thing can brighten the gloom of a dark day, like one of these "so new from heaven babettes". Little Stan combines the beauty of his mother with the friendliness of his "Dad".... and who can beat that combination for a super-duper manikin? NOBODY! If you doubt this statement, just take a look at Stan next time Peggy has him down town.

. . . I enjoyed a brief curbstone chat with my good friend Mrs. Frank West Saturday afternoon just as I was swinging down the lane toward home. This little lady is looking forward to a trip to see Soapy and Irene Stone in Rome, Georgia, where, believe it or not, they have a daughter graduating in May, and their son, Joe, is married. It is almost unbelievable that Time should have galloped so fast thru the years, since Irene and Soapy were "courting" between classes at the old Shelby High School! Ho-Hum!

. . . Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lovelady's of Montevallo will be glad to learn that although painfully injured in an automobile wreck in Calera, Sunday night, they are at home recuperating. Mr. Lovelady was knocked unconscious, and Mrs. Lovelady suffered a broken collar bone. The two children miraculously escaped serious injury.

. . . Captain W. R. Adkins hails from Montevallo, but has recently returned from Korea. He is now on his way to Ft. Benning, Georgia, where he will continue his assignment for Uncle Samuel, but the nicest thing he did before "checking out" was to come by the office and ask that the Reporter-Democrat follow him to Ft. Benning. This request was happily answered ,and whats more there was no "April Foolin' " about it, even though I had been the target all day Tuesday for various prank-minded cut-ups! We shall always remember Captain Adkins, for he was the one bright spot on this April Fool chasin' day we had. Long live the Captain!

. . . Friends of Mr. and Mrs. George Dickinson (Marie Cosper) are deeply concerned over the critical illness of their six weeks old daughter, Deborah Dickinson. Little Debby is, at present in St. Vincent's Hospital.

. . . Governor Gordon Persons has officially delegated April as Cancer Control Month.

. . . Mrs. Amos Davis is ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Louis Bearden, in Birmingham.

. . . Wednesday afternoon's mark the closing of practically every store in town. Candidates hoping to contact citizens of Columbiana on this day, better pass it up until Thursday. We saw one disappointed out-of-town candidate in town Wednesday,' and he was "wishing he had thought of it before leaving home," some miles distant.

. . . J. H. Edwards of Vincent, Rt came to Columbiana Tuesday, and during his visit on Main thoughtfully came by the office to renew his allegiance to the "Home Paper" which he states has been a regular weekly visitor in his home "ever since it was first printed." We are grateful for this evidence of continued loyalty.

. . . It was a pleasure to welcome our good friends Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Baker of Montevallo and Mr. Baker of Birmingham, in Columbiana Tuesday. We have never seen Mrs. Baker look prettier than on this occasion. That gold sports outfit was most becoming.

. . . Speeding continues in Columbiana and autos whizz through the Main business section of the town as though there were no limit to the miles per hour. A few fines might help the situation. Scared pedestrians keep our phone ringing asking that we send out an S.O.S before it is "too late."

(I wish I had a nickel for every time I have called attention to this fact. I'm scared too!)

THE OLD WHITE HOUSE WITH THE NEW LOOK

Sumptious ,seems to be the name for the newly renovated White House.

At a cost of $5,761,00 Mr. and Mrs. America have purchased for the First Family a five story mansion of 107 rooms, 19 baths and 12 lavatories. There is a telephone in every room of the residential quarters and a push-button system for summoning servants.

An air conditioning system permits each person to have individual temperature control. There is a movie theatre, swimming pool and broadcasting room and fourth floor solarium. The all electric kitchen is equipped to serve a formal dinner for 100 or refreshments for 1000 guests.

There is also an atom bomb shelter costing $868,000. There are no venetian blinds, and wall paper. The blinds are, according to the decorators, out of keeping with the Georgian architecture, so, all windows have white raw silk, full length glass curtains. All the walls are painted except those in the Green, Blue and Red rooms, which have coverings of damask and satin.

It will take 72 persons to run the place, including 6 cooks, 4 door men, 5 maids and 9 or 10 engineers. The annual bill according to our information, for maintenance will be a cool $337,000 per year, more than the construction cost of the original presidential mansion.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman moved from the Blair House on March 27 back to 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, and entered the door together. However, all this magnificance does not appeal to Mrs. Truman, nor, apparently do the responsibilities that go with it further hold their charm for Mr. Truman. At any rate, Mr. and Mrs. Truman may enjoy the newly renovated White House, until his term of office ends in January, 1953.

. . . Thanks to A. M. Murphy of Wilsonville who writes the following letter: "Please renew my subscription to your wonderful paper" and the "where-with-all" necessary ($2) is, naturally, enclosed.

ATTENTION DONORS FOR FREE LUNCH PROGRAM

Several citizens who signed up to take care of a child's free lunches until school is out and promised $5 per month.... Please hand these contributions in before April 15, either thru this office or send direct to Leonard Rogers, Principal of High School. And thanks again for your magnificient response.

. . . Mayor Jimmy Sharbutt of Vincent has recently returned from a trip to Washington accompanied by Mayor Elliott of Talladega, who is working on the Coosa Dam Project now up for consideration by the "powers that be". Who knows, Old Man River may yet become one of Shelby County's richest assets and will do sometihng for us other than just "keep rolling along."

. . . The Ladies Choral Club will meet Director Clarence Cook at the Methodist Church Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Renewed interest is being manifested among the members with many old ones returning to their sections and several new musicians joining them. We admire these devotees of the choral art for "keeping on" regardless of any obstacle that might have deterred less courageous ones.

NOTICE OF SALE THE HOUSING AUTHORITY OF THE TOWN OF COLUMBIANA ALABAMA NEW HOUSING AUTHORITY BONDS (First Issue)

Sealed proposals will be received by The Housing Authority of the Town of Columbiana, Alabama (herein called the Local Authority), at its office Gordon & White Building in the Town of Columbiana, Ala., until, and publicly opened at, one o'clock P. M. C.S.T. (Two o'clock P. M. EST), on April 15, 1952, for the purchase of $555,000.00 bonds of the Local Authority to be known as "New Housing Authority Bonds (First Issue)" (herein called the "Bonds"), being issued to aid in financing its low-rent housing projects designated as Projects Nos. Ala-72-1 and 72-2.

The Bonds will be in the denomination of $1000 each, will be dated July 1, 1951, will mature serially on July 1 each year commencing July 1, 1953, and ending July 1, 1992, and will bear interest from January 1, 1952, payable semi-annually on January 1 and July 1. Both principal and interest will be payable at the office of the Fiscal Agent of the Local Authority appointed pursuant to the Resolution authorizing the Bonds or at the option of the holder at the principal office of an alternate paying agent in the City and State of New York as may be prescribed by the successful bidder for the Bonds. The successful bidder may also prescribe an additional alternate paying agent for the Bonds.

Each proposal must (1) be submitted on a form prescribed by the Local Authority which will more particularly describe the Bonds, the terms of optional redemption thereof, and the conditions of the contract to purchase the Bonds, (2) prescribe a single rate of interest which shall be a multiple of one-eight (1/8) of one per cent (1%) per annum to be borne by all of the Bonds, (3) prescribe a schedule of annual maturities on the basis prescribed in the Annual Contributions Contract between the Local Authority and the Public Housing Administration relating to the Projects, (4) offer to purchase all of the Bonds at a price of not less than par and accrued interest to the date of delivery and payment therefor, (5) be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check payable to the order of the Local Authority in the amount of $11,100.00 as a good faith deposit, and (6) be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the Local Authority which should be marked on the outside "Proposal for Bonds."

The award will be made to the bidder complying with the terms of sale and offering to purchase the Bonds at the lowest rate of interest, without reference to premium; provided, however, that if two or more bidders offer to purchase the Bonds at the same lowest rate of interest, then such award will be made to the bidder offering the highest premium. The right is reserved to reject any or all proposals.

Schedules of annual maturities, on the basis prescribed in the aforesaid Annual Contributions Contract, at various interest rates and prescribed proposal forms will be furnished to bidders upon request addressed to the Local Authority or to the General Counsel of the Public Housing Administratoin, Longfellow Building, Washington 25, D. C., or to the Field Office Director of the Public Housing Administration in the cities of New York, N. Y.; Atlanta, Ga.; Fort Worth, Texas; Chicago, Ill.; San Francisco, Cal.; Boston, Mass.; Richmond, Va.; San Juan, Puerto Rico.

The Bonds will be general obligations of the Local Authority secured by a first pledge of annual contributions unconditionally payable pursuant to the aforesaid Annual Contributions Contract in an amount which, together with other funds of the Local Authority which are actually available for such purpose, will be sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on the Bonds when due, and bidders may condition their proposals upon receiving the unqualified approving opinion of bond counsel designated by them to that effect and whose fees or charges they will be obligated to pay.

Good Morning

A STORY FOR LENT

She used to tell me, when I was a kid: "Talk with God everyday.... then when you really need Him sometime, He'll be used to your voice."

It wasn't hard to do then. You just thanked Him for the washhole. And for the green apples. And for making you strong enough to whip Tommy everyday. It was as simple as that. But the years hurried on, and you swapped your overalls for a pair of long pants, and your golden summer days for a job somewhere. And then, with the world on fire, you traded it all for a job with your Uncle Sam who was in bad trouble.

And after a while your first furlough came along. The hours hustled out of sight in a miraculous fashion. You were back on a crowded train, and they were waving outside. It made an odd distorted picture through the soot and smoke. You remembered the words she had told you, and you talked with Him about a little space at the end of the coach where there was room to strtch out. And you talked with Him the next morning, and all day, as the train made a hundred stops to take on other boys who were going home on a last visit before going over. And into the early evening, with your train five hours late, still twenty miles out of Saint Louis, and your connecting train halfway to Kansas City.

You had got a seat in Nashville, next to an old lady with quiet sad eyes. She didn't talk much, and you were glad. She was watching a man down the aisle. He talked too loud, and he laughed too loud; but he was having a hilarious day.

"He's having a fine time," the lady said.

"Yes, he is." You wished he would move on down the aisle. Out of hearing. It had been a terrible day and you didn't like his noise.

"I get off in East Saint Louis," the lady added. "You'll have merry company from there in."

You thought of your head, that felt like it had been stomped by a mule. And you hoped, deep down inside, that maybe he'd find another seat. But when the train stopped, and the lady got off, he plumped down in the seat with a sigh.

"Howdy," he said.

"Hello."

He unfastened his collar and let his head rest easily on the seat. He stretched out his long legs, and inhaled tremendous breaths of air, letting it out in an easy relaxed fashion.

"It's been a rough day," he said.

And suddenly you realized that he wasn't boisterous at all. There was something about him that was warm and friendly. You could feel it seeping through your clothes.

"Yes," you said, almost eagerly, "it has. I've missed my train for Denver and there won't be another until tomorrow." The thought of spending the night in Saint Louis tore through your mind. Where would a guy go, in a strange city where you couldn't get a hotel room for love or money. And you began talking again. Not to this man, or to any man; but to Him, Who, when you really needed Him sometime, would be used to your voice.

"I have a room reserved there," he said. You can stay with me."

His voice was like music. You could feel it, in some strange unexplainable manner, lighting your day.

"Mister, you've got yourself a roommate." And when he laughed, in his loud merry fashion, you laughed too. And under your breath, you thanked Him.... the same as you had for the green apples, and for the washhole.

And so the night went, with supper at a cafe where the music was soft and low, and a picture show with cowboys and Indians and a soft seat that was like the billowy part of a cloud. And finally a warm bed; and after that, a long time later, somebody calling to you.

"Get up, young fellow, or we can't see the town."

And you got up, and you saw the town, all that a guy could see before time to catch his train. And then you were looking out the window, and he was standing there looking up at you, with his loud happy laugh floating through the screen.

"It's been a fine twenty hours," he said.

You didn't say anything for a long moment. You just sat there and looked at him.

"It-it's been like a dream . . . "

The train started to move.

"Goodbye, young fellow," he called.

You waved your hand. There was something hot in your eyes. He seemed to be standing in the rain now. You knew, suddenly, that he knew how you felt. For he just stood there until you passed out of sight, with happiness dancing in his eyes like tiny fairies in silver dresses.

You settled back comfortably in your seat and looked out the window The world was beautiful out there. Quiet and still in the warm afternoon sun. You began whispering to Him.... you would talk with Him everyday; and then when you really needed Him sometime, He would be used to your voice.

GOV. ORDERS SURVEY OF EQUIPMENT, MACHINES NOT IN USE

Governor Gordon Persons has ordered a survey of all state equipment, machines, parts and stores not in use.

The Governor's directive said the survey is to determine what items have become obsolete, worn out, or so badly damaged that they should be scrapped.

The program was launched because of a shortage of heavy melting scrap at the steel mills is holding down production.

State Planning Director W. O. Dobbins says discarded state machinery and other equipment can be salvaged in nearly every county. State Purchasing Agent J. B. King was named salvage manager.

WAYS TO CONTROL LOSS OF FISH IN FARM POND

Pond owners should be on the lookout for possible death of fish in their ponds in Spring and Summer.

"Only a few ponds show a partial kill of fish each year, and in practically all cases the cause cannot be determined," says Earl Kennamer, A. P. I. Extension Service fish and wildlife specialist. "In some instances however, the loss of fish has been directly connected with a deficiency of phosphorous, a high concentration of carbon dioxide, and a lack of oxygen."

Therefore, if the pond owner sees a number of bluegills and bass swimming close to the surface of the water, he should distribute 50 to 100 pounds of 18 per cent superphosphate per acre over the pond in the early morning. Then between three and four o'clock in the afternoon he should stir the water thoroughly by use of an outboard motor attached to a boat. Several motors on boats should be used if available. The stirring of the water with motors helps to distribute oxygen in the upper level throughout the pond.

LOUSY CATTLE CAN RUB OFF CATTLE

Recently a large per cent of Alabama cattle herds has turned up with a heavy infestation of lice. "These insects cost herd owners millions of dollars every year," warns W. A. Ruffin, A. P. I. Extension Service entomologist.

He says there are three kinds of lice found on cattle in the state. They are chewing lice, sucking lice, and tail lice. The oxtail louse is a new pest in this country. However, only a few herds in Alabama have been found to be infested with this insect. Reports indicate that the tail louse is a dangerous pest to have in the herd.

Ruffin adds that lice can be cheaply and effectively controlled by spraying or dusting. The cheapest insecticide to use on beef cattle is DDT. Use 10 pounds of 50 per cent wettable powder in 100 gallons of water. Methoxychlor should be used at the same rate in treating dairy cattle. A dust that contains five per cent DDT or methoxychlor should be used.

"To control the tail louse," says the specialist, "dip the brush of the tail of an infested animal in a bucketfull of one of the sprays. Treat all animals a second time within two weeks."

PELHAM-KEYSTONE H. D. C. MET MARCH 19

The Pelham-Keystone Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday, March 19th, at the home of Mrs. John Butler with Mrs. Joe Hodges presiding. The demonstration was given by the hostess. Roll call was answered with "Why we observe St. Patrick's Day."

Report of Adult Leader's Banquet was given by Mrs. Cumberland who also gave plans for observing 4-H Sunday, March 23rd. Mrs. John Butler gave a Citizenship report and Mrs. Joe Hodges gave a talk on Defense Activities. Following a business session, Luncheon was served with Mrs. Butler and Mrs. Hodges as hostesses after which a social period was enjoyed.

The demnostration "Make Home Tasks Easier," was given by Mrs. Harry Jones and Mrs. Mason Cumberland. An addition to the Demonstration was a tour thru Cardwell Furniture where Mr. Bob Cardwell graciously demonstrated kitchen equipment.

SHELBY 4-H GIRLS HOLD COOKIE CONTEST

On Tuesday, March 25, the Shelby Girls' 4-H Club held a cookie contest. The recipe from the Extension Service for Oatmeal cookies was used, with successful results.

The following girls entered cookies to be judged: Gail Hand, Judy Littleton, Virginia Etress, Doris Pearson, Emma Lou Hand, Barbara Barnes, Jackie Vanderslice, and Bunny Fay Porter. Winners were: First place, Emma Lou Hand, Second place, Barbara Barnes and Third place, Judy Littleton.

Judges for the contest were Mr. Louis Brasher, Mrs. Louis Brasher, and Maurine Bates, who declared the results most satsifactory.

BAGGED A WINNER

From feed bin to milady's wardrobe of Sunday bests—that's an easy jump these days for cotton feed bags! Here three 100 lb. bags spend a gay second life as a fashion-right costume for either sports or dressy occasions. The print's a handsome one—a leaf design in grey, maroon, and white. This frock is included in the National Cotton Council's new cotton bag wardrobes available to women's clubs for unusual style shows.

EBENEZER H. D. C. MEETS

The Ebenezer Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Grady Wyatt on March 20, with Mrs. Josh Sorrell, Mrs. Walter Howell, Mrs. Josh Wyatt and Mrs. Tom Hayes as guests. One new member, Mrs. Jimmie Spain, was added to the roll.

The Hymn of the Month, "Break Thou the Bread of Life, and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" were sung, after which the secretary-treasurer gave her report and called the roll.

This year, each member will select and execute her own project, rather than have a group project as has been done before.

The chairmen gave their reports after which Mrs. Grady Wyatt read and led the discussion on the demonstration, "Make Your Home Tasks Easier."

Mrs. Wyatt was assisted in serving refreshments to the following members by Mrs. Ferman Albright, Mrs. Josh Wyatt and Mrs. James Wyatt,: Mrs. Ferman Albright, Mrs. W. A. Jones, Mrs. H. A. Pauly, Mrs. Earl Swinford, Mrs. W. A. Nolen, Mrs. Jesse Faust, Mrs. Frank Green, Miss Minnie Harper, Mrs. James Wyatt, Mrs. Nathan Frost, Mrs. Frank Frost, Mrs. R. H. Davis, Mrs. Willard Williams, Mrs. Robert Butler, Mrs. J. R. Harper, Mrs. A. D. Causey, Mrs. Jimmie Spain and Mrs. Grady Wyatt.

The April meeting will be held at Mrs. Robert Butler's.

EBENEZER H. D. C. MEETS

Members and guests of the Ebenezer Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. H. Pauly to make nylon corsages under the skillful direction of Mrs. T. S. Hill and Mrs. Nathan Frost, handicraft chairman.

Everyone brought a covered dish and a delicious luncheon was enjoyed at noon.

Those present were: Mrs. W. A. Jones, Mrs. W. A. Nolen, Mrs. Nathan Frost, Mrs. Robert Lovelady, Mrs. Frank Frost, Mrs. Earl Swinford, Mrs. T. S. Hill, Mrs. Gladys Allen, Mrs. Jimmie Spain, Mrs. R. CINDERELLA TOWN

$1.5 Million Gift Brings Strife to Town

PERRYOPOLIS, Pa.—The people of Perryopolis, population 1,500, would give the money away—every dollar of the $1,500,000—if they could again have the small town friendliness that once prevailed in the community.

The money was bequeathed to the little town by Mary Fuller Frazier, Her will said: "The public, charitable, literary or educational purposes for which my residuary estate shall be used shall be selected by my executors, or the survivors of them, in their exercise of their sole discretion after consultation with the town officials of the town of Perryopolis".

Thrilled by Gift

At first the community was thrilled over the gift. As described by Ernest Farrah, proprietor of a clothing store, "There were crowds of people on the steets all day long. Everyone was talking at once and telling what they'd do with the money. Some thought it ought to be divided so everyone would have a few thousand apiece. Some thought we ought to put up the best high school in the state, or hang so many lights on the streets it'd look like Broadway. It was real crazy the ideas that were going around. By the end of the day you'd think there'd be wine flowing through the streets."

After that the fight really began. A planning association was organized by the community and financed by the gift. Its report was 48 pages of the town's assets and shortcomings, with detailed recommendations of how the money should be spent.

Town Divided

But a technicality developed. The will said "town officials", but the community actually elected no officials of its own besides thre supervisors chosen every two years in rotation for six year terms. The question developed were they legally the town officials?" This question blasted the community into two camps—those who sided with the supervisors and those who favored separating the town from the township and becoming a borough.

And while the community fights, six men and women have brought suit as alleged first cousins of Mary Fuller Frazier. All this has spelled nothing but trouble for Perryopolis, turning friend against friend, and splitting the town into bitter factions.

Perryopolis has two main streets —Liberty and Independence—which cross at the center of town to form Washington circle. Smaller streets radiate from this circle like the spokes of a wheel. Clustered around the circle are the town's principal stores. These are the main source of employment for the town's population, but they absorb little more than the families of their owners.

The only industry today is two small factories and a sawmill. Most workers have to travel 10, 15, or 20 miles to find employment at the neighboring mines and mills.

Community Seeks Funds To Restore Old Church

SAG HARBOR, L.I.—Services are again being held in the Old Whalers' Presbyterian Church in Sag Harbor after a year's drive for $28,000 to make the building safe for services. Another $60,000 is still needed, however, to restore its steeple, once a mariners' beacon.

Built in 1842, when Sag Harbor was a leading Atlantic port and whaling ships abounded, the church lost its 150-foot steeple in the 1938 hurricane. In November, 1950, a bad storm so ravaged the church that its suspended ceiling of "egg and dot frosting" design sagged dangerously and the building was condemned.

A campaign was started for funds, and by May, 1951, more than $16,000 had been received and the trustees ordered the reconditioning started. In July the reconditioned church was reopened and rededicated at a service broadcast by the Voice of America as an example of one of the Four Freedoms.

Money for the reconditioning came from all over the country.

TV Keeps 'Em Down On Farm Saturday Nights

SPRING VALLEY, Wis.—Pierce county businessmen are faced with a problem brought on by television.

At a recent meeting of the merchants' organization it was proposed that the community's stores stay open late on Friday nights, instead of Saturday as is the custom in most small towns.

Farmers don't want to go to town on Saturday night any more in those areas where there is good television reception because programs are too good that night.

Many of the community's merchants also said they would prefer to stay open Friday because early closing on Saturday would give them and the farmers, a longer week end period in which to relax.

Opponents of the late Friday plan, however, said that Saturday night was traditionally the farmers' night in town. Unable to agree, the merchants put off a final decision until a later date. But a spokesman said it would come up again.

AMERICAN LEGION SPONSORS SHOW AT HIGH SCHOOL MONDAY, APRIL 7th

Coming to Columbiana on Monday night, April 7, is one of the best-liked radio groups over the south, at which time the American Legion Post 131 here will be happy to present the Carter Sisters with their mother, Maybelle, from station WSM Nashville, Tennessee.

The hour of the show will be 7:00 P. M. Admission prices will be 30 and 60 cents say Legion Officials. High School Auditorium is the place.

Mother Maybelle Carter is one of the original members of the Carter Family, a group which will be remembered as long as there are country folks She made records with them in the first days of country records. The Carter Family records for RCA Victor, Columbia and Decca and millions of recordings have been sold of the Carter family.

Today," Mother Maybelle and her three daughters, The Carter Sisters, make records for RCA Victor and are featured on the Grand Ole Opry. Helen Carter is the oldest daughter. She plays accordian and has written several good songs which have been recorded. June Carter is the one who makes the people laugh. She has a recording contract with RCA and has made several solos as well as some tunes with Homer and Jethro which were quite successful. She plays the auto harp and does a little country dance which certainly is "country indeed." She has an art for making people laugh and enjoy themselves. Anita is the youngest and has recently signed a contract with RCA Victor. She has made several recordings and shows great promise. She plays the bass fiddle and sings the songs with a style all of her own.

The Carter Sisters have been singing for years on numerous radio stations and have transcriptions on several stations at this time. They have appeared on all major radio networks and are now featured on the Grand Ole Opry and on WSM-TV.

This show was postponed recently because of bad weather, but the Legion is happy to present them at this date. They have a novelty show offering almost any style of singing and comedy that will bring enjoyment to any group.

ON THE FARMS IN SHELBY COUNTY

B. F. Hatchett and G. C. Starcher

Do you have trouble cultivating or mowing some of your fields because of rocks? Is this condition keeping you from getting full production?

On Friday, April 4, during the afternoon there will be a demonstration of a machine designed to pick up and haul these troublesome stones. It will be held on the M. Burdette Bates farm by the river near Vincent.

We hope that this machine will help some Shelby county farm operators get useful and soil conserving crops on fields now so rocky that erosion, weeds and difficulty in mowing have made worthless. We understand the machine will be available for a moderate rental as a public service by a prominent machinery dealer.

April 1 may be "All Fool's Day" but there were no tricks when veteran teacher Ed Rush took his class on a tour of the Thorsby Nursery of the Soil Conservation Service. There plant breeder Davis showed them many plantings and different treatments of various crops, including Costal Bermuda with legumes, Pensacola Bahia grass, fescue varieties and Alabama strain of Reseeding Crimson Clover.

On the last day of March Elvin Hill and his F. F. A. chapter topdressed the Chapel Hill Rescue seed patch with ammoniaum Nitrate.

HAVE YOU nitrated your fescue, rescue, and oats?

STATE MERIT SYSTEM CALLED ONE OF BEST

The executive director of the National Civil Service League says Alabama's merit system is one of the best in the nation.

James R. Watson of New York, visiting State Personnel Director Charles W. Terry recently, added that Alabama is fortunate in having a governor who believes in the system.

That's one of the chief reasons Alabama's merit system ranks with the best in the country, Watson added.

We read the other day about a fellow who got a divorce on the grounds of flat feet. (Another guy's feet in his flat, it seems.)

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS THROUGH MOBILE

Mobile customs district exports climbed $15 million and imports fell $3 million during 1951. Total trade was $111,400,000 compared with $96,194,978 in 1950.

Military items helped raise the district's exports, said Malcolm H. partment of Commerce.

Exports through Mobile and Gulfport, district ports, climbed from $47,200,000 in 1950 to $65,200,000 in 1951.

Imports fell to $46 million in 1951 from $49 million in 1950.

'HEARTBREAK HILL'

(Clarice White Luck)

On the Highroad of Life there's a "Heartbreak Hill,"
A Calvary each must brave;
The Pilgrim only can make the choice
Of Easter.... or.... the Grave.

The winding Road may be long, or brief,
It will lead through Shadows and
Sun,
But he who reaches the Mountain peak
Will find Peace when the Journey's done;

For out of the Dark of Calvary,
With its mystery of pain,
There shines the Dawn of Eternal Life,

THE RISEN LORD DOTH REIGN!

We have read no poignant message more beautifully expressed for Easter-tide than "Heartbreak Hill" recently written by Clarice White Luck of Columbiana. We have received her permission to share it with our readers this week for which generous courtesy we express our appreciation.

'GET OUT THE VOTE'.

"Get Out The Vote".... "Let the people speak" is becoming the battle cry as "ballot battalions" representing various organizations attempt to promote the individual responsibility each ctizen assumes when they become eligible to vote.

Kiwanis Clubs are taking on this task of enlisting organizations in a group and coordinating their efforts in urging the people to go to the polls on May 6, and express their preference for or against candidates now seeking your "personal interest, vote and influence"....

There are approximately 6,660 names on the eligible poll list for this county which appears in this issue of the Reporter-Democrat. If you are qualified to vote, and your name has been unintentionally left out, see the proper authorities immediately and get your name on the Supplementary List, which will appear in this paper.

Nelson Fuller, Alabama District Governor of Kiwanis Clubs, lists the following objectives in the Kiwanian drive for voters....

1. To conduct community-wide campaigns to register every eligible voter.
2. To assist the public in obtaining views of all candidates.
3. To sponsor non-partisan Get-Out-The-Vote-Campaigns on a community-wide basis.

I still think those red and white tags, on which is written "I Have Voted.... Have You?" would be a mighty good thing to have, for more reasons than one.

So, I mildly suggest that we have a TAG DAY on May 6, and after each fellow has cast his or her vote, Tag'em!

The right to vote, is a heritage of which every citizen should be very proud. It was not won, easily!

CANDIDATES VISIT SHELBY COUNTY

Representative Armistead Seldon, of Hale County, is opposing Ed deGraffenried for the office of Congressman from the 6th District. Mr. Seldon's home is in Greensboro, Alabama and he is serving his first term as a member of the Legislature. Mr. Selden is also City attorney for Greensboro and a veteran of World War Two. He is a graduate of the University of Alabama Law School.

Mr. Seldon spent Friday in Columbiana contacting potential voters and meeting Columbiana citizens.

Circuit Solicitor Arthur L. Hardegree of Ashland, spent several days in Shelby county last week in the interest of his campaign for the Circuit Judgship.

Senator "Snag" Andrews who is campaigning for a Supreme Court Judgeship was a recent visitor in Columbiana.

Representative Pelham Merrill is waging an active campaign in the desire to serve Alabama as a Supreme Court Judge. He spent a few hours in town last week and was most optimistic over the generous reception accorded him here.

Two Democratic Executive Committee Members Paid Tribute

At the last meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee of Shelby county, two members, Dr. J. C. Embry, Vincent and Carl Wyatt, Siluria, failed to answer to roll call, having been called to their eternal reward.

Brief tributes were paid to these faithful members at the meeting and the Chairman, Karl C. Harrison, was instructed to write an appropriate resolution.

The resolution is given below:

WHEREAS, Dr. J. C. Embry of Beat 16 and Carl Wyatt of Beat 21 have been life-long Democrats and for many years have served as members of the Democratic Executive Committee of Shelby County, and have rendered faithful, loyal and efficient service in that connection, and

WHEREAS, their places on the committee have been made vacant by their deaths.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Democratic Executive Committee of Shelby County, that we express our sincere appreciation for the loyalty and service of Dr. Embry and Mr. Wyatt to the Democratic Party of Shelby County, Alabama.

Be It Further Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be sent to the members of their families and a copy of this resolution be spread on the minutes of this organization.

I, Karl C. Harrison, Chairman of the Shelby County Democratic Executive Committee hereby certify that the above resolution was passed at the last meeting of said Committee which was held on January 29, 1952.

VOTERS SHOULD CHECK POLL LIST

Shelby County citizens who plan to vote in the coming elections will want to check the qualified voter list which is being published in today's Reporter-Democrat.

The roster, containing about 6,660 names, list those who were duly qualified and registered through March 17, according to the probate judge's office.

Veterans and certain other prospective voters not required to pay poll tax, may still register when the board of registrars is in session and cast ballots in elections this year.

Citizens who believed they were qualified voters in the county, but who find their names missing from the list, should check with the probate judge's office, to see if some error has been made.

Young Travis Bentley Drowns Near Saginaw

A 12-year-old, fishing with friends drowned Monday afternoon in Keystone Lime Quarry near Saginaw.

Travis Bentley "just slipped into the water," his tearful companions told Highway Patrolmen.

His body was recovered about 90 minutes later in 45 feet of water.

K. L. Hammond of the Keystone Lime Works said the Bentley boy, son of quarry superintendent, George Bentley, was fishing from the edge of the quarry with "two or three other boys" when the accident occurred.

None of the young fisherman could swim, he said he was told.

GOVERNMENT CUTS $11 TYPING RIBBONS $10

Government agencies soon will be able to buy a $1 typewriter ribbon for $1 instead of $11.

The $10 difference represents what it now costs the government in paper work to buy even the smallest and most inexpensive item.

The costly red tape will be elminated by setting up "petty cash funds" so government agencies can pluck cash down on the counter for minor items instead of going through mountains of paper work.

For the taxpayers, the ultimate savings of the new purchasing system should amount to about $30,000,000 a year.

ON THE FARMS IN SHELBY COUNTY

B.F. HATCHETT & G.C. STARCHER JR.

Lonnie Pate, Coosa county farmer was a visitor in Columbiana Sunday. He looked up Aid Starcher, who once was his instructor on the G. I farm training program in Talladega county.

Pate tells us he is planting a part of his first bottom land to orchard grass, dallis grass and white dutch clover. Another part is being developed in Ky. 31 Fescue and yarge white clover. Sericea is his upland grazing and hay crop, and he asked to see Elvin Hill's boys' Chapel Hill Rescue seed patch. Standing knee-deep in it, he joined the ranks of those who are convinced that this reseeding grass will double the usefulness of sericea acres.

Lonnie is selling heart-pine, cedar and locust fence posts to get money to further develop his pastures, some 20,000 this winter.

The F. F. A. Coastal Bermuda is coming up. The club also purchased 4,000 additional stolons to plant this week.

These farmers bought Coastal stolons this past week:

LeRoy Morgan, 15,000; Earl Morgan, 60,000; R. W. Kent, 15,000; O. M. Perry, 30,000; J. C. Farr, 6,000; J. J. Hinds, 8,000; Ethel L Rogers, 1,000; Clyde Horton, 4,000; and G. H. Eastis, 6,000.

Others having this grass either planted last June or this spring are these: Maurice Poe, Joe Smith, E. A. Newman, H. A. Pauly, Mac Nix, Jim Mabry and O. C. Chesser. We hope this is the complete list as of this date.

These plantings give us trial plantings on a wide range of soils: Sands, shales ,clays, and other variations. Watch the grass on the soils most like yours.

Rains cancelled last Friday's rock picking machine demonstration, and we have not heard of a new date.

Sericea plantings is well underway though the scarcity of seed at the P. M. A. approved price may limit acreage. We understand that supplies of seed are still available at a slightly higher price.

Three soil conservation farm plans reached this office for delivery to district cooperators last week: Joe Smith, Arthur Wood, new plans, and C. H. Nash, an old plan brought up to date to fit in the newer crops.

MILK RECOMMENDED FOR YOUNG AND OLD

Middle-aged an delderly people should have at least a pint of milk in their daily diets for best nutrition and health and to fortify their bones against breakage.

Mary Hulsey, A. P. I. Extension Service nutritionist, reveals that older people often neglect milk, believing that it is needed only by the young and growing. Another common belief, proved wrong by research is that in later years the body loses its ability to store such minerals as calcium and phosphorus found in milk.

A small sewing basket or box kept in the kitchen will save much time and trouble when those invitable last-minute calls come for buttons or snaps just before the youngsters set off to school.

To The Voters Of Shelby County

In my race for Congress from the Sixth District, I earnestly solicit your vote and your assistance.

My campaign is based on one fundamental — namely, the need for a return to basic honesty in our Washington government and, with it, such house-cleaning activities as might prove necessary to achieve this goal.

I do not believe that, by necessity, we must have a government owned and operated by the sharp boys. These sharpsters—the double-dealers, the professional slickers, and the five-percenters—somehow have gained the idea that they are endowed with certain inalienable rights to use the federal government for personal gain. They have come to believe that these "rights" include a franchise for the privilege of gouging you, the ordinary taxpayer. I believe that we can get rid of these people — lock, stock, and barrel — I so pledge my efforts.

During the remaining weeks of the campaign, I will see as many of you as possible. In the meantime, I will deeply appreciate your personal help in this campaign for a change in the fiscal and moral atmosphere of Washington. It is a campaign for clean government in which all of us have a real stake. I invite you to inspect my record, both public and personal.

I thank you—

Armistead I. Selden, Jr.

Candidate for Congress, Sixth District

TELEPHONE FORERUNNER OF TELEVISION

Twenty-five years ago, on April 7, a man's voice and image were transmitted simultaneously for the first time over a long distance.

On April 7, 1927, Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce in Washington, was seen and heard in New York by Walter S. Gifford, President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and an audience of some 50 scientists and journalists. This first public demonstration of intercity television transmission was made over telephone wire facilities of the Long Lines Department of American Telephone and Telegraph. A second phase of the demonstration was the televising of a vaudeville program, originating in the Bell Telephone Laboratories in Whippany, N. J., over radio facilities to the audience in New York.

This early forerunner of network television as we know it today was made possible by the development and research of the Bell Telephone Laboratories in its endeavor to produce for vision a close parallel to what had been done for voice transmission.... long distance telephony.

The project, under the guidance of Dr. Herbert E. Ives, Director of electro-optical research for the Bell Laboratories, continued to progress. In 1928, the development of experimental large dimension apparatus of great light gathering power permitted outdoor scenes to be televised and in 1929, experimental television in color, by a three-color, three-channel method was demonstrated.

In 1929, the Bell Telephone Laboratories filed the original patent application for a new type cable called "coaxial." Coaxials are copper tubes about the size of a fountain pen. Down the center of each pipe runs a copper wire, held in place by insulating discs spaced about an inch apart. The pipes are called "coaxial" because both the tube and the wire have the same axis. With coaxial cable, a wide band of frequencies, satisfactory for television transmission, could be sent over long distances.

By 1934, laboratory work had progressed to the point where a field test was in order. The first coaxial cable was laid between New York and Philadelphia in October, 1936. Extensive tests of television transmission were made in this section of cable. In 1937, motion pictures were televised and sent over the route and in 1940, the Republican National Convention at Philadelphia was televised for local television development was halted and the coaxial cable was used only for general telephone communication service. As soon as the war was over, however, television activities were resumed. Intercity television regained its stride in 1946, when regular network television transmission was inauguarated between Washington and New York. Baltimore and Philadelphia were added to the network the following year.

Radio-relay was the next major step in this advancement. In November 1947, radio-relay was used to extend the Washington-New York York network to Boston. Coaxial cable was ued to link Richmond to the network several months later.

In 1948, the Bell System opened a midwestern network to serve seven major cities... Buffalo, Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit, Milwaukee, Chicago and St. Louis. The midwestern and eastern networks were joined by a coaxial cable link between Philadelphia and Cleveland via Pittsburg on January 11, 1949.

To meet the growing demands for telephone and television service, the Long Lines Department formulated plans early in 1948 to span the nation with a microwave radio-relay system. The first link was opened between New York and Chicago on September 1, 1950. The system was completed to San Francisco on August 17, 1951, and was used to carry the first coast-to-coast television broadcast on September 4, of that year, showing the opening of the Japanese Peace Treaty Conference.

Since January 1, 1947, the number of channel miles of the Bell System's television facilities has grown from 476 to more than 24,000 miles serving 54 cities. Before the end of this year, the Long Lines Department plans to connect eight additional cities, making network service available to all but four of the nation's 108 television station.

April 10-17-24, 1952

Georgiana, Alabama, was named for a little girl, Anna, the daughter of a Baptist minister, Pitt S Milner, who came there from Georgia soon after 1824, and also in honor of the state from which they came. John Shepherd first settled there in 1824.

Clanton, the county seat of Chilton County, was incorporated in 1873 and named for the Confederate general, James H. Clanton.

Many young men today yearn for the good old days when all he could expect was a lickin' when he brought home a bad report card. Nowadays he gets drafted.

From The Heart Of A Little Girl

Daddy, if you know we're hungry,
Know that we are very poor
It must break your heart in Heaven
Cause you never did insure.
Mommy wonders why you didn't
Save the dimes you threw away;
But you felt too strong and healthy
For insurance, people say.
You were taken without warning
Leaving us to fight alone,
You'd have taken out insurance, Daddy
If you'd only known!
Twasn't that you didn't love us,
I recall how dear you were;
But your little girl must suffer
'Cause you failed to save for her.
Mommy just can't make a living!
She is wearing out she said!
I shall have to miss some schooling,
For the sake of daily bread.
When she's gone, I guess they'll take me
To a place of charity,
To be clothed and fed, but Daddy,
It can ne'er be home to me.
Mary's Daddy left insurance,
And their home will still be theirs;
They're not hungry, and sometimes Mary
Gives me cast-off clothes she wears.
They don't have to take in sewing,
Mary's Mommy doesn't cry,
But her Daddy left insurance!
But you didn't Daddy — Why?

SUNRISE ON WHEELS

When I got up today, I found
Rain still hammering the ground
Fog in plenty, east wind, too,
All the sky bruised black and blue,
And now and then a blast of thunder
Loud enough to make me wonder
If the world would last the day
Or if some prop had given away.
Then rising through the mist and chill,
The school bus clattered up our hill,
And peering out, I thought I spied
All tomorrow packed inside
Like seeds within a curious pod,
Mechanized and rubber-shod,
And though it passed me by, I knew
We'd have another day or two.

Herbert Merrill

We were reminded of the above poem this morning as we watched the big, yellow busses roll by our window loaded with miniature citizens of tomorrow. All happy and gaily chattering away the joyous, carefree, halcyon school day hours. All pupils enjoyed a few days vacation due to the annual assembly of the Alabama Education Association in Birmingham.

The public is extended a cordial invitation to be present.

AN ORCHID TO SARANEL LIGHTSEY

Saranel Lightsey is one of the loveliest characters we have ever known. She possesses a gracious and charming personality, and as director of the Home Economics Department of the High School, there has never been one more efficient. In addition to Miss Lightsey's countless duties in her school work, she finds time to devote much of her time to church activities and is a social favorite.

Following the delectable menu for the Junior-Senior Banquet on April 1, we have heard countless verbal tributes of praise for this little lady. Saranel is so modest and unassuming about everything she does, I fear we have not been as thoughtful as we should have been in expressing appreciation for "Centerville's gift to Columbiana". However, should anyone try and take Saranel Lightsey away from us, there would be a universal protest and a battle royal between the two towns which proudly claim her as.... "their own."

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jones of Birmingham were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Jones.

THE STORKLINE

Mr. and Mrs. Billy K. Lewis (Kathy Holliday), of Richmond, California, are receiving congratulations from their friends in Columbiana, upon the arrival of a son on March 10, 1952, whom they have named Christopher Kay Lewis.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Glass (Ruth Kite), are proudly announcing the arrival of a little one in their apartment in Birmingham. Congratulations.

. . . The Rev. Curtis Bean and family will arrive in Columbiana Friday from Louisville, Kentucky. Mr. Bean received his degree this week and will begin his ministerial work in the Baptist Church next Sunday.

. . . Gayle White and those three adorables known as Linda, Marcia, and "Peanut" White spent Tuesday in Birmingham with Mrs. White's mother, Mrs. Reese.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Duke spent Sunday in Birmingham visiting relatives and friends.

. . . Marie Shogren, Sandra and Carl Shogren left Columbiana, Saturday night for California, from which point they will sail April 10 on the General Butler for Okinawa to join Captain Shogren.

. . . Mrs. Frank Jones and daughter, Anna Ashley Jones, have returned home from the hospital and are receiving a warm welcome. I hear the little "new-comer" is a darling!

. . . Speaking of those little bundles of flannel and lace, have you met little Debby Pierce? She is four months old and a-d-o-r-a-b-l-e!

. . . L. G. Fulton and Jerry Fulton have returned from a visit in Oxford, Alabama, with Mrs. Effie Williams.

. . . A host of friends in Shelby county are eagerly awaiting news from the bedside of Bob Kaplan who is, at present, at Jefferson-Hillman in Birmingham. Bob is the popular owner-manager of Eagles Store in Columbiana and Wilsonville.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen and Deborah Allen of Florida are guests of Mrs. Allen's father, Lloyd Cole. Denton Cole of Auburn, spent the week end in Columbiana, making the family circle complete.

. . . We are in receipt of a renewal subscription from Clara Teague of Russellville, who says she enjoys reading the "news from home" each week in the Reporter-Democrat.

. . . Days are already getting much longer, and the hands on that old courthouse clock seem to revolve more slowly, or is it Spring, and just harder to "stay put?"

. . . Milton Bird begged off this week from his penpoint rambling, and a lot of folk are going to be disappointed. Skillet has a wide following, and when he fails to say: "Good Morning" thru the "home paper".... we get a lot of calls wanting to know WHY?

. . . Are you all set to join the Easter Parade....? We saw a nice selection of new dresses being unpacked today, by Gertie Jones in the Yellow Front. Better hasten down while sizes are complete. Those models we saw won't be in that store more than a few hours, for the price was unbelievably low.

. . . Mrs. Ross Bob Mullins, Ross Bob Mullins, Jr., and Jimmy Mullins, spent the past week end in Selma visiting Mrs. Mullins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Houlditch.

IMOGENE PATTERSON

DAVIS-PATTERSON ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Patterson of Columbiana, announce the engagement of their daughter, Imogene Patterson, to Don L. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Davis of Columbiana.

The wedding will be solemnized in May.

Miss Patterson is a popular member of the Senior Class of Shelby High and a talented musician and artist.

She is a former "Miss Shelby High" and has won many honors during her High School days. She is head Majorette with the High School Band and, a former Cheerleader for the Football squad.

. . . Little Jenny Kay Bohannon, personable daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bohannon, won second place in the photo contest recently held in the Shelby Theatre. We hope to present the three top winners in this contest at an early date. Helen Glass won first, Jenny Kay Bohannon, second and Terry Falkner, third.

. . . Easter Holidays began Wednesday and Collegiates are home brightening up the Main Drag with their rah-rah-ing.

. . . Ralph Morris, William Rasco and Ray Bates spent Monday in Livingston trying out for an athletic scholarship. All are seniors at Shelby High.

. . . Glad to welcome Roy Oliver of Sterrett into our ever widening circle of weekly readers.

. . . Harold Lewis of Pennsylvania, is in Columbiana with his family for a visit in the home of Mrs. Lewis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Turner.

. . . We are delighted to reinstate Mrs. O. M. Moore on our list of subscribers for 1952. Mrs. Moore lives on Wilsonville Route and personally came to renew her subscription to the "Home Paper."

. . . Serving with Commander Cruiser Division One, aboard the heavy cruiser USS Saint Paul on its first cruise in Korean waters is Billie Vansant, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Weaver Vansant of Route 1, Wilsonville. The Saint Paul has periodically bombarded enemy ground installations and railroads with her eight and five-inch batteries since the latter part of November.

. . . Pvt. Jack C. Baker, son of Mrs. Ruth C. Baker of Columbiana, Alabama, completed his basic training at the Quartermaster Replacement Training Center, Fort Lee, Virginia, on April 5th. Pvt. Baker was inducted into the Army 24th of January, 1952. Following completion of basic, he will be trained in a specific military occupational specialty, then assigned to aunit in a permanent position for which he was trained.

PER MENT ....

. . . Friends and supporters of Judge L. C. Walker will be glad to learn he is out in the field again following a few days "at home" due to an infected ankle.

. . . Walter Winchell, famed radio commentator has been ordered by his Doctor to take a long rest. Drew Pearson, "predictions of things to come" fame, will take over this popular spot on radio each Sunday.

. . . Thanks across the miles go to Blossom Black Rothberg, formerly of Wilsonville, for a renewal subscription just received. Mrs. Rothberg has won fame and fortune since leaving Shelby County in her professional career as a Make-Up Artist, but, she has never lost interest nor her contact with "old friends' 'who so happily remember her.

PATTERNED FOR PAT

The 1952 Maid of Cotton, Miss Pat Mullarkey, of Dallas, Texas, chooses this striking new cotton "Damaska" by Peter Pan in an unusual coat-dress pattern by McCall for her fabulous wardrobe of all cotton. It is one of six fashions made for her by McCall's patterns which she models as star of fashion shows all over America, in Europe, Canada and Latin America.

UNDER THE STUDY LAMP

by Dr. William Crowe

"Pilate's Oath of Clearance"

"And Pilate saith unto them.... 'I find in him no fault at all.'" John 18:38

Pilate told the truth. His announced conclusion indicated that his mental faculties were operating in normal fashion. He expressed his deliberate decision after having had sufficient personal contact with Jesus to make a correct appraisal of his character.

The hubbub of the noisy multitude clamoring for the execution of the prisoner at the bar had not registered with Pilate, the presiding judge. His mind was not blinded by flimsy arguments that were born of frenzied hatred. He sensed the evil design of the howling mob. The hypocritical claim that they were outraged citizens did not weigh with him. He knew better and dared to tell them so.

But shame on you, Governor Pilate! You could have silenced that riotous gang of mere provincials by the exercise of your imperial authority. But did you? No! You threw justice to the winds, and by a sanctimonious performance, you published to that crowd that you were washing your hands of the whole business. Thereby you granted permission to the enemies of the Son of God to commit the climactic felony in all the annals of crime.

Had Pilate been as sound in his moral character as he was in his head, he would have escaped the justified condemnation of right thinking people of all the succeeding ages.

It is comparatively easy to condemn the miscarriage of justice for which that ancient judge was guilty. But it might be well for us to engage in a bit of serious introspection.

Are our own hands clean? They certainly are not if as professing Christians we fail to vindicate the principles for which Christ died.

Loyalty to the Gospel standard is loyalty to the author of it; and conversely, disloyalty to the one means disloyalty to the other. And so we would stand in Pilate's shoes.

BRAXTON BAKER

Well liked and efficient Braxton Baker, principal of Columbiana Elementary School and Assistant Coach, has resigned from his scholastic activities in Columbiana and will enter Peabody College next September for further study.

Mr. Baker has done a splendid work during the eight years he has remained in Columbiana and his many friends and students will regret to learn that he will not be with us again next year, but will join us in wishing him future success in his chosen profession.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET AND PROM 1952

Tuesday evening, April 1, the Junior Class of Shelby County High School sponsored a banquet in honor of the Seniors.

The theme of the banquet was "In Fair Hawaii".

The setting was carried out with brightly colored tables in a grove of graceful palm trees and a Hawaiian beach scene as a background.

LaNelle Moore was toast mistress. Mary Fancher, Johnny Fox, Pattie Sue Merrell, Dorothy Jean Blankenship and Emily Mitchell participated in the program.

Hawaiian music was furnished by Anne Shaw, Betty Jo Knowles, Catherine Walton and Charles McGhee.

A hula dance by Merle Meyers added to the gaiety of the affair.

After the banquet everyone enjoyed dancing to the music of the Alabama Collegians in which Charles Williams played the trombone.

Those in the lead-out were as follows:

Mary Fancher, Pres. of the Jr. Class escorted by Billy Farmer, Annette Thompson, Sec. of the Jr. Class escorted by Johnnie Fox, Pres. of the Sr. Class; Peggy Perry escorted by Fred Clinkscales, Vice-Pres. of the Jr. Class; Barbara Baker, escorted by Fred Wood, Vice-Pres. of the Sr. Class; Annette Franks, Sec. of the Sr. Class escorted by Hugh Sims; Billie Sue Averett, Treas. of the Jr. Class escorted by Ralph Jones; Doris Palmer, Treas. of the Sr. Class escorted by Gaines Farmer; LaNelle Moore, Chaplain of the Jr. Class, escorted by Jack Butler; Betty Ruth Watts escorted by William Rasco, Chaplain of the Senior Class.

HUBERT KIRKLAND NOW WITH ABC

Hubert Kirkland of Columbiana is now associated with the ABC State law enforcement forces and is stationed in Shelby County.

CULTURE CLUB

Mrs. H. M. Roberts was hostess to the Culture Club March 13th, at the home of her mother, Mrs. F. M. Benton.

Mrs. L. H. Ellis presented Mr. J. P. Roberts of Sylacauga as guest speaker. His subject was, "Beautifying Your Lawn and Gardens."

The hostess served tempting refreshments with hot coffee at the conclusion of the program.

SPRING CONCERT ANNOUNCED BY BOB HOLLIMAN

Bob Holliman, Director of Music for the Chelsea School has announced his Spring Concert for Thursday evening, April 24. At this time a Variety Night will be given featuring private pupils, glee club and specialty numbers. The public is cordially invited to share this evening of music.

. . . An octette of which you will be hearing many favorable reports is composed of John Watts and Wales W. Wallace, Jr., tenors; Virginia Nichols and Mary Mims, sopranos; Jane Carter and Elizabeth Isbell, altos; Conrad M. Fowler and John Green, basses. All have splendid voices and they blend perfectly.

. . . Mrs. Dick Martin of Calera spent Tuesday in Columbiana, the guest of her sister, Mrs. H. H. Bearden and Mr. Bearden.

John L. Goodwyn, brilliant attorney of Montgomery who was appointed by Governor Gordon Persons to fill a vacancy on the Supreme Court, when Justice Ed Livingston, was appointed Chief Justice is a potent candidate to succeed himself for a full term as Associate Justice, Place Number 2, Supreme Court of Alabama. He was a distinguished guest in Columbiana this week and I regret being out of the office when he came by on his visit to the county seat.

STATE OF ALABAMA
A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama, at the Regular Session 1951, ordered an election to be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which said amendment is herein set out, and ordered that said election be held on the first Tuesday in May, 1952; and

WHEREAS, the first Tuesday in May 1952 will be and occur on Tuesday, May 6, 1952; and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment is required by law, and by the provision of the act submitting the amendment, to be given by a proclamation of the Governor to be published in each county in the State of Alabama once a week for four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for the election:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Gordon Persons, as Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice direct and proclaim that on Tuesday, the 6th day of May 1952, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama, in the manner and form provided by law, upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901:

"Any provisions of this Constitution or amendments thereto to the contrary notwithstanding, neither the Legislature, nor any county of the State shall, by the imposition of new, different and additional duties or otherwise, increase, or authorize the increase of, the salary, fees or other compensation of any officer of the State or of any county of the State, who is elected or appointed for a fixed term, during the term for which he is elected or appointed, regardless of whether such officer may be removed at the pleasure of the authority electing or appointing him or only upon impeachment; nor shall the Legislature or any county of the State in any manner or by any means decrease, or authorize the decrease of, the salary, fees or other compensation of any such officer, during the term for which he is elected or appointed; nor shall the Legislature or any county of the State increase or decrease, or authorize the increase or decrease of, the salary, fees or other compensation of any person filling an unexpired term in any such office during the remainder of such term, either before or after the appointment or election of such person to fill the unexpired term. As to officers who are members of any court, board, commission, or similar body whose terms do not run concurrently, any increase or decrease in the salary, fees, or other compensation of the members of any such court, board, commission, or similar body shall become effective as to all such members thereof immediately after the expiraton of the term or terms of office of the member of members whose term or terms first expire."

I further direct and proclaim that notice of this election upon Tuesday the 6th day of May 1952, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901, be given by publishing the same once a week for four successive weeks next preceding Tuesday the 6th day of May 1952, in each county in the State of Alabama, in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed by the Secretary of State, at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery, on this the 7th day of March 1952.

Gordon Persons,
Governor

The Risen Lord

Lesson for April 13, 1952

IN all the chorusing Easter music, in all the multitudinous many-voiced "I believe . . .," in the midst of the Easter lilies, is it hard to believe? Some find it so and feel ashamed that in the presence of others' bright faith their own doubts rise darkly dim, their faith once clear and warm now grown opaque and cold. It is at Easter time that such a person finds his case most tragic. Doubt that echoes a universal loss of faith is almost natural; but why must doubt stand like a dark rock in a sunny meadow, cold in the midst of flowing springtime?

Dr Foreman

The Man of Dark Mind

TRAGIC such loss of faith may be: but not new. For in Christ's first Twelve—we must say first Eleven, for Judas had sold himself to another—even in that choice company there was one who, on the First Easter, when the voice of all his friends spoke as one: He is risen! could only answer, Is he risen, indeed?

The church has given the name of Saint to these eleven men; they will not deny it to Saint Thomas. For sainthood is not confined to those who have never wrestled with doubt; saints are not only those in whose eyes God and his ways have been always clearly seen.

High in the roll of Christian saints is the name of Thomas, a man of dark but honest mind. His doubt was very like him. He was not a man who most easily believed what was most pleasant.

When Jesus had set his face to go to Jerusalem, the other Ten looked for a Throne, and thrones for all; Thomas alone looked for death. Yet in the very hour, cheered by no bright illusion, Thomas could say what no other did: "Let us go too that we may die with him."

In the upper room at the Last Supper, again the voice of Thomas bespoke his dark mind. "We know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way?"

So it could have been small surprise to the Ten that when they went to Thomas with the glad news of Easter Day, he was slow to believe.

• • •

The Last Beatitude

NOW the Lord Christ did not rebuke this man Thomas, when at last the two came face to face once more; nor did he praise him. He knew that Thomas had acted as a Thomas will.

But our Lord also looked down the centuries, to us and beyond. Thomas had not asked the impossible; but soon, soon would come the time when a request like his could not be granted.

Not forever could Christ be seen on earth with the visible eye. To only a few would be granted even the dream or vision of what Saint Thomas could have touched if he had dared.

The time was shortly coming when men must believe, if they believe at all, without seeing. Easter days would come and go, and voice of faith would rise in a thousand songs: He is risen! But not on any Easter, for twice a thousand years at least, would Christ return to break bread with his friends in such a way that doubt could no longer be. Blessed are they that have not seen, and yet—!

The Risen Lord

SO Saint Thomas was wrong, and right. He was wrong if he thought: I cannot believe unless I see. The Christian way is not the seeing that is believing; it is the believing that is seeing.

But he was right if he thought: I must believe for myself, I can take no other man's faith for my own. And he was right at the last: "My Lord and my God!"

Was Thomas only a man of temperament, a man easily blown from depth of doubht to height of faith? By no means. He knew what difference Easter makes, once the truth of it comes home to a man's mind.

If the message of Easter is not true, Christ is dead,—rather Jesus is dead and there is no Christ, his brain is dust, his dream a cobweb in the wind of death. But if the message of Easter is true—and the whole Christian church is witness that it is true—then Christ who lived again on Easter morning lives forever past all the mornings of the world, lives to be man's only king, reigning from the very right hand of God.

If Easter is not true, we shall walk softly as befits those in mourning on the return of a day of sorrow; if Easter is true we shall say and sing with Thomas and all the saints: My Lord and My God!

SHE'S NOSY—Odor librarian Adele Webster identifies a new scent which will be added to the collection of a London concern which maintains a file of odors for manufacturers of soaps, perfumes and disinfectants. The shelves are crammed with more than 8000 "smells," and each librarian is a chemist, able to recognize hundreds of scents.

Nath Mooney Family Enjoy Reunion

A most happy occasion was that of the annual family reunion of Mr. and Mrs. Nath Mooney held at the Mooney home in the Kingdom community Sunday, March 30. Those of the immediate family attending were Elder and Mrs. A. R. Crumpton of Claxton, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. R. Pruet Crumpton and Judy, Mr. and Mrs. Houston Mooney, Mr. and Mrs. Welby Mooney and children, Mary Lou, Wayne and Joe, Mr. and Mrs. Lehman Mooney and Connie, Mrs. Peggie Joyce Roberson, Mr. and Mrs. Medder Mooney and Jimmy and Tommy, all of Bessemer, Alabama; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mooney and Mike of Birmingham; Mrs. Charles F. Mooney of Shelby; Mr. and Mrs. Braxton Mooney, Joe and Judy of Columbiana, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foster and Steve, also of Columbiana.

Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Edmondson, Shirley, Sharon, Joel and Becky of Sylacauga; Mr. and Mrs. Luther Mooney and Larry of Memphis, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Crumpton, Duwall and Dorothy Jane of Birmingham; Nathan Mooney of Columbiana; Mrs. Vernel Smith, David and Bettie of Childersburg; and Mr. and Mrs. Wales Mooney, Jerry and Barbara of Columbiana.

Others present were: Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Harper, Norma Gean, Donald, Doris and Marsha Gayle of Powderly; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mooney, Robert and Jerry, of Sterrett; Mrs. Della Praytor and Mrs. Polly Sims of Bessemer.

A sumptuous dinner was spread in the yard of the family home. After dinner the family and other relatives assembled in the home where Elder A. R. Crumpton spoke on the subject of "Giving As A Family Heritage."

CONTROL WORMS ON PEACHES AND PLUMS

Worms will destroy peaches and plums in thousands of home orchards unless the trees are sprayed several times during the next few weeks.

W. A. Ruffin, A. P. I. Extension Service entomologist points out that the plum curculio, a small weevil-like insect, becomes active shortly after arrival of warm weather in the spring. It punctures the young peaches and plums and lays eggs in them, often before the blossom is shed.

These fruits should be sprayed when two-thirds of the petals have fallen, when young fruits begin to split the shucks, and then about every two weeks until one month before harvest.

"It is always best to buy ready-mixed spray materials for use on fruit in the home orchard," says Ruffin. "Fruit growers should read the label on ready-mixed spray materials and make sure that the diluted spray contains six pounds of wettable sulphur, four pounds of zinc sulphate, eight pounds of spray lime, and two pounds of lead arsenate in 100 gallons of water.

Ruffin adds that if weather is rainy after peaches start to ripen, spray them with six pounds of sulphur in 100 gallons of water every week or 10 days.

DON'T SKIMP WHEN GROWING PULLETS

A few more cents for equipment, labor, litter, heat, and medication when raising pullets may make several dollars' difference in the returns they will give, according to John Weeks, A. P. I. Extension Service poultry specialist.

If a gas burner on your stove sputters, it's wasting fuel. Dirt is usually the cause. Remove the burner, clean out the holes with a pipe cleaner or wire, wash in hot soapsuds, rinse, dry, replace and you have a cure

Two tablespoons of vinegar added to one cup of sweet milk will turn it into sour milk; let stand for three minutes before using.

APPLY RIGHT AMOUNTS OF COTTON FERTILIZER

Alabama farmers used an average of 500 pounds of fertilizer per acre in producing the 1951 cotton crop.

O. N. Andrews, A. P. I. Extension Service cotton improvement specialist, says this amount was an increase over previous years but still 100 pounds per acre less than the minimum recommendation based on many years of research by the A. P. I. Agricultural Experiment Station.

"Farmers who use all other good production practices in growing cotton can profitably use 500 to 600 pounds of 4-10-7 or 6-8-8 per acre and side-dress with 75 to 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate or 150 to 200 pounds of nitrate of soda or equal nitrogen from other sources on most soils of the state," advises Andrews. "On the productive red soils of the Tennessee Valley 600 pounds per acre of 6-8-4 will supply the plant food needed to make good yields. On the less productive soils in this section, farmers can profitably side-dress with 50 pounds of ammonium nitrate or 100 pounds of nitrate of soda or equal nitrogen from other sources. On the heavier red soils all of the nitrogen may be applied at or before planting."

BEST WAYS TO REMOVE DIRT FROM FURNITURE

Furniture that has had too many heavy applications of wax or polish without sufficient rubbing and polishing gathers and holds dirt and dust.

Alice Peavy, A. P. I. Extension Service home management specialist, states that dirt found on varnished furniture may be removed with soap and water or with linseed oil, turpentine, and hot water.

Furniture finished with a shellac or cheap varnish, however, should not be washed with water as it may turn white.

POLISHED RICE IS A SOURCE OF PROTEIN

Cereal products such as bread and rice are not especially good sources of protein. "However," says Mary Hulsey, A. P. I. Extension nutritionist, "many people whose diets include very little meat, eggs, or dairy products must depend to a great extent on the protein in cereal grains.

Tests show that rice protein is nearly three times as valuable for growth as the protein in enriched flour, says Miss Hulsey. So perhaps rice should be served more often.

Our bodies are able to make better use of proteins in polished rice than proteins in enriched flour, she explains.

COOKIE MAKING CONTEST

In many 4-H club homes a lot of hands have been reaching into the cookie jar.

Seventy-seven 4-H girls have participated in the cookie making contest held in clubs during March. The first place winner in each club will compete in the County Baking Contest. The date to be announced.

Winners reported in ten clubs were Elizabeth Whittington, Camp Branch; Shirley Beavers, Wilsonville; Ronda Sue Barefield, Calera Elem.; LeClare Cowar, Calera Jr.; Amelia Frost, Calera Sr.; Mildred Kelley, Peggy Hurst, New Hope; Martha Bentley, Columbiana Jr.; Billie Jo Lindsey, Pelham; Rebecca Green, Helena Elem. and Martha Walton, Columbiana Elementary.

FASHION SUGGESTIONS CONCERNING SLEEVES

Dresses and blouses with a suggestion of a sleeve are more becoming and practical for women generally than the extremely cut, bare shoulder styles features in some of the new fashions, according to Levice Ellis, A. P. I. Extension Service clothing specialist.

She points out that the completely sleeveeless garment is more appropriate for young girls and resort wear. But for older women, slight cap sleeves, brief kimono sleeves, winged sleeves, or a straight band finish around the armhole are more attractive. These fashions are just as cool for summer, economical, and usually easier to make.

If the mature woman would like to modify the sleeveless dress, this can be done with a large cape collar or bolero. Either one can be removed if the occasion is appropriate.

"When making a sleeveless dress," says Miss Ellis, "cut according to the pattern and finish by facing or binding. A band of straight cut fabric is another easy finish."

A good trick for keeping rubbers and rainwear from getting separated or mislaid is to give your child brightly painted clothespins with his initals on them so he can clip galoshes in pairs, and rain hat to raincoat.

CHRYSLER FirePower is so much more+ than HORSEPOWER

+ It's worth remembering that today's Chrysler V-8 is not a "warmed-over" engine, but basically brand new . . . the first truly new type engine of modern times. It does, indeed, open new horsepower potentials, but what it can mean to you goes way beyond just that . . :

+ FirePower gives your gasoline a better place to work . . . the first hemispherical combustion chamber in a stock-car engine. It makes possible more power from every drop of gas. You feel it the minute you open up a Chrysler, in greater accelerating power than you've ever had at your command . . .

+ FirePower is also a better-built engine throughout. It doesn't require premium fuel. It runs with less waste, less heat, less wear, less carbon deposit than other type engines can do. More of your gasoline's energy is turned into actual road power, greater reserve for passing and top speeds when needed . . .

+ Why not drive this revolutionary new-type engine, and feel its wonderful difference for yourself? Let your Chrysler dealer show you how much more than horsepower your money can buy in the engine Chrysler has designed from scratch to do an engine's job better, longer, and more efficiently than previous engines can hope to do!

IMPORTANCE OF SOCIAL SECURITY CARD STRESSED

"What good is my social security card after I have a steady job?" That question, say Social Security officials is asked at their offices more often than you think. "So," they reply, "we'd like to stress a few points about that card."

"Your card is the only means of identifying your individual social security account among the many millions of other accounts. The number on that card is registered in your name, and will never be used again at any time in the future. This is important, because when your employer reports your earnings, those earnings are credited to you under that account number. And since your retirement payments and the death benefits coming to your family when you die are based on your earnings, you must be sure to have every dollar of your earnings properly credited.

"Another point is the delay caused in filing any social security claim when your card is lost. When you claim your retirement payments, or when your family puts in a claim for death benefits after your death, the social security office must have your account number to handle the claim. Also if you are ever laid off, the Unemployment Compensation Office cannot process your Unemployment Benefits without your social security number.

"For these reasons, we always urge that you hang on to your social security card, if you lose it, get a duplicate right away from your social security office. There is no charge."

1,200,000 MORE MEN TO PUT ON UNIFORMS

Manpower officials say an increase of 110,000 men in the armed forces during the fiscal year starting July 1 means about 1,200,000 new men must don uniforms.

Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, defense manpower boss, told the House Appropriations Committee in testimony made public recently that the large majority of new recruits will merely replace those relieved from active duty.

"We are in effect running a revolving door," she said. " This is expensive and takes a great deal more manpower."

Of the 1,200,000 new men, all but 110,000 will replace 850,000 inducted and enlisted men whose terms are about to expire, and 230,000 reservists and National Guard personnel soon to be released.

The increase of 110,000 will build up the military forces to 3,700,000, Mrs. Rosenberg said in testimony supporting the 1953 defense budget.

INSPECTION AND GRADING OF FARM PRODUCTS

The State Agriculture Board has ordered compulsory inspection and grading of several farm products in a number of counties.

In Chilton County peaches, strawberries and sweet potatoes will come under the regulation, voted by the 1951 legislature. It applies to stawberries and sweet potatoes in Cullman County.

The new law permits the board to require grading of farm products where "the best interests" of producers would be served.

Asst. Agricultural Commissioner M. D. (Pete) Gilmer said that Chilton and Cullman producers had "voted almost unanimously" to impose this regulation on strawberries and sweet potatoes.

Producers in some other areas rejected the proposal, preferring to keep grading on a voluntary basis.

The new inspection law was sponsored by Representative Henry W. White, of Cullman.

ON ELECTION DAY

When I have cast my ballot let me say:
I marked an X for principles today.
I did not vote for party or for man;
But for what seemed to be the wisest plan
To meet the present need. With open mind
I weighed each deed and promise, that the blind
Lead not the blind.

But high and over all
I prayed that God would hear a people's call.
A call not made for self, but for the whole;
Enabling Right to govern and control
I prayed that Love would stifle lies and greed;
Thus knitting hearts together in one creed:
One politic, one party, and one plan;
The good of all; the all of good, for man.

The above poem by Ruth D. Smith may be just a beautiful dream, but, wonder if it came true, if this old hurdy-gurdy world would not be a happier and a more peaceful place in which to live? At least, it is a dream to think about as a bewildered and confused people go about making plans to elect a president of the United States this year.

CONGRESSMAN DeGRAFFENRIED PAYS US A VISIT

Congressman Ed deGraffenried spent Tuesday in Shelby County and during his visit with us we were delighted to learn of a recent honor conferred on him which carries a tribute to the ability he has demonstrated since leaving Tuescaloosa three years ago to represent the Sixth District. Mr. deGraffenried has been appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives as one of five members on an official board of visitors to meet with four senators at West Point Academy on April 21, to inspect the Academy and report back to the board anything that needs to be recommended or brought to their attention regarding West Point.

Mr. deGraffenried will fly back to meet this official appointment and will then return to the District to wind up his campaign for the retention of this important official post of duty on Capitol Hill.

TIMBER IS ONE OF COUNTY'S VALUABLE ASSETS

Alabama ranks third among the states in the nation in the production of lumber. Alabama tree farmers are paid over $30,000,000 annually for the raw timber.

Shelby County is rich in timberlands, and the growing sale of timber is an indication of the great change which has been taking place since the diversified farming program began to function in this section of Alabama. Soil conservation programs. Intelligent and selective tree cutting. Forestry development, and many other advanced steps are being advocated in a cooperative manner which is bringing in additional profits from our farm timber lands. "Cotton is still king," but no longer the only profit producing medium. Shelby county is steadily forging ahead in her livestock and poultry enterprises.

Farm lands are in demand for commercial investments and for permanent residential sites. Many of our Magic City neighbors are moving to Shelby county, even though they continue their vocations in Birmingham. The excellent roads now available make commuting a pleasure between the two counties, and the "town and country advantages" are being shared and as a result, gracious living down South, is no longer a pipe dream, but an established reality.

REV. CURTIS BEAN GUEST SPEAKER

CANCER FIGHT WILL CONTINUE

The American Cancer Society is very proud of the splendid work being done here in Birmingham. Right here in our own state some of the most able scientists are busy working on important parts of Cancer Research.

We might say that Cancer Research is like a big jig-saw puzzle. The pieces are spread out in front of the scientists, mixed and jumbled, many of them at odd shapes and figures, that don't seem to fit anywhere, not just yet.

Some of them have been turned right side up. You can see on them a tantalizing fragment of what a part of the finished picture is going to be. It is important that all of our citizens know of this splendid program.

The American Cancer Society has granted a total of $403,588.00 to five Cancer Research projects in the State of Alabama. These projects are as follows:

Cancer Research Laboratory, Medical College of Alabama, Birmingham, $103,965.00.

Southern Research Institute, Birmingham, $164,424.00.

Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, $88,900.00.

Tumor Registry, Birmingham, $23,900.00.

Highland Baptist Hospital, Birmingham, $22,399.00.

These Cancer Research projects are made possible by money contributed to the American Cancer Society. The scientists are not doing all the research they want to do, or could do... only as much as there is money available to pay for.

More funds rasied and channeled to them by the American Cancer Society means not only that they can keep on with the vital work that they are doing now, but that it can be increased and intensified to hurry the day when science can hand back in repayment a cure for all cancer.

VETERAN FROM ARKANSAS VISITS HARPERSVILLE

G. T. Cullins of Caldonia, Arkansas visited relatives and friends in Harpersville last week on his way from the reunion of old soldiers at Tampa, Florida. Mr. Cullins was born and reared in Herpersville and went to the war at the age of 13, and remained until the end of the war.

Returning from the war he found nearly everything ruined and after remaining here for seven years, went to Texas and from there to Arkansas where he has accumulated considerable property. Mr. Cullins never misses a reunion. He is usually the first to arrive and the last to leave. By the way, during his visit in Harpersville, he left his subscription for the Reporter.

ALL DAY SINGING AT OLD CHAPEL

On the fourth Sunday in April, the annual home coming and all day singing will be held at Old Chapel. Some of the best quartettes from Birmingham will be present. Mrs. W. T. Taylor and Miss Clarice Evans of Wilsonville, violinists, will play for an hour during the afternoon.

COMMUNITY NEWS

Miss Marjorie Buhler was a visitor in Columbiana, Friday. She came after a baby who is to be put in care of the child welfare department of the state. There are three other children who are in Mrs. A. R. Looney's care until homes can be found for them.

As a movement to improve the writing of the Westover school pupils, the teachers offered an award of $1.00 for the pupil making the most marked improvement in writing during the week. Melton Green won the prize.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Lightcap of Los Angeles, California, reached Columbiana Tuesday for a visit with Dr. and Mrs. D. S. Lightcap in Columbiana.

Misses Dorothy Parker, Roberta Taylor and Willie Lee Page spent the week end in Birmingham.

L. H. Ellis, J. W. Hester, W. W. Allbright and J. M. Leonard attended the funeral of M. B. Smith in Saginaw Wednesday.

Miss Effie Gardner and Miss Ruby Sims of Fourmile were guests of Miss Edna Camp during the week end.

Mrs. Max Lefkovits and her son, Alvin, spent the week end in Birmingham.

Mrs. Donnie Tinney and Mr. W. L. Gardner were married last Tuesday night at the home of the Rev. T. K. Roberts.

Miss Gladys Dycus who is teaching at Calera, spent the week end in Columbiana with her parents Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Dycus.

Miss Fay Benton of Birmingham spent the week end with her grand mother Mrs. John Miles.

Last Thursday morning, Mrs. Niven came into her school room after chapel, all the children were in their places and very quiet. The shades were drawn, giving a soft mellow light to the room. On her desk she saw a beautiful wreath of flowers, and on further examination, that it was covering fruits, candies, and nuts, all of which was a beautiful expression of love from the children to their teacher.

HOWARD E. RAWE, COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY DISTINGUISHED GUEST.

Howard E. Rawe, field representative from Citizenship Education project from Teachers College, Columbia University, was guest of honor at a Tea given by the members of the High School Faculty last Wednesday afternoon in the Home-Economics Department.

Mr. Rawe came to Shelby County High School in an advisory capacity and was most favorably impressed by the excellent work being done in the school along the lines of citizenship education.

Mr. Rawe was the guest of Principal Leonard Rogers during his stay in Columbiana.

Braxton of Columbiana came by to enter a new subscription to the Home Paper.

JOE WINSLETT OF HELENA HONOR STUDENT AT BERRY

Joe Winslett, a Sophomore at the Mount Berry School for Boys (a division of the Berry Schools) at Mount Berry, Georgia, was among the top seven per cent that made the Honor Roll for mid-semester period ending March 15, 1952. To make the Honor Roll a student must average at least half A's and half B's in his academic subjects and make a grade of A on Conduct, room, and work assignment.

Joe is the son of Cloud Winslett of Helena. Joe entered Berry in July, 1951, and is paying his entire room, board, and tuition expenses by working in one of the school's industries. Congratulations!

EASTER PAGEANT PRESENTED AT NEW HOPE

An overflow crowd enjoyed the most stirring and colorful Easter Pageant ever presented at the Presbyterian Church at New Hope Sunday evening. The two act play "In Joseph's Garden", was directed by Mrs. Howard Bailey.

T. R. Wynn had the leading role as King of the Orient. He was supported by a talented cast of sixteen characters in striking costumes.

The background scenes and lighting were arranged by Earl Fallin, and added much to the effectiveness of the pageant. This inspiring service was one of the outstanding events on the church calendar for the year.

Persons Orders Board To Reconsider Okeh Of Book On Democracy

Alabama school children won't be studying "The Challenge of Democracy," for a while at least.

Governor Gordon Persons recently ordered the state textbook committee to reconsider its previous approval of the book and State School Superintendent W. J. Terry told the publisher "not to ship the first book to Alabama."

Persons, who is ex-officio president of the state board of education, said he had received a detailed report on the book quoting certain sections.

"I intend to get a copy of the book and read it myself," the governor added.

Marvin Hawkins, of Birmingham, a board member from the ninth congressional district, said he is opposed to using the book because of what he called socialistic propaganda. It was adopted with several dozen others last December on recommendation of the 14-member textbook committee, Hawkins added.

DEMONSTRATION CLUB WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

Fifty-three Club women from 23 Shelby County Home Demonstration Clubs recently made plans to observe National Home Demonstration Week April 27-May 4. They plan a North Alabama Tour to include Little Jerualem at Cullman, Helen Keller's Home and Wheeler Dam on Thursday May 1st. The Council will sponsor a letter writing contest on "What Home Demonstration Work Means To Me." These letters to be in the Home Agents office by Friday, April 18th. Each Club was also asked to send in at least one news item. 27 Clubs will observe this week with Husband's Night, Special Membership Drives, and special sermons in their churches.

Mrs. C. W. Hart, State Citizenship Chairman was guest speaker. She urged that all Club members "Be informed, pay poll tax, vote, and use all available materials to widen your world. Citizenship Chairmen should find out the number of qualified voters and see that they go to the polls on election day.'

The Annual Cotton Dress Revue will be held in all Clubs in June. A Training Meeting on Painting Figurines will be held on Wednesday, May 28th. Mrs. H. A. Pauly, Mrs. R. E. Winners in the associational drills were: Juniors, Patricia Galloway, Montevallo, where Mrs. W. G. Hicks is Director; Intermediates: James Carden, Calera, where Mrs. W. W. Godfrey is director; and Young People, Ralph Jones, Columbiana, with G. C. Moore, Jr., director. Calera church also entered the Junior drill, the entrant being Norma Jean Henson. These drills were conducted by G. C. Moore, Jr., who is associate director in the Shelby Association.

The above named three winners will represent this county at the district Training Union Convention, at Anniston, Alabama, Tuesday, April 22nd to vie against other county winners for district honors.

Presiding over the meeting was Rev. George Holmes, pastor at Liberty Church and Associational B. T. U. Director this year.

NEWS OF SHELBY COUNTY BOYS IN SERVICE

Lawrence D. Roper, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Roper of Route 1, Wilsonville, Alabama, is serving aboard the landing ship tank USS 855, undergoing overhaul in San Diego, California.

The 855 recently returned to the United States after spending eight months in the Far East. She participated in exercises in support of UN troops in the Korean area.

A baby boy, weighing 6 pounds, 10½ ounces was born March 27 to Mrs. Frances B. Moore, wife of Technical Sgt. Roy B. Moore, USMC at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Camp Lejune, N. C.

Moore, who is serving with the Second Rocket Battery, Camp Lejune, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Moore, of Loyall, Ky. Mrs. Moore is the daughter of Mrs. Eva Garrett of Box 86, Wilsonville, Alabama.

The baby, named Andrew Boyd is the second child for the Moores, who are residing at 784 Naha dr., Tarawa ter., Camp Lejune.

Pfc. Donald E. Bates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam E. Bates, Route 1, Maylene, was with the U. S. Forces that routed the Aggressor Army to conclude Exercise Longhorn in central Texas on April 9.

His unit, the 1st Armored Division, formed the spearhead of the U. S. force that drove the Aggressor across the Colorado River, completing the destruction of the invading "enemy" two days ahead of schedule.

More than 115,000 soldiers and airmen practiced their assignments under combat conditions in the giant maneuver, one of the largest in U. S. history.

Bates is a member of the division's 1st Armored Field Artillery Battalion.

EDWARD DeGRAFFENRIED

To The People Of The Sixth Congressional District

I have just returned to the District for the Easter recess of the 82nd Congress and it is certainly a pleasure to be back in the District once again. I hope to see as many of you as I possibly can while I am in the District and I wish to say that it has been a pleasure to serve you in Congress. I believe my record is one of which you can be justly proud.

You were kind enough to re-elect me to Congress in 1950 and now I come back to report to you on the Record and ask you to re-elect me to serve you again in the 83rd Congress.

MY RECORD IN THE 82nd CONGRESS, AS TABULATED AS OF APRIL 1st, SHOWS THE FOLLOWING:

On 109 Roll Call Votes (1st Session, 1951) 88%

On 20 Roll Call Votes (2nd Session, to April 1, 1952) 100%

In addition to the above "On the Record" votes I have attended over 140 hearings of the Committee on Armed Services of the House during the 82nd Congress, including Full Committee hearings and hearings of the following subcommittees of which I am a Member, and which hearings have often been conducted while the House was also in Session:

Subcommittee Number One

General Defense Legislation and Uniform Code of Military Justice which has passed Congress and is now the law.

Special Subcommittee on Stockpiling of Strategic Materials For Defense

Special Military Clothing Subcommittee

Special Subcommittee on Procurement

Robert Subcommittee now conducting investigations of defense procurement contracts and now preparing legislation establishing a central procurement agency and single catalogue system of procurement items by all branches of the armed services, which will result in millions of dollars saved to the taxpayers of America.

Special Subcommittee for Military and Civilian Personnel

Special Subcommittee on Aircraft Procurement

Special Subcommittee on Reserve Components

This Subcommittee investigated the Reserve Program of the Nation and formulated a Bill to strengthen and improve the Reserve program which recently passed the House of Representatives without a single dissenting vote.

I have recently been appointed one of four House Members by the Speaker of the House to serve on the Board of Visitors to West Point. (Duty of Board is to inquire into state of morale and discipline, curricular, instructions, physical equipment and academic methods relating to the Academy.

YOUR VOTE AND INLFLUENCE WILL BE APPRECIATED

COWART-McLEMORE NUPTIALS PERFORMED

Miss Jeffie Cowart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Daniel Cowart, of Calera, and Carl Ray McLemore, son of Mr. Emmett McLemore, and the late Mrs. McLemore, Moulton, Alabama, were married at 6 P. M. Sunday, April 6th, at the Calera Baptist Church, with Rev. Rosewell Owens, Moulton, Alabama, officiating.

Arrangement of white calla lillies, gladioli, palms and smilax decorated the church, which was lighted by tapers in branched candlelabra.

Mrs. Francis P. Givhan Montevallo, organist, and Mrs. Benny Peacock, soloist, presented the pre-nuptial music.

Songs selected by the bride were: "I Love Thee," "The Sweetest Story Story Ever Told," and "Because".

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore white duches satin trimmed in chantilly lace extending to the end of the train. The bodice was of the chantilly lace with long pointed lace sleeves and sweetheart neck, trimmed in pearls, finger tip veil with orange blossoms and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and valley lillies with streamers of ribbon. The bouquet was centered with two white orchids. She carried a chantilly lace handkerchief which was given to her by her grand mother.

Mrs. Robert W. Lockridge, only sister of the bride was Matron of Honor. She wore a pale green satin and net dress, with head dress styled the same as the bride's.

Bridesmaids and matrons were: Miss Ruth Armstrong, Birmingham; Miss Jeffie Mothershed, of Birmingham; Mrs. E. Davis, of Montgomery, and Mrs. W. G. Littrell of Moulton. Their dresses were shrimp color, styled same as the matron of honor.

Matrons of Honor, bridesmaids and matrons bouquets were talisman roses, tied with emerald green ribbons.

Candle lighters were Miss Betty Bowdon and Miss LeClare Cowart, both of Calera. Their dresses were yellow ,styled same as the other attendants. Their head dresses were yellow carnations and carnation wrist corsages of same color.

Flower girls were little Diane Murphree, Decatur, cousin of the groom. She wore a pink lace and organdy dress with hoop skirt, pink sash, pink split carnation bandeau. Little Joanne Lockridge, Huntsville, only niece of the bride, wore a pink nylon over taffeta and hoop skirt, with pink sash. Her head dress was the same as the other flower girl.

The bride's mother wore grey crepe, with tunic of chantilly lace, wearing a purple orchid.

The best man was Norman Spillers of Moulton.

Ushers were Stephen D. Cowart, only brother of the bride; W. G. Littrell, Moulton; Everett Mullican, of Moulton, and Joe B. Price, Huntsville.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. A four tiered white cake with pink decorations of calla lillies and wedding bells with topping of miniature bride and groom centered the dining room table, which was covered with a crochet cloth over white satin, which cloth was crocheted by the bride's grandmother. White flowers, smilax and other greenery decorated the house.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. R. L. Holcombe and Mrs. Pearl Onderdonk, and registered in the bride's book. kept by Mrs. M. W. Hammond, of Keystone.

Punch was served on the lawn by Mrs. A. E. Norwood and Mrs. Marion Jones.

Mrs. Z. S. Cowart, Sr. cut the wedding cake, assisted by Mrs. Jasper Holcombe, Jr. Serving in the dining room were Mrs. Z. S. Cowart, Jr., Miss Ethel Cowart, Mrs. D. G. Wallace, Mrs. Roy Downs, Mrs. R. E. Bowdon, Jr., Mrs. Truman Mothershed, Mrs. J. E. Armstrong and Mrs. Carolyn Ivy Johnson, and Mrs. Everett Mullican.

Miss Carolyn Curtis, Miss Carolyn Ivy Johnson. and Mrs. J. H. Johnson kept the gift rooms.

Leaving for a wedding trip to Gulf Shores and New Orleans, the bride wore a beige suit and brown accessories, and white orchid corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray McLemore will be at home in Birmingham, where both the bride and groom are employed as pharmacists.

There were seventy-nine out of town guests.

L. C. Walker, Judge of Probate Shelby County
Alabama

April 18-25, May 1, 1952

WHERE HAVE YOU BEEN, Mr. de Graffenried?

. . . AND WHAT HAVE YOU BEEN DOING?

When you ran for Congress in 1948, you denounced your predecessor for his absence from the House of Representatives.

You ran an advertisement pointing out that, during his 11 years in office, he had failed to vote on 68 bills dealing with important legislation.

You promised that you would "stay on the job" and "vote for the welfare of the people of the Sixth District."

WHAT IS THE TRUTH?

The truth is that, while your predecessor failed to vote on 68 bills in 11 years, YOU HAVE FAILED TO VOTE ON 63 BILLS IN ONLY THREE YEARS!

Your record for absenteeism in the House during the three full years you have been in office is the worst, with only one exception, in the entire Alabama delegation.

For all three of those full years which you have served... 1949, 1950, and 1951... your attendance record has been below the national average for the House... and this in face of the fact that the more inexperienced congressmen such as you, with the lighter committee assignments, are expected to have a record well above the average.

Inasmuch as you ran on a platform pledging attention to business, the people of the Sixth District have a right to ask you these questions:

"Where have you been, Mr. de-Graffenried?

"And what have you been doing with this time, which belongs not to you, but to the people of the Sixth District?

"How can you vote for the welfare of the people, when you don't vote at all on so much important legislation?"

What About ARMISTEAD SELDEN'S RECORD For Being On The Job And Attending To Business?

This is what Robert T. Goodwyn, Jr., Clerk of the Alabama House of Representatives, has to say:

> "I hereby certify that Representative Selden was present on each of the thirty-six days that the Legislature met during the regular 1951 session and that on EACH OF THE THIRTY-SIX DAYS REPRESENTATIVE SELDEN ANSWERED TO THE CALL OF THE ROLL."

ARMISTEAD I. SELDEN, JR.

Vote for a man who knows how to stay on the job. Vote for a man who means business, and who thinks that you mean the same thing when you say you someone really to represent you in Washington.

ALABASTER METHODIST CHURCH GROWS

The Rev. E. B. Ogburn has completed a successful series of services at the Alabaster Methodist Church. This revival began April 6, and closed April 13. All members of the church enthusiastically entered into these helpful meetings and much good was accomplished.

The ladies of the church are actively engaged in promoting many worthwhile projects. They give a Church Dinner once a month in the basement assembly room. This promotes good fellowship among the members and affords social contacts other wise impossible.

Mr. E. M. Snow donated a complete set of china and silverware to be used on these occasions. It has become "family night" when these suppers are given and all the children, too, enjoy coming along with their parents.

The missionary circles have purchased a selection of shrubbery for the church grounds which adds much to the appearance of the church surroundings. The lawn will be sodded this fall for grass.

The organ was paid for last month and the entire debt on the building will be paid off within the next two years, at which time a formal dedicatory service will be held.

K. B. Nickerson and John C. Montgomery are preparing a history of the church going back to the beginning of the Methodist church in this section of Shelby county, and bringing it up to date with pictorial sketches.

Along with the civic and commercial growth of Alabaster the church life is not being neglected and we are very proud of the progress being made in all directions.

TROUT MILKING — Because rainbow trout have a penchant for eating their own eggs, hatchery men beat them to the punch via a milking process. Lynn Webb, above, of the Oregon State Hatchery at Leaburg, shows us how it's done. Oregon's McKenzie River, which attracts anglers from all over the country, will get some 80,000 young trout who were spared from the cannibalism of their hungry elders.

MAJOR ARBERRY R. WILLIAMS FORMER SHELBY COUNTIAN AWARDED MEDALS

Major Arberry R. Williams of Savannah, has been awarded the seventh and eighth oak leaf clusters to the Air Medal, Col. T. G. Jenkins, commander of Camp Stoneman, announced recently at Camp Stoneman, California.

The 38-year-old artillery officer, was awarded the oakleaf clusters in lieu of the Air Medal for his services as an artillery liaison pilot with the U. S. Third Division in Korea. He is presently serving as operations and training officer of the replacement at the army's largest West Coast personnel processing center.

The former high school mathematics instructor holds among his other decorations and medals, the Korean Service Medal with three bronze stars, the World War II Victory Medal, the European, African and Middle Eastern Campaign medal, the United Nations ribbon, the Occupational medal (Germany and Japan), the Air Medal with eight oakleaf clusters, the Bronze Star medal, the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Silver Star medal.

Major Williams was commissioned from the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, upon graduating from the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, May 1934. The degree of bachelor of science in education was conferred upon him.

Major Williams is the son of F. B. Williams who served for several years as a teacher in the schools of Shelby county and who now lives in Savannah, Georgia.

The Census Bureau reports that other income of the family of 76,104 of Alabama's 211,512 farmers was larger in 1949 than the value of farm products sold off their farms during that year.

Bible Comment:

The Tyrannical Son Of Solomon Brings On His Own Fall

HISTORY indicates that people will suffer oppression and cruel injustices, especially under the rule of a strong hand, but when some leader arouses and organizes smoldering discontent, action may be swift and sweeping.

The revolt of the 10 tribes of Israel against Solomon's son and successor, Rehoboam, is typical. Solomon had managed to hold the kingdom together, but he had departed from the wisdom of his early years.

A man named Jeroboam, "a mighty man of valor," had sought to lead a revolt, but met with no success, and was forced to flee to Egypt. As Rehoboam played the fool, Jeroboam saw his opportunity. Returning from Egypt, he led the 10 tribes to the establishment of the so-called Northern Kingdom.

The story is thrilling and instructive. When Rehoboam was asked for reforms, he requested three days to consider the matter. His was a great opportunity, had he followed sound advice. But he took the advice of young hotheads who urged him to take a firm hand and show the people who was master.

When the people came three days later to receive his answer, Rehoboam spoke in those tragic and memorable words of an oppressing fool: "My father made your yoke heavy, and I will add to your yoke; my father also chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions."

It was intended to be the voice of power, but it was the voice of doom. The people rallied to Jeroboam, and the kingdom was rent asunder.

It was the beginning of the end. The Northern Kingdom went down in defeat, and the Southern Kingdom, though it continued for over 100 years later, experienced defeat and captivity in Babylon.

From that captivity there later was a glorious spiritual revival, but a unified Israel was a thing of the past. Today in Palestine momentous events are happening again. Will the future see the present sovereign Jewish nation grow strong and solidify its place in that Jewish homeland?

There's many a young man today who yearns for the good old days when all he could expect was a lickin' when he brought home a bad report card. Nowadays he gets drafted.

Not "warmed over" but strictly brand new!

YOU OWE it to your pocketbook to drive this Chrysler engine before you buy any fine car today.

It's not a "warmed-over" engine, but a basically brand-new one!

It gives a new kind of performance that means new value for every dollar you pay out for purchase, upkeep, or operation.

It was built brand-new around a hemispherical combustion chamber which makes better use of gasoline, and also permits sounder all-round engine structure, than any American motor car engine has had before.

It delivers 180 horsepower . . . without requiring you to buy premium gasoline. It runs with less waste, less heat, less friction and less wear than previous designs can equal. Its combustion is so clean it literally develops almost no carbon deposit at all.

It will last longer than any engine you've ever known. It will cost you less along the way. It will stay "young" in performance thousands of miles past the point where an ordinary engine shows old age.

And on top of all that, it makes driving a lot more pleasure! Its smooth response . . . its safety-power, in reserve for emergencies . . . its easy scorn for distance or hills . . . make you just plain feel good at the wheel as you've never felt before.

For the good of your purse and your pleasure too . . . we invite you to drive it, soon!

CONGRATULATIONS TO 4TH GRADERS

Members of the Fourth Grade of the Columbiana Elementary School are interested in an atempt to promote interest in a Bird Sanctuary and are enjoying planning such a place, under the direction of their instructor, Mrs. Frank Ellis. But, let's read what Glenda Joseph, a member of the 4th grade has to say about this worthwile project.

Gnelda says: "Our class is enjoying building bird houses and bird baths, so the birds that come this Spring will stay. We are reading and writing poems and stories about birds and how to treat them.

"We are proud of Mrs. Jean Beasley Merrell who lives in Shelby. She has written a book called 'Alabama's Song Birds' and 'Alabama's Game Birds'. These are the only bird books that we have found that are written for children.

"Last Wednesday, Mrs. Merrell came to the school and talked with Mrs. MacKnight's students and to those in our room about our birds.

"If we can get everyone in Columbiana interested in protecting our birds, we could start a bird sactuary here.

Glenda Joseph, 4th grade"

Now Betty Hatchett tells us of her interest in Birds in an original poem, which we think is splendid and we reprint it believing our readers will agree with us that Betty, now in the 4th grade, may some day be the poet-laureate of Alabama.

Her poem is called....

'THE BIRD IN OUR PEAR TREE'

There is a little bird in our pear tree,
That sings a little song all for me.
On the highest limb of this tree she sat,
To stay out of reach of our black cat.
She eats worms and bugs to keep her fat,
And all the gardeners are glad of that.
Her wings are blue and her breast is gray,
And I hope she is in our tree to stay.

—Betty Hatchett

JULIE ANNE McCRORY

I am sure many of you will remember Jean and John McCrory. Dr. McCrory, who practised Veterinary Medicine in this county, and his charming and talented wife, Jean. The McCrory's have a host of friends in Columbiana who will be sending congratulations to them when they learn of the arrival of Julie Anne McCrory who was born February 17, in Ogallala, Nebraska, where the McCrorys now reside. The address is as follows: Dr. and Mrs. J. A. McCrory, 308 W. B., Ogallala, Nebraska.

Jean and John were favorites of ours, and despite the fact that their profession took them miles away from Main, they still keep in touch with their friends in Columbiana thru the Reporter-Democrat each week, and their membership remains in the Baptist Church here, where both were active members of the church and were treasured members of the Baptist Choristers, who join me in expressing delight over the news just received of little Julie Anne's arrival.

JESSE DUPREE FOUND DEAD

Jesse Dupree of Columbiana was found Thursday morning, fatally burned, presumably, some time during Wednesday night, April 12. His body was found Thursday about a quarter of a mile from his home. How the tragedy occurred remains a mystery.

. . . The "Varsity" is getting to be a popular place for entertaining various social clubs. The largest party so far served at the Varsity was an atfer-rehearsal party held Saturday evening when members of the Baptist Choir were guests of their director at a Dessert Party. The owners of the Varsity, donned their white coats and formed an assembly line, which assured quick service. The down pour of rain failed to dampen the spirits of this congenial group and forty guests shared the occasion.

. . . Friends of Bobby Martin's will be glad to learn he is convalescing satisfactorily in a hospital in Birmingham after a surgical operation.

. . . Clarence Abbott, Cecil Duke and E. M. Young were numbered among the baseball fans who journeyed to the Magic City Tuesday night for the opening game.

LUCY TURNER TO PRESENT PUPILS

The pupils of Lucy Turner's will present a Piano Recital in the High School Auditorium on Friday evening, April 18, at seven-thirty o'clock. The public is cordially invited to be present.

ROBERT HOLLIMAN TO PRESENT MUSICAL RECITAL

The students of Chelsea School, under the direction of Robert Holliman, will present an Evening of Music at the School on the evening of April 24, beginning at seven-thirty. The public and patrons of the school are invited to be present.

BAPTIST CHORISTERS EXPRESS APPRECIATION TO FRIENDS

The Baptist Choristers are indeed grateful to friends for the generous response received following their interpretation of the Song of Triumph on Sunday evening. The church was filled to capacity and the favorable comments from those who heard this cantata have been most gratifying to those who had the privilege of interpreting this great message of the Ressurection in song.

ATTENTION FREE LUNCH CONTRIBUTORS

To those of you who promised assistance to some unfortunate child who was going without lunch at school, I call your attention to the fact that the next payment is now due for the month of April. Kindly hand this $5.00 to Principal Leonard Rogers or bring it by the office and I will get it to him.

I am sure this money has gone to the most worthy cause of all, alleviating the hunger of a little child and making it possible for him or her to share in the program of the school days routine as the other children have done. Thanks to everyone who so generously answered this call.

OLD MAN RIVER

Old Man River, the Missouri, is raging far beyond its boundaries and Ole Miss is getting out of hand, making human suffering and property loss inestimable. The radio has just announced that 80,000 people are homeless on account of this flood over a wide area in many states. The Red Cross has moved in and Federal aid applied for to help these unfortunate ones. Tons of muddy water are rolling over the home lands of thousands of people in several mid-western states.

CHILDREN PLANTING GARDENS

Last week we told you of a plan in a neighboring town to interest children in beautifying their homes and premises by allowing each child a garden all his own.

Today we "see by the papers" that 13,000 children in Montgomery Elementery schools will receive a package of seed and will be encouraged to start a garden. This is a part of the City Beautiful Program now being planned in the Capitol City.

CONGRATULATIONS RALPH JONES

At the Liberty Baptist Church in Chelsea Monday night there was held a B. T. U. Better Speakers Contest and Ralph Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Jones of Columbiana, was declared the winner. Ralph will go to Anniston next Tuesday evening to participate in the State Contest and his many friends will be following him with a lot of good wishes for his success tucked in their pockets.

Patricia Galloway of Montevallo won the Sword Contest and will also be an entrant in the meeting to be held in Anniston.

CONGRATULATIONS JIMMY CURTIS

Jimmy Curtis is now a full fledged Pharmacist. He passed the State Examination last week. Jimmy is a favorite on Main and a lot of his friends will be joining me in extending sincere congratulations to him upon passing the final test. He has been working under Dr. Lloyd Cole's supervision in the Columbiana Drug for the past few months completing his apprenticeship, and we hope Jimmy will remain with us, even if he is now equipped to go out "on his own," for folk like Jimmy Curtis are not any too numerous in this old world. He is a splendid citizen, and a valuable asset in our town.

"THANK YOU FOR THE CHANCE to watch my daughter grow up"

I don't think I would have known how to say good-bye to my little girl. Thank you for the chance to watch her grow up . . .

I'm one of the lucky ones—one of the 70,000 saved each year. There should be more of us.

The dollars you give mean so much to those of us who face cancer. Those dollars paid for the leaflet that sent me to my doctor . . . paid for his training on an American Cancer Society fellowship.

Yes, I am one of the lucky ones. With your help there will be many more . . . Won't you show you care with a generous gift? Send your gift to "Cancer," care of your local post office.

JAMIE SUE DANIELS

DUKE-DANIELS ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mrs. J. A. Daniel announces the engagement of her daughter, Jamie Sue, to James Fulton Duke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Duke of Columbiana, Alabama. The bride-elect's father is the late J. A. Daniel of Centre, Alabama.

Miss Daniel is a graduate of Alabama College, Montevallo.

Sgt. Duke attended API and the University of Alabama. He is now stationed at Camp McCoy, Wisconsin with the U. S. Army.

The wedding will be an event of June at the First Baptist Church of Centre, Alabama.

STONE-BROWN

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stone of the Fourmile Community announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Pearle, to James A. Brown, of Duncan, Oklahoma and Washington, D. C. The wedding will take place in early spring.

. . . Clarence Abbott and his minature shadow, little Helen Glass were seen early Thursday morning getting ready to leave for a day in Birmingham together. Helen was looking forward to seeing the Easter Bunny.

. . . Mrs. Mary Weston Luck of Birmingham is the guest of her son Paul O. Luck and Mrs. Luck in Columbiana.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Houldritch of Selma were Easter guests of their daughter, Mrs. Ross Bob Mullins and Mr. Mullins.

. . . Congratulations and best wishes for future happiness were generously extended one of Columbiana's most popular young married couples, last Saturday when T. C. Rush Jr. and Betty Lyon Rush celebrated the passing of their sixth wedding anniversary.

. . . Pfc. Morris Higgins of Shelby has asked that we stop his paper until he reaches his far East destination.... at which time he will tell us where to send it. Morris is getting ready to sail with his buddies for Uncle Sam's dream of freedom for all.

. . . Hugh Sims, Superintendent of the Baptist Sunday School was delighted Sunday morning over the attendance which topped 255 people. This is the largest attendance for Sunday School in the church's history.

. . . Friends of Bob Kaplan's are delighted to have him back in Eagle's after a few days spent in the hospital in Birmingham. Bob is a favorite fellow in Columbiana, whose inexhaustible supply of that much to be desired gift, a keen sense of humor, has brightened many an otherwise drab hour.

. . . Collegiates home for the holidays, have now returned to their studies. Had a chance to say "So long" to Oliver Head as he was leaving town Monday. Oliver will soon graduate. He says, Uncle Sam's finger is pointing right straight at him, but, like all these other courageous Americans, he stands ready to answer the challenge, and whats more is smiling about it!

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Smith (Ruth and Smitty), of Birmingham spent the Easter holidays in Columbiana with Mrs. J. L. Isbell.

. . . Mrs. Ruth Pierson of Birmingham spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Luvene Dexter and Mr. Dexter.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. G. R. McNeil of Birmingham spent the Eastertide with the J. B. Turner's in Columbiana. It was nice having a curbstone chat with these cherished friends of ours.

. . . Mr. "Yellow Front" Green is holding down the Marion, Alabama, store this week and Mrs. Green is "pinch-hitting" for friend husband in the Columbiana store. When we arrived early this morning for our daily "Coke".... Gertie Jones was initiating Mrs. Green into the "dusting brigade".... but both stopped long enough to join us in a bit of social gab-fest before the day began with a thousand and one things that keep us from seeing more of our friends and commercial neighbors.

. . . Thanks to Ploughman Harris of Birmingham for a renewal subscription to the "Home Paper". Mr. Harris says he looks forward to its arrival each week, and does not want to miss a single issue.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Luther Fowler had as their week end guest, Mrs. Edmund Ewing of Tuscaloosa. Mrs. Ewing is a sister of Mr. Fowler's and has made a host of friends during her, all too brief, visits in Columbiana.

. . . Friends were seen greeting Earl Wood, former resident of Columbiana (now living in Savannah, Ga.) last Saturday morning. Earl always receives a "glad hand" when he returns "home" and his wife tells us, that when the "Home Paper" comes in.... it is the first thing Earl wants when he returns from work. Like all true Shelby countians, "where" they work, makes no difference.... Old friends from the old "home town" are never forgotten.... and most all of them, when called to other fields of endeavor, come by, and ask that the Reporter-Democrat follow them.

. . . A host of friends of C. E. Niven await with deep concern news from his bedside. Mr. Niven has been in bad health for many months, but during the past two weeks his condition has become more grave.

. . . Bill Lovelady, prominent Ford Dealer of Montevallo, was in Columbiana Thursday.

. . . Had an interesting confab with Bake Elliott of University Friday. He is spending the Easter holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Elliott. Bake says he will graduate in June, and that Uncle Sam is calling him, as soon as he receives the coveted sheepskin. Bake is a splendid fellow. He is especially close to me, for during his High School days when we were running the Democrat.... Bake was a valuable coworker. We recalled during his visit how much fun we used to have, trying to get the newspaper dead line to conform with the Football schedule.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Meigs, of Birmingham, were visitors to Columbiana Thursday of last week.

. . . The Easter Bunny got all tangled up with Jack Frost this year and sent a lot of us back to the "button up your overcoat" days. A gentleman came in and reminded us that we should not have packed away our coats, think summer had arrived, cause it "thundered in February and this is a sure sign of frost in April", the gentleman said.

. . . Did you see those adorables in the Easter Parade Sunday? Those little beaux and belles of tomorrow proudly marching along to Sunday School looking exactly like bits of color along the crowded side-walks? We did not see them all, but a few of our little friends we did get a peek at, included, the three little girls known as Linda, Marcia, and Peanut White, Grace Carter Ozley, Shirley Wallace, Kathy and Nena Carter, Connie and Randy Fowler, Steve Pierce, Mike, Peggy and Nan Hill and just a lot of little folk leaving their classes after the bell tapped announcing Sunday School had ended.... and the world grew brighter for us, just on account of looking at their radiant little faces. What the future holds for them, who can tell? However, for the present, the world is their playground and if this writer had her way about it, never a shadow would cross their pathways.

. . . The welcome mat is out on Main this week in honor of Columbiana's newest family, namely, the Rev. and Mrs. Curtis Bean and two children who arrived in Columbiana Monday to make their future home. Mr. Bean preached his first sermon at the eleven o'clock hour Sunday in the church he will serve, and Sunday night, the Methodist members were dismissed by their pastor, the Rev. A. D. Wilson and joined the Baptists in extending a cordial welcome to the new minister and his family. This courtesy was sincerely appreciated.

. . . Got a glimpse of personable Fred Nichols of Auburn during his visit home for the Easter holidays with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nichols.

. . . Mrs. Pauline Bird spent the Easter holidays in Montgomery as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Allie Pace.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Rux Carter and family and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Ozley and Grace Carter Ozley spent Sunday in Birmingham.

. . . Mr. Will Hester, one of Columbiana's oldest citizens lies seriously ill at his home in Columbiana.

. . . Mary Fancher has accepted a secretarial position in the law office of W. W. Wallace, Jr.

MRS. ANNIE KING RECEIVES CITATION

Mrs. Annie King of Columbiana, will receive a citation that will make her a member of the Old Dirt Dobber's exclusive Order of The Green Thumb in the weekly CBS program "Garden Gate", given over Station WAPI, Birmingham, Saturday, April 19, at 9 o'clock A. M.

Mrs. King was nominated by Mrs. J. W. Hiten, of Birmingham, and she will receive a special award of seed certificates and a pair of Green Thumb garden gloves.

Mrs. King is widely known for her interest in, and for her success in growing flowers. In her nomination Mrs. Hiten said of Mrs. King: "She is a retired school teacher who spends most of her time growing flowers for others and to make her home more beautiful. She has always been interested in flowers and is an expert in growing several varieties but African violets are her pets.... she has more than a hundred."

. . . Members of the Monday Night Bridge Club assembled in the hospitable home of the Dick Ozley's this week with Mrs. Dick Ozley as hostess. After the delectable Dessert, several games of Bridge were enjoyed with Mrs. William Clark winning top score. Mrs. Jay Falkner received the low score prize.

STATE OF ALABAMA A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama, at the Regular Session 1951, ordered an election to be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which said amendment is herein set out, and ordered that said election be held on the first Tuesday in May, 1952; and

WHEREAS, the first Tuesday in May 1952 will be and occur on Tuesday, May 6, 1952; and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment is required by law, and by the provision of the act submitting the amendment, to be given by a proclamation of the Governor to be published in each county in the State of Alabama once a week for four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for the election:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Gordon Persons, as Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice direct and proclaim that on Tuesday, the 6th day of May 1952, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama, in the manner and form provided by law, upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901:

"Any provisions of this Constitution or amendments thereto to the contrary notwithstanding, neither the Legislature, nor any county of the State shall, by the imposition of new, different and additional duties or otherwise, increase, or authorize the increase of, the salary, fees or other compensation of any officer of the State or of any county of the State, who is elected or appointed for a fixed term, during the term for which he is elected or appointed, regardless of whether such officer may be removed at the pleasure of the authority electing or appointing him or only upon impeachment; nor shall the Legislature or any county of the State in any manner or by any means decrease, or authorize the decrease of, the salary, fees or other compensation of any such officer, during the term for which he is elected or appointed; nor shall the Legislature or any county of the State increase or decrease, or authorize the increase or decrease of, the salary, fees or other compensation of any person filling an unexpired term in any such office during the remainder of such term, either before or after the appointment or election of such person to fill the unexpired term. As to officers who are members of any court, board, commission, or similar body whose terms do not run concurrently, any increase or decrease in the salary, fees, or other compensation of the members of any such court, board, commission, or similar body shall become effective as to all such members thereof, immediately after the expiraton of the term or terms of office of the member of members whose term or terms first expire."

I further direct and proclaim that notice of this election upon Tuesday the 6th day of May 1952, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901, be given by publishing the same once a week for four successive weeks next preceding Tuesday the 6th day of May 1952, in each county in the State of Alabama, in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed by the Secretary of State, at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery, on this the 7th day of March 1952.

Jesus and the Law

Lesson for April 20, 1952

THE ELKS' CLUB has a constitution and by-laws, but if you are not an Elk you can pass by the clubhouse a dozen times a week and never so much as wonder what the by-laws are. No Elk will think the worse of you for it, either. The laws of the Elks are for Elks, not the general public.

Dr. Foreman

The Christian church also has a set of laws posted somewhere in every church building, or at least written in a book you will find in every church: namely the Ten Commandments.

People who do not belong to the church sometimes give these laws no more thought than they would give to the Elks' constitution or to the ritual of the Signa Phi Nuthin' fraternity. But that is a mistake. The Ten Commandments are a kind of constitution of mankind, not a set of rules for a private club.

No Ladder to Heaven

HOWEVER, even inside the church, Christians often have mistaken notions about the law of God, particularly the basic laws embodied in the Ten Commandments. Two of these wrong ideas are almost exactly opposite each other, with the truth in the middle.

One mistaken idea is that the law is a kind of ladder to Heaven. That is to say: God is supposed to run a sort of book-keeping department, with a Recording Angel (or perhaps millions of them, one looking over every man's shoulder), jotting down everything a person does from birth to death. Every time he acts in accordance with the Commandments, down goes a plus mark. Every time he breaks one, down goes a minus mark. At the time of his death the account is balanced. If there are more pluses than minuses, then the man is admitted to heaven; if the minus side puts the man "in the red" with God, then off he is hustled to Hell. In other words, on this theory (which is very popular though false), you write your own ticket to Heaven, you climb there on a ladder of your own good deeds.

Jesus did not hold to this notion, indeed taught quite the contrary. Call no man good! he said. For one thing, plus-marks do not cancel out minus marks, and for another thing, seen with the eyes of God, as the famous Richard Hooker said, "the best things we do have somewhat in them to be pardoned."

Jesus, the New Testament, and the church after them, teach with one voice that we are saved by faith,—it is God that saves us, not we ourselves.

Love Is No Excuse for Sin

THE mistake at the opposite end of the line is to fancy that if we love God we can do as we please. In other words, the idea is that love is a substitute for obedience. If we just love God fervently enough, then his laws do not apply to us.

Now this mistake is just as bad as the first one. What would we say to a man who is a careless driver, and when arrested for hit-and-run driving tells the Judge, "Your honor, I love everybody, I have nothing against anybody, I love my country, and you ought not to bother me with traffic laws!"

What could we say about a man who claimed he loved his wife very much but never paid any attention to the common rules of politeness when in her presence? What would a grocer say to a man who owed him fifty dollars if the customer claimed to be such a good friend the grocer ought not to send him a bill?

Living in Obedience

ON the contrary, a Christian will be all the more eager to do what God commands, not because he fears punishment, not because he thinks he can earn his way into God's love, but because obedience is the way God has given us by which we can sincerely show our love to him and to our fellowmen.

As Cardinal Newman put it: "Justification (the theologians' word for a person's being on right terms with God) is received by faith; consists in God's inward presence, and lives in obedience."

To put it another way: Doing what God desires is not the cause of being saved; it is the result of being saved. When we have done all we can, indeed all we have been commanded, Jesus said, we are still "unprofitable servants;" we have nothing to boast of, at our best, for our best comes from God.

Good Morning

Dear Mr. Bird:

Our class is interested in birds, and we are trying to start a sanctuary. We think if you would put something in your column about birds people would not kill them, and that would help to start our sanctuary.

Sincerely yours,
Johnny Farr

Dear Mr. Bird:

Our class is interested in starting a sanctuary. We would like it if you would help us. Mrs. Ellis, is our teacher, and we want to know if you will put an article in your column telling boys not to kill birds, but to build homes for them instead, and to feed them, so they will come back next year. Also, not to let the cats get them, or the snakes, and to keep the dogs away.

Yours very truly
Harry Harrison
Mrs. Ellis' 4th Grade Room

Yes, Harry and Johnny, I will be delighted to put something in my column for you. Just having the chance to print your fine letters under my name, and to let other folks know what a splendid thing you are doing, is about the nicest thing that has happened to me this year. I had a bird house in my back yard two years ago. I used to sit by my window and watch two blue bird.s With a high blue sky and a beautiful spring day for their home, they were always busy tossing songs about instead of rocks. As you grow older you will learn how much nicer it is to toss songs about instead of rocks.

I hope it will be as easy for you to have big beautiful things to do then as it is now. For life is full of little sanctuaries.... for birds, and flowers, and trees; and for clean thoughts, and for smiles, and for a trillion little things that make folks happy . . . and I just know, somehow, that boys who begin building them in the 4th grade will never forget how.

I think it would be a fine thing if every boy in the 4th grade could build a bird house in his or her back yard. And a feeding table too. Maybe we could have a sort of contest to decide who had the nicest home for his or her birds. I think a lot of my readers would like to contribute something towards getting a prize for the one who had the best home, and the second best, and maybe the third. You'll be surprised to know how many people will be glad you are starting a sanctuary, and how anxious they will be that you keep it up. You know, God said that He knew when even the tiniest sparrow fell. Maybe He meant for all boys and girls to help Him. I think He did.

PATTERN SELECTION FOR SPRING FROCKS

Some patterns are designed for either heavy, stiff, flimsy, or soft fabric.

Levice Ellis, A. P. I. Extension clothing specialist, reveals that patterns for large plaid and checked fabrics are simpler than those for small all-over designs or solid color fabrics. A pattern with decorative details, such as small tucks, top stitching and shirring fails to now up in all-over designed fabric.

"Patterns with gathering, shirring, small buttons, and buttonholes, tiny tucks, unpressed pleats, drapes, or ruffles are especially suitable to soft, sheer or light weight fabrics, such as voiles, crepes and silk prints," emphasizes the specialist.

She addes that patterns designed for large pockets, large pleats, bound bottonholes, large buttons, and top stitching are more adaptable to firmer, heavier fabrics, such as linen, chambray, sharkskin, and wool.

PRODUCE MORE CORN IN 1952

Shelby county farmers were urged today by Mr. H. C. McDanal, Chairman, Shelby County Agricultural Mobilization Committee, to increase their 1952 corn production by using the best available varieties, fertilizers and cultural practices.

"Without plentiful supply of feed grains," said Mr. McDanal, "it will not be possible to maintain the production of meat, eggs and milk that will be nedeed by our increasing population in a high employment period. Any shortage of feed will result in a downward adjustment in the production of these animal productions adding to inflationary measures and interferring with the progress of our national defense program."

Mr. McDanal stated that Alabama farmers need to produce 54 million bushels of corn in 1952, an increase of about 16 per cent over 1951 production of 46 million bushels.

"At the request of Secretary of Agriculture Brannan," continued Mr. McDanal, "the nation-iwde effort is being undertaken to increase feed grain production. All agricultural agencies are cooperating in this endeavor and each of them in their respective field will lend all possible assistance to farmers in planning for higher corn production in 1952."

Mr. McDanal said that price support at 90 percent of parity averaging $1.60 per bushel has been announced for corn for 1952.

TVA NITRATE AVAILABLE FOR CORN DEMONSTRATIONS

Recently the Tennessee Valley Authority, the Extension Service and Companies handling TVA Ammonium nitrate in Alabama reached an agreement for the use of TVA Ammonium nitrate on hybrid corn demonstrations. As you know we are not getting the yield per acre that we should. If demonstrations on use of Ammonium Nitrate are carried out in all communities we are sure they will help to illustrate the necessity of nitrogen in making high yields.

Shelby county has been allotted 70 tons of TVA Ammonium Nitrate for these demonstrations. The cost of this fertilizer will be $70.00 to $75.00 per ton. Ammonium Nitrate has 32% available nitrogen which makes it one of the cheaper sources of nitrogen.

These demonstrations may vary in size from 1 acre to 20 acres per farm. Since the hybrid varieties have been producing more corn per acre, those farms using this fertilizer will be asked to use a hybrid variety. Farmers and 4-H members can use this fertilizer on demonstrations.

Fertilizer Recommendations are:

400 to 500 lbs. of 4-10-7 at platning

200 lbs Ammonium Nitrate at 30 to 35 days after planting.

CARE OF MILK AFTER IT REACHES THE HOME

The consumer can do much to maintain a safe milk supply by giving milk proper care in the home.

J. R. Parrish, API Extension dairyman, points out that prompt and adequate refrigeration and protection from contamination are just as important after the milk reaches the home as they are during the production and processing.

TIME FOR A SPRING CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

A spring clean-up campaign at home... inside and out... will go a long way toward eliminating fire and accident hazards, especially on the farm.

"Look in every nook and corner," advises S. R. Doughty, chairman of the API Extension farm safety committee. "Get rid of accumulated junk, trash, and discarded equipment, and get rid of dead grass and weeds near buildings."

Doughty warns that fire takes 3,500 lives on U. S. farms and damages $100,000,000 worth of property annually. Accidents cause about 18,000 deaths each year and 1,500,00 injuries.

COTTON FERTILIZER

Alabama farmers used an average of 500 ponds of fertilizer per acre in producing the 1951 cotton crop. This amount was an increase over previous years but still 100 pounds per acre less than the minimum recommendation based on many years of research by the API Agricultural Experiment Station.

HEALTHY PULLETS

Spending a few cents more for equipment, labor, litter, heat, and medication when raising pullets may make several dollars difference in the returns they give.

KEEP VEGETABLES IN HOME FREEZER

Home freezer owners will be glad to know that frozen vegetables, properly prepared, are safe from spoilage bacteria.

Tests by the New York Agricultural Experiment Station showed that vegetables frozen in still air at zero degrees Fahrenheit were safe from bacteria that would cause spoilage. The very rapid freezing methods grought bacterial growth in these vegetables practically to a standstill, so that the number of bacteria did not increase. The home freezing at slower rates allowed the bacteria to increase slightly before the vegetables were entirely frozen, but the increase was so slight that the scientist did not consider it signifcant.

MAKE YOUR DRESSES AND SAVE

"You can make a $29.00 dress for $9.00" was the startling statement made by Extension Clothing Specialist Levice Ellis, April 8th, to the Clothing Leaders from 21 Shelby County Home Demonstration Clubs.

"Sewing is not an Art, nor is it difficult to master. The secret to successful sewing is this, the easy way to sew is the right way. A well made garment is the result of careful work and wise planning, selection, cutting, construction, pressing, and fitting."

"Cottons are beautiful! Ready-made cottons are expensive," she continued, "Cotton denim, taffetas, brocades, tucked, piques, satins, cotton de Chine, embroidered cottons, tissue chambrays are only a few of the high fashion cottons this season."

36 Leaders from 21 clubs who attended this Training Meeting in preparation for giving the demonstration on "Secrets to Smart Sewing" were: Mrs. A. A. Holman, Mrs. Roy Lester, Columbiana; Mrs. C. H. Reading in one of the dailies this morning we were attracted to an article centering around William F. Pearce of Pennsylvania, who has passed his 100th birthday anniversary.

Mr. Pearce states that he is looking forward to reaching 110. He states he is looking forward especially to the presidential election next fall.

That's because he will then cast his twentieth presidential ballot.

Pearce has voted—Republican— in every presidential race since the election of Rutherford B. Hayes in 1876.

ALL MOTOR VEHICLES SUBJECT TO PROPERTY TAX

State Attorney General Si Garrett has ruled that motor vehicles operating on public roads and highways are subject to the state property tax no matter how old they are.

Lauderdale County Tax Assessor Estes R. Flynt had sought the opinion. Flynt said he had been informed that one Alabama tax assessor had been exempting all old model automobiles and trucks from the levy and that some taxpayers in his county wanted the same privilege.

The attorney general said there is no statutory authority for an assessor to allow such exemptions on motor vehicles.

Nearly A Million Horsepower
Increase In 6 Years!
This is LOTS of
ELECTRIC POWER

Here are additions to our generating plants for six years to meet the needs of new and expanding industry in our service area, as well as in the service areas of other electric utilities who get their power supply from us—

190,000 MORE Horsepower In 1949
(160,000 horsepower Gadsden Steam Plant; 30,000 horsepower generating unit installed at Mitchell Dam)

Began Construction in 1950 for
188,000 MORE Horsepower In 1951
(134,000 horsepower addition at Gorgas Steam Plant; 54,000 horsepower addition at Chickasaw Steam Plant)

Began Construction in 1951 for
207,000 MORE Horsepower In 1952
(Still another 134,000 horsepower addition at Gorgas Steam Plant; 73,000 horsepower at Martin Dam)

166,700 MORE Horsepower In 1953

166,700 MORE Horsepower In 1954
(Barry Steam Plant, near Mobile, planned for an ultimate capacity of 1 1/3 MILLION horsepower.)

Additions during these six years alone total 918,400 horsepower! All of this additional generating capacity feeds electricity into an area-wide transmission system, so that all sections benefit from it. As generating capacity is increased, transmission and other facilities are built or enlarged to make delivery possible to any section requiring more power.

ALABAMA LOSES DR. JOHN CALDWELL TO ARKANSAS UNIVERSITY

The wisdom of the officials of Arkansas University in electing Dr. John T. Caldwell, president of Alabama College in Montevallo, to the presidency of the University of Arkansas is to be commended. The lack of alertness and keen-vision on the part of Alabamians in allowing this distinguished educator to leave Alabama, is.... to this writer's way of thinking, nothing short of a deplorable tragedy.

Dr. Caldwell's record of achievement in educational circles in Alabama and on the lecture platform, is an outstanding one. The five years he has served Alabama College as president, will no doubt be recorded on the pages of this college, as the most progressive years in its history. The accomplishment of many aggressive steps taken during Dr. Caldwell's tenure in Alabama College will, of course, remain permanent monuments to his matchless executive ability, but a man of Dr. Caldwell's mental ability, dynamic personality, and versatility, cannot be measured solely in dollars and cents. These inherent qualifications are priceless treasures, far above monetary reward, especially when plans are being formulated for furthering educational opportunities and the achievement of educational goals.

However, if salary consideration did enter the picture as an inducement to obtain the services of Dr. Caldwell, then, this writer believes, every avenue of procurement should have been exhausted before allowing him to leave Alabama. His true worth in educational development in this state evidently has not been correctly evaluated or we have again arrived "too late with too little."

We keenly realize our personal loss in Dr. Caldwell's going. He was always an encouraging friend. However, along with our expressed regrets go our sincere congratulations on the merited promotion to wider fields for service in his chosen profession.

POLITICS ON MAIN

As the time draws near for the elimination contest which will take place on May 6, anyone who has watched and participated in campaigns involving local candidates may safely bet that the tempo is picking up. The old political pot is beginning to boil and Dame Rumor, as usual, is swishing her skirts up and down the highways and on the Main Drag, in an attempt to confuse issues, or create last minute doubts and misgivings. In politics what begins in fear usually ends in folly, and this saying should be remembered.

If all last minute rumors were chased, there would be little time left for more important endeavor. Therefore, it seems to this scribe, that it would be more profitable to devote time and effort in checking only those rumors that deserve intelligent consideration. Most of them are too ridiculous for credence, and should be disregarded.

Almost all the local candidates are widely and favorably known to the voting contingent. Each gentleman, naturally, has his own following and his own friends sponsoring his cause. Certainly the records of each candidate is an open book and on their records only should they be judged. Never on "hear-say"! Personally, I have never witnessed a more above-board nor a more dignified campaign than the one we are now facing. The offices to be filled demand dignity, and this race, between the candidates, has been conducted on a high plane throughout, with friendliness and good sportsmanship between all contendants evidenced during the entire campaign. This is as it should be, and knowing these gentlemen as I do, I am sure, when the last vote has been tabulated, and the verdict of the people has been signed, sealed and delivered, there will be no 'mourning at the bar' and no bitterness in the hearts of those not permittted to realize their ambitious dreams for public service.

Dr. Edward Lund New President Alabama College

Dr. F. Edward Lund, 42, has been named president of Alabama State Teachers College, Montevallo, succeeding Dr. John T. Caldwell, who resigned to accept a post as head of the University of Arkansas.

Lund, dean of Florence State Teachers College, was unanimously elected to the Alabama College presidency and will take office July 1.

Following his election in a meeting of the Alabama College Board of Trustees in the office of Governor Gordon Persons, Dr. Lund said he would move to Montevallo about June 15, to familiarize himself with the job. Dr. Caldwell will leave the school at the close of business on June 30.

Caldwell's present salary is $8,500. At Arkansas he will get $16,00 per year.

Dr. Lund, born in Wuhu, China, was the son of an Episcopalian minister. He spent his early years in Lexington, Va. He received his AB and MA degrees from Washington and Lee University where he was a Phi Beta Kappa. He received his PhD in history from the University of Wisconsin, and later had a year of post-doctoral study at Yale University as a Sterling fellow.

He taught for three years at Washington and Lee, later at Wisconsin State College, and then went to Florence as head of the social science division. He became dean of the colege in 1946.

Dr. Lund is a member of the executive committee of the Episcopal Diocese of Alabama and is vice-president of the Tennessee Valley Convocation of Episcopal Laymen. He is also district governor of the Exchange Clubs, and president of the Association of Alabama Colleges.

Mrs. Lund is the former Miss Martha Gray of Elkmont, Alabama. She graduated from Mary Baldwin College, Staunton, Va. They have a 13-year-old daughter.

WELFARE DEPARTMENT DROPS 5000 CASES

Commissioner Bill Dorrough said that during the first six months of the current fiscal year, Alabama's welfare caseload dropped by over 5,000 cases.

He reported that 104,294 aid payments were made in March, compared with 109,373 payments last September. Dorrough's report showed a corresponding drop in assistance expenditures. In March, total payments of $2,493,807 were $150,519 less than the $2,644,326 spent in September, 1951.... last month of the previous fiscal year.

Dr. Dorrough said that only 287 persons had requested that their cases be closed because they did not want their names made public, as was authorized by the 1951 legislature.

NEW AUTO TAGS — $3.00

State Revenue Commissioner Joe M. Edwards said today that when Alabama's $3 car tags go on sale next fall for the first time, all passenger cars will carry "A" plates, except possibly a few in Jefferson county.

Edwards said that "B" tags will be issued where the number of automobiles exceeds 99,999 in any single county.

The same key numbers now used to designate the counties will be continued. For instance, the tag numbers in Birmingham, Mobile and Montgomery will start with numerals 1, 2, 3, just as they do now.

Present passenger vehicles call for A, B, C, and D tags, depending on their weight.

In 1953 Alabama tags will be the same color as they are this year, but the colors will be reversed. Letters will be painted blue on a white background.

PLANE CRASHES KILL 20 IN ALABAMA

The State Health Department says that 20 Alabama citizens lost their lives in plane crashes during 1951.

Six of the deaths were in June, four in January, and three each in March and September.

The 1951 figure compared with 28 residents of the state killed in plane accidents during 1950, the department said.

C. E. Niven, Former Postmaster Of Columbiana Passes

(Clarice White Luck)

"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." We know of no one to whom this truth is more applicable than to Columbiana, and Shelby county's beloved and honored citizen, and loyal FRIEND, Charles E. Niven, better known to many as "Uncle Charlie."

Last Friday, April 18th, 1952, "Uncle Charlie" answered the call of his best Friend who opened wide the doors of those "many mansions" and welcomed him HOME, the HOME where "God wipes away all tears.... there is no more death.... neither sorrow.... nor crying.... neither shall there be any more pain; for the former things are passed away."

Through the years of joys and laughter, through the years of pain and suffering, Mr. Niven has remained the cheerful, loyal, devoted, self-sacrificing loved one and friend who has blessed the lives of his family and fellow citizens with his high ideals of personal character and true faithfulness in all of the relationships of life. Those of us who are fortunate enough to call him "FRIEND," will continue to miss his physical presence, but we shall keep in Memory's Garden his gifts of graciousness of spirit, kindness of heart, flowers of Remembrance that never fade.

Mr. Niven was born near Wilsonville 72 years ago. The Methodist Church in Columbiana, on Sunday, when funeral services were conducted by the Rev. A. D. Wilson, pastor, assisted by the Rev. T. K. Roberts and the Rev. Cutris Bean was filled to capacity, a last loving gesture from friends who gathered to pay their silent tribute of esteen for the life of "Uncle Charlie", who numbered his friends by all who knew him during his many years of useful service in Columbiana and Shelby county.

Mr. Niven is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lessie Veazey Niven; one daughter, Miss Jeanette Niven, one brother, Mr. N. Niven of Wilsonville and one sister, Mrs. McEwen of Ashland.

To his loved ones, we offer our love and deepest sympathy. We think that he would say to us, in our sorrow, "Let not your heart be troubled.... the Night has past, let me bid you, 'GOOD-MORNING!'"

Interment in Columbiana Cemetery, Walton-Bolton, directing.

Third Industry Days Celebration Set For April 28-May 3

The Third Annual Alabama Industry Days will be held this year during the week of April 28-May 3.

Sponsors fo rthe event for the third consecutive year will be the Associated Industries of Alabama, the University of Alabama, and the Alabama Press Association. Paul A. Redmond, President Alabama Mills, Inc., Birmingham, has again been named as General Chairman of the Alabama Industry Days Program.

Larger and more elaborate programs has been planned at the community level this year to honor industry, and the wide success enjoyed by the program during its first two years has resulted in the selection of the last week in April, beginning with a Monday, as the permanent date upon which this celebration will be held each year.

Sponsoring organizations have issued a call to all citizens of the state to work individually, and through their various clubs, associations and organizations, to make the 1952 Alabama Industry Days program the most successful yet presented.

Officials of the sponsoring groups are intent on proving that the Alabama that was called a national economic problem less than two decades ago, has thrust aside the shambles synonymous with agrarian share-cropping and today stands in the nation's spotlight of industrial progress.

In commoration of this industrial progress, the people of Alabama, by proclamation of their Governor, celebrated their Second Annual Alabama Industrial Days last September 13, 14 and 15.

Conceived and promoted in 1950 for the first time, and adopting the theme "What Alabama Makes, Makes Alabama," the program was primarily designed to acquaint the people of Alabama with their industry, its place in the community life, and what industry means to the individual community.

Governor Gordon Persons struck the keynote of the observance when he included in his official proclamation "the people of this state are entitled to know better the industrial concerns and their products which have made possible the full utilization of the vast resources of this state."

Bible Comment:

World Peace Must Be Built on Foundation Of Righteousness

LAWS and ideals are one thing; observances and performances are quite another. Nowhere, perhaps, in all history were there more idealistic regulations than those to be found in ancient Israel. Yet in spite of these, injustice and oppressions were prevalent.

Imagine some thoughtful, intelligent, hard-working farmer, who understands the conditions upon which our life and welfare depends, coming into one of our modern cities. He would observe the ease and luxury of those making no real contribution to society, not to mention the evil and corruption that are so flagrant. Then you can understand something of what the prophet Amos was to his times.

Amos was a herdsman, accustomed to clean living. He was roused to indignation by what he saw . . . "the dust of the earth on the head of the poor . . . the righteous sold for a pair of shoes."

He saw the gross immorality of fathers and sons, the turning of judgment to wormwood, and the abandonment of righteousness. He saw the very acts and rites of religion perverted, feasts observed and offerings sacrificed by those who had no true observance or sacrifice in their hearts.

Amos represents God as saying "I hate, I despise your feast days, and I will not smell in your solemn assemblies."

But he calls for repentance: "Let judgment run down as waters and righteousness as a mighty stream." Don't we need that call today?

The association of righteousness with peace is not accidental. It reminds us of the only true foundation upon which peace can be built, whether it be domestic peace, the solution of industrial troubles or international peace. Organization and negotiation are not enough. We must find, and build upon, a sure foundation of righteousness.

Late diagnosis of stomach cancer reduces the chance of cure to only four per cent. Early diagnosis can cure up to 60 per cent of stomach cancers, the American Cancer Socity says.

To The Voters Of Shelby County:

Since I have not been able to see all of you during my campaign for nomination as Judge of the 18th Judicial Circuit, which is composed of Clay, Coosa and Shelby counties, I take this method of appealing to you for your vote. The office is a highly responsible one. To make a good judge a man must be qualified by a wide and general knowledge of the law and not merely be a specialist in some one branch. Then, too, he should be a man of sound judgment based on a sympathetic understanding of his fellow men. That you may better judge my qualifications for the place I would like for you to consider the following facts concerning me.

I graduated from the University of Alabama Law School in 1914 and have been engaged in the general practice of law since. During this time I have engaged in the trial, on one side or the other, of every type of lawsuit that arises in this Circuit. I have studied and worked with matters from Child Welfare to Old Age Assistance and matters in between.

As Judge I will be able to, and will, conduct the courts efficiently and without undue delay and expense.

A good Judge must have a heart as well as a head. In part of his work he is said to be "Keeper of the Conscience" of his sovereign, the people. How can you judge a man's heart? By his past experience, his background, his daily life.

I am a veteran of World War I, a long time member of the American Legion. I have for many years been a member of the Masonic Order and have served as Worshipful Master of my Lodge. I am a life-long member of the Methodist Church and for a number of years have regularly taught an Adult Bible Class in the Church School. Although I once drank and have some understanding of the problems of one who drinks, I have not tasted a drop of alcohol in any form for more than six years, and do not mean to do so again. I represented my District in the State Senate during the 1939 term. While there I voted against all unearned salary raises, and otherwise worked and voted for the best interest, as I saw it, of the people who sent me. The best proof that I worked in their interest is that I have heard of no critism of my voting record. ....

I do not hold any public office. I will not have to resign from any office to fill this one. If I am elected I will not ask for any other place during my term of office.

If you select me as your judge I will conduct the affairs of the office with fairness to all, with special favors to none. Before me the poor and weak will be treated the same as the rich and the strong. I will perform my duties to the best of my ability as God gives me the wisdom to know them.

I respectfully ask that you go to the polls on May 6th and vote for me for Judge of the 18th Judicial Circuit.

Respectfully,

A. L. CRUMPTON

ROUGHAGE FOR DAIRY COWS IN SPOTLIGHT

In recent weeks many dairymen and others have expressed a renewed interest in roughage for dairy cows.

J. R. Parrish, API Extension Service Dairy specialist, says that high quality roughage for dairy cows is essential to economical production. And summer and winter pastures are the cheapest source.

Parrish points qut that North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station records show that 100 pounds of total digestible nutrients can be produced by a pasture crop for 58 cents. In other words, a dairy farmer gets a $23.09 return per man hour spent on pasture.

The specialist emphasizes the fact that summer and winter pastures are the cheapest and best sources of roughage. The next best source is high quality hay, grass or legume, and the third best source is silage.

The American Cancer Society estimates that 600,000 persons are under treatment for cancer in the U. S.

CONSERVE WATER NOW, AVOID DROUGHT LATER

It may seem odd to consider the importance of conserving water at this season, but droughts occur nearly every year in Alabama despite the fact that the annual rainfall exceeds 50 inches.

"Fortunately," says S. R. Doughty, API Extension Service soil conservationist, "there are four main ways farmers can help insure their crops against drought damage."

They can devote each acre to crops best suited to it. In other words, farmers should not try to grow row crops on lands that are suited only for sod crops. They can increase the supply of organic matter in the soil so it will absorb and hold more water, and crop rotations can be used that include more sod crops to trap rainfall and store it on the soil for further use. Also, run-off water that soil does not absorb can be spread onto meadows and pastures, or it may be stored in a farm pond.

Doughty points out that these measures will help conserve soil as well as water. Farmers can't prevent droughts, but by using conservation practices they can greatly reduce the damage from them.

NEVER TOO OLD FOR MILK

Middle-aged and elderly people should have at least a pint of milk in their daily diets for best nutrition and health and to fortify their bones against breakage.

FUTURE BROOD SOWS

It is important that future brood sows receive the proper feed from the start. It should be remembered that too much corn "burns them out" and usually causes them to bring small litters of runty pigs. Feed whole oats to growing gilts regularly.

LITTLE CAHABA CLUB MEETS

The Little Cahaba Home Demonstration Club has as its projects this year Improvement of Church Building and Church Grounds. We painted the Church Auditorium inside and outside. We bought new hardwood flooring for the auditorium. We have sanded, varnished, waxed and buffed the Church and Educational Building. We are now working on the Educational Building, finishing painting the Sunday School rooms.

We have plans to start right away on the mail boxes in this community. We plan to put up galvanized pipe for post and a name plate across the top. The pipe will be cemented into the ground. We also plan to paint all the old mail boxes.

MARGARET CURTIS ON PROJECT WORK

4-Her Margaret Curtis, President of Shelby Club sets an example for the members in her Club on project work.

On her sewing projects she has made 2 aprons, 3 skirts, 2 shoulder protectors, 1 school dress, 5 doll dresses and entered her Club Skirt Revue.

Margaret is 11 years old and has been in 4-H Work four years. She has been vice-president, secretary and treasurer, and Neighboraide. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Curtis, Route 1 Shelby and her Teacher Sponsor for the Shelby Club is Mrs. Lana Jean Merrell.

4-HER VERY BUSY

A very talented 4-Her is Diane Bentley of the Columbiana Elementary Club.

Diane has made several charts and pictures illustrating her clubs 4-H activities. One of the outstanding charts she has drawn was one the club used to show the girls who had made oatmeal cookies.

For her class at school she drew a very descriptive picture of Christ in the observance of Easter.

This is Diane's first year in 4-H work and she has already completed her Sewing Project by assembling a sewing box, making 4 dishtowels, 4 potholders, 1 apron and entering the Apron Revue which she modeled at the Annual 4-H Rally Diane is now working on a Bedroom Improvement Project. She was also elected to represent her Club as Queen at the 4-H Rally.

Diane is the 11 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bentely, Route 1, Columbiana. Teacher Sponsors for the Columbiana Elementary Club are Mrs. Effie Sims and Mrs. Frank Ellis.

The American Cancer Society consists of hundreds of local units organized into 61 chartered divisions. There is one year you that needs support during the 1952 Cancer Crusade, the ACS says.

SHE'S THE SAFEST LADY ON THE ROAD
With Chrysler POWER STEERING plus Chrysler POWER BRAKES
At the wheel of a new Chrysler, you have quicker, surer control of motion than you've ever had in a car. You can't imagine what it's like till you drive it! With this full-time power steering, hydraulic power does 4/5 the steering work at your gentle pull on the wheel! You also turn the wheel 1/3 less distance. And on rough roads, soft shoulders, snow or sand, "wheel fight" just doesn't happen. Your hand actually has five times the usual steering control, through every minute of every mile . . . with the same sure "wheel feel" at all times!
With this safer way to steer, power brakes make stops at all speeds safer and easier, too. Power from the engine "boosts" every touch of your toe. Actually you stop with up to 2/3 less foot pressure than non-power brakes. You can bring your Chrysler to a halt from full speeds in many feet less distance than other cars of comparable size can stop. See your Chrysler dealer soon. Feel for yourself why thousands of owners say Chrysler offers the two greatest advances in many years in driving safety and driving ease!

JOB REPLACEMENTS

Industrial Relations Director Joe L. Coleman said that state employment offices made 11,265 non-farm job replacements during March.

Coleman said this is a 17 per cent increase over February. He said the heaviest gain was in the transportation equipment industry, due chiefly to large shipyard hiring. The primary metals, chemical, and lumber industries showed large increases, as did trade and household groups.

THE TINY ELLIS BIRD SANCTUARY

Mildred White Wallace

A week or more ago, Tiny Ellis thought up a splendid idea, and like most worthwhile dreams, if you believe in them, they will come true. This week, we are happy to record that universal interest is being shown in the Bird Sanctuary, Mrs. Frank Ellis and her fourth grade students are undertaking, assisted by the Senior Chapter members interested in this project, and progress is being made.

If you see enthusiastic Helen Harrison and members of her class, going around town with eyes aglow over the possibilities of this Bird haven, you will immediately catch the vision, and whats more, might want to join the Audobon Society in Birmingham of which they are members. Now, the writer suggests, since Tiny Ellis began this wise movement and it will likely become a very beautiful as well as permanent attractive spot in town, that it be named for the originator of the idea, and be called the "Tiny Ellis Bird Sanctuary." Then, when this is done, let each individual get busy and foster continued interest in this place. And soon, you know what will happen? We will have a feathered chorus of happy song birds heralding the dawn each day, that will be second to none anywhere, and what is to be desired in this rustic setting we call 'home', more than that our bird-friends find a home safe and free from those bang-bang bee-bee shot guns in the hands of the thoughtless Nimrods??

We believe this project will meet with the approval of everyone. Fact is, we can't see any objection possible, unless a bickering old Jay-bird gets into an argument with a Mocking Bird, as one did down our way this very morning. Anyway, who wants to sing like a Blue Jay? You know what happened, and how this argument was settled? That beautiful Mocking Bird just soared so far above the raucous voice of that Old Jay Bird, she couldn't hear his objections, and went on her way, singing an incomparable melody all her own.

CULTURE CLUB MEETS

Mrs. W. M. Clark was cordial hostess to the Culture Club Thursday, April 10, 1952.

In the reception rooms Easter decorations were artfully used.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. H. L. Hall presided.

In a delightful manner, Miss Cotney, home agent, gave an interesting demonstration on "Entertainment in the Home."

At the conclusion of the program the hostess served a tasty and attractive salad plate, containing the Easter motif.

VA BUDGET

The House Appropriations Committee has reduced the budget of the Veterans' Administration to such an extent that many VITAL SERVICES to the nation's disabled and non-disabled are going to have to be discontinued. And the bad part of it is not so much the amount of money which was cut, it was where the cut was made, and by this I mean that the Hospital and Medical programs of the VA are really going to suffer. Over 91 million dollars were knocked off for MEDICAL ADMINISTRATION. Medical administrative personnel of the VA will be reduced by 2,058. That will no doubt mean that you are not going to get prompt and efficient service when and if you have to enter a VA hospital. Now in addition to the 2,058 MEDICAL ADMINISTRATIVE people who will be taken off the VA payroll, another 6,280 Medical Employees will have to go. General Carl Gray, Jr., Administrator Of Veterans' Affairs has indicated that the loss of these employees presents a problem IMPOSSIBLE of SOLUTION and makes no allowance whatsoever for personnel necessary to staff New Hospitals which are now being built.

The VA must also réduce the number of people now employed by the hospitals. This means that if you go to a hospital, you are going to find fewer nurses and fewer attendants to serve your needs.

Another big cut was a million and one-half dollars alteration and repairs. This money was to be used for modernizing some hospital facilities, which the VA states is absolutely necessary for the safety of patients and sanitary conditions. Another most important item which took a beating at the hands of the committee was medical supplies, drugs and medicines.

The Appropriation Committee is recommending Reducing the Veterans Administration's Medical Research program by fifty percent. General Gray states that this will practically abolish this essential program, will close half of the 64 general medical and 17 other laboratories, will result in the dismissal of 287 employees, many of whom are valuable and irreplacable professional people, will just about DESTROY the medical research program, as scientists will refuse to work where a stable program does not exist. Also it will bring to an end nearly half of the projects already under under way. Projects which have improved medical care to such an extent that it is the admiration of the medical world. The Veterans Administration's medical research program has brought knowledge to the entire medical wolrd, and much of this konwledge is being used in thousands of civilian and military hospitals today.

PUBLIC SAFETY OFFICIALS CHECK TRUCKS

Governor Gordon Persons says the State Department of Public Safety checked 2,976 trucks during the first three months of 1952 in the continuing drive to make Alabama highways safer.

State Safety Director L. B. Sullivan said that overweight violations led the list, with 349. There were 319 carrier law violations, Sullivan said. Nineteen drivers were caught with no licenses; 13 trucks were over the legal width; five trucks were no state tag. Four were without proper brakes and three over-length.

Take a Good Look... Make a Good Test...

...You'll be Convinced the JOHN DEERE "M" is Tops!

Take a good look; then make a thorough test in the field. That's the way to measure tractor value and it's the way you'll prove to yourself a John Deere Model "M" is as outstanding as it is good looking.

All the way through, the Model "M" invites comparison. It gives you all the fundamental features which have made John Deere 2-cylinder tractors famous through the years—simple, rugged design, proper weight distribution, extra lugging power, and othe

Add to this the built-in Touch-o-matic draulic control; self-starter; adjustable, a cushion seat; adjustable steering wheel; a standing platform, all of which are regu features. Consider, too, the wide variety Quik-Tatch working tools which are ava able for this husky tractor. It's then you say—a John Deere "M" is tops. See us a free demonstration . . . soon.

The Pastures Of Nanafalia

By C. M. Stanley
Editor Alabama Journal

Dr. Hugh H. Bennett, famed father of soil conservation, probably paid his last official visit to Alabama yesterday. On May, he will retire from a government service in soil work covering 49 years, lacking two months.

It is highly appropriate that Dr. Bennett should make his retirement bow in Alabama's Black Belt region, for he began his work as a youth by making the first government soil surveys of Macon and Dallas counties.

Since those days he has been all over the world studying soil. He has been many times in every state of the union. He has been in most of the counties of the United States. He has been in every one of the more than 200 counties of Texas. He has gone wherever there is soil to be studied, improved and conserved.

His final address to his old soil conservation friends and their guests was made at Nanafalia far down in the southwest corner of Marengo county close to the Tombigbee river.

Dr. Bennett told his hearers that during his time as head of the nation's soil conservation work he had seen in the Alabama Black Belt region one of the greatest farm revolutions in the history of mankind. He has seen the soil black, to eroded red, then eroded landscape change from its original white chalk, then to green as the pastures have developed and flourished.

"I rode around 40,000 acres of land today and I haven't seen a sign of cotton, where cotton used to be everywhere," he said. "Today the whole landscape is green; soil is being protected by grasses, enriched by legumes and letting nature do her wonderful job of restoring the land, man's best and most dependable friend."

The great value of the soil conservation service is the technical and scientific approach it makes to the job. Nearly every farm presents a different problem and must be studied to determine the best procedure. Thus it is that some soils not far apart crave Caley peas, for example, and but sprn crimson clover, while others call for the clover and are not suitable for the popular Caley pea legume.

One of the first farms visited yesterday showed a pasture mixture of rescue grass with reseeding crimson clover. Rescue grass was referred to as a kind of glorified "cheat." Cattle seem to love it and when the clover is mixed with a coarser grass like rescue there is much less danger of bloat.

Another pasture across the road was planted with a combination of southland oats, Kentucky 31 fescue grass and Alalu clover.

As the big party listened to an explanation of this combination, army trucks and equipment were rollingback from Texas to Camp Rucker along the nearby east-west highway.

Approaching Nanafalia from Montgomery there is called to the attention of guests a little plot of land known as Hell's half acre." The story is that its owner many years ago, disgusted with life, formally deeded this land to the devil. Appropriately or not, it is now the property of the state of Alabama.

One of the most beautiful sights yesterday near Nanafalia was a field composed of Abruzzi rye, fescue and Louisiana giant white clover. Alongside it was a field of wheat mixed with crimson clover. The waiving rye stalks were nearly shoulder high, and the wheat was up to the knees.

Dr. Bennett left this thought with town people yesterday: People of the towns should be more interested than the farmers in saving the soil. Farmers can live somehow, but the city man is helpless unless the food keeps coming, and with increasing population the food can't keep coming unless more and more soil is rescued and put to work.

Today there are 450,000 acres of pastures developed in central Alabama, but there are 3,000,000 acres undeveloped.

In spite of the revolution of recent years in farming, there is still plenty of work to do for city man as well as farmer.

Some of the larger molecules are now visible under the electron microscope which shows objects 100,000 times their actual size. New facts about cancer are being learned with this instrument, the American Cancer Society says.

WHAT ABOUT THOSE PROMISES?

In 1948, when he ran for Congress, Edward deGraffenried denounced his opponent for voting against income tax reduction.

What is Mr. deGraffenried's OWN record?

He not only has failed to vote for a reduction of our income tax, he has voted to INCREASE these income taxes to their present onerous heights.

In 1948, Mr. deGraffenried ran on a platform of economy.

WHAT IS HIS RECORD?

On 14 vital Economy vs. Spending Issues in the House in the 82nd Congress last year, he voted with the spending boys NINE times. He voted with the Economy forces only once. Five other times, he didn't vote at all.

In 1948, your present Congressman scolded the incumbent for his failure to express opposition to Mr. Truman.

WHAT IS HIS OWN RECORD?

He not only hasn't fought the Truman program; he has joined forces with them most of the time and made himself part and parcel of the Tax-and-Spend Forces in Washington.

SO . . .

If you want to continue that waste of your money in Washington . . .

If you want to keep on taxing, and keep on spending . . .

If you want to promote new and reckless socialistic schemes . . .

If you want your party kept in the hands of the five-percenters, the income tax dodgers, and those others who have come to believe that they deserve to get rich because they have the "right contacts" in Washington . . .

THEN DO NOT VOTE FOR ME. I'M NOT YOUR MAN!

BUT . . .

If you believe that we should put a stop to the present federal program of increased taxation coupled with increased spending and an unbalanced budget . . .

If you believe that the socialists ought to be curbed . . .

If you believe that we need a house-cleaning, starting in Washington and coming right on down to the Sixth District — then

A REPORT

To the People of Shelby County — from HOMER J. WALTON

We are now in the home stretch of my campaign for Probate Judge. I have done my best to see as many voters as possible during this campaign, and will continue to do so right up until the last minute. To those whom I have missed I would like to make the following statement.

Before selling my Funeral Home to Robert N. Bolton last year, I served the people of Shelby county 21 years as their Funeral Director. During that time I learned to give the public the service they wanted and deserved. When elected your Probate Judge I will personally serve you in this new capacity to the very best of my ability.

My public and civic record have helped prepare me for your Probate Judge. Eight years as Mayor of Columbiana — Six years as Town Councilman of Columbiana — Two and one half years as Chairman of the Columbiana Housing Authority during which time a $600,000.00 Housing Project was built — Charter member of Columbiana Kiwanis Club. These and many other civic and public projects it has been my privilege to help promote.

My word is my bond, I won't go back on it. When elected I promise you a fair, clean cut, and honest administration of your Probate Judge's Office and your Board of Revenue and Control.

I want to thank you for the courtesies you have shown me and assure you that I appreciate any consideration you might be giving to my candidacy.

Respectfully,

HOMER J. WALTON
Candidate For Probate Judge

MAX ALLEN CALLS BY OUR OFFICE

Twenty years ago, is a long, long time when measured by calendar days, but when old friends come by and paths cross in Memoryland, it is just a heartbeat away from the old days spent in Shelby High School. So it happened today when Max Allen came by. We lost no time in turning back the hands of Time's Old Clock.... and retraced the happiness we knew "away back when," Max was a student here, and the writer was engaged in injecting a bit of Melody in the school routine centering around history, math, algebra, geometry and other set curricular activities.

Max and his family now reside in Birmingham, but they keep up with Shelby county friends thru the Reporter-Democrat each week and Max was as up-to-the-minute regarding happenings on Main as we were. It was good seeing him again and I appreciated his thoughtful call in our office during his visit "back home."

. . . Myra Holcombe has accepted a position with Valley Mills as Chief clerk in the office. She succeeds Sue Spearman who has gone to join her husband, Charles Spearman, of the U. S. Army.

. . . Regret we were not in the office when our good friend W. P. Sewell, of Atlanta called Thursday as he "passed thru".... Had the pleasure of seeing this distinguished speaker not long ago in Birmingham, and learned he is now sponsoring visual educational projects and spends most of his time travelling and lecturing in the larger Universities of the South.

. . . Mrs. John Thompson was down town for the first time in many weeks Thursday, and looks fine since returning from the hospital, and a trip to Ether-land.

. . . A lot of folk are pulling for young Hugh Sims Jr., to get a chance to go to Chicago on a citizenship tour with other boys of the nation. This trip is a part of the Columbia University plan for furthering the interest of the young folk in political science. When we met Hugh Jr., Thursday, he was off on an assignment as a reporter to cover the finals in the Spelling contest. He did a good job, too. He also told us he had practically "memorized" the Code of Alabama. We are keeping our fingers crossed for Hugh Jr., and hoping he passes all tests required for the honor he now seeks.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON COMPENSATIONS

Almost all the folk who work in this newspaper office "take off" on Saturday afternoon, but we usually remain at the desk, and believe it or not, we are usually compensated for the extra hours, for we have time for visits from friends, who make Main Street shopping a "must" on Saturday. Last Saturday, we were exceptionally fortunate. We had the pleasure of greeting our good friends Mrs. Frances Walker Cleveland, Miss Carrie Head, Mrs. Glennie Nybeck and, best of all, an initial introduction to her grand daughter.... Little Miss Two Year Old Joan Anthony, who is a perfect exponent of baby charm and personality, plus a million dollar smile thrown in for good measure. A little blonde bombshell, whom you will remember, as something very beautiful, long after she has waved her good-bye to you, and returned to her home in Montevallo. Yes, sir-ree, tapping a typewriter on Saturday afternoon is not so bad, when old friends, whom you love a lot, but seldom see.... come by!

. . . It was only a Hail and Farewell with Lena Garner of Birmingham last Monday, but it seemed like "old times".... greeting this former resident who also keeps up with happenings on Main thru the Reporter-Democrat each week.

. . . The nicest part of the day to remember each week is mail time, when we receive letters from our friends and subscribers, now scattered to the four corners of the earth. This morning, the day grew far brighter on account of a lovely letter from Sue and Jimmy Brooks who are now cozily housed in an apartment in Long Beach, California, awaiting Jimmy's next assignment from Uncle Sam with his Navy representatives. Sue's vivid description of that fabulous country sounds like a dream, but, amid all the splendor of scenery, new faces, new friends, Easter Sunday found Sue and Jimmy in the First Baptist Church away out West, in person, but their hearts were with "home folk, and members of the choir who were interpreting the annual cantata".... of which organization Sue has long been a loyal and talented member. It is good to realize that miles make no difference when thoughts between old friends span the distance. All of Sue's and Jimmy's friends will, I am sure, join me in sending best wishes to California, and with these wishes go the hope that soon, this fracas in Korea will be finished, and all our boys and girls will be home for keeps.

. . . We are delighted to have the pleasure of receiving subscriptions today for the home paper from the Rev. Curtis Bean, pastor of the Baptist Church in Columbiana; J. M. Whorton of Wilsonville Rt. 2; Ada Kennedy of Columbiana Rt., who by the way, brought us in another freakish looking "egg".... The shell featured an unusual design even from the number of other eggs brought in recently. Seems as if the "hens" are streamlining their production line presenting various models for Spring consumption.

. . . We are grateful to Virginia Hendrick, of Montevallo, for a renewal subscription to the Reporter-Democrat just received. On and on the story goes of more folk becoming paper conscious. Realizing that this is an important political year, and that Shelby county is steadily growing in all directions most all progressive folk want to keep up with current happenings. Thanks everybody!

. . . Ellis Boaz of Columbiana Rt. was a cordially greeted visitor in our office, Saturday, and along with his renewal subscription to the "Reporter-Democrat".... Ellis brought a lot of sunshine with his words of encouragement regarding the reception this weekly messenger receives in his home each week. What a difference a few thoughtful courtesies make in a fellow's day by day routine, and yet, how few of us take time out for these little expressions of appreciation for honest effort expended to please an ever whimsical public!

. . . Judge W. W. Wallace and Harold Harlin spent Saturday in Rockford holding a one day session of the Coosa County non-jury court.

. . . Did you see little one year old Ellen Jackson down town Saturday? Ellen has a host of friends who enjoy her pop-calls when she visits Main. Her Dad, Olin Jackson remains with the Air Force in South America.

. . . A fellow-editor writes the following. He says: "Newspaper work is just one big mistake after another. Seems like you are always spelling somebody's name wrong or getting the place and the time of an event mixed up. You can't deny it either for they're always got the proof there in black and white. I think," he continues, "I had rather be an undertaker or a doctor, they can cover up their mistakes." The man may have something there!

. . . Mrs. Norman Lefkovits, Mrs. Alvin Lefkovits and Norman Lefkovits Jr., are spending a few days in Memphis, Tennessee, this week.

. . . Mrs. Rux Carter and Mrs. Homer J. Walton attended a meeting of the Alabama Federated Women's Clubs in Troy, Alabama, last Friday as representatives of the Culture Club of Columbiana.

The Reporter-Democrat Proudly Salutes Three Prize Winners

HELEN GLASS

JENNY KAY BOHANNON

Some weeks ago, at the Shelby Theatre, photographs of numerous children were taken and sent to out of state judges to select the most photogenic.

This week, the result of this contest has been made known and it is the writer's privilege to present the winners to our readers with our congratulations.

The number one winner, according to the judges, is personable Helen Glass, four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Glass of Columbiana and grand-neice of Clarence Abbott, Tax Collector, who plays a major role in making her life a "dream-come-true" by giving her everything her little heart desires. "Uncle Clarence" is to Helen, what Santa Claus is to most kiddies and any day on Main you will encounter little Helen as she runs thru the Courthouse in search of " Uncle Clarence." Then, she clutches his hand, and they immediately leave on a "shopping trip," in quest of a certain something she has seen in the show windows, and wants! Naturally, when this mission has been accomplished, she returns home, triumphantly happy.

The above photograph is a lovely picture of this little girl, and no doubt the innocence and simplicity of her appealing little face bowled the judges over, and won for Helen 1st prize of $10.00. She deserves it, too! Don't you think so?

. . . Mrs. Mary Weston Luck, mother of Paul O. Luck, is a visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Luck this week. Monday, marked an especially happy day for "Mother Luck," (as she is affectionately called), when she celebrated the passing of her 86th birthday anniversary. Friends called during the afternoon to wish for her many more "happy returns of the day that brought her our way."

. . . That swanky car you see free-wheeling around Main Street is the new City Police Car, and it is about the niftiest thing we have seen on wheels, and, whats more, if there is a better dressed Chief of Police anywhere, than Hugh Sims, who occupies this position in Columbiana, we just haven't seen 'em yet! The new car carries a 125 horse power engine and is known as Mr .Ford's Police Special. Take a look at it, but I hope you won't have to take a ride in it.

. . . Larry Dorough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dorough of Birmingham, holds the spotlight of attention in the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bolin Cooper this week. Needless to say, Mae and Bolin are experiencing all the delights of answering Larry's command "on the double". In the meantime, Mr. and Mrs. Dorough are enjoying a vacation in Florida.

. . . Ed Rush has resigned his position as Instructor in Agriculture for veterans and F. I. Ballard of Vincent has been appointed as his successor. Mr. Rush made an excellent record in this official capacity, and regrets have been expressed over losing so capable an instructor in this important work. However, Shelby county veterans are fortunate in procuring another Auburn graduate and we feel sure Mr. Ballard will do an excellent job.

Taking her place by 1st Prize Winner Helen Glass, is Jenny Kay Bohannon, beautiful 15 month old daughter of Captain and Mrs. James G. Bohannon, Jenny Kay has an infectious smile and a winning personality combined with a friendliness seldom found in one so young.

She is one of the town's favorites and both Birmingham and Columbiana claim her as their own.

Captain and Mrs. Bohannon (Florence McGiboney) were married in 1942, and little Jenny Kay was born August 7, 1951. When she was four months old, her distinguished Dad was recalled for service in Korea, where he remained for eleven months. Captain Bohannon had already served in World War Two, and holds two purple hearts and two bronze stars for heroism displayed. During the absence of her father in Korea, little Jenny Kay and her mother returned to Columbiana to spend the long months of separation, with Jenny Kay's grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McGiboney, and during this time, Jenny Kay made a host of friends among both grown-ups and in the Lilliputian circle.

Last month (March) Captain Bohannon returned to the states and little Jenny Kay ran to meet him. Since that time, they have become a familiar two-some on Main, and, as you see, the story ends happily, and pretty Jenny Kay is smiling joyously about the whole thing.

Captain and Mrs. Bohannon will soon return to their home in Birmingham where he is employed in the T. C. I. General offices, Sales Department, and we join others in hoping this wonderfully fine family may continue living a normal happy life, with no more war clouds to darken their skies. All three truly deserve it!

AMERICAN PROBLEM CLASS HOSTS AT DANCE THURSDAY NIGHT

The members of the American Problem Class will be hosts at a dance Thursday night at the High School Auditorium. They have engaged the Siluria Band to play on this occasion. Proceeds from the dance will be used to publish a brochure containing information to the voters participating in the presidential election this year.

The views of each presidential candidate have been received on current topics under discussion, and the book contains many interesting and informative paragraphs.

The public is invited to be present Thursday evening at the school house and enjoy the entertainment offered.

. . . Congratulations are being extended Ralph Jones today as friends learn in the State wide B. T. U. speaking contest held in Anniston last Tuesday night, that he came out second. The winner is a speech major from Woodlawn High, and naturally, the training the young lady had previously had, gave her an advantage over Ralph's initial effort in this field. We are joining other interested friends in assuring Ralph that we are proud of him and think he deserves the many fine things we have heard from those who were present on this occasion.

TERRY FALKNER

"Ladies First," says gallant cow-boy Terry Falkner, handsome son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Falkner of Columbiana, as he steps aside for us to present the two above mentioned 'belles of tomorrow'. Then, swinging his lariat, he marches up to take his place in the prize winner's areana and receives the third trophy offered in this popularity contest.

Terry, at the present time, is far more interested in balls, bats, and Hop-A-Long Cassidy tactics than he is in 'girls'.... but, we are recording these pictures and facts concerning this epoch in their lives so that 25 years from now, they may all look back and read of the event

Where they will be? Who knows? We might be introducing you, at this time, to a future 'Miss America'.... or, one of "Mr. President's (Terry Falkner's) secretaries, for some day, Terry may be turning around in his swivel chair, and gallantly inquiring: "Havent' I met you somewhere before?" It is then, this page in the old Home Paper will come into the picture again, and no matter where we are at that time we claim the pleasure of saying.... "Shucks, I'm not surprised. I told you about it Thursday, April 24, 1952!"

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Fowler, Conrad Jr., and Randy Fowler have returned to Columbiana after spending a week end in Atlanta.

. . . E. L. Crumpton, "Uncle Lank" to a host of friends, now resides in Bessemer, but, Tuesday this 84 year old fellow, who is as spry as the proverbial cricket, came down to "look things over." During his visit on Main, Uncle Lank came by the office, and soon several of his "old cronies" dropped in, and the tall tales they told of former political races, were rehashed with many remembrances that provoked a laugh. Fact is, present day happenings sound 'tame' when compared with those memories recalled of "the golden days when so and so was running." The writer had a good time, just listening in!

FIRST SURE SIGN OF SPRING

We have heard a "whip-poor-will" singing his monotonous melody down our way, and this is a sure sign that Spring is here to stay. So sure, in fact, that the old rocking chairs have been transferred to the front porch, where we enjoy watching the cars roll by. During the past week end, several hundred passed on their way to fishing waters near Shelby. We still maintain that properly developed, this particular area in Shelby county would be a bonanza for somebody with keen vision and plenty of monzuma to build some cabins along Old Man River. They tell me the Crappie are falling for the bait, hook, line and sinker. But, for the life of me, I can't see any fun in hooking one of the slimy specimens.

However, the biggest crowd we have ever seen on Main this week were oh-ing and ah-ing over a member of the Catfish tribe, last Saturday which some Isaac Walton had brought in. Everybody but the fish, which had been foolish enough to get up "early and catch the wiggler," looked happy about the whole thing.

CALL TO BE MADE FOR CANCER CRUSADE FRIDAY NIGHT

Members of the Columbana Home Demonstration Club are asking YOU to please turn on your porch light Friday night, April 25, from 6:30 to 7:30, so that they might come into your home and take your contribution for the Cancer Crusade.

This dreaded disease is no respector of age, race or creed and the help of everyone is needed to stamp out this killer. Did you know that one out of every five persons living today will have cancer at sometime? Won't you help? Turn on your porch light.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Miller and Mrs. Thomas Herring and daughter, of Tuscaloosa, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Spivey and family.

. . . J. W. Hester, one of Columbiana's oldest residents, continues very ill. He is now in a Birmingham hospital.

. . . Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McGiboney of Greensboro, N. C., and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Schmidt and two sons of Radford, Virginia, have been visiting relatives and friends in Columbiana ths week.

BETTY RUTH FRANKLIN, WINNER IN SPELLING CONTEST

An elimination contest was held in Columbiana Courthouse Thursday morning, April 17, when entrants in the "Better Spelling Contest," sponsored by the Birmingham Post Herald, met to determine Shelby county's best speller. Betty Ruth Franklin of Calera, won the contest after downing Hoyt Blalock on the word 'aviator'.

Betty Ruth will now enter the State contest which will be held in Phillips High School in Birmingham on May 3.

Students competing in this interesting contest included: Betty Ruth Franklin, Maxine Ellison, Jenny Sue Alverson, and Wayne Lambrectts from Calera High School and Lucretia Owen, Tommy King, Hoyt Blalock and Kenneth Dennis from Shelby County High.

Congratulations to Betty Ruth Franklin, and best wishes for continued success in the State finals.

SHELBY HIGH SCHOOL BAND CONCERT APRIL 29

The members of the High School Band, under the direction of Mary Mims, will present a concert in the High School Auditorium on the evening of April 29 1952, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

The admission for this presentation of the young musicians is 25 and 50 cents and the proceeds will go toward the purchase of new instruments and for repairing the older ones.

Certainly the band members and their hard working director deserve the full support of the town for no one thing has promoted more interest in musical activities than this band. The members have given generously of their time and talents at Football games and on patriotic occasions. Now, it is up to the local people to express their appreciation for same. Do so by being present next Tuesday evening.

April 18-25, May 1, 1952

STATE OF ALABAMA
A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama, at the Regular Session 1951, ordered an election to be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which said amendment is herein set out, and ordered that said election be held on the first Tuesday in May, 1952; and

WHEREAS, the first Tuesday in May 1952 will be and occur on Tuesday, May 6, 1952; and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment is required by law, and by the provision of the act submitting the amendment, to be given by a proclamation of the Governor to be published in each county in the State of Alabama once a week for four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for the election:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Gordon Persons, as Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice direct and proclaim that on Tuesday, the 6th day of May 1952, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama, in the manner and form provided by law, upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901:

"Any provisions of this Constitution or amendments thereto to the contrary notwithstanding, neither the Legislature, nor any county of the State shall, by the imposition of new, different and additional duties or otherwise, increase, or authorize the increase of, the salary, fees or other compensation of any officer of the State or of any county of the State, who is elected or appointed for a fixed term, during the term for which he is elected or appointed, regardless of whether such officer may be removed at the pleasure of the authority electing or appointing him or only upon impeachment; nor shall the Legislature or any county of the State in any manner or by any means decrease, or authorize the decrease of, the salary, fees or other compensation of any such officer, during the term for which he is elected or appointed; nor shall the Legislature or any county of the State increase or decrease, or authorize the increase or decrease of, the salary, fees or other compensation of any person filling an unexpired term in any such office during the remainder of such term, either before or after the appointment or election of such person to fill the unexpired term. As to officers who are members of any court, board, commission, or similar body whose terms do not run concurrently, any increase or decrease in the salary, fees, or other compensation of the members of any such court, board, commission, or similar body shall become effective as to all such members thereof immediately after the expiraton of the term or terms of office of the member of members whose term or terms first expire."

I further direct and proclaim that notice of this election upon Tuesday the 6th day of May 1952, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901, be given by publishing the same once a week for four successive weeks next preceding Tuesday the 6th day of May 1952, in each county in the State of Alabama, in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed by the Secretary of State, at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery, on this the 7th day of March 1952.

Gordon Persons,
Governor

The Junior Class was host to the Senior Class and other honored guests at the annual Junior-Senior Banquet and Dance given on April 11.

The theme was "Moonlight and Roses." The auditorium was decorated with roses entwined on a rose treelis and an iron-lace garden set with a minature garden in the center. Above this shone a big half-moon.

The invocation was given by E. Marvin Smith, principal. Donald Knight, President of the Junior Class, gave a speech of welcome which was followed by the toast to the Seniors made by Jerry Adams. The President of the Senior Class, Billy Lucas, gave the response. Norman Collum introduced the Seniors, Mary Sue Anderson the guests and Sue Barnett the faculty.

The guests were entertained with solos and group singing followed by a floor show and tap dances.

60 boys and girls from Calera Hi attended the annual 4-H rally held recently at Alabama College. This is the third consecutive year that Calera has won top honors. Sara Anderson took first place again in the Senior dress revue. Pat Woods won third place.

Peggy Johnson was chosen Shelby County 4-H Queen. Blair Thomas won first place in the apron revue.

Those taking part in the field events were: Iretia Brashier who won the 50 yard dash, Elwood Edwards and James Pardue who won the three-legged race.

The Civitan Club has done it again. They heard that the school sorely needed a refrigerator for its Home Economics Department so they promptly donated it. The entire school would like to take this occasion to thank the Civitans for this kind thought.

Eleanor Crim, Senior, won first place in the Essay Contest sponsored by the local Civitan Club. Her essay was on "Good American Citizenship." Peggy Johnson was runner-up.

The Typing Class at Calera Hi are sponsoring a Talent Night on Thursday, May 1. Proceeds will go to the Lunch Room.

Easter Seal sale at Calera High School and Elementary School proved successful.

The various classes raised $86.75 for this worthy cause.

Mrs. B. H. Denham was elected president of the Calera Elementary and High School P. T. A. for the term 1952-53 recently.

Mrs. Denham succeeeded Mrs. Harry Anderson as president. Other officers elected are: Mrs. Zollie Cowart Jr., as Vice President; Mrs. E. M. Smith as Secretary; Mrs. E. B. Nickerson as Treasurer.

Plans were formulated for serving the Shelby County Teachers Association at Calera on April 26 at the High School.

The members voted to send the President and Vice-President to the State Convention in Montgomery.

The Civitan Club of Calera presented an electric refrigerator to the Home Economics Department of the High School on Wednesday.

Miss Blanche Lucas, head of the Home Ec. Department in accepting the gift for the school at the school at the assembly period said "This is a grand gift and certainly one that will be useful. We have been without a refrigerator so long and I was beginning to think we would never be able to have one. Now thanks to the Civitan Club the department has added another useful piece of equipment."

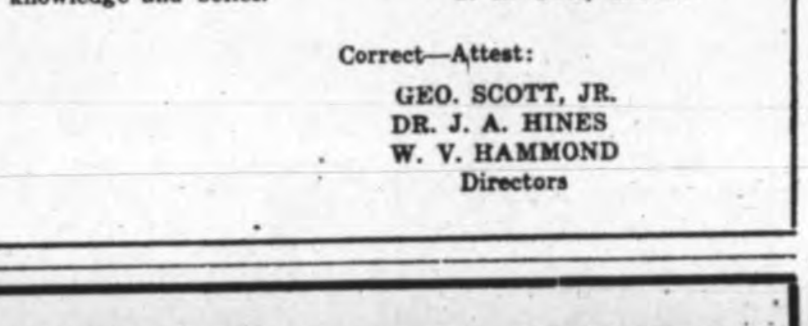
FORD WINS AGAIN!

TAKES FIRST PLACE IN CLASS "A"

IN THE 1952 Mobilgas Economy Run



Ford's the Class "A" Winner for 3rd Consecutive Year!

New Ford Mileage Maker SIX Thriftiest in its Field!

Again this year . . . Ford was first in gas economy over all cars in its price class in the Mobilgas Economy Run. In this toughest test, a Ford Six with Overdrive (optional at extra cost) averaged 53.855 ton-miles per gallon and 25.463 actual miles per gallon. A very important contributing factor is Ford's Automatic Power Pilot which squeezes the last ounce of power out of every drop of gas. Pound for pound, Ford's All-New Mileage Maker Six is definitely the most economical low-priced car to run!

*The AAA Contest Board determines the winner by a "ton-mile per gallon" formula to insure equal chance for all cars in each class regardless of size and weight. Ton-miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers) in tons, multiplied by number of miles travelled, divided by number of gallons consumed.

"Test Drive" the Economy Winner Today!

HERE'S THE CERTIFIED AAA PROOF

NEW FORD
101-horsepower
MILEAGE MAKER SIX

THE VERDICT....? NEXT TUESDAY!

Not one crystal ball gazer or professional political prognostigator is prepared.... even at this late hour, to wager a prediction on the outcome of the Probate or Circuit Judge's race! All candidates remain enthusiastic and optimisic. They have conducted an active campaign and have seen and talked with many of you. Others, they have regretfully missed seeing, but, for all of them, win, lose or draw, the final decision will be made when you hand in your verdict next Tuesday, May 6.

It will be an eventful day. It will spell victory for some, and a temporary set back for others. However, I do not believe that there is a man among them who has been engaged during the past few weeks in "dishing it out", who can't "take" whatever the gods may decree. So, put on your thinking caps, weigh each candidate's qualifications, and vote for the one whom you conscientiously believe will best fill the position he seeks.

Be not swayed by what "somebody says,' 'or by rumors too silly for credence, but, like the proud American you are, forward march to the polls, and cast your own vote, independently and intelligently. This is your priceless heritage.... use it!

ATTENTION RETURNING OFFICERS AND MANAGERS

At the request of numerous citizens interested in the entire ticket which will be voted on May 6, I reprint the law governing the duties of the managers and returning officers regarding filling out properly and correctly the tally sheet which is supposed to be brought in with the box and delivered to the Sheriff's Office. We quote:

"The returning officer for election boxes this year will be required to furnish the sheriff with a tabulated return on the outside of the ballot box of the number of votes cast for each candidate or issue. This new regulation was passed by the 1951 state legislature as a means of getting the returns to the public without having to wait for the official count which usually follows an election by several days.

The new law governing this requirement of returning election officers is as follows:

"Article No. 13, Code of Alabama, 1940, as last amended 1951. Title 17, Section 194—Papers showing total votes received by each candidate to be attached to ballot box. In every general, special, primary and municipal election, hereafter held in this state, it shall be the duty of the election officials conducting said election, after the closing of the polls, and after such officials have completed such counts of the ballots cast in said election, to attach to the outside of each ballot box, used in such election, a slip of paper or other device, showing the total vote received by each candidate voted for in such election."

In covering the returns for the dailies of Alabama and for Associated Press, the writer has found it difficult to procure accurate and complete figures on many of the state races, until the official count was made. Please observe this request and bring in a tally sheet filled out in its entirety when you bring the box back to Columbiana on the night of May 6. It will be appreciated, and it is now required by law!

ABSENTEE BALLOTS

Up to the time we go to pres, according to a report from the Register of the Circuit Court, Mrs. Pauline Bird, 197 people have voted an absentee ballot.

The Census Bureau reports that Alabama's 1950 rural population included 1,720,806 persons, or 56.2 percent of the states total population of 3,061,743.

CHURCHES BUSY WITH SPRING ACTIVITIES

MT. CALVARY ANNUAL HOMECOMING

There will be an annual homecoming at Mt. Calvary Church on Sunday, May 11. Every member of this church and their friends are cordially invited to bring a picnic lunch and enjoy the fellowship and good services scheduled for this occasion.

—Committee

MEMORIAL DAY AT PILGRIM'S REST

The first Sunday in May will be observed as Memorial Day at Pilgrim's Rest Church located in the Hand Community. All members and friends of the church are invited to bring a basket lunch and spend the day. Memorial services will be conducted by the pastor.

A warm welcome awaits everyone who will come and share this annual event with us.

—Committee

MT. ERA NOTICE

On May 10th, our annual Memoral Services will be held with a program in the morning and singing in the afternoon. Everybody has a cordial invitation, especially singers.

On Thursday, May 8, everyone interested in the cemetery is asked to come and help clean off cemetery.

—Committee

MEMORIAL SERVICES

The annual memorial services will be held at Pilgrim's Rest, known as the Lynch Cemetery, in the Mt. Era Community, Sunday, May 4. Every person interested in the cemetery is invited to attend.

HOMECOMING AT OLD CHAPEL SUNDAY

The annual homecoming and all day singing will be held at Old Chapel, near Wilsonville, Sunday, May 4. A splendid program of good gospel singing has been arranged according to Hugh McDanal. Included on the program will be the Devaughn Quartett and the Devaughn family of Sylacauga, the Speer family of Nashville, Tennessee, local quartetts, and visiting directors from other counties and nearby communities.

HOMECOMING AT VINCENT BAPTIST CHURCH

Plans have been perfected for the celebration of Homecoming Day at the Baptist Church next Sunday, May 4. The church has been completely remodeled and the observance this year will be an especially happy one on account of this achievement.

D. B. Smith will have charge of the Sunday School hour beginning at ten o'clock and the Rev. R. R. Riggins will bring the morning message at eleven o'clock.

At noon, provisions have been made for spacious picnic tables on which dinner will be served. Bring your basket and lunch with fellow-members and friends.

The afternoon service will be a dedicatory one and in charge of the Rev. T. H. Brock, former pastor of the church, now serving in West Blocton. Dr. Hamilton Reid of Montgomery will also be a distinguished speaker.

An appropriate musical program has been aranged by Mrs. R. T. McGraw and will be presented throughout the day.

A cordial invitation is extended to all members and interested friends to be present.

HOMECOMING AT MT. CALVARY

Homecoming at Mt. Calvary will be held on the Second Sunday in May as per usual. Indications are that the usual good crowd and enjoyable program will be even better than common.

The date set for clean-up is Thursday, May 8 and we ask for as much help as possible for that day. The Homecoming and Mother's Day program will start at 10:30 a. m., May 11.

—Committee

WILSONVILLE CHURCHES TO TAKE RELIGIOUS CENSUS

The Wilsonville Baptist and Methodist Churches will take a religious census Sunday afternoon, May 4, of the community as a part of a three months drive to encourage all of the people to attend all of the services of their church until the close of the summer revivals.

The people are being urged to do for only three months what they ought to do all their lives.

ALABAMA COLLEGE OBSERVES PILL WEEK

"Pill Week" at Alabama College has just come to a close.

Perhaps you have never heard of Pill Week; perhaps you have never been a "pill".

The idea was conceived by the Student Senate of Alabama College and is held just one week preceeding May 1st, when all students are given the chance of drawing a name. The name written on the piece of paper and placed in a capsule, then becomes your "pill" and it is up to you to make your "pill" happy thru thoughtful acts and inexpensive gifts.

On May 1st, there is a final gift accompanied by some kind of a message in which the "pill" is told who her capsule has been.

On Thursday of "Pill Week" this year all students contributed a gift, not to her "pill".... but to the Red Cross to assist the people suffering in the flood area. A total of $78.00 was donated.

CALERA IS NOT A SPEED TRAP SAYS MAYOR BROWN

Mayor R. T. Brown explains the traffic regulations of Calera and declares that Calera is not a Speed Trap.

Mayor Brown says that approximately 1000 cars pass thru Calera every day, and not over one out of one thousand is arrested for reckless driving. He says the speed limit is 20 miles per hour and that if 999 motorists can drive thru at that speed, he thinks the other one can well afford to do the same.

(An article in the Birmingham News and Montgomery Advertiser calling Calera a "speed trap" provoked the above article by Mayor Brown.)

COMMUNITY NEWS

Miss Odell Baker of Wilsonville spent Sunday with Miss Gladys Dycus.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Isbell and Milton Allen spent Sunday in Dunnavant.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT RECEIVING BIIDS FOR CONSTRUCTIION

The State Highway Department will receive bids on May 16 for the construction of a four-lane bridge over the Cahaba river on the line between Jefferson and Shelby counties.

The new bridge will be about one-half mile up-stream from the present narrow structure and will be in preparation for extending the four-lane highway 15 miles south from Oxmoor road into Shelby county.

Funds for the new bridge and highway improvement will come from the fifty million dollar bond issue recently voted by the people of Alabama.

NEW BRANDING LAW NOW IN FORCE

The Alabama Department of Agriculture warned today that the state's new branding law went into effect on April 1.

Bill Perry, chief of the department's livestock market inspection division, said the law provides that owners who brand cattle must register the brands with the department. A $2 registration fee is charged for each brand filed. Thereafter the brand must be re-instated every five years.

Perry said the department already is accepting registration of brands, in accordance with the new law set up by the 1951 legislature.

He also pointed out that two other laws affecting livestock owners go into operation on May 30. One eliminates all the county no fence laws or open range laws in the state and the other provides for impounding livestock found running at large after the law goes into effect.

ATTY. GEN. SI GARRETT ISSUES TWO RULINGS

Alabama Attorney General Si Garrett has issued two rulings of statwide importance.

Answering a request by Ed E. Reid, Alabama League of Municipalities executive Didector, Garrett said that the state's new motor vehicle safety-repsonsibility law is not applicable to vehicles owned by the federal or state government, or to any political subdivisions of the state, including municipalities.

However, the attorney general held, officers and employes of municipalities and other governmental units are subject to the provisions of the act when involved in an accident while driving vehicles not owned by such governmental units.

Garrett ruled also that pickup and panel trucks are motor trucks, subject to the 40 mile per hour speed limit. He said however, that station wagons used for passengers are cars subject to the 50-60 speed limits.

State Public Director L. B. Sullivan had sought this opinion.

1076 Shelby County Home Demonstration Club members in 2 Clubs are observing Nationa Home Demonstration Week. The have planned Husband's Night Family Night, and will Tour Littl Jerusalem at Cullman and point of interest at Decatur.

Mrs. J. Frank Baker preside at the State Council Meeting in Birmingham Monday and Tuesday Mrs. Carlos Warren, Calera, participated in a program at th Chain Stores Luncheon on Tue day.

The major objective in Clubs for 1952 is that all Clubs be represented at Leadership School and give the demonstration at their monthly club meetings.

Two training meetings for Special Interest demonstrations have been arranged. Miss Anita King trained 45 leaders from 18 clubs to "Make Nylon Corsages." The home agents will conduct the Training Meeting on "Figure Painting" on Wednesday, May 28.

These demonstrations have been or will be given in all clubs during 1952. The band around the can of food, Family games, make your Home Tasks Easier, Home Storage, Secrets to Smart Sewing, Cake Baking, Accessories for the Home, Care and Use of The Sewing Machine, gifts from the Preserving Pot, Textile Painting and Using Hand Tools.

National Home Demonstration Week this year marks the 41st year of progress for the home demonstration program in Alabama. The program has broadened and the number of clubs has increased each year.

The 63,000 home demonstration women in Alabama today can look back on their accomplishments with pride. They started their program in the early years with an interest in growing and canning tomatoes, but today they are interested in a wide range of activities of which lead to better living in their homes and communities.

The Alabama Council of Home Demonstration Clubs is going forward with its objectives for a better life for families all over the state.

Home demonstration women are prepared to assume their responsibility for mobilization for defense, since their organization is functioning in 2,000 cluzs in every part of the state. They are preparing themselves through cooperation with the Red Cross. There are 1,362 women trained as nurses' aids and 819 trained in home nursing.

Their interest in good citizenship is shown by the fact the members of each club study their responsibilities as good citizens in a democracy. Through their program, they are studying foreign countries in an effort to have a better understanding of their neighbors in other lands.

Club women have worked this year on improving the appearance of their communities by erecting 3,482 improved mailboxes and erecting 928 signs designing their communities. A number of clubs spent time and money beautifying cemeteries, churches, and club houses.

Home demonstration clubs sponsored 4-H Clubs all over the state, giving them help and encouragement with individual projects as well as with recreational activities.

The Farm Bureau objective of the Alabama council has emphasized the value of the Legislative program and the insurance program made available to Farm Bureau members.

STATE OF ALABAMA A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama, at the Regular Session 1951, ordered an election to be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which said amendment is herein set out, and ordered that said election be held on the first Tuesday in May, 1952; and

WHEREAS, the first Tuesday in May 1952 will be and occur on Tuesday, May 6, 1952; and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment is required by law, and by the provision of the act submitting the amendment, to be given by a proclamation of the Governor to be published in each county in the State of Alabama once a week for four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for the election:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Gordon Persons, as Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice direct and proclaim that on Tuesday, the 6th day of May 1952, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama, in the manner and form provided by law, upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901:

"Any provisions of this Constitution or amendments thereto to the contrary notwithstanding, neither the Legislature, nor any county of the State shall, by the imposition of new, different and additional duties or otherwise, increase, or authorize the increase of, the salary, fees or other compensation of any officer of the State or of any county of the State, who is elected or appointed for a fixed term, during the term for which he is elected or appointed, regardless of whether such officer may be removed at the pleasure of the authority electing or appointing him or only upon impeachment; nor shall the Legislature or any county of the State in any manner or by any means decrease, or authorize the decrease of, the salary, fees or other compensation of any such officer, during the term for which he is elected or appointed; nor shall the Legislature or any county of the State increase or decrease, or authorize the increase or decrease of, the salary, fees or other compensation of any person filling an unexpired term in any such office during the remainder of such term, either before or after the appointment or election of such person to fill the unexpired term. As to officers who are members of any court, board, commission, or similar body whose terms do not run concurrently, any increase or decrease in the salary, fees, or other compensation of the members of any such court, board, commission, or similar body shall become effective as to all such members thereof immediately after the expiraton of the term or terms of office of the member of members whose term or terms first expire."

I further direct and proclaim that notice of this election upon Tuesday the 6th day of May 1952, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901, be given by publishing the same once a week for four successive weeks next preceding Tuesday the 6th day of May 1952, in each county in the State of Alabama, in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed by the Secretary of State, at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery, on this the 7th day of March 1952.

Gordon Persons,
Governor

A RESOLUTION

A Resolution Declaring The Need For A Housing Authority To Function In The Town Of Harpersville, Alabama.

Be It Resolved By The Town Council Of The Town Of Harpersville, Alabama:

That a petition having been filed with the Town Clerk of said Town by 26 residents thereof, and an area within 10 miles from the territorial boundaries thereof, setting forth that there is a need for a Housing Authority to function therein, and a public hearing having been held, upon due notice given by said Town Clerk all pursuant to the "Housing Authorities Law" of the State of Alabama, as amended, the Town Council of said Town finds, determines and declares, that:

1. Insanitary and unsafe inhabited dwelling accommodations exist in the Town of Harpersville, Alabama; and
2. There is a lack of safe and sanitary dwelling accommodations in the Town of Harpersville, Alabama; and
3. Such conditions as listed in Item "1" and "2" hereof can best be remedied through the exercise of the powers of the Housing Authority of the Town of Vincent, Alabama, in the territorial boundaries of Harpersville, Alabama; and
4. There is need for a Housing Authority to function in the Town of Harpersville, Alabama; and
5. A petition setting forth the need for a Housing Authority to function in the Town of Harpersville, Alabama has not been denied by the Town Council thereof within three months of the date of the filing of the aforesaid petition; and
6. The Mayor of the Town of Harpersville, Alabama be promptly notified of the adoption of this resolution; and
7. Said lack of safe and sanitary dwelling accommodations in the Town of Harpersville, Alabama, available for all the inhabitants thereof, at rents which persons of low income can afford, compels such persons to occupy overcrowded and congested dwelling accommodations; that the aforesaid conditions cause an increase in the spread of disease and crime; that the clearance and reconstruction of the areas in which insanitary or unsafe housing conditions exist are public uses and purposes, and that it is in the public interest that work on such projects be instituted as soon as possible in order to relieve unemployment which now constitutes an emergency; that it is necessary to the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety that this resolution become effective without delay, and, therefore, the same shall take effect and be in force immediately upon its adoption.
8. This resolution shall be transmitted within forty-eight hours to the Mayor for his approval, who, if he shall approve thereof, shall sign and return same to the clerk, who shall cause it to be published.

NEED FOR MORE MILK PRODUCTION IN STATE

Alabama farmers who are interested in selling milk for manufacturing purposes will find an unlimited market in their home state.

And J. R. Parrish, API Extension Service dairyman, points out that nationally, the population has been increasing faster than milk production for several years. Also, the price of milk shows signs of becoming more favorable in relation to the price of beef cattle and some other livestock products than it has in recent years.

"Therefore, with the outlook for a strong market during the next several years," adds Parrish, "Alabama farmers are in a favorable position to expand production of milk for manufacturing purposes."

STATE SEED INDUSTRY WORKS TO MEET NEEDS

One of the recent developments in Alabama agriculture is the seed industry. And A. W. Jones, API Extension Service marketing specialist, says that growing, horvesting, processing, storing, and marketing seed are important steps in the new industry for several reasons.

He points to a changing agriculture with emphasis on daisying, beef cattle, hogs, and poultry which creates a demand for new grazing, grain, and forage crops that will carry the animals over most of the year. This program means new varieties of crops adapted to local conditions are needed.
